IT IS WAR NOW AMONG THE LOCAL ICEMEN.

Competition in Winter and Summer Commodities Is Lively.

OVER SUPPLY OF ICE BEING SECURED.

The New Ice Company Wanted to Lessen Competition With Dealers Already Established, but the Latter Declined to Arbitrate—Too Much Stock Will Probably Result in Low Prices During the Heated Season This Year.

The tradesmen of this city have apparently forgotten how desirable a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity, for while the battle is still raging fiercely among the coal dealers there comes the rumor that a fight is impending among the local ice dealers which promises to be of such a fierce nature as to cause the scrap of the coal men to be altogether forgotten.

The causes of the present ominous outlook in the camp of the icemen are many. The fact that the ice supply this season has been rather plentiful has undoubtedly had something to do with the present state of affairs. A prominent dealer in this city is authority for the statement that there is at present more ice in Plainfield than there will be a demand for next summer. Constant additions to the stock are being received daily, and the end is not yet.

Another disturbing factor in the situation is the presence of a large prospective supply of artificial ice, which will be placed on the local market by the Hygeia Ice Company, of this city. The company was incorporated Thursday with a capital stock of $50,000; and it will turn out twenty tons of artificial ice a day, which is said to be more than enough to supply the entire demand which exists in this city.

It is stated that when the company was forming its representatives went to some of the leading dealers in natural ice in the city and asked to be allowed to supply them with certain quantities of ice. The old companies refused to treat, however, and the result is a state of open hostility and a disposition to cut rates in a manner unheard of in former years. The indications are that ice will be sold in this city next summer for less than the cost of bringing it here.

TAYLOR ON THE TICKET.

Nominated by the G. O. P. Caucus.—It Was Thought Against Him.

The borough of Bound Brook elects three Councilmen this spring, and about three weeks ago William Taylor declared himself a candidate. Taylor secured D. W. Chandler as his manager.

The Republicans called a caucus Friday night. Ex-Mayor Whiting was made chairman, and three men were nominated for the offices. The first man named was Taylor, much to the surprise of many present, as it was understood the caucus was merely to turn Taylor down. The other candidates were Howard L. Moore and W. W. Smalley.

Taylor received 74 votes, Moore 30 and Smalley 27, and two others, G. Wycoff and A. I. Coddington, Sr., received 22 apiece.

Other Republicans were not satisfied with the result and Saturday night nominated a ticket which they think is a winner. It is: H L Moore, W. W. Smalley and H. K. Ramsey.

Another ticket may go in the field. Taylor seems to be con ented, saying, "Let them put out another ticket That will be two men against me. I'm all right. I'm on the regular Republican ticket.

Louis Callman to Go to Elizabeth.

Louis Callman, who has been engaged in the fancy goods business in this city for several years on West Front street, will retire as a Plainfield merchant this week, and move his stock of goods to Elizabeth, where he will enter into partnership with his brother, who has an established business in the county seat. Mr. Callman's jovial ways will be greatly missed by his numerous friends hereabouts.

Widening the Street.

A valuable improvement is being made on West Second street, between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue, in the widening of the street and the erection of a substantial stone wall along the railroad enbankment on one side of the street, to keep the loose earth in the enbankment from encroaching upon the roadway. The work is being done by the Central Railroad Company.

A Bit Sarcastic.

It is said that some of Plainfield's tin soldiers were taken violently ill Monday when it was feared that there would be war. How dearly they must love Hanna, who says "There will be no war."—Bound Brook State Centre.

FOR A NEW AND BETTER JAIL

FIRE APPARATUS MAY BE MOVED.

Special Councilmanic Committee Considering Using West Second Street Engine House for Lockup.

The special councilmanic committee in charge of the matter of investigating quarters for the city jail held a conference recently, and considered the advisability of using the Second street engine house for that purpose

The committee have been securing plans, specifications and estimates for the work of remodelling the building, and in the opinion of the committee it is considered to be a resonable way out of the present difficulty. If this building is used for a jail, it will necessitate the erection of a hose house in the West End where the Alert and Gazelle hose carriages will be stationed. For a long time the city fathers have recognized the necessity of placing some of the apparatus in the West End so that that portion of the city can be well protected. As it is now it makes a long run to that portion of the city.

If cells are placed in the West Second street house they can be removed at any time to a city hall, if such a structure is erected. It is likely that the committee will make a report at the March meeting of the Council. As yet the committee has no power, but they will probably be given the necessary power at the next meeting.

CADI'S SAY AT NAUGHT.

IMPOSED A FINE OF $20 ON COLORED WOMAN THAT WON'T BE PAID.

Harriet Richardson Defied the Attempt of the Borough Authorities to Punish Her and They Effected a Compromise.

A compromise was reached yesterday in the case of the borough of North Plainfield against Harriet Richardson, the colored woman who violated the health ordinance. By the terms of the compromise Harriet succeeds in outwitting Borough Recorder Thomas and the health officials by evading the payment of a $20 fine, which was imposed upon her.

Harriet was arrested sometime ago for refusing to keep her premises in suitable order, and was fined by the Borough Recorder. She paid her fine with a check which the bank would not cash, as the drawer of the check had left orders to cash no checks unless ordered to do so by her.

The Recorder then instituted proceedings in tort against the woman to compel the payment of the fine. Attorney S. S. Swackhamer was engaged to defend the woman, and he managed the comprimise already referred to.

Harriet agrees to keep her premises in thorough order hereafter and to pay the costs of the action instituted against her. In consideration of this the fine which was imposed upon her by the Recorder is to be remitted.

MAY DENY REQUISITION.

Gov. Voorhees Said to Doubt if Smedberg is Guilty of This Last Charge.

Joseph Duncan Smedberg, who was arrested Saturday as he was coming out of the Union county jail at Elizabeth, may escape the New York courts.

The new charge against him is of stealing a surveyor's level, valued at $40, from the Standard Gas Company, of New York.

Smedberg's counsel in his former trial, Gov. Voorhees, does not believe him guilty of this latest charge, and, it is said, will refuse to sign requisition papers for his removal to New York.

The prisoner, who was taken back to the county jail, denies the accusation. Some suspect it is spite work.

Smedberg came from San Francisco, and was educated at Portsmouth College, O He married a handsome woman at Salt Lake City, whose parents are wealthy. She visited him while he was in jail on Jan. 28th, to obtain his consent to a divorce. He gave it. With her was a man who claimed to be a United States Army officer. It was understood at the jail that she wanted the divorce so that she could marry the military man.

Sending Provisions Secretly.

A. de Varona Quesada, president of the Cuban-American Patriotic Union, who worked in Plainfield for the insurgents' cause for two weeks, and secured numerous subscriptions and contributions, writes to The Press to the effect that owing to certain obstacles all provisions for the Cubans are consigned to private parties, subject to American protection.

To Describe Mission Work.

At the meeting of the Woman's Association of the Congregational church, to be held in the church parlors Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, of the Plainfield Branch of the McAll Auxiliary, will describe the work of that organization.

RELIGION IN THE CITY.

TERSE CHRISTIAN THOUGHTS HEARD IN TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Churches Do Not Keep Pace With the Growth of Cities, and to Spread Religion Therein is a Great Problem.

The special services in connection with the dedication of the new edifice of Trinity Reformed church, were continued in the church last evening.

The service began at 8 o'clock with a short service of song led by Horace J. Martin. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the church, made a short opening prayer; E. C. Martin sang a solo; and the Scripture reading from Luke 24:36, was given by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church.

After a prayer by Rev. A. F. Todd, D. D., of Dunellen, the pastor introduced the preacher of the evening, Rev. E. G. Reed, D. D., pastor of the Reformed church of Somerville. He said that before turning to the discussion of his text he wished to congratulate the pastor and people upon the beautiful edifice which they now possess, and expressed a hope that it would prove a help and lead both pastor and congregation to a more extended usefulness in the Lord's service.

The text was Genesis 4:17, "And he builded a city, and called the name of the city after his son Enoch."

"Many will wonder," the speaker said, "Why Cain builded a city for only himself, his wife and his son. We may say, however, that the building was a gradual process, and that as the descendants of Cain multiplied it became a real city, although at the first it was nothing more than a wall for protection. It is regarded as a reproach to Cain that he built a city, for cities have already been regarded as the homes of vice and crime, as Sodoms from which man should flee.

"The question of the day is what can religion do for the city? The tendency of men to congregate in cities is not a new tendency, as is shown by the text.

"All the large cities of history illustrate the gergari nature of men. In our own day one fourth of the entire population lives in large cities, so that they have become dominant in social matters and politics. There is a paucity of evangelizing work in the great cities. While small towns are overcrowded with churches, in the cities there are sections with population as large as whole territories, with only two or three churches. In cities the number of churches does not keep pace with the growth of population.

"The difficulties of evangelizing the cities are great, but the rewards are also great. Much opposition is encountered from the Romanists and from the saloons. If, however, we can succeed in the cities, there will be success all along the line. Christ and his disciples set the example by spreading the Gospel among the crowded throngs of men. This is why Christianity made such rapid strides. Let us not forget, then, to bend our best efforts towards evangelizing the cities."

This evening a song service at 7:45 o'clock will precede the regular meeting for fifteen minutes. The address will be delivered by Rev. Wm. Justin Harsha, D. D., pastor of the Collegiate Reformed church in New York. Dr. Harsha is one of the most celebrated divines in New York, and a speaker who always interests.

THIRSTED FOR A BLIND HUSBAND.

A Woman With a Temper Greeted Her Husband With a Butcher Knife.

The fact that Mrs. Rose Kline had just left the presence of Judge De Meza, after being arraigned on the charge of disorderly conduct, did not smooth her ruffled temper to any degree yesterday morning, and when her henpecked husband wended his way home for his noonday meal he was greeted at the door, so he avers, by his wife armed with a carving knife.

Mrs. Kline planted herself in the doorway and proclaimed in terrible tones that she would cut out her husband's one remaining eye if he ventured another step towards her. The head of the house in name only, though, declined to be butchered in such a manner and he returned and told his tale of woe to Judge DeMeza.

The latter sent two officers for the recalcitrant woman, but it took the minions considerable time to overawe the woman so that they could take her to the police station. She was locked up for a couple of hours and then released for examination Saturday morning.

Death of Mrs. TenEyck.

The death of Mrs. Sophia TenEyck, wife of Jeremiah Ten Eyck, of South Plainfield, occurred this morning, in her forty-seventh year. The funeral will be held Thursday.

HOT WORDS WERE HEARD

SAMUEL DREIER CAUSED THE ARREST OF HIS FORMER TENANT.

Joseph Hordes Called Dreier Out of His Name and the Prisoner Made a Counter Charge—Lively Trial in Court.

Joseph Hordes, who lately conducted the "Blue Front" clothing store, West Front street, and Samuel Dreier, who owned the building in which the business was located, had a quarrel yesterday that resulted in a lively trial before Judge DeMeza in the afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The two men met in the store yesterday morning when Hordes asked Dreier for $1.25 alleged to be owing for a hat. The latter was not in a particularly amiable mood towards Hordes because of the latter's attempt to move out quietly in the early morning, and in a few minutes there was a hot war of words. Finally Dreier became exasperated and ejected Hordes from the store. During the process of ejectment the landlord alleged that Hordes called him a number of vile names. He thereupon appeared before Judge DeMeza and swore out a warrant for the arrest of the clothing merchant.

Hordes was arrested only to be bailed out by Morris Abrams, the shoe dealer.

Lawyer Newcorn represented Dreier, and the proceedings were enlivened by the vigorous prosecution shown by the lawyer.

Warren Davis, a colored man, was the first witness. He was working in the store when the scrap began, and fearing results he had run forth for a policeman. Joe Block, who lives over the store, Harry Jaquett and R. Phillips, who were looking at the store with a view of renting it, were also sworn. All of them had heard high words, but were unable to tell just which one of the disputants was to blame.

Both Hordes and Dreier testified that each had been called hard names by the other, and Hordes also claimed that Mrs. Dreier had heaped serious allegations upon his head.

Mrs. Dreier made a passionate appeal for justice, and for a few minutes the court was tumultous with a babel of voices.

After hearing all sides, the Judge suspended sentence.

LUCY HAS GRAVE FEARS.

She Believes Nora Cary Wants to Visit Vengeance on Her.

Having emerged victorious in her legal contention with Rev. P. S. Gibson, Lucy Swain now believes that she is liable to immediate and cruel vengeance by one of the minister's fair supporters—in name, Nora Cary.

Lucy swears that Nora threatens to cut her to pieces, and to escape such a fate she appealed to Judge DeMeza.

Nora was arrested yesterday and told the Judge that she had no thought of harming Lucy. The only thing she did out of the way was to point out Lucy's home at the corner of West Third street and Plainfield avenue, and to tell some friends that that was where Lucy lived.

The Judge decided to hear the complete story Saturday morning.

PASTORAL TALKS.

An Interesting Feature of Lenten Services at the Congregational Church.

The special Lenten services to be held in the Congregational church will include pastoral talks with young members of the church and those who intend to become members, Sunday afternoons at 4 o'clock, and readings with young men, on alternate Friday evenings at the parsonage. The mid Week services during Lent will have as their subjects "The Last Parables of the Master," and the topics for the daily services to be held during Holy week will be "In Holy Places with the Master; the Temple, the Guest Chamber, the Garden, and the Judgment Hall."

Cost of Water and Light

A careful canvass of Westfield, to ascertain what is paid each year by those who use Union water and electric lights, shows that $17,400 is paid each year to the company. Of this sum $10,750 is paid for electric lights and $6,650 for water. These figures are being used by the advocates of town ownership of water supply and electric lights, which is a matter that will play an important part in the coming township election.

Wife Said He Wanted to Kill.

Philip Johnson, colored, of Arlington avenue, was arrested this morning upon a warrant issued by Justice Mosher, charging with pursuing his wife with a razor, with intent to kill her, last Saturday night. Johnson was held in $100 bonds to appear for examination before the Justice tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

BLIND, FLAMES KILLED HER.

AGED WOMAN WAS BURNED TO DEATH

Dress Caught Fire From a Stove and She Became a Living Torch Before Her Husband's Eyes.

Mrs. Alfred A. Liscomb, an aged woman, was burned to death at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Swentzel, on South Elmer street, Westfield, yesterday morning about 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Liscomb was a confirmed invalid, and had been totally blind for several years. Yesterday morning she was in the parlor alone, when her dress caught fire from the stove.

She apparently made a brave effort to put out the fire at first, but finding this useless she screamed for help, and the family rushed in to find the unfortunate woman enveloped in flames.

Her husband fought bravely to save her life, but his efforts were of little avail. The flames leaped about her head and burned her flesh to a crisp. She was unconscious when the fire was finally beaten out.

A physician was hastily summoned, five minutes later, as Mrs. Liscomb was breathing her last. Her death was partly due to shock.

Mr. Liscomb was badly burned about the face and hands in his heroic efforts to save his wife's life.

WON TWO OUT OF THREE

THE E. A. C.'S FELL DOWN BEFORE THE PARK CLUB BOWLERS.

The Game Was Not a Lively One and Only a Few Enthusiasts Saw It—Parks Won by One Pin in the Last Game—Score in Detail

Last evening the five-men bowling team from the Elizabeth Athletic Club came to Plainfield and met the team from the Park Club in a match in the Journal series. This was the first meeting of the two teams this season, and naturally a great deal of interest was attached to the contest.

The Lenten season may account in a measure for the small attendance of the fair sex, for usually they are present in large numbers. There was not much excitement during the evening until the last game was rolled. In the first game the Parks won by 75 pins. This gave them fresh courage and they started in with a determination to secure the second game. They lost, however, by 110 pins. This did not discourage them and the third game was started with greater determination than ever.

At the start it looked rather doubtful for the Parks, but they held together very well and managed to win out with one pin to their credit. On the wind-up there was great excitement and for a few minutes it looked as though the visiting team had won. A tally of the scores showed, however, that they were mistaken. Below will be found the scores of the three games:

Trial of Manshanda and Roesel Deferred to the May Term of Court.

The trial of George Manshanda and Louis Roesel, the alleged murderers of Farmer James Pitts, of Summit, which was to have been begun today, has been postponed until the May term of court.

To Tell Stories for a Prize.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, met last evening in regular session and after the transaction of the business on the calendar, the members were treated to a phonograph entertainment and several songs by Fred Pope. There was also some instrumental music. At the next meeting there will be a story telling contest for an encyclopedia. There are some excellent story-tellers among the members and a great time is looked for. In addition to the above there will be instrumental and vocal music. At the meeting last evening the largest attendance of the year was recorded.

In Honor of Her Birthday.

WOMAN SLEPT WHILE MAN LAY DEAD BY HER

A Colored Man Found Dead in Bed This Morning.

HAD RECEIVED NO MEDICAL AID.

In Company With a Married Colored Woman He Lived in Squalor and Destitute Circumstances—Half-an-Hour Before He Was Found Dead He Was Still Alive—County Physician Notified—Mrs. Connett Notified She Must Move.

Just what caused the death of John T Scudder, colored, aged 22 years, is a mystery. He had been living at 22 Race street, in the borough, with a colored woman named Mrs. Irene Connett, who is a laundress at McVey's restaurant, on North avenue.

Scudder died at 7 o'clock this morning under most peculiar circumstances. Last Thursday he complained of having a severe pain in the pit of his stomach, but aside from taking Jamaica ginger nothing else was done until early this morning when Dr. Clawson was sent for. It happened that the doctor was out on a case and could not answer the call, and Scudder died without any medical attention.

Scudder formerly worked for Geo. T. Harris, of Clinton avenue. He rented a room at 22 Race street upstairs, and lived in the one room with Mrs. Connett. There is only one bed in the room and that consists of a mattrass laid on the floor with a few quilts and blankets for covering. Otherwise the room was without any furnishings worth speaking of.

It was generally known that the couple were not married. Mrs. Connett at present knows nothing of the whereabouts of her husband. In fact she says he may be dead for all she knows. Scudder's mother, Mrs. Addison, lives at Atlantic Highlands, while his stepmother, Mrs. Agnes Scudder, lives on Fourth street, this city. His father is dead, and it is supposed that when living he left his first wife and married the woman who now professes to be his stepmother.

Since last Thursday Scudder had been growing worse in spite of attempts made to relieve him by patent medicines. Last evening about 10 o'clock Mrs. Connett came in from work and found a colored man named James Miner, who is a neighbor, watching by his bedside.

This morning about 6:30 o'clock Mrs. Connett awoke and found her companion all right. She then went to sleep again. Shortly before 7 o'clock Miner called to see how Scudder was, and he was greatly frightened to find that he was dead. He immediately awakened Mrs. Connett and informed her what had happened. Shortly afterward word was sent to Undertaker DeMott and Chief Marshal Wilson. The undertaker arrived first and the Chief soon afterward. The latter questioned Miner and Mrs. Connett and learned the story.

Early this morning Chief Wilson telephoned to County Physician Wagoner at Somerville, and he is expected to arrive in the borough early this afternoon. He will then determine whether it will be necessary to empanel a jury.

Chief Wilson informed Mrs. Connett this morning that as soon as Scudder was buried she would have to move from her present quarters and live a different life.

County Physician Wagoner viewed the remains this afternoon, and decided that the cause of death had been colic. A burial permit was given.

CHARLES SMITH TO TAKE A REST

During His Absence Joseph A. Blatz Will Have Charge of His Saloon.

It has been rumored that Charles Smith, proprietor of the saloon at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, has sold his business to Joseph A. Blatz, owner of the building. The fact is that such a deal has not yet been consummated, although there is a deal now pending for that purpose. Mr. Smith writes The Daily Press that he has concluded to take a trip of five or six months' duration for his health, and that he has appointed Mr. Blatz his attorney and manager during his absence.

Mr. Smith has owned the business for seventeen years, and previous to his taking possession his father had it for three years, making twenty years that it has been in the Smith family. In case Mr. Blatz takes the place it is likely that Henry Windham will be manager. Mr. Smith has been a great sufferer from rheumatism and he thinks a change will do him good.

Off for a Balmy Climate.

Former Mayor Gilbert and wife, of West Eighth street, sailed today by Steamship Santiago for Nassau, Bahama Islands. They will be absent sometime.

ALL AMERICANS SAFE

They Protest Against Sensational Reports About Havana.

MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT

And Resolutions Adopted Denying the Stories That Americans Are Daily Insulted on the Streets—To Be Sent to President McKinley.

Havana, March 1.—A meeting of the Americans now in Havana was held last night at the Hotel Inglaterra. The object was to protest against the sensational reports which are being sent to certain New York papers. Resolutions were adopted denying the stories that Americans are daily insulted in the streets. Copies of the resolutions will be sent to President McKinley and Captain-General Blanco.

There is no intimidating of Americans here. Every citizen of the United States is perfectly safe. These facts were stated in emphatic form in the resolutions adopted last night.

Captain Sigsbee has received orders from Washington to forward to Key West in metallic coffins any bodies which may hereafter be recovered from the wreck. Those which have already been buried in the cemetery must remain there two years, according to the Havana law.

Eight divers are continuing their work at the wreck of the Maine. Two are Spanish and the other six Americans.

The physicians have given permission for the removal of five of the wounded sailors to Key West on the Bache tomorrow. Their names are Webber, Mack, Cahill, Matteison and Allen.

SOMETHING FOR SPAIN TO EXPLAIN

How Was This Explosion Caused If There Were No Mines or Torpedoes?

Washington, March 1.—Ever since Senor du Bosc made the official statement last week that there were no mines in the Havana harbor there has been a good deal of comment in official circles in regard to a certain explosion in Havana harbor some weeks ago. The matter seems to have been overlooked until the Spanish Charge d'Affaires made his announcement, but it is now recalled. At the time of the explosion in question it was officially stated by the Spanish authorities that they were experimenting with explosives in the harbor.

Shortly after Blanco assumed command in Havana a dispatch entirely free from sensationalism was sent from Havana and published largely in the American newspapers stating that a severe explosion had occurred and that there was much excitement and apprehension until it was checked by the announcement of the authorities that the explosion was merely an accidental discharge of a torpedo in the harbor which officials "were experimenting with from the shore." This announcement at the time insignificant, now acquires importance as disproving the claim that no torpedoes or mines were in the harbor.

TO INCREASE THE NAVY.

Resolution to Appropriate $20,000,000 for Purchase of War Ships.

Washington, March 1.—Representative Bromwell, of Ohio, yesterday introduced in the House the following resolution: "That the Secretary of the Navy be and he is hereby authorized whenever in his judgment it shall become expedient for the best interests of the country to do so, to secure options upon and consummate the purchase of such battleships, cruisers, rams, torpedo boats or other form of naval vessels as are of the most modern type and ready for immediate use, together with the necessary armament and equipment for the same as in his judgment are necessary to place the naval strength of the country upon a proper footing for immediate hostilities with any foreign power with which the same may be threatened; and that for the purpose of consummating such purchase there is hereby appropriated the sum of $20,000,000 to be immediately available."

The resolution was referred to the Naval Committee. Mr. Bromwell said he introduced it to call the attention of the Naval Commitee to the necessity for providing such a contingent fund in the Naval Appropriation bill. If the committee does not include such a provision in the bill when it is reported he will offer it as an amendment in the House.

NO MORE MEN FOR THE NAVY YET.

Naval Bill to Be Held in the House Until Maine Inquiry Ends.

Washington, March 1.—It seems that the Columbia and the Minneapolis must wait for their complement of men to go into commission. Much mystery surrounds the question. When asked about the letter from the Secretary of the Navy, requesting authority to enlist 1,500 men to man the Columbia and Minneapolis, and make up the complement of other vessels, Mr. Boutelle, chairman of the House Naval Committee, showed great irritation, and indicated his opposition to the application of the Secretary. Later, it was said that an understanding had been reached between the Secretary, Mr. Boutelle and Senator Hale, chairman of the Senate Committee, that a joint resolution, providing for the enlistment should be put through both houses this week.

Since then the situation has changed, and it is determined that the department shall wait until the naval bill is reached in the regular way before the men are provided for these vessels. The members of the committee are very reticent and hint that there is a serious disagreement somewhere. It is said on committee authority, that the naval bill is to be held back until the report of the Maine Board of Inquiry has been received, and that if then it appears that war is inevitable provision will be made in the bill for all the men wanted, and the further strengthening of the naval establishment, but that nothing will be done until then.

The large Flavine dye wood and chemical works of the John S. Young Company, at Hanover, Pa., were destroyed by fire Sunday, entailing a loss of $40,000; insurance, $26,000.

THE TREASURY SURPLUS.

Greater Than Expenditures by Three-quarters of a Million.

Washington, March 1.—Treasury officials are highly elated over the results of the revenue law, for the total figures show a surplus over expenditures of nearly three-quarters of a million for the month just closed. The gratifying feature of these returns is the fact that they have increased steadily day by day, and that yesterday's receipts of $1,875,729 are among the highest on record for the month.

The figures are made up of $1,054,783 from internal revenue, $603,965 from customs and $216,981 from miscellaneous sources. The expenditures amount to $584,000. The total February receipts up to Saturday night were $26,696,628, of which $14,436,715 was from customs. The closing figures yesterday bring the total up to $28,572,357, of which $15,240,580 is from customs. February, therefore, though three days shorter than January, exceeds the latter month by over a million in customs alone.

Treasury officials believe they can now count upon an average of a million a day in receipts, and are confident that the returns for the remainder of the fiscal year will show a sufficient surplus to reduce the deficit created from July 1 last to date. It is believed at the department that sugar importations have figured somewhat this month in the customs returns, but not to anything like the extent which they must hereafter. The same is true of wool, though heavy returns from those importations are not expected for several months yet.

FIRE IN A HARVARD DORMITORY.

Two Students Jump from Fourth Floor—One Severely Hurt.

Cambridge, Mass., March 1.—A building on Massachusetts avenue, known as The Hilton, was partly consumed by fire yesterday afternoon. The ground floor was occupied by a billiard room and tobacco store, while the upper stories were occupied by students, who had their rooms there.

Only two of the students were in the building when the fire broke out, and they escaped by jumping from a fourth story window into a blanket held by several firemen in the street, seventy-five feet below.

James Barclay Henney was the first to jump. He showed great coolness and calculated his jump so that he landed directly on the blanket. The firemen, however, did not have a sufficiently tight hold on the blanket, and Hanney's weight tore it from their grasp. He landed on the asphalt pavement with considerable force, and had his arm and nose broken by the fall.

The other student, whose name could not be learned, landed safely, and as the firemen this time held the blanket securely, he was unhurt.

The building was completely gutted and it is thought that the loss will be in the neighborhood of $50,000. Henney's chances of recovery are slight.

Murdered in the Street.

New York, March 1.—In sight of half a dozen persons Emil Gulzman walked up behind Nicholas W. Pontius in East Fifty-ninth street, near Third avenue, yesterday, and fired five bullets into his body, killing him instantly. In a few moments Gulzman was arrested by a policeman who heard the shots fired. There is much mystery as to the cause of the shooting. Gulzman has hinted that it was due to a family affair, while the police have heard that a gambling debt was the cause. Both men are known in certain sporting circles. The man who did the killing is 28 years old, a diamond broker, and lives in No. 978 Third avenue. Pontius is 39 years old, a stone mason, and lives in No. 200 East Fifty-ninth street.

To Examine Suicide's Heart.

San Francisco, Cal., March 1.—Coroner Hawkins has been requested by the military authorities at the Presidio to turn over to them the heart of Joseph Foque, the ex-soldier, who committed suicide last Friday by shooting himself with one of the new Krag-Jorgensen rifles, recently adopted by the Government for the use of the army. It is reported that the military people stated it was their intention to send the heart to the Surgeon-General of the United States Army, in order that the destructve power of a bullet from the new army rifle when fired into the body of a human being, might be determined.

King George's Assailant Arrested.

Athens, March 1.—One of the men who attempted to kill King George and his daughter, Princess Marie, on Saturday has been arrested. His name is Karditza. He was employed in the municipal service of Athens in a subordinate capacity. Karditza confessed his guilt of attempting to kill King George and Princess Marie, and expressed regret that he had not been successful. He refused to divulge the name of his accomplice.

No River and Harbor Bill.

Washington, March 1.—It can be stated positively that no river and harbor bill will be reported at this session of Congress. The House leaders are opposed to it, and the friends of the bill on the committee believe it would be better to wait until the short session after the Congressional elections next fall, when a complete and comprehensive bill can be reported, rather than to attempt to pass an inadequate bill at this session.

Inventor Ferris' Remains.

Pittsburg, March 1.—The remains of George W. Ferris, known throughout the world for his invention and construction of the great Ferris wheel at the Chicago world's fair, are still held at the crematory of a local undertaker for unpaid funeral expenses, contracted over a year ago. Mr. Ferris was practically penniless at his death, but carried insurance to the amount of $25,000. This, it is said, was eaten up by a number of claims.

Forming a Cavalry Regiment.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 1.—A movement is under way for the formation in Arizona of an independent cavalry regiment composed mainly of frontiersmen well skilled in the management of horses and arms and embracing a large number of cowboys. Companies are being organized at Prescott, Flagstaff, Phoenix, Globe, Solomonville, Tombstone, Tucson and other cities. The enrollment is expected to reach one thousand.

Doctors now agree that consumption is curable.

Three things, if taken together, will cure nearly every case in the first stages; the majority of cases more advanced; and a few of those far advanced.

The first is, fresh air; the second, proper food; the third, Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil with hypophosphites.

To be cured, you must not lose in weight, and, if thin, you must gain. Nothing equals Scott's Emulsion to keep you in good flesh.

Miss Nettie Beeching, who has been visiting several Jersey towns making addresses on Sunday-school work, returned home yesterday.

Mrs Josie Addison and her son, Matthew Addison, of Brooklyn, were the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Mundy, of Stone street.

PASSING COMMENT.

If the patriotism of Plainfielders is to be judged by the interest which she has shown in the Maine disaster, this city is certainly not found wanting. The disaster has been the one great topic of conversation on the streets, and elsewhere, and the latest bits of news bearing upon the unfortunate affair have been sought with eagerness. In many quarters the war spirit has been running very high this disposition to fight being noticeable especially among the younger men.

A bicycle rider whose name could not be ascertained had a hairbreadth escape from serious injury on Watchung avenue, late Saturday night. He attempted to ride almost directly in front of a swiftly moving trolley car, and when on the track his wheel slipped, throwing him with much force between the rails. Fortunately the motorman had presence of mind enough to instantly reverse the motor, and the car was brought to a standstill within a few inches of the prostrate form of the rash wheelman. He was taken to his home in a carriage.

* * * * *

The writer often hears the question asked, "Why is not Sycamore street extended under the Central Railroad tracks and made to connect with the North Avenue station?" The question is not an easy one to answer. There seems to be no good reason why the extension should not be made, as it could be done without incurring a heavy expense and the improvement would be a valuable one. It would have the happy effect, among other things, of relieving the pressure of travel upon North avenue during the hours when commuters go to and from their homes. The extension could be swerved to one side slightly so that it could be made to enter North avenue without disturbing the station at all.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

The Paterson Press highly commends Assemblyman Murray's plan of saving the Palisades. It says: "One of the really practical suggestions as to how to stop the destruction of the Palisades comes from Assemblyman Murray, of Union county, who proposes a heavy penalty for blasting rock within two hundred feet of any navigable stream. The despoilers of the noble crags would be willing to turn them over at a more moderate figure for a State or National reservation if this check were applied to their mercenary business.

John Wanamaker divided nearly $18,000 among his Philadelphia store employes as their share of the holiday profits. And this is the prince of advertisers, who says: "I never in my life used such a thing as a poster or a dodger or handbill. My plan for twenty years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up as I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of 500 circulation for $5,000 dodgers or posters."

Senator Reed has introduced a bill into the Legislature empowering executors holding real estate in trust for minors to mortgage the same for the education of their wards.

HANGING LAMP FELL.

The Oil Spread and Ignited and Threatened to Destroy a House.

Last evening about 6 o'clock an alarm of fire was sent in from Box 152, corner of Linden avenue and Grove street, by William Neil, coachman for Mayor Wilson, of Greenbrook road. The fire was in a house on Grove street occupied by Mrs. Margaret Wilson. The hanging lamp in the kitchen fell from its position and the fire ignited with the oil from the lamp. In an instant flames were shooting in every direction and the total destruction of the house was threatened. Mrs. Wilson fought the flames bravely until from exhaustion she was obliged to call for help. It happened that Mr. Neil was passing and he sent in the alarm.

In the meantime he assisted Mrs. Wilson in doing what she could to check the spread of the fire. As it was, considerable damage resulted to the kitchen and dining room, before the department arrived. The firemen did not put any water in the house, but depended wholly on the hand extinguishers. Just what the loss is has not yet been determined, but the house and contents were fully insured. The department was very quick to respond and to them is due the credit of saving the house.

NAVAL RESERVES AGITATED.

Ordered to Report on Battleship—No Excuses to be Accepted.

Considering the fact that the government is putting the country on a military basis, the Plainfield members of the Naval Reserve were considerably agitated this morning to receive notices to report on the battleship Portsmouth at Jersey City tonight. The order stated that no excuses would be accepted.

Through the real estate agency of Wallace V. Miller, Isaac P. Runyon has acquired the ownership of the house at 127 Liberty street, giving in exchange three building lots in Elizabeth to Mrs. Sarah M. TenEyck. Mr. Runyon will make material improvements to the house.

This evening on the famous Ulrich alleys there will be an exciting bowling match between the Knob Hill and Bound Brook teams.

They make excellent tailor made suits and skirts. Genuine French broad-cloth, $2.25 per yard.

Waist Silks.

The importers show a most bewildering variety of remarkably beautiful waists silks. It's the same old story—they tempted us and we fell, and we fell pretty hard, for we bought a tremendous assortment of them—enough to have staggered us a year ago. But we have served Plainfield people long enough to discover that they appreciate fine goods, and have no fear but they will meet with ready sale, for there is but one waist of a kind. Splendid assortment plain and changeable Taffetas for waists, jacket linings, etc.

A Reliable Newspaper.

The manner in which the Evening Post has handled the news concerning the recent disaster to the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana is a credit, not only to that newspaper, but to American journalism as well. It is the only New York evening paper that printed absolutely accurate reports of the disaster, including the correct names of the killed, wounded and survivors. In these days of sensational journalism, it is a relief and a source of great satisfaction to read a paper like the Evening Post—a thorough and complete newspaper which prints all the news in black and white.

Runyon & Son, and were sent to the home of the deceased in Raritan.

The wonderful educated horse, "Beautiful Jim Key," who is to give exhibitions at Stillman Music Hall, Friday and Saturday of this week, is said to be the most intelligent animal that has every been known. An Overlooked Principle.

If it requires ten horse power to start certain machinery an engine of nine horse power won't answer. It will be no better than no engine at all. You must have the additional power or all the effort of your engine will be wasted.

So in medicine. If a drug of certain strength or potency is necessary to stop the progress of disease, a weaker drug will be no better than no drug at all.

Remember this when you have a prescription to be filled and also remember that we guarantee every drug we use to be of exact standard strength. We insure purity and potency and also scientific compounding.

IF NOT MIRACLES

THEN WHAT DO YOU CALL THE MARVELOUS CURES PERFORMED BY THE BOY PHENOMENON?

A Score or More of Our Most Prominent Citizens Have Been Cured by His Magnetic Power.

Those Wishing Treatment Must Secure an Appointment this Week, as the Next 2 Week Will be Entirely Devoted to Curing Those Under Treatment.

The many remarkable cures accomplished by the Boy Phenomenon during the past 3 weeks have been everywhere discussed and commented upon as something so truly amazing in the healing art that it is almost beyond belief, unless they have been eyewitnesses to their restoration.

While many unsolicited testimonials have already been published in the daily papers, vouching for the curative power of his healing hands and reciting the experiences of some of the most prominent citizens of Plainfield and vicinity, yet there has not been published a one hundredth part of the cures he has made in this city alone, owing to the many columns it would require to enumerate them all, but the names and addresses will be given to any one who is desirous of investigating the truth of such cases.

A few, however, will be mentioned to show what is thought of the Boy Phenomenon by his patients: Everybody knows Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tingley, 405 West Fourth street. They are 2 of our oldest, best known and most respected citizens whose names are synonomous for all that is good, honest and straightforward.

Mr. Tingley has been deaf for many years, besides having lumbago and rheumatism so bad that he has not had a full night's rest in years. He has had 2 treatments, and now says he can hear as well as ever, and that he has had no pain since he was first treated.

Mrs. Tingley, his wife, had also been deaf for many years, caused by a fall, and augmented by catarrh; besides having a throat trouble and rheumatic pains all over. She also had 2 treatments, and while the rheumatism and throat were entirely cured, her deafness was no better, and she was getting discouraged, as it was 2 weeks since she was first treated. But yesterday, Monday afternoon, there was a snapping noise in her head, and her hearing suddenly returned, and now she can hear a watch tick, the first time in years. Those who are interested and wish to investigate may call on Mr. and Mrs. Tingley, and obtain their opinion of the young healer.

Mrs. Annie Smith, of West Second street, was so gratified at her recovery that, although having paid for her treatment, she wrote the following letter expressing her thanks and gave him permission to publish it, in hopes that some other sufferer might see it and profit by her experience. The letter speaks for itself:

"Boy Phenomenon, Revere House, Plainfield: I desire to express my gratitude for the marvelous benefit I have received from your hands. Words cannot express my thanks. I was stricken with paralysis a year ago, and could not talk without stammering, and my voice was almost gone. Now I can talk almost as well as ever. I could not hold anything in my hands, now I can use them quite well. I was also unable to walk without tottering and fear of falling, but now, after two treatments, I am able to walk as well as ever. Respectfully, Mrs ANNIE SMITH."

Dozens of such letters have been received, but are never published unless the patients are so grateful that they desire others to know of their recovery.

Owing to the large number of appointments made last week he will be compelled to extend his visit in Plainfield 2 or 3 weeks longer, therefor those who desire his services should lose no time in obtaining an appointment, as his time is being rapidly engaged.

STILL HOPE FOR PEACE

McKinley Clings to Accident Theory, Despite Alarms.

WAR TALK ON THE DECLINE

Administration Would Be Prepared for Trouble, Though and is Strongly Opposed—Assistant Secretary Roosevelt Makes a Statement.

Washington March 1.—Not a word of information as to the findings of the Naval Board of Inquiry has come to the Navy Department that will throw any light upon what caused the explosion that wrecked the batleship Maine. At the Navy Department no intimation as to the nature of the report is expected before the latter part of the week. There seems to be every reason to believe that the administration is sincere in its repeated statements that the public knows as much about the disaster as do the President and the Secretary of the Navy.

There is direct telegraphic communication between Admiral Sicard at Key West and President McKinley in Washington. The wires were arranged immediately after the Maine was destroyed, so that communications could pass without being subjected to delay. So far there has been no occasion to use the special wire, but it will probably be of great service in case any trouble follows the decision of the Board of Inquiry.

The feature of the news of the past forty-eight hours with regard to the possibility of trouble with Spain is the developments regarding the action of Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt in ordering guns sent from Washington to equip the auxiliary cruisers at New York, in writing a letter to the Naval Committees of the two houses, asking for immediate authority to enlist 1,500 additional seamen, and the action of Commodore Bradford in urging on the Committees on Appropriation of $100,000 to be immediately available for the purchase of coal.

These recommendations were all proposed by President McKinley, but Senator Hale and Representative Boutelle, chairmen of the Naval Committees, and Speaker Reed, all oddly enough from the State of Maine, oppose them, and they will probably be temporarily defeated.

In the opinion of these Maine Congressmen, acting in harmony for the first time in years, emergency legislation of this kind causes the impression to go abroad that the administration is preparing for war, and that therefore war is probable or at least possible. They think that the public mind should not be inflamed in this way; and that there will be time enough to prepare for war when war is assured.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt has therefore made an official statement to the effect that the administration does not believe there will be a war, and that it is only making preparations against a possibile contingency. This is just the attitude assumed by the administration all along. The President and all the Cabinet believe that the explosion which destroyed the Maine was accidental, but they fear it may not have been. They think there will be no war, but they fear there may be. It is not known whether a test of the power of the Speaker and his Maine colleagues to defeat the emergency legislation as asked for by the Navy Department will be made. Hale and Boutelle have Acting Secretary Roosevelt's letter of Friday in their pockets, and may keep them there. Should it be submitted to the Senate and the House they would be acted upon favorably.

As President McKinley has more than once expresed it, the loss of the Maine is but an incident in the Cuban question. When the news of the disaster came the period had almost been reached when it would be necessary for the President to deliver his ultimatum to Spain with regard to the ending of the war and the granting of freedom to Cuba, and whatever the findings of the Board of Inquiry may be, it is understood that this will soon be done.

As to the chances of war, much will depend upon the temper of the people when the report of the Board of Inquiry is made public. Everything now indicates that the report will show that the explosion was not accidental. Whatever the verdict, the President will use his influence to prevent war.

Against the Central Pacific.

New York, March 1.—Word comes from Washington that Attorney-General Griggs is preparing to bring an action against the Central Pacific Railroad in the near future, to recover the defaulted bonds which became due Jan. 1, 1898. No doubt of the truth of the report was expressed either in the office of the railroad company, or among financiers, who are acquainted with the Government's policy. Only the necessity of getting the Cuban complication settled one way or another, it is said, has prevented a suit being begun before this. The Government has issued to the Central Pacific road $25,885,120 principal, and $45,234,554.04 interest. This debt has been reduced by transportation $8,132,357.68, and by cash $658.283.26, leaving an interest balance of $36,443,-913.10 on the above principal. There is to the sinking fund a total of $7,516,-786.54, which the Government has a right to apply toward the liquidation of the debt.

Will Not Change Bank Plans.

Philadelphia, March 1.—It has been decided that no change will be made in the plans to settle the affairs of the Chestnut Street National Bank and Trust Company oy reason of the sudden death of its president, William M. Singerly, publisher of the Record. The plan of applying the income and assets of the Record Publishing Company to the restoration of the depleted resources of the bank will go into operation to-day under an agreement executed more thaff a week ago by Mr. Singerly, and it will be carried out in all respects as though he were living.

Senators Oppose Bankruptcy Bill.

Washington, March 1.—The Senate Committee on Judiciary has recommended non-concurrence on the House Bankruptcy bill and has decided to select Senators Platt, Lindsay and Nelson as conferees. Nelson is not a member of the committee, but it was his bill which passed the Senate.

THE LATTIMER TRIAL

How the Fate of Sheriff Martin and His Deputies Hangs.

Wilkesbarre Pa., March 1.—The fourth week of the Lattimer trial opened yesterday with the general expectation that before the week ends the testimony of the defense will all be in, and some of the Commonwealth's witnesses in rebuttal heard. By the middle of next week the verdict should be rendered.

The defense has many witnesses to hear, but is rushing them through so rapidly that all will be heard by Friday or Saturday, including the Sheriff and the deputies. The witnesses heard by the defense contradict in many important particulars the evidence of the Commonwealth's witnesses. It is said that every one of the 111 so far heard are directly interested in one company or another, either as employees on regular salaries or employees' wives.

The first witness was Miss Cora Heinbach, aged 18, who said that on the day of the shooting at Lattimer a woman rushed past her house crying that the strikers were coming and she was going to find her husband and get him to hide, fearing that the strikers would blow up the town. She ran to the schoolhouse and asked the teacher, Miss Grace Coyle, to excuse her little sister. She hurried home, and the entire family hid in the garret. They heard the shooting, a few scattering shots and then a volley, but no shots afterward.

The second witness told how the strikers at Lattimer were urged to charge upon the deputies. This witness, Stephen Gullenmiller, drover over from West Hazleton on the day of the shooting and was a few feet behind the deputies when the strikers approached. He said that he saw a big man in his shirt sleeves standing behind the deputies, and that he beckoned to the strikers to come on. They did so, although momentarily halted by the Sheriff and were close upon the deputies when the shooting commnced. There were a few scattered shots and then a volley and no shots afterward.

Stephen Durkin, a blacksmith, told about having seen the procession of strikers pass McKenna's Hotel, some of them carrying sticks and clubs. He, with a friend, had halted in the alley between the houses and back of the line of deputies. As the strikers came on he saw the Sheriff go out to meet them, and saw the scuffle between the strikers and the Sheriff. He lost sight of the Sheriff. At this moment a man standing just in front of him in the alley motioned with both arms for the strikers to come on. The crowd rushed past the Sheriff and then came the shooting.

The main interest in this witness' testimony was that relating to the signal from the alleyway by the big Hungarian, which had been previously mentioned. The witness was minutely examined as to the time taken up by the shooting, and as to whether the strikers had started to run before the general volley.

He declared emphatically that at the first two scattering shots the mob had turned to escape, and that as the volley came many of the strikers had their backs turned toward the line of deputies. This point is one on which the defense will lay much stress, because the prosecution's contention has been that the men were ruthlessly picked off after they had run away some distance. Witness Durkin told the best story yet offered on the side of the defense in this particular.

Burgess W. W. Smith of West Hazleton said that on September 3 he saw about fifty strikers drive the men from the Coyle strippings, by throwing stones at them. He began to tell how the policemen, whom he ordered to arrest the men, were afraid, but was stopped by the Commonwealth, and the objection was sustained. The burgess went on to say that after September 3 he ordered Patrolman Jones to take three special policemen to aid him at night. This was owing to the fear of violence at the hands of the strikers.

John Landfesser, an old resident of West Hazleton, testified to advising the strikers to disperse and go home and pay attention to the Sheriff's proclamation. The strikers declined to listen and replied: "The Sheriff is no good."

BATTLE FOUGHT IN CUBA.

Spaniards Had 2,800 Men Against 3,000 Insurgents.

Havana, March 1.—La Lucha published late last evening an official dispatch giving an account of a battle in the Province of Puerto Principe, in which the insurgents are said to have lost 181 killed and wounded.

According to the dispatch the battle took place Feb. 18 and 19 in and near the Santa Ines and Hinojosa Hills. The Spanish force, which was under the command of Gen. Jiminez Castellanos, numbered 2,400 infantry and 400 cavalry. The insurgents numbered 3,000.

The insurgents left 87 dead on the field. Among the killed were Col. Alvaro Rodiguez, Commandant Angel Recio, and other officers. According to the dispatch, the Spaniards lost one officer, Lieut. Perajo, and seven soldiers killed, and three officers and 73 soldiers wounded.

The Spanish troops are said to have captured many weapons, a large quantity of ammunition, and 34 horses.

Bank Cashier Sentenced.

Philadelphia, March 1.—Cyrus E. Breder, former cashier of the First National Bank of Bethlehem, Pa., who pleaded guilty, on February 21, to the embezzlement of over $20,000 from the bank, was yesterday sentenced to seven years in prison by Judge Butler, in the United States District Court.

House Passes Sundry Civil Bill.

Washington, March 1.—The House passed the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill yesterday after four days' debate. The most important action was the elimination on a point of order of the appropriation for this country's representations at the Paris Exposition.

Governor Budd a Candidate.

San Francisco, March 1.—The Chronicle says: "Governor Budd has informed his friends that in view of the retirement of Senator White, he will be a candidate for the United States Senate, provided the next Legislature is Democratic.

Long needed rain has ended the drought which seriously threatened the farming region of the principal valleys of California.

ANOTHER VICTORY

In Plainfield. This Comes From West Front Street and Endorses What Others Are Saying.

The wonderful success of the "little conqueror" has astonished our citizens. All over the city the people are talking about it. At first many wise heads were shaken and doubters were numerous. This is not surprising, as so many claims have been made under similar circumstances with nothing to back them In the face of these difficulties the work has gone steadily onward, until now the public are showing their appreciation, and the indorsement of our citizens right here at home drives away the doubts of every skeptic. Here's another victory that has stood the test of time:

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says; "For the last year I was troubled with symptoms of kidney trouble. A sort of grinding pain across my back at times extended up to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. I am ever so much better. The pain in my back seldom, if ever, troubles me now, and the headaches and dizziness have entirely left me. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

Notice to the Public in General.

The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Try us and be convinced that we are up to date, and that you would rather have AMERICANS by all odds to serve you. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

COURT AT KEY WEST

The Maine Inquiry Resumed at That Point.

THE OFFICERS TO TESTIFY

General Sentiment Among Them Seems to Be That the Battleship Was Blown Up by Design—Testimony Taken According to Its Relative Importance.

Key West, Fla., March 1.—The Maine Court of Inquiry commenced its sessions here yesterday. The young officers and civilians here who believed the reports from Havana saying that the court had already decided that the loss of the Maine was due to treachery have apparently changed their minds, for today the universal question is: "What has the court found out?"—while for several days past one heard all around, "When will war be declared?" Brought face to face with the quiet reality of this court, men realize for the first time how unlikely it will be for the court to allow any inkling of its conclusions to be known out of due season.

Shortly before leaving the hotel for the court room a young officer of the Maine was heard to say:

"Well, I don't suppose they'll ask me, but if they do, I'll tell them I am positive we were blown up. No one can make me believe the Maine blew up from internal causes, as the papers call it."

This undoubtedly represents the opinion of the majority of the Maine officers, and if it were not for the stringent injunction to keep silence, some of the Maine's officers would doubtless let their suppressed indignation have public vent and under their own names.

The court opened shortly after 10 o'clock. Lieutenant Blandin was the first witness called. Testimony will be taken according to its relative importance, and not according to the rank of the witness.

Sure It Was No Accident.

Key West, March 1.—After the Court of Inquiry adjourned yesterday afternoon Captain Sampson had a short interview with Rear Admiral Sicard, and then returned to the Iowa. Captain Chadwick and Lieutenant-Commander Potter were taken on board the New York.

Few know more than was known yesterday morning. However, an officer of the Maine, who had been examined by the court, talked about the proceedings.

"I can't tell you," he said, "what line of questioning was adopted, but the court will find, I believe, that the Maine was blown up by design, though I don't think it will be able to ascertain exactly how. The court's finding will be based on negative rather than positive evidence.

"By this I mean that all the testimony heard so far has, bit by bit, frustrated the theories of those who think the explosion was of internal origin. This negative evidence is so strong and so general that I see no possibility of the court deciding that the explosion was internal.

"The only alternative then left for the court is to fall back on evidence which points to the intentional blowing up of the Maine. This, I think, will be done, unless the court formulates a theory of its own or declares that it does not know how the disaster occurred, both of which conjectures I think improbable."

As bearing on the value of the opinion of the officer quoted here, it must be explained that he was before the court for about fifteen minutes only, and that he has at all times expressed himself as confident that the Maine's fate was not due to an accident.

DO NOT EXPECT AN EARLY REPORT

The Court of Inquiry Must Return to Havana First.

Washington, March 1.—The Maine Court of Inquiry is going back to Havana, and the Navy Department does not expect its final report this week. In fact, Secretary Long is of the opinion that it may be ten days or two weeks before the report is ready, if it is received then.

The officials at the Navy Department do not hesitate to make known the fact that the Court of Inquiry will return to Havana to continue its investigation. As one officer expressed it: "The Court works faster than the divers, and the trip to Key West is made only to give the divers a chance to make progress, and during that time, the Court will make progress also, by getting the testimony of the officers and crew, now at Key West."

The survivors who have been at Key West since the explosion, are anxious to get away for many reasons. They have been obliged to stay until they could give their testimony to the Court.

At the Navy Department it is stated that the divers had not been able to go below the berthdeck of the Maine, and had made very slow progress. This is not on account of the condition of the water, but on account of the terrible condition of the wreck itself, and the impossibility of making headway among the tangled masses of iron, steel, wood and debris. While the Court is at Key West for a few days, the divers may be able to go further down in the hull of the ship, and may have some important information when the Board returns. It is for this reason that the Department has received so little information from Captain Sigsbee and the other officers. They have learned absolutely nothing positive. The administration, therefore, is still holding to the accident theory.

No dispatches were received at either the State or Navy departments yesterday of any importance, and at the State Department the officials expressed confidence that the excitement was quieting down and that the people were perfectly willing to wait for the report of the Court of Inquiry and trust the President for a satisfactory outcome of the matter. Judge Day, the Assistant Secretary of State, stated that no dispatches had been received and that the department, like every one else, was waiting for the verdict of the court.

President McKinley has appointed and commissioned Mr. J. W. Collins of Massachusetts to represent the United States at the International Fisheries Exposition to be held in Bergen, Norway, from May to September.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Manager Cuming, of the Eldridge Cycle Co., expects a large shipment of wheels in a few days.

Miss M. G. Morse, of Franklin place, has received her new mount for the year, a Crescent wheel.

Charles Lister has taken possession of his new cycle store on North avenue and will open in a few days.

The Western Wheel Works are now preparing to put a chainless Crescent wheel on the market. Their representatives in this city, the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company, will receive their first sample of that new wheel this week.

P. B. Matthews, of Grove street, who recently completed eight thousand miles on an Apollo wheel, has just received a '98 wheel of the same make as a gift from the makers. Mr. Matthews' old wheel is on exhibition at the business house of the makers in Philadelphia.

The last number of the New York Athletic Club Journal contains a half tone picture of Peter B. Matthews, of North Plainfield, who rode the greatest mileage of any member of the noted club. M. Matthews' score was 7,785 miles, which is considered a formidable one considering the fact that he did not commence riding till May 1st. Mr. Matthews was 875 miles ahead of the second competitor. The article states that the craving for a big mileage is on the decline, nevertheless the record of Mr. Matthews is one to be proud of.

There seems a general opinion among the bicycle dealers of this city and elsewhere that the chainless wheel will not be generally used this season. Of course, there will be a number of riders who will appear on the roads with the new wheel, but the large majority will remain on the well known chain wheel until the chainless wheel has been proved to be an assured success. It is generally understood also that this will not be a year for expensive wheels. There are so many excellent wheels on the market that can be purchased at a moderate price, that the trade in the high priced wheels will not be large. It is in the wheels ranging in price from $30 to $50 that the dealers expect to make their money.

Gone to Trenton.

About twenty-five Plainfielders boarded the special train for Trenton this noon for the purpose of attending the hearing on the Bergen bill to be given by the Assembly committee this afternoon. Among those who joined the advocates of the measure from other sections of the county were Freeholders J. F. Hubbard and John Tier, Assessor J. A Hubbard, Councilman Buckle, School Commissioner Lounsbery, James E. Martine, John Kenney, John Savres, Alexander Mallinson, Lawrence Van Buren, Elston French, Amos Andrews, Eugene Laing, William Hubbard, T. Callahan, E. Thorn and J. Motley.

Blockaded the Trolley Cars.

A wagon bearing a load of kindling wood, from Westfield, was disabled on East Fourth street, near Park avenue, yesterday by the collapsing of one of the wheels. The accident caused a short blockade of the trolley line. The wheel was soon replaced with a sound one, and the wagon proceeded on its way.

THE CARE OF A HORSE.

A Warrenville Farmer Wants $7 a Week and is Offered $1.50.

How much is it worth to board a horse?

This is the question at dispute between Charles Burnett, a mason and builder, living on North avenue, this city, and David Dunn, of Warrenville, who is the proprietor of a select equine boarding house at Warrenville.

Burnett sent his horse to Dunn's hotel to board, two months ago, and tendered an amount equal to $1.50 per week. Dunn made a remark to the effect that he didn't care very much what sort of a place Burnett should decide to visit. His price for boarding a horse was $7, and he would take no less.

Dunn brought suit against Burnett in Justice Austin's court, at Warrenville last Wednesday and was nonsuited. Upon the advice of his attorneys, Pope & Runyon, of this city, he then refused to surrender the equine.

Burnett, through his counsel, McNabb & Clark, served a notice on Dunn to surrender the horse. The animal was then replevined. It is at present in the hands of the Sheriff of Somerset county awaiting the decision of the court as to who gets it and under what conditions.

Feathered Aristocrats.

Bernaurd Meyers, a milk dealer, of Finderne, who is operating a dairy on Watchung avenue, this city, made a purchase of fancy poultry in New York last week to the amount of $1.500. These feathered aristocrats will be placed upon Meyers' farm at Finderne.

Miss Barber's Mother Dead.

The many friends of Miss Caroline A. Barber will be pained to know that her mother whom she has tenderly cared for since the first of October, passed away Monday, Feb. 21st, at her home in Bernardston, Mass.

No Sunshine for 20 Days.

Cooking in Mexico.

Mexican cooks know nothing about the modern cook stove. They still use what is called the brasero. Among the poor this is an urn-shaped affair of pottery with a hollow base, where a tiny charcoal fire may be kept alive by constant fanning, the whole being not much larger than a common flower pot. In the homes of the upper classes the brasero is built of brick, mortar and piles, its surface as high as an American cook stove, with holes a foot square, under each of which a charcoal fire is kept burning. Some of these stoves have twenty-five or thirty ovens, and the operation of cooking is so laborious that the cook has a relay of assistants to prepare the vegetables, wash the dishes and attend the fires.

Sure Enough Love in Maine.

Do you want to know what true love really is? LONDON PRESS TALKS WAR.

The Daily News Says Spain Can Expect No Support from England.

London, March 1.—The Daily News, commenting editorially this morning on the relations between the United States and Spain says:

"Spain can expect no support, moral or otherwise, from England against the United States. She has ruined Cuba as she has ruined or lost every other colony by the grossest corruption, cruelty, and maladministration, and she must be left to settle the account for it with those whom it may concern without any aid or sympathy on our part."

The Standard, in an editorial on the same general topic, highly praises President McKinley's "statesmanlike moderation," and recognizes that "it would be only human nature that proof of the Maine's having been blown up from the outside should engender a dangerous war feeling in America."

Sir Edward James Reed, the eminent naval expert, writes to the Times this morning, expressing the opinion that the Maine could be refloated for a tithe of her cost.

Spanish Cortes Dissolved.

Washington, March 1.—The State Department yesterday received the following dispatch from Minister Woodford at Madrid:

"Decree dissolving Spanish Cortes February 26. New Cortes will meet April 25."

The dissolution of the Cortes had been expected, and it may be attended with important results. The two parties, liberal and conservatives, will now appeal to the country, and on the result will depend the political complexion of the Ministry.

La Champagne's Passengers in New York.

New York, March 1.—Sixty-three cabin and intermediate passengers of the French steamer La Champagne, which was towed into Halifax disabled, by the steamship Roman Sunday afternoon, after drifting helplessly for days on the Atlantic, arrived in this city from Halifax, on a special train, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The train was chartered by the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique and left Halifax at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. A mail car was attached, which carried the 250 bags of mail brought over by La Champagne. The thirty-three other cabin passengers have proceeded to their destinations throughout Canada and the Northwest.

Philadelphia Physician Commits Suicide.

Philadelphia, March 1.—Dr. Alexander Fulton, a prominent physician in the northeastern section of the city, ended his life last night by shooting himself. The motive is unknown.

No Bond Issue Considered.

Washington, March 1.—The attention of Secretary Gage was called to the published statement that he was making preparations for a bond issue, and that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was preparing the plates. The Secretary pronounced the statement unqualifiedly false. No such action had even been considered, he said.

LEGISLATORS HEARD HUM OF TROLLEY TALK

Over a Hundred Union County Men at Assembly Hearing.

PROMINENT MEN URGE THE BILL.

Nearly All the Speakers Disagreed With Some Features of the Bill as Introduced, Though Approving its General Purpose—Farmer Martine Had a Radical Opinion—Chandler Riker Heard in Opposition to County Ownership

(Special Dispatch to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, N. J., March 2.—Legislators were given an opportunity yesterday to witness the great interest of Union county people in the proposition of Frank Bergen to sell a trolley franchise for a big sum of money to be used in widening the county road as proposed by his elaborate plan. The hearing before the railroads and canals committee brought a large crowd of both supporters and opponents to the bill, though the former were much in the predominance.

The Assembly Chamber was thronged with residents of Union county, who came to Trenton on a special train to urge the passage of the bill.

There were over one hundred people in the party, led by John Kean and Frank Bergen. Mayor Rankin, of Elizabeth, and many city and county officials were on hand, besides officers of the Elizabeth Street Railway Company.

From Plainfield were Director J. Frank Hubbard, of the Board of Freeholders; Freeholder Tier, County Attorney Codington, James E. Martine, Sheriff W. P. Kirk and others. Westfield sent James Clark, and Fanwood ex-Sheriff Kyte.

Cranford was represented by Freeholder G W. Little, Col. J. Furguson and E. W. Austin. From Rahway were County Clerk Howard, Freeholder John Farrell, Mayor Holmes, Judge B. A. Vail and Postmaster H. B. Rollinson. Union township also had a large delegation on hand.

Assemblyman Squier, introducer of the Bergen county trolley road bill, acted as master of ceremonies at the hearing, and introduced several officials and citizens from Union county.

The feature of the hearing was the fact that few of the speakers agreed with the provisions of the bill as introduced, and all wanted it amended to provide for absolute municipal ownership.

Mayor Rankin, of Elizabeth, was the first speaker, and he confined his remarks to an explanation of the condition of Westfield avenue and the benefits to be derived by having that avenue widened under the terms of the bill before a trolley was constructed upon it. A. B. Cartlton, comptroller of Elizabeth, and Former Senator Vail followed in the same vein.

John T. Dunn, of Elizabeth, suggested an amendment that the franchise to be granted be limited to twenty five years, at the end of which time the municipality might have the right to pay the original cost of the road and sell the franchise anew to the highest bidder.

"Farmer" Martine went even further, and asked an amendment that would provide for direct municipal ownership. He favored municipal ownership of all public works, and said there was no better time to take the initiative step in that direction than now.

William H. Corbin spoke briefly in favor of the bill. Lawyer James O. Clark, of Westfield, said the bill would be advantageous to his township. The people of his township wanted a wide boulevard and the trolley for rapid transit. It would greatly improve the value of property.

John Kean spoke of the fine system of county roads in Union and which the people wanted to preserve. The trolley was inevitable, he said, and the people, knowing this, wanted the road from Plainfield to Elizabeth widened. It would preserve the fine county road, if this bill was passed. Mr. Kean said he felt a little delicacy in speaking on the matter because of the offer he had made of $100,000 for the franchise.

Chandler W. Riker, of East Orange, spoke against the bill. He said that he was interested in an opposition trolley road. Mr. Bergen's scheme for municipal ownership had been rejected, he said, by every municipality to which it had been submitted. He denounced the proposition to allow a majority of the Board of Freeholders to make a deal with a trolley company.

The speaker then attacked John Kean's offer and said he had laid tracks on Morris avenue, Elizabeth, years ago that he had never run a car over. Mr. Riker declared it would cost $25,000 to widen Westfield avenue

IS SMEDBERG'S MIND TOTTERING IN JAIL?

Friends Claim Imprisonment Is Making Him Crazy.

WILL TRY TO SECURE HIS RELEASE

Charge is Made That He is Illegally Held and an Application for a Habeas Corpus is to be Made so as to Get Him Released—The Move to Have Him Extradited to New York for Trial Will be Fought—Just Discharged from the Hospital.

An effort is to be made to secure the release of Joseph D. Smedberg from the county jail at Elizabeth. He is at present confined there for a term of thirty days in order to permit the authorities of New York to secure extradition papers for his removal to that State, where he is wanted on a charge of having stolen a surveyor's outfit.

When Smedberg completed his term in jail Saturday for having stolen diamonds from Harry W. Marshall, of Plainfield, he was arrested as a fugitive from justice. On this charge he was arraigned before Police Justice Hall, who committed him to jail for thirty days in order to give time for the preparation of the necessary papers.

It was announced Saturday that Smedberg claimed he was not guilty of any crime in New York, and intended to fight the case. Yesterday morning Lawyer C. N. Trimble appeared at police court and secured a copy of the document that charges Smedberg with being a fugitive from justice. Mr. Trimble told a reporter that he intended to make application before Judge VanSyckle for a writ of habeas corpus, demanding Smedberg's release on the ground that the prisoner is illegally confined in the Union county jail. Another reason for asking for the young man's release is said to be that his friends claim he is gradually losing his mental faculties, because of his imprisonment. It is asserted in this direction that Smedberg has not been well physically or mentally for several months, and the fact that he was removed from the jail to the hospital a few weeks previous to the day of his release from custody is offered as evidence of this fact. At the time Smedberg was taken to the hopital it was said he was suffering with rheumatism.

It could not be learned whether any effort would be made to prevent the release of Smedberg, but it is probable that some steps in that direction will be taken.

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE.

MONOPOLY WILL NOT BE ALLOWED.

Board of Health Will License a Limited Number of Collectors—Inspector Addis Reappointed.

The Board of Health of this city held a meeting last evening, and after some discussion passed an ordinance providing that permits be issued to a certain number of collectors of garbage within the city limits, for the space of one year. All such permits will be issued with the understanding that the maximum charges shall be fixed by the Board, and that all existing rules relative to the collection of garbage shall be complied with. The license fee required from each collector will not exceed $10.

The effect of this action of the Board of Health will be to prevent any corporation like the Plainfield Sanitary Company from securing the exclusive privilege of collecting ashes and garbage.

A number of people residing in the vicinity of DeKalb avenue, near the cremating plant of the Plainfield Sanitary Company, made complaints to the Board concerning the stench from the plant.

The Board also discussed the question of abolishing the fat house situated on French's mill race. The matter was referred to Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, for his opinion.

William Addis was reappointed to the office of health inspector for another year at a salary of $50 a month.

CHRISTIAN LIFE IS GLORIOUS TO BEHOLD

Its Effect is Uplifting On the Community at Large.

UPON CHRIST'S TRANSFIGURED LIFE.

Rev. William Justin Harsha, D. D., a Celebrated Divine of New York, Gave a Spiritual Treat to the Audience That Gathered in Trinity Reformed Church Last Evening—A Service of Song Preceded the Regular Meeting.

The dedicatory exercises being held at Trinity Reformed church this week were continued last evening with good success. The attendance was fully as large as Monday evening and the audience was thoroughly appreciative.

After a brief song service conducted by the choir, in charge of H. J. Martin, Rev. Mr. Chambers, of this city, read the Scripture lesson and offered the opening prayer. While the evening offering was being taken a beautiful vocal solo was rendered by H. J. Martin.

The audience certainly realized the treat in store in having present Rev. William Justin Harsha, D. D., of the Second Collegiate Reformed church, of Harlem. He delivered a grand sermon. He was introduced by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of the church, who voiced the sentiments of all when he expressed to Dr. Harsha the feeling of gratitude experienced by those present at having so eminent a man with them.

Before commencing his sermon, Dr. Harsha congratulated the members of the church on behalf of his church in New York. He also showed his appreciation for the action of the members of the choir in pushing aside the curtains separating them from the audience, thus showing that they were ever ready to listen to the word of God.

The text selected by the speaker was "The Transfigured Life." as found in the twenty-first verse of the second chapter of First Peter. A substance of the remarks follow:

"With business men it is often true that their motive may be right and the action wrong. If we lead a transfigured life we cannot hope to escape suffering. All men suffer. Some in their minds and bodies, while others suffer through their families and friends. People who walk with Christ know how to bear these sufferings. We may all rejoice in being called by Christ to a particular service. No man is a perfect teacher until he has suffered.

"We are impelled to suffering by the divine example. For some time past I have been endeavoring to get my people to carry their Bibles to church. Now I am told that the members of my church are known on the street by this one act which they have been led to do. Christ is our example, and we are to follow after His footsteps. That is our whole duty.

"We have many instances of how Christ led a transfigured life. When He was on earth He was brought before many people, and their universal opinion was that He was a perfect man and that no guile was to be found in Him. He was persecuted and troubled on every hand, and yet He withstood all. A large part of our transfigured life comes in being able to withstand persecutions and reviling.

"We want to look at Christ and see how He lived a transfigured life, and that will help us to follow Him. While we are in this body we can scarcely hope to be free from sin, but we may reckon ourselves as dead unto sin and alive unto righteousness. If we are alive unto God we shall live righteous lives. I rejoice tonight in the great fact that Christ came to seek and save that which was lost. When we become members of the sheep-fold I believe we shall always be of that fold. Christ will go before His sheep and lead them safely along.

"The last thought is that Christ is the bishop of our souls. While the troubles of life last He is always throwing His arms around us and helping us. This He will always do if we only trust Him fully. Then we shall not be conformed to this world, but transformed, and we shall lead transfigured lives."

The services will be continued this evening, when the people of this city will have an opportunity of hearing Rev. James F. Riggs, of Rutgers College. Dr. Riggs is no stranger in this city, and no doubt a crowded house will greet this favorite speaker.

Floating Christian Endeavorers.

Friday evening of this week an interesting meeting will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Mrs. Jane Cassera, of New York, who has charge of the floating Christian Endeavor work on board of ships, will be present with several sailors, who will sing and tell of their work.

RIGHT OF COMMUTERS TO CARRY PACKAGES.

The Question Pending in Court of Errors and Appeals.

THE EXPRESS MESSENGER FIGHT.

It is the Action of Elmer Runyan, of Elizabeth, Against the Central Railroad of New Jersey—Now Being Considered—An Opinion Filed in the Case of the Central Railroad Against Jacob Smalley, of Somerset County.

The March term of the Court of Errors and Appeals opened in Trenton yesterday with all the judges on the bench except Justice Lippincott. The list was called, a number of motions for dismissal of appeals heard and the hearing of arguments was commenced.

A number of cases were heard, but the only one of interest to Plainfielders was the argument in the case of Elmer Runyan against Central Railroad of New Jersey. This case grew out of the express messenger war in December, 1896, in which Plainfield took an active part.

Runyan, who is president of the Elizabeth Nurseries Company, bought a regular ticket to that city. He was carrying parcels, and was evidently mistaken for a messenger. He was prevented from boarding his train, or the next one; was followed about by railroad hirelings, even when he went to another station; was roughly handled, and finally had to return home by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He brought suit for damages, and was nonsuited by the Judge because, by the strict terms of the ticket, he was not permitted to carry parcels. The Judge followed the Supreme Court decision in the case of Thomas O. Bullock against Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company in nonsuiting, but both cases are now in the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Several opinions were filed yesterday in cases decided Monday.

An opinion was filed in the case of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey, plaintiff in error, against Jacob S. Smalley, defendant in error, by Judge Adams. The case came up from Somerset county. Smalley waited at a crossing for a coal train to pass, and then started over. He was struck and injured by a passenger train coming up from the opposite direction. He could not hear it because of the coal train, nor see it because of a bank and bushes.

The trial judge was held in error for denying the motion of a nonsuit for contributory negligence. It is held that a person's "duty to look and to listen before crossing a railroad includes the duty to do that which will make looking and listening reasonably effective.

"If there is a permanent obstruction to sight that would make danger invisible, and a transient noise that would make it inaudible, it is negligence to go forward at once from a place of safety to a place of possible danger. Prudence requires delay until the transient noise has abated and hearing again becomes efficient for protection."

A BOOK SOCIABLE.

A Pleasant Lenten Affair Held at the Park Club.

One of the most novel and pleasant affairs of the Lenten season was held at the Park Club last evening. It was called a "Book Party," and was arranged by Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen. Each person present, and there were about seventy, represented the name of a book in some way and the novelty attached to it was a source of great pleasure.

Much amusement was afforded those present by guessing the names of books through the symbols used, and after the conclusion of this part of the programme, all adjourned to the room below where a dainty supper was served.

Y. M. C. A. Committees to Meet.

The newly-appointed committees of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their first meeting in the association building next Monday. Supper will be served by the ladies at 6:30, and a conference will follow.

Shown His New Quarters.

Hans Schultz, of Pondville, who was arrested in the borough and sentenced to twenty days for being drunk and disorderly, was taken to Somerville yesterday afternoon.

Case Was Postponed.

The Case of Neilson against Johnson, on contract, which was to have been tried in Justice Nash's court yesterday morning, was postponed one week.

The condition of B. A. Hegeman, Sr., of Sycamore avenue, is not so favorable today as it was yesterday.

NAVAL RESERVES WILL NOW BE ON THE ALERT.

Ordered To Hold Themselves in Readiness For Duty.

DRILLING ON THE PORTSMOUTH.

Order Calling the Men Together Stated That Foreign Complications Demanded it—Entire Batalion Will be Called Out Next Monday—The Reserves Notified to be Ready to Respond to an Immediate Call if Found Necessary.

In response to an order from Lieut. Hart, in charge of the Third Division, New Jersey Naval Reserves, the members from this city went to Hoboken last evening for practice on board of ship Portsmouth. There were about 175 men present. The drilling officer was not only well pleased with the attendance, but with the work of the men as well.

The order to appear caused not a little excitement among the men. The members in this city were recently given orders not to leave the State without permission, and were required to give their home and business address. They were given to understand that they might be called at any time. The order received last Monday evening gave as the reason for calling the men together that foreign complications demanded it.

A further move of significance has been made. Next Monday evening the entire batalion, consisting of about 400 Reserves, are to report to the Portsmouth for drill and inspection. The drill will be in charge of a high naval Government officer. It is the purpose of the Government to have the Reserves so drilled that in case of necessity they will be able to take a ship and man it completely. There is a general feeling in Reserve circles that the officials will expect considerable of the men if they are called into action.

A Daily Press reporter has interviewed some of the members of the Reserve in this city, and learned that they are willing and anxious to go on duty. Each one seems to be filled with patriotism and to be only too anxious to be able to prove their worth to the Government. In all there are about fifteen members of the Reserve in this city, and they are all well fitted for duty.

NO HURRY ORDER RECIEVED

WORK AT POND'S THE SAME AS EVER.

The Sun's Report That Work on the Disappearing Gun Carriages is Being Pushed, is Not so.

The New York Sun's war correspondent in Plainfield is not an eminent success as a promulgator of truth, if the item that appeared in that paper under a Plainfield date line is a fair sample of his work as a veracious chronicler. The item read:

HURRY WORK ON GUN CARRIAGES.

EXTRA MEN EMPLOYED IN THE LAST FEW DAYS ON AN ORDER AT PLAINFIELD.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., March 1.—The Pond Machine Tool Company has received notice to hurry the work on its order for disappearing gun carriages for coast defence, and it is now working extra men in order to finish the job. The present order is the second that has been placed with the Pond Company for these carriages within the past year. The last order was for eighteen carriages. Until a few days ago the work was carried on in the usual way, but since then all the available help at the works has been pressed into service to finish the carriages.

One of the heavy guns from the Sandy Hook proving grounds has been brought here, and with it the carriages are tested as soon as finished. They are being sent to the proving grounds as fast as ready. From there they will go to the points where they are needed for coast defence.

Enquiry at the works of the Pond Company this morning proved that there was not the slightest reason for sending out such a report. No orders have been received to hurry the Government contract and no extra men have been employed on that line of work. The construction of the disappearing gun carriages, in fact, has been prosecuted during the late "war scare" with just the same amount of perseverance and vigor that has characterized the fulfillment of Government contracts ever since they have been awarded to the Plainfield company.

Another error of the Sun correspondent is the reference to the gun carriages being sent to the proving grounds at Sandy Hook from the factory, This is not so. They are proved at the factory and shipped direct to the points where they are to be used.

Street in Bad Condition.

The roadway on West Second street, from Central avenue to Liberty street, is in such a bad condition that at a recent fire on Orchard place the firemen were obliged to go two blocks out of their way to escape the mud. Recently several loads of dirt have been placed on the street, but it only makes the roadway worse. This street is traveled very much since the introduction of the trolley on Front street, and it should be repaired properly.

STREET RAILWAY TO GO THROUGH FANWOOD

Franchise Granted to Private Capitalists Last Night.

TO CONNECT WITH PLAINFIELD LINE.

Under the Terms of the Franchise the Line is to be in Operation by December 1st, 1898—Will Pay the Township About $1,000 Per Year After Five Years—First Franchise of its Kind to be Granted in Union County—Little Success Elsewhere.

An important development in the trolley situation in this county was brought about last night by the action of the Fanwood Township Committee in granting a franchise to the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company to lay its tracks through the township.

The route granted is the same as was originally asked for by the trolley company. The line will come from the Westfield township line, along North avenue, through the old railroad cut, along Park avenue to Scotch Plains, then on Ridgeway avenue to the extension of Second street, and along Second street to the Watchung avenue line, in this city.

In return for the franchise the company will pay the township $100 per mile annually during the first five years of operation During the second five years an amount equal to three per cent of the gross earnings of the line will be paid, providing such an amount shall exceed $250 a mile. If it does not exceed that amount, then that sum will be paid the township. During the third term of five years a sum equal to five per cent of the gross earnings of the road, or not less than $250, will be paid. Former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, the township counsel, states that the conditions are most favorable to the township, and that after the first five years the revenue derived from the road by the township will exceed $1,000.

Under the terms of the contract the line is to be constructed and in operation by next December.

The action of the Fanwood officials makes that township the first in the county to grant a franchise to the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company. The corporation has been putting forth efforts to this end in all the townships from Elizabeth to this city, but it has met with but little success in other places.

CAN CALL ON UNIFORMED RANK.

Knights of Pythias Warned to be Ready to Respond to Army Duty

Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, of this city, has received a communication from General Reese, of Phillipsburg, the officer in command of the New Jersey Knights, requesting that the members hold themselves in readiness for service in the event of war with Spain. The order calls for a detailed statement of the number of men available for service.

The organization is recognized by the United States Government as an auxiliary to the regular army and the militia, and in case of hostilities with a foreign power, it would be called into service as a reserve force. The organization has an available force of 60,000 well drilled men.

Firemen Nominate Officers.

A regular meeting of Warren Engine Company was held last evening, at which time officers were placed in nomination for the coming election to be held next May. As usual every member of the company was nominated for one or more of the offices, and the proceedings caused considerable fun. After the transaction of business, the good and welfare committee provided an oyster supper for the members. This was the most enjoyable feature of the evening, and the supper was served finely. A vote of thanks was extended to the committee, consisting of Walter Bennett, Horace Adams and William Debele. This was the last supper for the year, and it was the desire of the committee to make it in every way a success.

McAll Auxiliary Elect.

The annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary was held this morning at the Public Library. The recording secretary, Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead, read a report of the past year's work. The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: President, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller; recording secretary, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Myers; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster; acting vice presidents from the various churches of the city, Mrs. A. C. Baldwin, Miss Florence Tweedy, Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth, Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Mrs. James Petrie, Mrs. Alexander Gilbert, Mrs. J. U. VanSyckle, Miss Minnie Wood, Mrs. Snodgrass.

Justice Newcorn's Court.

The case of Sternberg against Grobes, which was set for trial in Justice Newcorn's court this morning, was brought to a settlement before coming to trial.

—Next Friday evening a meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps will be held.

AN INSIDE EXPLOSION

A Diver Says the Maine's Plates Were Blown Outward.

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE

Captain Sigsbee Declares That Any Investigation as to Whether the Harbor Was Mined Would Be Discourteous to Spain—No Such Inquiry Being Made.

Havana, March 2.—One diver who has been at work on the wreck of the Maine says that the Board of Inquiry has indisputable evidence that the battleship was blown up by an explosion from the inside. This diver says that the plates are all blown outward. He says that portions of the Maine's bottom were found hundreds of yards from the wreck.

The rumors that American divers were being sent down with the object of finding out whether the harbor is mined or not are authoritatively denied. Captain Sigsbee says it is nobody's business except Spain's whether Havana harbor is mined or not. To prosecute such an investigation would be discourteous to Spain.

Captain Sigsbee has had many disputes with the wreckers on the Right Arm. Their apparatus is entirely inadequate, he says. The Maine has sunk twenty-one inches in the mud since she first went down. Captain Sigsbee has protested to the Navy Department at Washington against the tardiness of the wreckers.

Bishop Santander, of Havana, announces that he will erect, at his own expense, a marble wall around the graves of the Maine's victims.

The Board of Inquiry is expected to finish its work in about ten days, but its decision will not be given out for publication at Washington until about April 15.

The Inquiry at Key West.

Key West, March 2.—The second day's session of the Court of Inquiry is over, and nothing new is known regarding the fate of the Maine, at all events, outside the members of the court. Some who confidently declared a week ago that the court had already found the vessel was intentionally blown up have modified this conviction, and, for the most part, admit that reports must be based largely on speculation. Even naval officers are apparently as much in the dark as the civilians as to what the court's opinion is at the present moment. Excellent progress has been made in the examinations, and the court will probably finish its work here to-day, when its members will be taken back to Havana on the Mangrove.

The court examined four engineer officers yesterday. Passed Assistant Engineer Morris, Assistant Engineer Bowers, Cadets (Engineer Division) Washington and Crenshaw and ten enlisted men.

Judge Advocate Marix said: "We have done good work and are clearing up here in great shape."

Following the custom at the previous sessions of the court all the witnesses were sworn not to reveal any part of the proceedings of the court.

It is the general opinion here that the verdict will be that the Maine was blown up by treachery. All officers who are not connected with the affair directly and will talk have that opinion. The slowness of the court seems to strengthen this view.

SPAIN NOT RESPONSIBLE.

Long Says Spanish Government Had Nothing to Do With the Disaster.

Washington, March 2.—Following the Cabinet meeting yesterday a report was circulated to the effect that Secretary Long had stated that the element of Spanish responsibility had been eliminated from the incident of the disaster to the Maine. When Secretary Long returned to the Navy Department a representative of the Associated Press asked if the report were true. He said his expression had been of the mot casual character, based entirely upon his personal judgment, and did not spring from any evidence or information in his possession. He further said that there was a material abatement of the excitement over the subject of the Maine. The Secretary added that his reference to Spain's responsibility was that the question of any official participation by the Spanish Government in the destruction of the Maine was practically eliminated, in his judgment. He desired to have it made clear that that was his personal view on the subject.

SENATORS GO TO CUBA.

A Party of Congressmen to Make a Personal Investigation.

Washington, March 2.—A party of Senators and members of the House left Washington at 4 o'clock yesterday for a trip to Cuba. They went by train to Fortress Monroe, and from there took a private yacht for Havana. The party consisted of Senators Gallinger, Thurston and Money, and Representatives Amos J. Cummings and William Alden Smith and their wives. Senator Thurston said that the trip was undertaken for the purpose of making a personal investigation into affairs in Cuba.

"It is not," he said, "in any sense an official tour, but it will naturally give us a better opportunity for investigation than we can possibly have from this distance." He said the party would be absent about ten days.

Senator Gallinger said that he had not exchanged a word with the President about the trip, and that it was purely a private undertaking.

NO ULTIMATUM TO SPAIN.

March 1 Never Fixed as the Date for Autonomy to Be a Success.

Washington, March 2.—The story that the administration had set March 1 as the date for Spain to prove her policy of autonomy in Cuba a success and had given an ultimatum to the Madrid Government to this effect is characterized here as on a par with the "war dispatches" of the last ten days. The administration has never fixed a date for Spain to carry out her autonomy scheme and, as a prominent Senator said, if it had decided upon a time, it certainly would not have named a date just after the Cortes had been dissolved and the spring elections in Spain coming on. No one can tell what the result of these elections will be.

The President has no desire to bring about a crisis until the Maine matter is settled and no ultimatum as to autonomy has been or will be sent.

The Commercial Negotiation.

Washington, March 2.—Recent negotiations between the United States and Spain have been confined to the proposed commercial arrangements. These negotiations were carried well along by Minister Woodford and Senor Polo y Bernabe, the new Minister of Spain. The latter sailed from Gibraltar Monday, and it is understood that he has with him the draft of the new arrangement. There will be two distinct conventions—one between the United States and Spain concerning commercial exchanges, and the other relating exclusively to the trade between Cuba and the United States. The latter will be under the reciprocity clause of the Dingley act, which permits a 20 per cent. reduction of duty in exchange for concessions to the United States. The reductions affecting Cuba would be mainly those on raw sugar, while the equivalent reductions for the United States would be mainly on flour, breadstuffs, manufactured goods and machinery.

To Honor the Maine's Heroes.

Washington, March 2.—In the Senate yesterday Mr. Perkins (Cal.), of the Commitee on Naval Affairs, presented a favorable report on Mr. Bacon's resolution providing for the erection in Statuary Hall, of the Capitol, of a bronze memorial tablet commemorative of the officers and sailors who lost their lives in the Maine disaster.

In the course of his report, Mr. Perkins said:

"Every man who stood beneath the flag of the battleship Maine had, by his very presence on its deck, signified his willingness to die for the defense of the nation, and the maintenance of the national honor. He was ever ready to go where duty called him, whether to brave tempestuous seas or return shot for shot with his country's enemies. When death came in the awful shape it took in the harbor of Havana, the dead are no less heroes than if they had fallen before hostile guns."

Decision of Naval Committee.

Washington, March 2.—The Naval Committee of the House yesterday decided not to report a separate bill to increase the naval force by 1,500 men, as desired by the Navy Department, but to incorporate the authority in the regular appropriaion bill. The conference on the fortification appropriation bill agreed to the Senate amendment to appropriate $943,000 for ammunition. This amount is three times the usual appropriation.

Warships Gather Handy to Manila.

London, March 2.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says:

"The United States squadron is concentrated at Hong Kong, with a view of active operations against Manila (Philippine Islands) in the event of an outbreak of war between the United States and Spain.

"The squadron, which is powerful, includes the Olympia, Boston, Raleigh, Concord and Petrel."

Spain Begins Her Maine Inquiry.

Havana, March 2.—The Spanish Naval Board of Inquiry appointed to investigate the causes of the Maine disaster, in behalf of Spain, began yesterday its formal work. Under the direction of Judge Advocate Peral, a corps of divers was sent down to examine the wrecked hull of the battleship. The board is composed of Major Elias Ircarte, of the Artillery; Major Montero Arnilley, of the Engineers, and Lieutenant Francisco Benavento, of the Navy. It was appointed by the Governor-General of Cuba.

The Vizcaya at Havana.

Havana, March 2.—The Spanish cruiser Vizcaya arrived off Morro Castle at 6 o'clock last evening after a good voyage from New York. She was met by scores of steam launches and gayly decorated yachts with bands, and as she steamed to her moorings enthusiastic welcomes were shouted from all the quays, which were lined with thousands of people. The streets and plazas were gay with bunting, rockets were discharged, and there was continuous cheering from all the boats.

Reindeer Off for Klondike.

New York, March 2.—On a special train that left over the Pennsylvania Railroad last night for the Klondike were the 537 reindeer which arrived here on the steamship Manitoba from Lapland. Accompanying the reindeer as caretakers were 113 Laplanders, Finns and Norwegians. Special arrangements for the transportation of this large consignment of reindeer were made with the railroad by the Government. The route over which the special train will travel will be the Pennsylvania to Chicago, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad to St. Paul and the Great Northern to Seattle. From Seattle the reindeer will be shipped by steamer to Alaska.

Now that the Government has abandoned the idea of a relief expedition, it is more than likely that the outfit will be disposed of at Seattle or some place in the Yukon country, where much better prices can be obtained for the reindeer than elsewhere.

Baseball League in Session.

St. Louis, March 2.—The National Baseball League met at the Southern Hotel yesterday morning at 10.30, sixteen members being present. The session was executive and held in the private parlor of President Young. At noon they adjourned, after listening to the reports of the several committees on railways, rules, telegraph, press, &c., which were received and filed. The afternoon session was devoted to the discussion of the suppression of rowdyism.

Anglo-German Loan Signed.

Pekin, March 2.—The Anglo-German loan contracts were signed yesterday. The interest was fixed at 4 1-2 per cent., redeemable in forty-five years. The contract price is 83. The final Kiao-Chou treaty is not yet signed.

PASSING COMMENT.

The latest society fad which is talked of in this city is a progressive breakfast. One seat is left vacant next to the guest of honor, and during each course one of the guests is summoned to take the vacant chair and remain during that course. Upon leaving the table of honor the guest does not go back to his or her old seat, but takes the one left vacant by the guest who has taken his or her place in the seat of honor, so that before the affair is over the guests become as well shuffled as in progressive euchre or whist.

Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Washington Park, is one of the most original men in the borough. He is an acknowledged expert cyclist, and desiring to take a step in advance of his fellow-sportsmen, he has had erected a cycle house in the rear of his residence. A few days ago Mr. Hegeman formally opened the commodious house, and the place will be used from time to time for pleasant gatherings. Marsh, Ayers & Co., have secured the contract to paint the structure, and the building has been insured by E. M. French & Co. The building will be used to place wheels therein when Mr. Hegeman has cycling friends call on him.

CAN DEFY THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Now that Plainfield is a second class city the following comment from the Newark News will prove very interesting reading, inasmuch as it is knowledge which the average citizen is ignorant of:

If it is true that the law now permits any telegraph or telephone company to erect poles and string wires wherever it sees fit in the streets of every second-class city, regardless of the Common Council or the wishes of the people, that law cannot be amended or repealed too quickly. In New Brunswick a telephone company asked the City Council for a franchise. The Council thought the city already had wires and poles enough, and refused to grant it. Then the telephone company filed a plan of its proposed route and calmly notified the Council that under the law it had the right to go ahead and construct its line and proposed to do so. The City Attorney looked up the law and, according to the New Brunswick newspapers, discovered that the telephone company was making no unfounded boast, and that the Council was powerless to prevent the corporation from carrying out its intention. Now, it is said, the city will take the matter into the courts and endeavor to have the law declared unconstitutional. It would seem that there should be no difficulty in establishing this fact. Such a grant to private corporations in derogation of the rights of municipalities is clearly beyond the power of the Legislature, and has been so decided in countless cases. But is there no question about the existence of this law?

Not long ago The Press referred editorially to the movement being made in New Brunswick looking to the hanging of the portraits of all the former Mayors in the Councilmanic chamber, and also suggested that a similar movement in Plainfield would be a proper thing. It is a matter that ought to attract the attention of public-spirited citizens.

A NOTED MAN DEAD.

Dr. W. A. Rogers Passes Away in His Home in Waterville, Me.

Dr. W. A. Rogers, professor of natural philosophy and astronomy at Colby University and a scientist of National reputation, died at his residence in Waterville, Me., at 10:30 a. m. yesterday. Professor Rogers had been ill for several weeks, and his death was not unexpected. Dr. Rogers married a daughter of Isaac Titsworth, of Dunellen, and was quite well-known in this vicinity. Rev. A. E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, was a student at Alfred University while Dr. Rogers was a professor there.

Dr. Rogers was a fellow of the Royal Society of London, a member of the National Academy of Sciences and served as one of the vice president of the American Society of Microscopists. He published more than fifty papers in scientific journals and the transactions of learned societies upon his specialties.

At the age of sixteen years Prof. Rogers taught school at New Market, and for one year he served in the same capacity at South Plainfield.

His wife survives him, also two children, Dr. Fred Rogers, of Providence, R. I., and Arthur K. Rogers, a teacher in the Chicago University.

Prof. Rogers expected to take charge of the Babcock Hall of Physics at Alfred University March 1st, and to superintend the construction and arrangement of the interior apparatus.

The funeral services will be held from the home of the late I. D. Titsworth, Dunellen, Friday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

They Are Not Delinquents.

An Overlooked Principle.

If it requires ten horse power to start certain machinery an engine of nine horse power won't answer. It will be no better than no engine at all. You must have the additional power or all the effort of your engine will be wasted.

So in medicine. If a drug of certain strength or potency is necessary to stop the progress of disease, a weaker drug will be no better than no drug at all.

Remember this when you have a prescription to be filled and also remember that we guarantee every drug we use to be of exact standard strength. We insure purity and potency and also scientific compounding.

"Beautiful Jim Key" arrived in town yesterday, and has been visited by a large number of our leading people, who are loud in praise of his aristocratic appearance. Of course, our readers know we are speaking of the wonderful educated horse, whose public appearance and performances are announced to take place at Stillman Music Hall Friday and Saturday of this week. In this connection, the management desire to call attention to the fact that all seats, excepting in the rear balcony, are reserved the same as at any regular dramatic performance, and "Beautiful Jim" begins his performances promptly at 8:15 p. m. Friday.

Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York, offers a stupendous bill, headed by Cora Tanner, the talanted and beautiful actress, who made herself famous by her excellent work in "Alone in London," "Fascination," and many other plays. She appears in a one act play by Sir Charles L. Young, entitled "Drifted Apart," and is assisted by Edward F. Massen, the well-known leading man. This will be Miss Tanner's last week in New York for some time as she will resume her starring tour, under William D. Shotley's direction, opening in Philadelphia March 14th. It is enough to say that Miss Tanner has played fifty parts with an equal degree of success. She is one of the most potent stars of the day, and her advent at Proctor's is one of the signal signs of her success as an artiste, for the reason that Mr. Proctor engages no talent unless previously indorsed by the public.

STILL CURING THE SICK

Every Day at the Revere House Cures are Accomplished by the Boy Phenomenon that for Years Had Defied all Other Methods.

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF HIS ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING WELL-KNOWN CITIZENS WHO HAD BEEN GIVEN UP AS INCURABLE.

No New Cases Will be Taken for Treatment After Saturday, March 12, Although He Will Remain Two Weeks to Finish Cases Under Treatment!

The excitement which was occasioned last week when the papers announced that that the Boy Phenomenon had restored the sight of Benj. R. Lattimer, who had been blind for 2 years, had hardly subsided, when Mrs. Capt. S. Rice, of West Seventh street, appeared upon the streets walking without her crutches, which she had not been able to do for over 2 years, because of a very stubborn and severe case of inflammatory rheumatism of both limbs, augmented by a fall and sprained joints, and after she was sure the cure was permanent, signed the testimonial which has also been printed.

He continued his wonderful success this week, for on Monday Mrs. Ellen H. Arthur, who had been totally deaf in both ears for four years, rushed out of the treatment rooms and throwing herself into the arms of her husband cried out in perfect joy, "I can hear."

While that cure was being talked over in the reception parlors yesterday, in walked Mr. and Mrs. Tingley, of West Fourth street, both of whom had been cured of deafness, rheumatism and other troubles of many years standing.

Mrs. Annie Smith, of West Second street, is another case worthy of mention, as she was stricken over a year ago with paralysis, which left her speech, hands and limbs in a helpless condition, now says she can work as well as ever and her speech has returned.

Mr. John Donnelly is another well-known citizen who can attest the wonderful curative power of the Boy wonder, and Mr. Higgins, another of our oldest and best known citizens is a walking example of what magnetism and the Boy Phenomenon has done for him. Mr. Higgins was a great and long sufferer from double sciatica and neuralgia. After 2 treatments he says: "I am now able to use my left arm as well as ever, can walk without my canes, and the pain has left me entirely. The first time in years."

While the above cures do not seem very remarkable, they had been pronounced incurable by the best medical men, and so they are, by all other methods, vital magnetism alone can produce such marvelous results in so short a time.

Last week 41 patients were discharged as cured, while thirty more will receive their discharge this week, but the above names are published because they had been given up as incurable. Thus has he lived up to his advertisments and promises. For he has made "the blind to see, the deaf hear, lame walk and sick well"

This is your opportunity to get well. While he will remain here all of next week, no new cases will be taken for treatment after Saturday, March 12, as the following week will be entirely devoted to treating those who go under treatment this week.

Those who wish his services may obtain consultation and examination any day from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., at the Revere House, and if curable, a price for treatment will be named which is within the reach of all. If incurable the case will not be taken.

Do We Sell at a Profit?

Of course we do at certain times of the year but at this time, when the carpenters and masons have charge of the store, and while alterations are going on, we let profits go and sell with only one object in view, to get the goods out of the way. That's the reason we are selling so close to cost.

NO KLONDIKE RELIEF.

War Department Abandons Its Expedition to Relieve Destitute Miners.

Washington, March 2.—The War Department has decided to abandon its expedition for the relief of the miners in the Klondike country because the conclusion has been reached that no necessity exists for it. Secretary Alger has written a letter to Senator Hawley, chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, explaining the Department's position and asking that Congress take action by joint resolution authorizing the Department to dispose of the supplies purchased for the expedition, including the reindeer which have just arrived from Norway, and to abandon the project entirely.

In his letter Secretary Alger says the conditions on the Yukon have changed so as to render the expedition unnecessary and that General Miles and General Merriam both agree with him. He is also advised to this effect by the Canadian Minister of the Interior. Later advices than those received last December, when the expedition was decided upon, indicate, he says, that the miners are in no danger of suffering and he thinks that the great crowds of prospectors now going in over Dyea Pass will carry sufficient provisions to divide with the miners in case they need assistance.

General Alger expressed the opinion that the reindeer can be sold at a price sufficient to reimburse the Government for their cost. He says he has been offered $100 each for them. This amount is above the cost price. He also states that the Interior Department is anxious to take charge of the animals. He also asks for authority to sell the supplies purchased for the expedition.

The Military Committee met yesterday, but did not act upon the request.

RARE AND VALUABLE SEEDS.

Government Agent Secured Many Varieties in Eastern Europe and Asia.

Washington, March 2.—Secretary Wilson of the Agricultural Department in pursuance of his determination, as far as practical, to utilize the agricultural seed appropriation in securing "new, rare and valuable" seeds, dispatched Professor Nilse E. Hansen to Eastern Europe and Asia to secure new seeds and plants and to ascertain what the people at the original cradle of mankind had been doing to adapt plants to their conditions.

Professor Hansen is now preparing his report for publication after a trip involving many thousands of miles of travel in Eastern Russia, Trans-Caucasia, Russian Turkestan, Western China and Siberia. The trip was a successful one, many promising varieties being obtained.

About three carloads of seed will be distributed to State experiment stations and others. These seeds, it is expected, will be chiefly of value in the arid regions, the purpose of Professor Hansen's trip being to obtain such as were distinguished for resistance to drought and heat.

Murdered a Lone Woman.

Doylestown, Pa., March 2.—Information reached here yesterday that Annie L. Edwards, who resided at Jamison, this county, a short distance from Doylestown, was found murdered in her bedroom Monday night. The woman's head was beaten almost to a jelly, and the room which she occupied bore evidence of a terrible struggle. There is no clue to the murderer, neither is there any evidence as to the time the murder actually occurred. The last time the woman was seen alive was on Friday night, and as she lived alone in the house the perpetrators of the terrible crime have had ample time to escape. A chair and a water pitcher had been used to beat the woman's brains out and both were found covered with blood and matted hair. The motive of the crime was doubtless robbery.

Made Half a Million in the Klondike.

New York, March 2.—J. R. Nachant, formerly of Syracuse, but now a resident of Dawson City, is at the New Amsterdam Hotel. He went to Dawson four years ago. He cleared up $500,000 in gold during that time, and has claims that are valued at $1,000,000 more. Nachant brought with him $300 for assay, and also some very glowing stories about the wealth in the Klondike country. He declares that the gold belt through Alaska is broader and deeper than any person ever dreamed of, and there is an immense territory open to all who care to endure the hardships necessary to develop it. There is no lack of provisions at Dawson City, he declares. Nachant is anxious to get back to the gold country, and expects to return to-day.

Set Herself on Fire.

Pittsburg, March 2.—After putting a number of matches in her hair and wrapping herself in a rug, Mary Conley, of No. 38 Third avenue, rolled up to an open grate fire. In a moment she was ablaze from head to foot and the attention of the other inmates of the house was attracted by the odor of burning flesh. They smothered the flames and an ambulance took the woman to the Homoeopathic Hospital, where she died early yesterday morning. It is said that she committed suicide through grief over the death of her intended, who perished in the recent Pike street fire. Before her death the only statement she would make was that she was glad she was going to die.

Race Around the Horn.

Tacoma, Wash., March 2.—The American clipper ship Tacoma, Capt. Gaffney has arrived here winning one of the longest races ever run. She sailed from Philadelphia in October, making the time of her passage over a 10,000-mile course 138 days. The Tacoma and the Yankee ship Indiana sailed from Philadelphia the same day. Arthur Sewall, late candidate for the office of Vice-President, owned the Indiana. The Indiana was bound for San Francisco, and it was agreed she should give the Tacoma a time and distance allowance, as the Tacoma had to come 700 miles further north.

Electric Lights for the Pyramids.

Pittsburg, March 2.—The Westinghouse Company is negotiating with the British Government for a great electric power plant at Assouan Cataract on the Nile. It is to develop the cotton district and will cost nearly $400,000. The plant may also light the Pyramids.

Notice to the Public in General.

The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Try us and be convinced that we are up-to-date, and that you would rather have AMERICANS by all odds to serve you. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

Another letter from Mrs. Cummings, the wife of the prominent Insurance agent of Main Street, Syracuse, N. Y. She has improved so much by taking Capsuloids since she last wrote us that she has of her own accord sent the following communication:

THE CAPSULOID COMPANY, New York.

GENTLEMEN:—Since I last wrote you I have steadily improved in health, owing to your Capsuloids. The only drawback was due to a fall I got down stairs, but I rapidly recovered from that and feel that I am almost entirely cured, though I have been taking your Capsuloids only two months and my ailments were several years. The Capsuloids have cured my indigestion completely; my stomach, which was so sore that I was afraid to eat anything, will now digest anything I eat; my strength and color have increased. I still feel hot flushes at times, but I am improving so rapidly in every way that I will soon be rid of this. Both myself and my friends are surprised that such a terrible case of dyspepsia and indigestion as mine could be cured so quickly. It is all due to Capsuloids.

CAUSE YET UNKNOWN

May Be Several Weeks Before Report on Maine is Ready.

INVESTIGATION DIFFICULT

Possible That the Origin of the Explosion May Never Be Known—Nothing Definite Received from Capt. Sigsbee—The Excitement Abating.

Washington, March 2.—It is expected that the greater part of this week will be consumed by the Court of Inquiry in the taking of testimony at Key West, and meanwhile the tug Underwriter and its derrick, now on the way to Havana, will reach that port and begin the work of removing the debris from the hull of the Maine. This work will require several days. The great mass of debris will have to be removed from the top of the wreck before the work on the hull can begin. The finding of the exact condition of the plates will be a long and tedious task. It is said that the Maine is already sunk fifteen feet in the mud, and it is sure to sink several feet deeper before the wrecking apparatus can be in operation. A naval officer said this morning:

"With every foot of disappearance the chances for recovering the vessel are decreased, and it would not be surprising if, after all, the court will be compelled to admit that the origin of the affair is wrapped in mystery. It may be that this is the reason for the hopeful feeling advanced by the administration, for it would accomplish two things: It would relieve the officers of the Maine from any censure, and it would avoid the necessity of holding Spain responsible."

There is one fact that is undoubtedly giving great satisfaction to the administration. During the delay necessarily created by the investigation public feeling is abating. There is less talk of war, and the Senators and Representatives, while as firmly convinced that the honor of the country should be sustained if occasion arises, do not indulge in excited comment. It is confidently expected that long before the court can submit its conclusions the country will be entirely tranquil. By that time it is expected the public will be prepared to accept without protest the verdict of an accident, if such the verdict shall be.

Yesterday being Cabinet day, Secretary Long, as well as Secretary Sherman, spent most of the morning at the White House. Secretary Long took with him some minor dispatches and letters relating to the Court of Inquiry, and the Cabinet meeting, which lasted over an hour, was devoted to discussing the details of the meetings of the court, the work on coast defenses, and the attitude of Congress in regard to increasing the naval force.

The members of the Cabinet declared that nothing definite had been received from the court or Captain Sigsbee. The administration was still of opinion that the explosion was accidental, and until the court reported otherwise, that theory would be held.

Several members of the Cabinet confirmed the report that it might be several weeks before the Court of Inquiry's report would be ready for publication.

GREATER ANXIETY IN MADRID.

Spanish Jingo Papers Publishing War Dispatches from the United States.

Madrid, March 2.—There is greater anxiety here in regard to the verdict of the Maine Court of Inquiry than a week ago. The constant rumors of possible hostilities are harassing and weakening the Government, and also trying the patience of the public. The "jingo papers" publish exhaustive dispatches from New York and Washington to the effect that the relations between the United States and Spain are hourly becoming more strained, and attributing to President McKinley a series of anti-Spanish declarations.

Admiral Bermejo, the Minister of Marine, is actively seeking the best means to procure additional warships.

The Premier, Senor Sagasta, is quoted, in an interview, as saying that he expects very satisfactory news from Cuba before April. He added: "In view of the increase in the price of grain in Spain, the Government has decided to reduce the import dues." A decree on this subject is momentarily expected.

A meeting of the Cabinet has been arranged for to-day. It is believed the step was taken owing to the receipt of more reassuring news from the United States.

Did Weyler Buy Dynamite?

St. Louis, Mo., March 2.—It is said here that six tons of dynamite were sent to Cuba for the use of Spaniards in mining Havana harbor. An agent of General Weyler is said to have landed in New York, in November, 1896, to purchase dynamite, but owing to the vigilance of the Cuban Junta, he could not secure the explosive without it being known. He therefore came to St. Louis, where he purchased six tons, which was shipped to Havana November 23, on the steamship Ciudad Condal.

The heads of the different St. Louis firms dealing in dynamite denied that they had shipped any of the explosive to Cuba, knowingly, except Manager Harper, of the Laflin Rand Company, who would neither deny nor affirm the story.

Indians to Aid Cuba.

Athens, Ga., March 2.—The Cubans are to have the aid of Apache Indians in their war against Spain.

A band of the Indians thirty-two strong has passed through this place on their way to join an expedition. They are mounted, in full war paint and under command of a chief. They left the reservation four months ago. They travel only by night to avoid Spanish agents.

For Reclaiming Gas Wells.

Kokomo, Ind., March 2.—Supt. Coyle of the Indiana Natural Gas and Oil Company, has made a discovery worth many millions of dollars to the Indiana gas belt. It is a process for obtaining gas from wells that have been drowned out by water. Mr. Coyle is getting the gas out of all the abandoned wells the same as before the collapse.

Higher and Still Higher

Go the grain markets, and the opinion continues that the top is going to be found much higher.

Under such circumstances the Prudent Farmer and Dairyman should see that he gets the most value for his money.

With us he has a large variety of feed from which to choose Among those that seem at this time most desirable are MIDDLINGS, OAT FEED and PEA MEAL, all of which are cheap in proportion to their feeding value.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

An interesting bowling match was rolled on the Ulrich alleys last evening between the team from Bound Brook and the Knob Hill team, of this city. As will be noticed by the table below some very good scores were made. A few of the members of the home team did not bowl up to their regular average, but the other members of the team made up the deficiency. The visitors also made excellent scores, but they were handicapped by having a few low men on their team. This accounts for their defeat by the score of 1454 to 1375. The game afforded plenty of sport for the large crowd present, as well as the bowlers No doubt another game will be rolled at an early date. Next Tuesday evening on the Ulrich alleys the Knob Hill team will meet the celebrated Pumpernickel team, of New York, and a close game is looked for Below will be found the scores of last night's game:

Gesang and Turn Verein Notes.

The senior turner class of the Gesang and Turn Verein was reorganized last Friday evening, and held its first drill under the leadership of Charles F. Meyer, Sr.

The pupil class, which has been under the direction of Henry Haurand since January 1st, shows much improvement.

It is the intention of the directors to give an exhibition in Saengerbund Hall Monday evening, at which time a concert is to be given by the members of the society.

The senior class visited Brooklyn last Sunday to attend the reunion of the Independent Turnerbund of New York and New Jersey.

Mrs. Rowland Cox, of West Seventh street, is much improved from her severe illness.

Mrs. B R Waldron, of Coddington avenue, is confined to the house with an attack of the grip.

—Grand Commander Hooley, of the Ancient Legion of Honor, paid a fraternal visit to Ivanhoe Council last night.

SAYS HIS WIFE IS A TERROR.

AND WIFE THINKS SHE IS WRONGED.

Colored Couple Made Counter Charges Against Each Other and Finally Agreed to Live Apart.

Philip B. Johnson, and his wife, Margaret, colored people living on Arlington avenue, aired their marital woes before a large and interested audience in Justice Mosher's courtroom this morning.

Johnson was arrested yesterday, charged with pursuing his wife about the house with a razor and threatening to kill her. He denied the charge, and stated that Margaret was of a jealous disposition and persisted in making his life miserable whenever he glanced at another woman. He was a member of the Mt. Olive Baptist for several years until the organization of the Calvary Baptist church by Rev. Philip S. Gibson, when he joined the choir of the latter church. Margaret was continually reproaching him, he said, for alleged intimacies with the women members of the choir.

"She's a terror, Judge," said the prisoner with a shake of his head. "She's done said she'd kill me, shore. She put rough on rats in my tea last summer."

Johnson produced a box of the rat poison which he claimed to have found hidden away in the drawer of his wife's bureau.

Margaret told of many cruelties which her hubby had visited upon her during their four years of married life, and stated that she "didn't want to have no moe truck with him, nohow."

As both Johnson and his wife were agreed to part company, the Justice released the prisoner upon condition that he should immediately leave the city and not molest his partner again. This Johnson agreed to do, remarking as he left the court that he would be willing to climb over the face of the entire globe to keep out of the reach of his warlike spouse.

TRINITY'S HOME SHOWS THE POINT.

Wherever in the Wide World Stands a Structure Dedicated to a Meeting Place for Man and God it Testifies to a Great Principle and Teaching Laid Down in Scripture—Trinity's Debt of Gratitude Referred to Also.

The fourth of the series of special services in connection with the dedication of the remodeled edifice of Trinity Reformed church, was well attended last evening, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather.

The service was opened with the usual briefsong service, led by Horace J. Martin, chairman of the music committee of the church. A pleasing vocal selection was sung by a trio of the Seventh-Day Baptist church choir, consisting of Miss Nancy Randolph and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Titsworth. Rev. Arthur E. Main, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, gave a Scripture reading from I Kings II:22 53, and offered an eloquent prayer.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the church, then arose and stated that he did not wish to let the opportunity pass to express how great a debt of gratitude was owing to the members of the church and its friends whose assistance had made the task of remodeling the church a success. And while an expression of thanks was made to the living, those who had passed away should not be forgotten. He wished to call special attention to the gift of $1,000, made to the church by the late Miss Gertrude Vandenburg, which was the real beginning of the work now completed. "Though gone from us," the pastor continued, "she is still with us in what we behold." Attention was called to the excellent co operation of the various organizations within the church, including the Ladies' Christian Work Society, the Christian Endeavor Society, the Young Ladies' Mission Band and the Sunday-school. All had worked with zeal and remarkable earnestness.

Mention was also made by the pastor of the excellent service of the building committee, composed of H. E. Gayle, E. E. Anthony, J. P. Laire, Robert Clark and B. A. Meeker, of the consistory, and B. A. Hegeman and J. F. MacDonald, of the congregation. Special reference was made to the untiring zeal of Mr. Gayle, who gave his time and best efforts continually to the work. All these assurances of gratitude, the pastor said, he wished to convey to the friends of the church from the consistory, for whom he was speaking.

The hymn "In the Cross of Christ I Glory" was sung, and the quartette from the Seventh-Day Baptist church sang a selection while the offering was being taken. Dr. Schenck then introduced the preacher of the evening, Rev. James F. Riggs, D. D., professor of New Testament Greek in the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, who preached as a supply in the church many times, and became very popular with all who heard his sermons.

Dr. Riggs took as his text a portion of II Chronicles VI:13, "But will God in every deed dwell with men on the earth?" "The thought hinted at in these words," he said, "is one of the great thoughts of human experience, namely, that of a meeting place of God and man. Wherever we go in the earth we find a reverence for the place where, rightly or wrongly, men believe that God meets with man. For endless years men have been lifting up their hands, praying that God would meet man, and wherever there stands a church, a cathedral, a ruined temple or a mystic shrine, whether at Athens, India, or in the hot sands of Egypt, or among the ancient Druid ruins of England, and the old abbeys of Scotland, it testifies to man's belief that God does meet with man.

"The tabernacle of the Mosaic dispensation was the place where the Hebrews realized that meeting place with God. There is a distinction to be made between the residence of the Diety and the approach of man. For example, the Greeks believed that the goddess Minerva lived in the Parthenon. It was not a place for audience at all, but a residence for the goddess. And so all the heathen dieties were supposed to shut themselves up in marble cells in solitary grandeur and haughty isolation from man. Modern churches are built on a different idea. In them the thought of the approach of man to God is present. They are furnished and made comfortable as places for human occupation.

"The text, it will be noticed, discriminates nicely between these two

JIM KEY A GREAT ACTOR

A WONDERFUL EXAMPLE OF WHAT KINDNESS AND PATIENCE WILL DO.

The Most Intelligent and Finest Educated Horse in the World—Private Exhibition for Plainfielders Given Last Evening.

The amusement world has been surfeited with all sorts of actors—good, bad and indifferent, mostly of the description of the two latter—but last night the stage of Music Hall was occupied by a unique and entertaining actor. This particular actor is a whole show in himself and while there may be fluttering in the dramatic realm those who earn fortunes in a lifetime there are none whose flesh and blood is valued at the round sum of $50,000 as is the body of Jim Key, the actor.

Jim Key belongs to the equine family, the most wonderful, the most noted and the finest educated horse in the world. Though Plainfielders had read of his wonderful knowledge and intelligence in the press, few could realize what a phenomenon Jim Key is until they witnessed his debut upon the local stage last night in a private exhibition. Jim Key can do most anything that seems human but talk, and at times his looks and actions speak louder than words.

As a dumb beast and example of what kindness and patience will do Jim Key is a sight that ought to impress everyone with a desire to treat all dumb beings in a kindly spirit.

Last night Jim made his appearance in two sketches—"The Scholar" and "The Model Office Boy." In the first he did everything from admiring the ladies to doing problems in figures and writing his own name. For those who know the caprices and faults of the modern office boy, Jim's impersonation of the model was, indeed, a relish that their enthusiastic applause could not express.

As a tutor of Jim Key, William Key, who spent eight years of his life with the horse's instruction, deserves unlimited praise. He has accomplished what, until it is actually seen, seems impossible.

The private exhibition was attended by a number of the local clergy, school teachers and invited guests. Tonight Jim will appear before the whole public.

RAILROAD TICKETS ARE MERELY TOKENS.

That is the Claim Made Before Court of Errors and Appeals.

LAWYER SAYS NOT A CONTRACT.

The Right of a Commuter to Carry Parcels is Exhaustively Reviewed Before Learned Judges—Railroad Counsel Said That a Passenger Ought Not to Have Mixed up in Pony Express War—Court to Pass Judgment in General Conference.

(Special Dispatch to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, N. J., March 3d.—In yesterday's Press brief reference was made to the fact that the case of Elmer Runyan, of Elizabeth, against the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was pending before the Court of Errors and Appeals, but before the day was over the argument had been heard by the judges.

The plaintiff is the Elizabeth nurseryman who was refused admission to one of the company's trains in Jersey City because he carried two small packages. One contained ten pounds of nails and the other contained two bill files.

In the Union County court the plaintiff lost his case, and the appeal was taken on the ground that Justice VanSyckel erred when he excluded evidence to show that it had been the company's custom to permit passengers to carry parcels.

Mr. Runyan's trouble with the company happened during the famous "pony express" war, waged on messengers who carried parcels to suburban towns and thereby interfered with the United States Express Company.

Robert N. McCarter, counsel for the plaintiff, in his argument, held that custom had given his client the right to carry parcels of reasonable size, and that the racks in the cars were provided for the accommodation of such parcels. The stipulation on railroad tickets regulating the transportation of baggage is not, Mr. McCarter argued, an evidence of contract, as the tickets are merely tokens.

The railroad company was represented by William H. Corbin. He held that the plaintiff had invited the trouble by taking sides with the "pony express" men and that he had purchased the goods in question in order to bring on the row. He described his action as "a scheme whereby he should incur persecution and acquire one of those rights of action which is the reward of the martyr where the prosecutor is a railroad company."

Justice Gummere asked Mr. Corbin upon what authority the company carried the plaintiff over the ferry and then refused to admit him into a train. Mr. Corbin's answer was that the company had a right to object to a violation of a contract at any time when the violation was discovered.

Justice Garrison asked if the company could search through a passenger's pockets or his valise in order to determine whether or not he was carrying diamonds or other small merchandise, and Mr. Corbin replied that a man's pockets were sacred in the eyes of the law, but that a conductor was privileged to demand knowledge of the contents of a valise. He admitted, however, that the passengers was not compelled to give such information.

The court decided to pass judgment on the case in general conference.

KELM WENT DAFT OVER ELECTRICITY.

Imagined Himself Greater Than the Wizard Edison.

TAKEN TO TRENTON INSANE ASYLUM.

Employed by the Edison Company in New York Until His Actions Became so Erratic That His Services Were Dispensed With—Came Home and Grew Violent—Pronounced Insane by Dr. Zeglio Yesterday—Taken to Trenton Today.

Imagining himself a second wizard in the electrical world, endowed with the ability to revolutionize that great force, Otto Kelm, a recent employe of the Edison Electric Light Company in New York, was today taken to the State Asylum for Insane at Trenton by Town Committeeman Henry Rogers and Overseer of the Poor Bowers, of Warren township.

Until a month ago Kelm was employed at the Twenty-sixth street station of the Edison company in New York. He had charge of one of the dynamos on the street lighting system. The use of electricity had always been a great fascination for him, and ever since he had taken up the study of the subject he applied his mind almost wholly to mastering all its details. Some few weeks ago it was noticed that his actions and mind were becoming erratic, but the change was so gradual that it did not attract particular attention until Kelm became possessed of the hallucination that the dynamo which he had charge of was not running right because of some defects in construction. He attempted to repair the supposed defect by contrivances of his own which showed plainly that his mind was becoming deranged over the subject. Finally, his work for the Edison company became so capricious that they were compelled to dispense with his services.

He came home to his parents, who live above Washingtonville, and brooded over the loss of his position, which, together with his futile attempts to successfully bring about his invention, further unsettled his mind. As the days sped along his disposition became illtempered and finally one day he became violent and caused a reign of terror in the household. Several times he rushed out of the house in his bare feet and went rambling about the farm. At other moments he would become exasperated and destroy clocks and the like. His parents were totally unable to pacify him.

They concluded to have him committed to the insane asylum and made application to Overseer of the Poor Bowers for that purpose. Yesterday Dr. Zeglio, of Somerset street, made an examination as to his sanity and declared him to be of unsound mind. Judge Bartine, of the Somerset county court, signed the necessary papers and this morning the demented man was taken to the asylum. He is twenty-six years old and unmarried.

A TEACHER'S AFFLICTION.

On the Way to a Funeral, Miss Acock Heard of Her Father's Death.

Miss Acock, a teacher in the North Plainfield Public School, has the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances in the death of her father, which occurred a few days ago very suddenly.

Mr. Acock was a contractor and a resident of Trenton, and while at work in Brooklyn on a large contract he met his death by having a large weight fall on him. His son was with him at the time.

About the same time Miss Acock was on her way to Trenton to attend the funeral services of a dear friend, when she was notified of the sudden death of her father. She continued her journey to Trenton, where she is now staying. During her absence Miss Thompson, of Washington Park is teaching Miss Acock's class at school.

AIDS TO CLEAR DISPUTE

MULFORD ROSS, DEFENDANT, GOES TO MORRIS COUNTY.

If He Stays Away From North Plainfield for a Year the Quibbling Between Poor Officials Will be Settled.

For several weeks North Plainfield and Warren townships have been wrangling over the question of which place is liable for the support of Mulford Ross, an indigent man whose mental faculties are impaired, and the matter is now pending in the Union county court. If the subject of the dispute remains resolute in his present determination the problem of who shall become liable to the care of the old man will be disposed of by the action of Ross himself.

The legal status of the case at present is that Ross is a subject of North Plainfield, and until a short time ago he was under the care of Overseer of the Poor McGann, of that township. Ross became restless with the latter, however, and left his quarters and wandered over into Morris county, where he has many acquaintances, finally taking up his abode with 'Squire Frazee, at Gilette. The 'Squire was an old friend of Ross' and as long as the old man seemed happy and contented he let him stay with him.

He became restless one day, though, and Frazee brought him back to McGann's care. No sooner had Ross arrived at McGann's place than he erratically concluded that he didn't like the place. 'Squire Frazee was touched by the unhappy condition of Ross' life and he decided to take him back home and keep him as long as he wanted to stay.

If Ross should remain with Frazee for a year, or at least stay in Morris county for that period, he would become a charge of the county and his care would devolve upon whatever township he was in when the twelve months' absence from North Plainfield was rounded out. Thus the problem would be solved without resourse to the court's decision.

CHARACTER OF A GREAT MAN.

The Life of Emerson Discussed by Friends' Association Last Night.

The character and influence of Emerson was the subject presented at the regular meeting of the Friends' Association held last evening. It was shown that his life from early boyhood had been a struggle with poverty and illness, but when, in 1829, he was installed as pastor of Second church, the future seemed full of promise. He quickly won the hearts of his congregation. His sermons were characterized by great simplicity, and by an unconventional, untheological style.

Many instances could be given of Emerson's remarkable personal influence. A noted Englishman records: "It was with a feeling of predetermined dislike that I had the curiosity to look at Emerson at Lord Northampton's a fortnight ago, when in an instant all my dislike vanished. He has one of the most interesting countenances I ever beheld; a countenance of intelligence and sweetness that quite disarmed me."

The paper closed with the final tribute paid by Oliver Wendell Holmes to this great man's character and mission in his life of Emerson.

It was followed by the reading of Emerson's sermon on the Lord's Supper, as contained in his miscellanies, after which Aaron M. Powell gave a number of personal recollections, and spoke of the touching devotion of the daughter upon whom fell so heavily the responsibility of lightening the burden of this great teacher's declining years.

The roll-call was responded to with choice selections from his writings.

THE ART OF KNOWING ONE'S SELF AND OTHERS

A Fascinating Lecture on Character Reading Heard.

FACE AND FORM ARE THE INDEX.

Mrs. Draper, a Thorough Student of the Subject, Said That if the Knowledge of Character Becomes Better Understood Marriages Would be Happier and Children Taught and Trained So That Their Life Work Would Always be a Success.

Anything in the way of character reading and knowledge of one's self is always fascinating, and the series of Lenten lectures on practical physiognomy, now being given in the parlors of the Revere House by Mrs. Clemence M. Draper, will doubtless interest a large number. The first lecture was delivered this morning, and was unusually interesting to all present, as the lecturer was thoroughly practical in her remarks, and was very ready to answer all personal questions, and to read the characters of all who desired, from their faces.

Mrs. Draper's theory is that all physical, mental and moral characteristics are shown in their faces and forms, and that if this knowledge were to become general, marriages would be more productive of good results, children would be better taught and trained, since they would be better understood, and life-work could be better selected, since mental capacities and physical abilities could be better considered. In the three lectures to follow, Mrs. Draper will explain how the average person may learn to know a person's chief characteristics at a glance, but this first lecture dealt mainly with the underlying principles. The five organ systems which create form and character, the vegetative, thoracic, muscular, osseous or bone, and brain and nervous, were explained, and the special traits caused by the predominance of any one mentioned. A number of those present were examined, and almost invariably admitted that Mrs. Draper had described their traits correctly. Much interest was caused by the examination of a father and his little son, showing how characteristics reappear in the second generation.

BALL HIT HIM IN THE EYE.

Playmate Threw the Sphere, But Young Smith Didn't Heed Warning.

A few days ago Arthur Smith, son of former Councilman Wm Smith, of Grandview avenue, met with an accident which nearly cost him the sight of an eye. He was playing with some boys, when one of them threw a baseball at young Smith. The boy who threw the ball realized that the ball was going to hit Smith and he called to him to look out. The latter just turned his head in time to have the ball strike him in the eye. Smith succeeded in getting home when medical aid was summoned at once. He will not lose the sight, but it will be sometime before he will be able to use the eye.

A number of razors were discovered concealed in the house and were taken away by the officer. The accused man is now confined in the Sussex county jail, at Newton, awaiting trial.

MAINE INVESTIGATION

Inquiry Board Finishes Its Work at Key West.

WILL RETURN TO HAVANA

Long's Statement About Spain's Accountability—She Might Be Free from Official Participation, as He Stated, and Yet Not Free from Responsibility.

Key West, March 3.—The Maine Commission finished its work here yesterday, when a general muster of all the survivors was held at the barracks. The commisssion is expected to return to Havana after the funeral of the members of the crew whose bodies are expected here to-day on the Coast Survey vessel Bache.

The proceedings at the barracks lasted about an hour and were conducted with great privacy. Judge Advocate Marix, in reply to inquiry, said that so far as he knew the court has no more work to do at Key West. Ten of the witnesses testified as to the coaling of the Maine at the Key West station. Capt. Hanlon, of the steamer Mascotte, which arrived from Havana last night, says that when the vessel left Havana there were no signs of impending riot or of anti-American demonstration. On the contrary, everything was normally quiet.

Survivors of he Maine expect to be ordered North when the Investigating Commission has finished its examination. Probably it will leave to-morrow.

The fact is becoming more evident as the days pass that any information direct from members of the United States Court of Inquiry into the loss of the battleship Maine and from those appearing before it is most closely guarded and that practically no information which has been presented to the court has been disclosed. The restrictions are so severe that the communication between the naval men who have been before the court have been most guarded.

Naval officers at this station who are not connected with the court express the view that very little testimony has yet been heard as to the exact causes of the disaster.

SPAIN'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Secretary Long Explains His Statement of Tuesday.

Washington, March 3.—When Secretary Long made the statement Tuesday after the Cabinet meeting, while merely reflecting his personal opinion in the matter, he undoubtedly gave an intimation that the administration was of the belief that the only conditions which could make possible the initiation of war by this country, had been removed. The Secretary did not say that all questions pertaining to Spain's responsibility for the Maine disaster had been removed, but that the Government's official participation in the disaster was practically eliminated. The Secretary said yesterday:

"Spain could be free from official participation and yet not escape responsibility. For instance, if it was shown that the Maine was blown up by a member of the Cuban Junta, Spain would be responsible, because the Cubans are Spanish citizens. I have not yet said that Spain will be free from all responsibility.

The statement has caused a good deal of criticism in some circles, because it was supposed that the administration would remain silent until after the Court of Inquiry had given its verdict. But, on the other hand, the announcement has done much to quiet the disturbing elements that have been trying to impress the Spanish Government with the idea that the administration had made up its mind to precipitate a war, and therefore Secretary Long's words are significant, not as indicating where the responsibility rests, but as indicating the course of the administration when the report of the Board of Inquiry is finally made, and that is that there will be no declaration of war by this Government.

OFFICIAL TENSION RELIEVED.

No Dispatches Received in Washington—Cruiser Brooklyn Goes South.

Washington, March 3.—The tension over the Maine affair is noticeably relieved in official quarters, partly because of the absence of dispatches to the State or Navy Departments, bearing on the subject, and also because of the conservatism inspired by Secretary Long's utterance.

Although the Navy Department had no reports from Havana or Key West, a dispatch announcing the departure of the cruiser Brooklyn from Santa Lucia for La Guayra had some indirect significance in further removing one of the larger vessels of the navy from what has thus far been the common centre of naval activity, at Key West. The Brooklyn will make a short stop at La Guayra, and will then proceed further southward.

At the Spanish legation the Maine inquiry is not the subject of official attention and beyond sharing in the general interest that is felt in the subject the legation officials have no occasion to consider officially any of the phases of the affair.

Mr. Du Bosc feels satisfied, from all he advices he has received, that the inquiry and proceedings at Havana are being facilitated by both parties. He says the Spanish officials gave the fullest opportunities to the American divers, in making their investigations of the wreck and that Captain Sigsbee has shown the same consideration to the Spanish officials and their divers.

To Succor Cuba's Starving.

Washington, March 3.—Secretary Long has decided to send two naval vessels to Cuba at once with forty or fifty tons of provisions for the relief of the suffering reconcentrados. The vessels will go to Matanzas or Sagua. It is said that it is an emergency that makes it necessary to send provisions in order to succor the starving. The Montgomery will take supplies to Matanzas and the Nashville supplies to Sagua la Grande. The vessels will not stop in Cuban waters, but will return immediately after delivering their supplies, which were furnished by the New York Cuban Relief Committee.

NO VERDICT IS EXPECTED.

Excitement Abates, but Preparations for Strife Continue to Be Made.

Washington, March 3.—There is a belief in some quarters that the Maine Board of Inquiry will return the Scotch verdict, "Not proven." Although circumstantial evidence points to treachery and design, direct evidence, it is contended in well informed circles, does not implicate Spain so that a case can be made out against her. However, such a finding by the board will not settle the Cuban question, which ante-dates the Maine disaster. This, it is said, will cause intervention, and may cause war.

The Cuban correspondence asked for by Congress will probably be sent in by the President immediately after the finding of the Court of Inquiry has been made. It is said that the President will make no recommendation or suggestions when the correspondence is sent in, as he wishes to leave the legislative branch of the Government unhampered in deciding upon what course to pursue. Speaker Reed may interpose, if he believes that the decision to be adopted would provoke Spain to war, but whether he can hold the House is a mooted question. The exercise in this case of the Speaker's power, it is thought, would lead to something like a revolt, as the great majority of Congressmen are emphatically in favor of action.

Congressmen who are afraid to ask for re-election with a record of total inaction are forcing the political side of the question upon the President, and are adding to the perplexities of his position.

Time has told one story which no one can deny—that intervention or no intervention, war with Spain or peace with Spain—the United States Government continues to place the country on a footing ready to fight, both on land and sea. Since the first news of the blowing up of the Maine active preparations have been going on, and not a day has passed without the same bustle and energy. The steady rush has been kept up uninfluenced by conflicting reports from various sources.

Consideration has been given to the advisability of attaching the monitor Amphitrite to Admiral Sicard's command. She is now unattached to the fleet, and has not been with it during the practice work around the Dry Tortugas. With the Terror, Amphitrite, Miantonomoh and the Puritan in commission, the navy will have the most formidable number of fighters on the station yet assembled. At no time heretofore have there been more than two monitors with the squadron. Such officers as Admiral Jouett and a number of others prominent in the last war still adhere strongly to the opinion that the monitor type will prove more effective in battle than high freeboard ships offering greater targets, like the Iowa and Indiana.

Within a few months three ships at Mare Island will be in readiness for service, of which the Philadelphia and Charleston are both available for flagships. The Pacific station is already as strong as the occasion demands, and realizing that if there is to be action for the navy, it will occur on the Atlantic seaboard, the authorities have deemed it advisable to proceed to the extent of reducing the strength of other stations in order to bring together at home its most effective fighting ships.

Mounts are being made for the batteries of the auxiliary cruisers at the Brooklyn Navy Yard machine shops. When the guns arrive they will be assigned places in the Cob Dock storehouses. The guns now on the way and the mounts being prepared are for the American line's fleet, the St. Louis, St. Paul, Paris and New York.

WHITE HOUSE COUNCIL ACTS.

Two Weeks Agreed On as Ample Time for Court of Inquiry to Reach Verdict.

Washington, March 3.—At a conference yesterday afternoon in the White House between President McKinley, Assistant Secretary Day, Secretary Long and Secretary of the Interior Bliss, the Cuban situation was discussed. A conclusion was reached that the time had arrived for prompt and decided action looking to the restoration of peace in Cuba.

The criticisms which have been so prevalent recently on the administration's alleged dilatoriness were commented upon, and a calculation made as to the earliest moment when the report of the Board of Inquiry now sitting at Key West could be expected. It was agreed that two weeks should suffice for all the investigation needed in Florida and at Havana concerning the cause of the Maine disaster.

The President's first step after the report of the Board of Inquiry has been received and after the consular reports have been laid before Congress, will be the dispatch of an urgent note to Spain, to which it is expected the Sagasta Ministry will hold out indefinite encouragement.

The disposition of the President is to press for mediation and peace at once. He recognizes the overwhelming sentiment of the country in favor of such a course. The President has information which constrains him to believe that interference by the United States to end the war will be hailed with satisfaction throughout the island generally in all places under Spanish control except Havana. This information comes to the President from Spanish sources entirely, and, as an indication of the President's interest in the outlying country of Cuba, the visit of the warships conveying provisions to Matanzas and Sagua La Grande is extremely significant. The distress at these points is great.

PASSING COMMENT.

The signs which are supposed to forecast an early or late arrival of spring are legion, and many are of a most novel and interesting nature. The latest omen to which the notice of the writer has been called is nothing more or less than a family of seventeen tiny garter snakes which are daily attracting a curious crowd to the window of Henry Haurand's saloon on West Front street. The snakes were captured by a friend of Mr. Haurand's in the vicinity of the Waverly fair grounds. Men who are up in snake lore say that it is unusual for the young reptiles to appear before April or May, and their presence at this early date is believed to indicate and unusually early spring.

* * * * *

A good story is related regarding an ambitious young woman of this city. A few days ago she expected company and she thought that she would make some cream puffs for supper. She secured some cream and in order to have it extra fine she whipped it for a considerable length of time. She paid little attention to what was going on and when she looked to see if the cream was in the right condition she noticed that instead of having cream, she had a nice roll of butter. Her surprise was beyond description, but being a woman equal to the emergency, she prepared the butter for table use, and her guests were wholly ignorant of what had happened until after supper. The hostess then related her experience and all had a good laugh at her expense.

MRS. HALL'S TALKS WELL RECEIVED.

The Talented Plainfield Woman Lecturing in New England States.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, has been on a lecture tour in Massachusetts, giving lectures at Lowell, the Howe School at Everett, Greenfield, East Weymouth, Hyde Park and Haverhill. The subjects of her lectures were "The English Language as It is Spoken in the Best Society," "The Art of Conversation," "The Eternal Womanly," "The Laughing Philospher," and "Personal Reminiscences of Distinguished People." A reception was given to Mrs. Hall last Thursday by the New England Woman's Club, of Boston, of which Mrs. Hall's mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, now in Italy, is president. The New York Tribune says:

"The New England Woman's Club recently gave a reception to the daughters of club members, and the reception tendered to Mrs. Hall was not only for her own sake as an active club woman, but as a compliment to her mother, Mrs. Howe, who is much beloved by the club, over which she has presided for many years."

PLAINFIELD AND NORTH PLAINFIELD.

The people of Plainfield, in Union county, and of North Plainfield, in Somerset, are agitating the subject of consolidation. A committee composed jointly of citizens of the borough and city has been selected and has held a meeting to discuss the subject. A sub-committee, of which Senator Reed is chairman, was appointed at this meeting to ascertain what steps would be necessary in forming a new city, without changing the county line. Senator Reed is in favor of consolidation only on condition that the city be set over into Somerset. If the two can be consolidated under one government, without changing the county line, it would probably prove beneficial to both. A consolidation under any other terms would savor very much of a political gerrymander, and of this the people generally are becoming disgusted.—Somerville Messenger.

UNIFORM BICYCLE REGULATIONS.

In the Assembly at Trenton a bill has been introduced by Assemblyman McMurray, of Gloucester, requiring that all ordinances for the regulation of bicycle riding be conspicuously posted before they may be enforced against violators. Some such regulation is sorely needed in New Jersey, as has been pointed out more than once. A rider taking even a short trip must of necessity pass through several towns, and it is difficult to find adjoining places where the regulations are identical. One will allow a speed of six miles an hour, another eight, or even ten; in one town no bell will be required, while in the next little borough one must be on the wheel and must be sounded at every crossing. So it goes all over the State, and riding would be made much more pleasant if local regulations were posted in prominent places in each town or borough.

THEATRICAL.

"Beautiful Jim Key," the wonderful educated horse, is a truly remarkable wonder. He does everything but talk, and created a great sensation before a large body of invited guests at Stillman Music Hall last night. His public performances are announced for Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee. None should fail to witness his remarkable exhibitions. Reserved seats should be secured without delay.

The Gonzalez Comic Opera Company will inaugurate their short season of three nights and two matinees at Stillman Music Hall Monday night, by the presentation of the very popular opera, "The Mikado." Miss Lizzie Gozalez, the prima donna, whose pleasing performances will be remembered New Year's Day, will be seen as "Yum-Yum," and will be supported by one of the best and strongest choruses ever heard in this city. There will be a change of opera at every performance, and believing that popular prices will "win out" in these times, the management has decided upon the popular prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents for each performance. Such an offering should meet, as it undoubtedly will, with overflowing houses each representation. The sale of reserved seats is now in progress at the box office.

An Overlooked Principle.

If it requires ten horse power to start certain machinery an engine of nine horse power won't answer. It will be no better than no engine at all. You must have the additional power or all the effort of your engine will be wasted.

So in medicine. If a drug of certain strength or potency is necessary to stop the progress of disease, a weaker drug will be no better than no drug at all.

Remember this when you have a prescription to be filled and also remember that we guarantee every drug we use to be of exact standard strength. We insure purity and potency and also scientific compounding.

PLACE MAN MEETS DIETY

thoughts. The holy place in the temple of the Hebrews represented the place where man came to get near to God; the most holy place was the dwelling place of God where he came to meet men, and the two were divided by a veil. This veil is a symbol for the flesh, and Christ is the link connecting divinity with humanity. The Jewish high priest, with the name of Jehova written upon his mitre stands forth as a strangely typical figure illustrating the same thought. He stood before man as the representative of man.

"But there is another and a deeper idea contained in the text to which this previous thought is a stepping stone. Will God dwell with men? When men dwell together they affect each other, and so, if God dwell with men, his influence will be seen. Here is the answer to our text. Not in the sacred place, nor in the sacred word, but in the sacred person of Christ are we shown God dwelling with men. He was wholly man, and he was also very God of very God

"As in an orchestra all the various tones blend in one grand harmony, so in the human life there should be a harmonious blending of the intellectual, the animal, the emotional and the spiritual. This will be true of the perfect church, also, for however the individual members may differ, they will be so unified by the power of God's spirit that they will work together and their desires and aspirations will blend into a beautiful harmony. In this grand chorus there will be the music of immortality. So let us ask in our own souls, Does God dwell with me? We must see to it that the question asked in the text is realized and made actual in ourselves."

This evening there will be a fellowship service in the church, with three-minute addresses by the pastors of this city and North Plainfield, followed by a reception by the pastor, officers and members of Trinity church to the pastors, officers and members of the other churches.

HEALTH IN HIS HANDS.

ANOTHER WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN CURED BY THE BOY PHENOMENON.

Will Remain in Plainfield 2 Weeks Longer at the Revere House, Where He May Be Consulted Daily from 10 to 5.

And still the God-like work of healing afflicted humanity goes bravely on. Day after day, crowds of the most prominent and refined ladies and gentlemen of Plainfield and vicinity may be seen in the parlors of the Boy Phenomenon, at the Revere House patiently waiting their turn for consultation and treatment by the Boy Phenomenon. Many are just commencing treatment, who for years have considered their afflictions hopeless and incurable, but who were led to take this treatment, after personally witnessing the many phenomenal cures performed upon the public stage, and then investigating their condition afterwards, for the purpose of satisfying themselves as to the permanency of a cure by animal magnetism; while others may be seen emerging from the treatment rooms, their smiling faces telling their own happy story, some bidding the doctor good bye with tears of joy in their eyes, a "God bless you, doctor," and an expression of praise and gratitude suffusing their joyful countenances that is pathetic in the extreme.

One of the many remarkable cures accomplished by the Boy Phenomenon since his arrival here is that of Mr. I. D. TenEyck, our well-known market man, remarkable because of the startling rapidity in which it was effected. While several other more serious complaints have been permanently cured, it has required two or more treatments, while in the case of Mr. TenEyck, to use his own words he says: "I experienced relief as soon as he treated me, and its the first time I have been free from pain and able to use my arm since I was first attacked."

Mr. TenEyck is one of the oldest and most respected citizens, being engaged in the butcher business in this city many years. He is known to nearly everyone for miles around for his integrity and straightforwardness, and what he says can be depended upon.

Mr. TenEyck seemed so thankful for his sudden relief and restoration to health again after being laid up so long that the reporter questioned him regarding his experience, which is here related in his own words: "For years I have been subject to attacks of rheumatism, but none so severe as this last attack, which laid me up completely, with pains so terrible that I could not sleep, and with great difficulty managed to hobble around a little on a cane. My right shoulder was nearly stiff from rheumatism for over 20 years; the last 6 I have not been able to raise my arm or straighten it out, until I was treated by the Boy Healer; now you see I can use it as well as ever and the pains have all left me. I also had orthritis and white swelling of left knee joint, which left it completely ankylosed. I did not expect anything could be done with that, as all the doctors said it was incurable and would always be stiff, but to my surprise and gratification after the second treatment I was able to bend it considerable and now have over 3 degrees action in it," and to prove his statement bent the injured joint a number of times to show the suppleness it had attained.

Those who desire the services of this wonderfully-gifted young man should lose no time in securing an appointment, as his time is being rapidly filled. His office hours at the Revere House are from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except the Sabbath.

THE LATTIMER TRIAL

Sheriff Martin Gives Further Testimony About the Shooting.

HIS CHIEF DEPUTY'S STORY

He Tells How the Rioters Kept the Posse Busy for Several Days Before the Shooting at Lattimer Quelled the Disorder.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 3.—When the trial of Sheriff Martin and his deputise for the shooting of the strikers at Lattimer was resumed yesterday morning Sheriff Martin again took the stand, and his cross-examination was continued by counsel for the prosecution.

The main point established was that the witness denied making the remark after the shooting that he had merely taken a hand "in the matter as plain James Martin, and not as the Sheriff of Luzerne County."

The defense then endeavored to have the Sheriff testify that he was unable to suppress the riot and disorder that existed in the Hazleton region, and that the civil authorities were unable to cope with it and had telegraphed to the Governor of Pennsylvania for aid to suppress the riot, and that consequently the Governor ordered out the State militia on the night of September 10. The Commonwealth objected to this line of testimony, and Judge Woodward sustained the objection.

The cross-questioning took up several hours, and was very searching. The Sheriff said that he and his deputies were on duty all day on September 10. At noon they did not disperse for luncheon, but had sandwiches and coffee. In response to questions, the Sheriff said positively that he had not ordered any stimulants for the men of an alcoholic nature, and that he did not take any such himself.

Samuel Price, a contractor and commission merchant of Hazleton, testified that he was Sheriff Martin's chief deputy during the week, and had been selected by Mr. Hall, of Hazleton, and was sworn in on the night of September 6, four days before the Lattimer shooting. He told about the Sheriff giving all the deputies explicit orders to keep cool and not get excited, to protect property, maintain the peace. He also told them they were not to shoot unless for self-protection.

The witness also discovered, by going among the strikers and feeling about their clothing, that they were armed with revolvers and stones. The Sheriff declined to have any deputies accompany him when he walked down the road at Lattimer to meet the mob, and endeavored to halt the strikers. The witness then gave a straightforward account of the scene of the shooting. He said he was standing in an alley to the left of the line of deputies, and saw the Sheriff halt the strikers. Then a moment later the strikers surged around the Sheriff and began to jostle and shove him to the side of the road, when the witness lost sight of the Sheriff by the balance of the strikers surging past him, and rushing madly upon the deputies. Just at that point a pistol shot rang out back of the witness and he heard the bullet whistle past. He turned to see where it came from, when he saw a striker, back of the deputies. There was no shooting after the volley.

Deputy A. P. Platt, whose name has been a familiar one throughout the trial, told his story at the afternoon session, and it was more startling than any of the others. He and Deputy Cook had followed the strikers for some distance before the posse was organized, for they feared that there would be destruction of property and life.

Witness saw numerous instances of cruelty and intimidation on the part of the mobs. They had entered his (Platt's) home and had forced his son to join them. The young man hit a striker on the head and got away. The strikers threatened men with death if they continued work. Guns for the posse were furnished by the Coal and Iron Police Association, which is always ready for an emergency. Witness told of various conflicts between the deputies and the mob leading up to the Lattimer shooting.

The witness did not shoot and does not know who gave the order to fire. He aided the injured after the shooting.

Other deputies corroborated this testimony before court adourned.

On cross-examination the Commonwealth wanted to show that the witness was a manager of a company store and it was objected to by the defense as having no bearing on the case.

The Commonwealth contended that being an employee of a coal company, he was unfit to act as a deputy. The Court sustained the objection, and said in ruling on it that a man's occupation had no bearing on his honesty in testifying.

Work for the Reindeer.

Portland, Ore., March 3.—The United States Government is about to send an expedition from Vancouver Barracks to find a practicable route up Copper River, Alaska, to the Yukon Basin. It is understood that this expedition will consist of fifty men and three officers of the Fourteenth Infantry, and that it will leave Vancouver Barracks for the north about March 15. The reindeer that were secured for aiding the relief expedition to the Klondike, now abandoned, will probably be used in this exploring trip.

Lieut. Sobral Quits the Country.

New York, March 3.—Lieut. Sobral, formerly attache of the Spanish Legation at Washington, sailed away on the steamship La Bretagne yesterday. Immediately after the blowing up of the Maine Lieut. Sobral made a public criticism of the American Navy. His recall would doubtless have been demanded by this Government, but the Spanish Legation avoided trouble by declaring that he had already been detached.

To Prevent the Sale of Bob Veal.

Albany, March 3.—The Assembly yesterday afternoon passed the Miles bill to prevent the sale of bob veal, by providing that the carcass of every calf in transit shall be tagged with the name of the person who raised the animal and its age before it may be carried by any transportation company.

CONTRACT FOR PROJECTILES

Action of Conference Committee in Appropriating Money for That Purpose.

Washington, March 3.—The action of the Conference Committee on the Fortifications Appropriation bill in agreeing to the appropriation of $943,000 for ammunition will relieve the War Department of some embarrassment which might occur had only the usual appropriation been made. Within the last few days, the department has contracted for nearly $1,000,000 of projectiles for the new high-power guns mounted in the coast fortifications. These contracts were made as an emergency step, and evidently with the full understanding that the pending bill would carry a sufficient appropriation to pay for them.

The agreement has been signed between the Ordnance Bureau and representatives of the big steel companies making the projectiles. The gentlemen representing these companies came here in response to telegrams, and there was no difficulty in making the arrangements, and it is said that they agreed to deliver all the shells, 5,000 in all, in the next four or six months. The shells are to be of 8, 10 and 12-inch caliber, and are needed for the high-power guns already mounted in the coast defense batteries.

Senator Proctor's Cuban Visit.

Havana, March 3.—Senator Proctor and his party returned to the city last evening after spending the day at Matanzas, where they were shown every attention by United States Consul Brice. The members of the party expressed the deepest sympathy for the suffering Cubans, of whom they saw many. About ten or twelve miles out of Havana the train ran slowly because the insurgents had cut the wires, and Senator Proctor, on his return, was told that there had been a small skirmish not many miles from the line, in which five or six men had been wounded.

"A Grave Emergency," Says Alger.

Washington, March 3.—Secretary of War Alger had several heated interviews yesterday with members of Congress who wanted to know why he made contracts for $1,000,000 worth of ammunition without waiting for Congressional action on the Appropriation bill. Secretary Alger said that the country was confronted with a grave emergency, and that statutory provision conferred authority on him to act without waiting for Congress. "If Congress should decide that I was wrong," said the Secretary, "I will pay the bill myself."

Spanish Report on the Disaster.

Madrid, March 3.—The Spanish Government, on Monday, received a report from the Spanish authorities at Havana, saying that the explosion which wrecked the Maine was due to internal causes, and adding that it was believed that the United States experts "will admit this without reservation of any kind."

ANOTHER VICTORY

In Plainfield. This Comes From West Front Street and Endorses What Others Are Saying.

The wonderful success of the "little conqueror" has astonished our citizens. All over the city the people are talking about it. At first many wise heads were shaken and doubters were numerous. This is not surprising, as so many claims have been made under similar circumstances with nothing to back them In the face of these difficulties the work has gone steadily onward, until now the public are showing their appreciation, and the indorsement of our citizens right here at home drives away the doubts of every skeptic. Here's another victory that has stood the test of time:

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 728 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says; "For the last year I was troubled with symptoms of kidney trouble. A sort of grinding pain across my back at times extended up to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. I am ever so much better. The pain in my back seldom, if ever, troubles me now, and the headaches and dizziness have entirely left me. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

Notice to the Public in General.

The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Try us and be convinced that we are up to date and that you would rather have AMERICANS by all odds to serve you. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

IT IS STILL A MYSTERY

Settling of the Wreck Balks the Work of Court of Inquiry.

INVESTIGATION A FAILURE

Evidence That the Bottom Forward of the Maine Was Rent Apart—Why the Investigators Will Not Recommend That the Ship Be Raised.

Havana, March 3.—The Board of Inquiry appointed to decide whether or not a court-martial should be held to decide who or what was responsible for the loss of the Maine has practically finished its labors, and its decision will be made public in a few days. It is stated on the highest authority that the inquiry has been an absolute failure so far as fixing the responsibility is concerned, but this is due more to the condition and position of the ship than through any miscarriage of justice.

First of all, the bottom of the Maine forward is known to be rent almost completely asunder, for although no divers have managed or will be able to reach the lower section of the ship, because if its being buried in mud and slime, the appearance of a number of bottom plates on the crest of the immense collection of debris appearing above the water's surface establishes the firm conviction that the hull below the muddy bed is too horribly distorted and destroyed to decide whether the explosion was from within or without. This will be one of the court's findings.

Impossible to Raise Her.

The wreck of the Maine has sunk just twenty-one inches in the mud and slime, and practical coast survey men of both the Spanish and American Governments agree that with the soft bed that it has created it will sink at least a foot lower within the next ten days. For this reason it is a foregone conclusion that the court will vote against spending any money toward raising the ship and taking her to Key West or New Orleans, where there is clearer water, and where an exhaustive examination of the bottom could be had. It would be impossible for divers to do justice to the investigation in the slimy water of Havana. The report of the board will deal extensively with the question of raising the ship, as well as the testimony of the survivors and eye-witnesses. The finding of the court as regards the work of wreckage will insist that even if the misshapen hull could be temporarily patched up with canvas and raised from its muddy bed here it would be sure to sink outside the harbor in towing, if not before reaching that point.

The popular feeling among the American officers other than the members of the court is that the ship should be raised, no matter what the cost might be, that the honor of the country demands it, and that if it were found impossible to tow the hulk to some other port for final examination, the latter could be made here with the assistance of an electric searchlight plant that would cost between $35,000 and $50,000.

One of the most important witnesses heard last Tuesday and Wednesday says that while the responsibility for the disaster will never be determined to the satisfaction of the board, the latter is practically satisfied that the Maine was moored over a submarine mine, probably placed there during Gen. Weyler's time; that this mine was prematurely or accidentally discharged by somebody in charge of the electric switchboard, but that there was no intention of blowing up or harming the ship on the part of the Spaniards, at least not at that time. A torpedo could never have done all the mischief, the court is absolutely certain, this witness says.

Maine's Position Caused Remark.

One of the most important pieces of information furnished to the court was supplied by a civilian, a Spaniard, who holds a minor position in the Custom House here. In reply to questions by Captains Sampson and Chadwick, of the board, this official said under oath: "So far as I can remember during the last two years no vessel, prior to the arrival of the Maine, was ever moored to the buoy to which the Maine was assigned. In my official capacity, and otherwise, I had, from time to time, necessity to locate the anchorage of visiting ships. When the Maine arrived and had her berth shifted to where she was destroyed, I considered her position peculiar for several reasons. Chief of these was that her position insured her an absolute vantage by means of her guns of nearly every material and important municipal and military headquarters of the city. I was among many who remarked that fact, and it awakened great surprise, inasmuch as the feeling had become general that Spain and America must eventually resort to arms."

Whatever conclusions or inferences the board created from this testimony the final report will alone tell. The name of the witness is withheld for obvious reasons. His position in the Government would be a thing of the past were his name to become public property, and for that reason alone it is thought that in all probability his testimony was altogether too frank and candid to be made part of any official document, or at least any document intended for public research. The standing of this man has since been privately looked into, exhaustively and well, with the result that it has been absolutely established that he is a loyal Espanos, a deliberate and pronounced enemy of the Cuban and his cause, an officeholder of many years' standing, and, above all, a trusted citizen of Havana, who appeared as a voluntary witness and who had no sinister motive for testifying as he did. Should there be a court-martial, with Captain Sigsbee as the victim, which is entirely improbable, this witness may be asked to repeat his statements.

An Insane Woman's Suicide.

BILLY ROBINSON DISCHARGED.

Boy Who Accused Him of Passing Counterfeit Money Did Not Appear.

William Robinson was arraigned in Justice Nash's court yesterday afternoon upon the charge of attempting to pass a counterfeit dollar. Frank Conover, a newsboy, had alleged that Robinson gave him a pewter dollar and received in change 97 cents and a newspaper. Conover stated that Robinson then immediately jumped upon a passing trolley car. When Robinson was arraigned his accuser failed to appear, and as there was no one to testify against him, he was discharged.

Assemblyman Murray Scores.

Assemblyman Murray scored a great victory in the Assembly yesterday when he succeeded in securing the passage of the bill introduced by him to set off parts of the township of Woodbridge and Raritan, in Middlesex county, to the township of Clark in Union county. This measure is vigorously opposed by the Middlesex officials, and they will probably centre their influence against it in the Senate or the executive chamber.

VARIED THOUGHTS ON TRADING STAMPS

Their Use Defended and Attacked Before the Senators.

TO PROHIBIT ALL GIFT SCHEMES.

Major Lentz Upheld the Practice and Said it was the Only Means of Protection Which the Small Merchants Had Against the Department Stores—Retail Merchants' Association Oppose the Stamps—Senator Reed Sarcastic.

The judiciary committee of the Senate yesterday afternoon gave a public hearing on the Francis trading stamp bill.

Major Lentz, of Newark, representing one of the trading stamp companies, opposed the measure on the ground that there were already laws governing gambling schemes, and that the trading stamp scheme can in no way be considered gambling. He argued that every man has the right to give away any property he chooses, provided it is his own. He said that the giving of trading stamps was in all respects similar to the giving of discounts, which is general with retail merchants. He also argued that the trading stamp was the only protection the small store keepers had against the large department stores, which were gradually crowding them out of business. He held that trading stamps were perfectly legitimate, and that it would be a better policy for the State to recognize their use as legal than to pass such a law as was proposed by Senator Francis.

Linton B. Satterthwaite, the reform candidate for Mayor of Trenton last spring, favored the bill as far as it related to trading stamps, but opposed it on the ground that such a law would prevent merchants from presenting to their customers premiums of any kind, even though they were not obtained from a third party. He asked to have an amendment made to the bill limiting its restrictions to the use of trading stamps alone. He said also that he was of the opinion that such a law would be unconstitutional.

Senator Johnson, of Bergen, chairman of the committee, suggested that the section obnoxious to Mr. Satterthwaite be stricken out. This brought Senator Francis to his feet with an argument that all goods offered to the public should have sufficient competitive merit to enable their sale without prizes. He strenuously objected to the amendment.

Major Lentz again took the floor, and continued his original line of argument. He asserted that the luncheon furnished at sales of lots in the county from which Senator Francis hails would be prohibited by the passage of such a law as the Senator from Monmouth urges.

Senator Reed, a member of the committee, in reply to the Major's statement, suggested that at such sales the luncheon usually was charged for and the lots given in.

The hearing was enlivened by James Gibson, of Paterson, who said that he represented the Retail Merchants' Association of New Jersey, with a membership of more than three thousand business men. He declared the trading stamp scheme vicious, and urged the passage of the bill, saying that many members of the Merchants' Association had had painful experience with trading stamps. He said that an honest dollar's worth of goods should be given for a dollar, and that gifts of all kinds in connection with purchases should be abolished.

The judiciary committee adjourned the hearing until next Tuesday, at which time there will also be a hearing on the bill compelling the manufacturers of adulterated food to label it as such. Tuesday is election day, and there may be no session of the Senate. In that case the hearings will be Thursday.

BRYAN MAY COME HERE.

Knights of Pythias Want to Get Him to Talk on the Order.

It is possible that the citizens of Plainfield will have an opportunity soon to listen to an address by William Jennings Bryan. The erstwhile Democratic candidate for President is a prominent member of the Knights of Pythias, and has often delivered addresses on the order in various parts of the country. This fact was known to members of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., of this city, and when it was thought advisable to secure a speaker to come here and give an address on the principles of the order, the name of the "Boy Orator of the Platte" was mentioned. The suggestion met with favor, and at the meeting of the lodge held Wednesday evening a committee was appointed to negotiate with an agency in New York with a view to securing Mr. Bryan. If the committee is successful, an early date will be set for the address.

OVERCOMES LOSS OF POWER

A NEW INVENTION FOR BICYCLES.

Designed by a New Market Man—Device Will be Manufactured by a Somerset Company.

David Frazer is an old resident of New Market, and he enjoys the distinction of having made himself quite prominent, not only in New Jersey, but in other States as well, through his inventive genius. About four years ago he started the cycling world by introducing a patented wheel which he thought would revolutionize the exercise. After several trials the scheme was given up, owing to lack of perfection.

Now Mr. Frazer comes before the people with a device which he claims will completely change the wheel business around. He has secured a patent on it and recently a company was formed. It is now incorporated with capital to the amount of $100,000. The papers have been filed at Somerville. Mr. Frazer is general manager of the company, and according to his own words, "He is boss." There are several men in the company, but the only ones Mr. Frazer will name for the present are W. J. Davis, of New Market, and Lawyer John Frecht, of Somerville. The factory will probably be located at Somerville. It is not unlikely that an office will be established in this city.

Mr. Frazer's patent can be used on any kind of engine or bicycle, and for it he claims no loss of power. On the bicycle the arrangement is very unique. Alongside of the large sprocket wheel are located two smaller wheels with cogs. Of the latter wheels one is slightly smaller than the other. The smallest does not revolve, but is held in place by a steel rod which is fastened to another part of the frame. The other wheel works in the cog and with every revolution the two wheels on the ground are revolved three times. This can be increased by increasing the size of the wheels close to the sprocket wheel.

Mr. Frazer claims that he has been able to exchange power for leverage and thus overcomes the loss of power. He also claims that a very high gear can be pushed with comparative ease. It can be attached to any wheel and sell at a reasonable figure.

Mr. Frazer told a Press reporter yesterday that he had been offered $20,000 for his patent, but that he would not sell it. The name given the company is "The Frazer Speed and Power Utilizing Company." The patentee says that his device works contrary to the theory of scientific men, but he knows that they will sooner or later acknowledge that he is right.

Mr. Frazer has for many years been obliged to work very hard for a living and he says that now he is going to enjoy the fruits of his labors and take things easy.

DID MICE COMMIT ARSON?

Supposed That Rodents Ignited Matches and Set Fire to a Sofa.

Patrolman Andrew Saffron was walking toward the Grant Avenue station at 3 o'clock this morning when he was startled to hear a woman's voice crying fire. The officer hastened to the corner of Muhlenberg place and South Second street to send in an alarm from Box 45. He afterwards returned to the corner of Grant avedue and South Second street, from whence came the cry of fire, and discovered that a sofa located in a sitting room occupied by Jack Kavanaugh was on fire. The boarders in the house were soon aroused, and in a few minutes the fire was extinguished. The sofa was a complete wreck. The solution as to the origin of the fire was given to Chief Doane by Mrs. Kavanaugh. She said that she was inclined to believe that her children had poked matches inside of the sofa and that mice had been at work.

The fire was out by the time the department arrived, and the firemen had nothing to do. For some reason there was only one round of the box sounded, and many people slumbering soundly did not hear the alarm.

EAST END BAPTISTS HAVE A NEW HOME.

Third Street Mission Edifice Nearly Ready for Occupancy.

UP-TO-DATE AND PRETTY IN DESIGN.

Land on Which the Chapel is Located was Donated by Charles W. McCutchen—Occupies a Prominent Position on the Street—L. W. Randolph One of the Principal Promoters—Description of the Interior of the Chapel.

About seven years ago the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church were looking about for some way to make themselves useful in the cause of missions. They had done more or less for foreign work and now it had been suggested to them that there was work to be done at home. As a result the members established what is known as the East Third Street mission.

The first meeting was held in a tent located in a vacant lot on East Third street which is now owned by the mission. The first meeting was in every way a success and even more so than some expected. Meetings were held during the summer, and when the weather was so cold that outdoor meetings could not be held, arrangements were made to rent a house on the same street. This house was owned by a family named Marsh and was especially adapted for the services to be held. As time passed on it became apparent to the minds of many workers that the place was too small, and that other quarters should be sought.

As superintendent of the mission, L. W. Randolph was fully alive to the needs, and he at once started a scheme to secure for the worshippers more commodious quarters. In a short time a strip of land was purchased on East Third street, adjoining Mr Weber's butcher shop. The land was purchased by Charles W. McCutchen and was to be given to the East Third Street Baptist Society with the understanding that the members were to raise a sufficient amount of money to erect thereon a chapel. This offer was gladly received and the members of the society went to work with a will. Another condition was that the work was not to be started until the money for the chapel should have been collected. This looked rather discouraging at first, but it was considered best, for then there would be no debt on the building.

Early this winter the money was secured and the work of erecting the building was started. Today the structure has almost reached a stage of completion and by the first part of April the members hope to take possession.

It occupies a prominent position on Third street and is really an ornament to that section of the city. The foundations are of stone, while the upper parts are of brick and wood The height of the roof, which is very sweeping and graceful in its alignment, adds greatly to the imposing structure. On the left as one approaches the chapel there is a driveway and an alcove, as well as the main entrance to the building.

On entering the structure one is surprised to see how conveniently everything is arranged. There is one large meeting room that will accommodate several hundred people. This room is arranged so that one portion of it can be shut off from the rest, and used for class rooms. There is also a gallery of good proportion. While the room is not deep it is extra wide and this is considered to be an advantage.

The building is to be lighted by electricity and gas, and a neat chandelier will be suspended from the ceiling in the centre. A large furnace located in the cellar will supply the heat for the rooms. When the furniture, piano, etc., are neatly arranged in the chapel it will, indeed, present a bright and cherry appearance. The chapel is well lighted throughout with necessary windows.

The chapel is designed to meet the growing needs of the work and in this, those in charge have made no mistake. The work that has been carried on by the workers has been very gratifying to the officers and members of the First Baptist church, who have contributed largely to the work of putting up a chapel. When the chapel is dedicated a programme of great interest will be presented. It is expected that several prominent speakers will take part in the exercises.

Fifty Years of Public Schools.

COUNSELORS IN THE SCRIPTURAL STUDY.

Baptist Sunday-school Teachers Organize For a Year.

RETIREMENT OF AN OLD OFFICER.

Charles Smith Resigns as Secretary Owing to His Poor Health, and in Recognition of His Services a Resolution was Passed Thanking Him for His Services—Rufus K. Case Chosen Superintendent of the School Again.

The annual meeting of the officers and teachers of the First Baptist church Sunday school was held last evening in the lecture room of the church. There was an exceedingly large attendance of members and the business considered was of interest and importance.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was considered first, with the following result: Superintendent, R. K. Case; secretary, W. O. Chapman; treasurer, F. W. Jones; assistant secretary, H. B. Drake; superintendent Mt. Olive Sunday-school, M. C. Dobbins; secretary and treasurer, Charles Conover. B. J. Shreve was re elected librarian of the home school.

It will be noticed that there was a change in the office of secretary, which was held by Charles Smith. Mr. Smith resigned his position last evening owing to ill health. The school will lose a valuable officer and stanch supporter. Mr. Smith held the office of secretary for twenty five years, and during that time he served faithfully and efficiently. In recognition of his services those present last evening adopted a resolution in which Mr. Smith was thanked for what he has done during his term of office. A similar vote was extended to C. W. McCutchen for a handsome donation of money to the school

Treasurer F. W. Jones reported the receipts for the past year to be $2,389.94, and the expenditures $2,133-75, leaving a balance of $256.19. During the year $481.75 was given to foreign and home mission work, and $469.72 was given to the home department Sunday-school work, including the salary of the superintendent of the work, Miss Julia A. Shinn.

The finance committee, through the chairman, J. H. Case, reported the finances of the school to be in excellent condition. Miss Julia A. Shinn, who has charge of the home department Sunday-school work, stated that there has been an increase in the attendance at the school. There are now about one hundred members of the home department work.

For the Mount Olive church Sunday-school, Charles Conover, secretary and treasurer, reported that the work was progressing steadily, notwithstanding various difficulties. The expenses of the school during the year, chiefly for supplies, amounted to $115. Superintendent M. C. Dobbins also made a few remarks of an encouraging nature.

During the evening Mrs. Ward, of Elizabeth, who is a member of the church choir, sang two very pretty selections.

Another meeting of the officers and teachers will be held the last Thursday of this month, when arrangements for the annual excursion will be made and other business will be considered which could not be taken up last evening.

KLONDIKE HARDSHIPS SCARE HIM.

A. M. Franklin at the Gateway of the Region, But Will Now Turn Back.

A. M. Franklin, of Brooklyn, formerly of this city, who rode to Seattle, Wash., on his way to Klondike, is now at Seattle and has made up his mind not to enter the Klondike after all. The reports of the terrible sufferings and hardships there have deterred the strongest from continuing their way to the gold region. Franklin will remain there for a short time and then return to the east again.

To Help an Industrial School.

The musical troupe of the Bordentown Colored Industrial School will give an entertainment in this city, at Reform Hall, next Wednesday evening. The proceeds of the entertainment will be placed in the fund to purchase the property which is occupied by the school. The troupe has the highest recommendations from the press of various cities, and the programme given here will undoubtedly be an excellent one.

Doing Well in the Klondike.

A letter recently received from Robert Wyckoff, who is now in the Klondike region, states that he is doing well and that his health was never better. He also says that the prospects are good for some rich findings.

Getting Ready for Summer.

Superintendent Adleman, of the street railway, is getting the summer cars ready for service. Yesterday some of the new motors arrived.

RURAL RULERS ARE NAMED

THE TOWNSHIP PRIMARIES HELD.

Everything Harmonious in Dunellen and Scotch Plains—Results in Other Towns.

The Republicans of Fanwood borough and township held their primary at Scotch Plains last evening. The expected contest was not apparent and the meeting was as harmonious as the G. O. P. leaders could have wished. The primary of the borough and township for the nominee of a freeholder was first held. Former Sheriff George Kyte acted as chairman of the meeting. John Robinson was the solitary candidate named for the Republican nominee as freeholder. There was no opposition and the nomination was unanimous. That primary immediately adjourned. The township primary was immediately called. John Robinson was elected chairman and William B. Noble secretary. The primary had the nomination of a member for the town committee. There was no opposition to William Terry, the present incumbent, and he was again nominated. The other nominations were William Traynor for constable, E. M. Johnston and Andrew Schaffer for surveyors of the highway, and August Klemser for overseer of the poor.

The Republican and Democratic primary was held jointly in the borough of Dunellen last evening. The meeting was a quiet and harmonious one. R. J. Swackhamer was chosen chairman, and Charles Corlell was the secretary. Louis Schneider, Frank Wyncoop and Frank Humpston were nominated as councilmen. The latter secured the nomination in opposition to Mr. Milliken. Augustus Warden and Joseph Maier, Jr., were nominated for justices of the peace, and John P. Apgar was nominated for commissioner of appeal. There were no other nominations. The primary was largely attended and much interest seemed to be shown in the nominations, although there was no fight.

The North Plainfield Township Republican primary was held last evening in the school house at Washingtonville, and from all accounts a lively time was the result. Poole Voorhies was chairman of the first primary and Thomas Taylor was nominated for town committeeman in place of Frank Mobus. Harry Acker was nominated for constable in place of George Stewart.

Regarding the finances of the township there seemed to be some differences. It is said that the printed reports show a balance of $800 to the credit of the overseer of the poor, and when Clerk Demler was asked about it he said that there was no balance. At the second primary meeting an appropriation for the poor was made. Regarding other business transacted nothing authentic can be secured.

There was a hot fight Wednesday night in the Republican primary at Cranford over the freeholdership. The opposing candidates were Freeholder George W. Littell and Charles Drake. The largest vote ever cast at a primary in the township was polled, and Freeholder Littell only beat his opponent by three votes. Excitement ran high during the progress of the balloting, and Littell's friends had a big jollification over his victory.

GERMANS TO HAVE A CONCERT.

Visiting Singing Societies Will Come to Add Their Voices.

The monthly meeting of the Gesang and Turn Verein was held last evening in the hall on Somerset street. The members decided to give a concert in the hall the evening of April 22d, at which time visiting singing societies will be present. It is expected that there will be a chorus of about seventy voices. The evening of March 14th the woman's section of the society will give a calico party, and the proceeds will be used to start a building fund to make necessary additions to the present structure.

Tuesday evening, March 22d, there will be a meeting of delegates from the Independent Turnerbund of the metropolitan section. The purpose of the meeting is to consider a new constitution which is now being considered by other delegates of the same society. At this meeting arrangements will be made for the quarterly meeting when the constitution will be taken up for final adoption. The meeting will probably be held at Paterson.

Before the meeting closed last evening two new members were elected. Nothing else of importance was considered.

Euchre Playing Enjoyed.

The members of the Thursday Evening Euchre Club were delightfully entertained last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Will Tier at their home on Bank place. As usual, euchre was the principal attraction of the evening. Each of the guests was presented with a favor. The first prizes were won by Miss Etta Neuman and John H. Tier, Sr., while the second prizes went to Mrs. Humpstead and George Neuman.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP IN CHURCH REALM.

A Notable Service Held in Trinity Reformed Church.

CONGRATULATIONS ON ALL SIDES.

Brief Remarks Made by the Pastors of All Local Evangelical Churches and Trinity's People Extolled for Their Excellent Work in the Religious World—Reception Given to the Visitors in the New Parlors of the Church Afterward.

The exercises in connection with the dedication of the new edifice of Trinity Reformed church were continued last evening with a fellowship service in which the pastors and congregations of all the other churches of the city and North Plainfield were invited to participate.

Nearly every seat in the church was taken when the exercises of the evening began with a short song service, led by Horace J. Martin, chairman of the music committee of the church. A feeling prayer was offered by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph D., pastor of the church. Dr. Schenck then made a few remarks upon the feelings of his people concerning the new church. They were proud of it, he said, only in the sense that it gave them pleasure to have at their command increased facilities for the work of saving souls. He emphasized the value and importance of Christian unity among the different churches, and expressed his pleasure at having present so many of the pastors and people of sister churches.

E. E. Anthony, the superintendent of the Sunday school of Trinity church, then took charge of the services. After making a few introductory remarks he introduced Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church. That veteran pastor, in offering his congratulations, mentioned the fact that he was in Plainfield long before the organization of Trinity church, and had been privileged to watch with pleasure its growth ever since the beginning. The church, he said, has always been one of the spiritual forces of the city. Never, indeed, until the records in heaven are unrolled shall we be privileged to know all that it has accomplished. There are many organizations outside of the church which are doing good missionary and philanthropic work in the city, but above all these is the church itself, for it is the church to which our Lord has given His ordinances. The name Dutch, which used to be in the title of this church, was a good one, for it linked us with the glorious struggle in Holland, and to that little State herself, to whom England and America owe so much of their civilization, and to whom the whole world owes so much that is best in thought and life. Three things are essential to a successful church—a conscientious, united people, a good pastor, and a good building—and Trinity church seems now to possess all the requisites of a successful future career. The prayer of the people and pastor of the First Baptist church is, that the blessing of the Holy Spirit may rest upon this church and its work.

Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, was the next speaker.

"My first remembrance of this church," he said, "dates from a Sunday evening in March, fourteen years ago, before I had ever seen the inside of the church of which I am now pastor, when I attended a little temperance service here and was invited to take part. I value that experience because it gave me an opportunity to form the acquaintance of your excellent pastor at that time, Dr. Raymond, and our friendship has remained a very dear one ever since.

"I think the important position which Trinity church occupies in this city may be likened to the position which Holland occupies among the Nations. The assaults against that little heap of half submerged sand which is the home of the Dutch Nation, and failed. Such has been the position and the privelege of this church when the opposing forces of the world have beaten against it. Forbid that any Nation should ever invade our land, but if it should it would come up against the very rock upon which this church stands, and be driven back. I look upon the enlarged facilities with which you are now equipped as but a better equipment in the fight to uphold the truth and to defeat falsehood and error in the world."

Rev. John W. Richardson, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was the next speaker.

"We congratulate you," he said, "upon this beautiful church home, which is the home of God, of truth and of Christian fellowship. We Christians are bound together by ties of similar hopes, similar temptations and similar victories over the enemies of God. Therefore we of another church rejoice tonight with you, for the unity and growth of one church is a common advantage to all churches, and in the success of one church all members of the church militant are able to rejoice, the victory being theirs also. In your improved and beautified surroundings you have placed in your hands a keener instrument to accomplish your work for the Master. May it assist you in carving ideals of grace to the glory of your Master."

MADRID IS AROUSED

The American Fleet at Hong Kong Creates Excitement.

THINK MANILA IS MEANT

A Spaniard Quoted as Saying That if the Americans Attack the Phillippines a Spanish Fleet Will Be Sent to New York—"Preparing for the Worst."

Madrid, March 4.—The public is much exercised over the report of the presence of a squadron of United States war ships at Hong Kong, as it is presumed the vessels intend to threaten Manilla, the capital of the Philippine Islands, in the event of war between the United States and Spain.

The Imparcial, in an article headed "To Manilla—To New York," quoted an unnamed high personage who scouts the idea of an imminent rupture, and says:

"The presence of the war ships at Hong Kong is only Washington's policy, with the view of contenting the jingoes."

The "high personage" is said to have added:

"But America has not so many war ships as to warrant such bold action. If the Yankees go to the Phillippines the Spaniards will go to New York."

The Globo remarks: "The Government is alive to the critical situation, and is silently preparing for the worst. But it is too diplomatic to disclose the procedure by which it is preparing for emergencies.

"Fortunately, the tranquil preparations of the Government are the best assurance that it will be ready when the occasion requires it. The public, seeing the coolness of Senor Sagasta, should comprehend that he means acts and not words. However limited the public's confidence in the Premier, they, like ourselves, have confidence that better days will dawn promptly.

THE SITUATION IN HAVANA.

Possibility of Danger to Americans—Enthusiasm for the Vizcaya.

Havana, Cuba, via Key West, March 4.—While criticising the naval divers for slowness in their work on the wreck of the Maine, it must be remembered that it is a grim, dangerous and difficult task. In muddy, foul water, through a mass of riven steel, bent iron, shattered gratings and ladders, over upturned hatches, heaped up coal, scattered ammunition, guns, chests, machinery and electric wires, they must make or cut their way. They exercise great care lest the air tube be severed by sharp projections. Already many have had bad falls in the uncertain light and difficult passages. It is certain, however, that all the haste possible is greatly to be desired. The huge weight of the wreck causes it to sink daily deeper into the soft mud of the harbor, making the task of examining it more difficult. While no outsider is allowed on the wreck, the patrol lines are not so rigid as formerly, and the hosts of visitors are allowed to sail quite close to the upheaved mass of debris.

The question is frequently asked, "Are Americans in danger in Havana?" The only truthful answer ever given by a well-informed resident or American, official or layman, is: "We think not; we don't know." Of course, Spanish officials who will talk on the subject deprecate any idea of danger; but they are as much in the dark as the rest. A well-informed Cuban of high social position and on good terms with the Government, said:

"Of course, in the low dives and saloons there are constant boasts by irresponsible persons as to what they intend to do to the Americans; but these people are only dangerous in case riotous demonstrations come from other quarters, such, for instance, as the volunteers. In the ten years' war the volunteers shot many innocent people and were controlled with difficulty; but it seems probable that dissatisfaction is more likely to be manifested later against the autonomists or against Gen. Blanco and his staff than against the Americans, since the impression is daily stronger, that only a short time will elapse ere Cuba will be annexed to or under the protection of the United States."

There are no signs of demonstration against the Americans, and stories to the contrary, thus far, are without foundation. Still, Havana is no place now for those without the calls of business or duty. The season is inclement, and the variations of temperature are sudden and violent, causing much sickness, especially the grip.

Greater demonstrations of welcome could not have been accorded the Vizcaya had she been the most powerful battleship in the world. Her officers and crew will be the objects of constant and generous social attentions. It had been prophesied that her arrival would be a signal for demonstrations against this, that or the other party or official; but, as usual, there was no truth in the predictions. A few shouted for Weyler, but not enough to atract the slightest attention from the police.

News as to the movements of the insurgents is scarcer here since the Maine explosion than usual. No official declaration has been received from General Maximo Gomez as to the disaster, so far as is known, but, of course, he and his followers regard the affair as due to Spanish treachery.

Will Leave General Clay.

Richmond, Ky., March 4.—Mrs. Dora Richardson Clay, wife of Cassius M. Clay, expects to live at Valley View with her brother John and his family. She told the owners of the cottages who gave her prices that Mr. Clay was putting up the money with which to pay. This is taken as conclusive proof that a final separation has been agreed upon, and that the General will get her a comfortable home.

India's New Scourge.

Bombay, March 4.—The Government collector for the Godavery district of the Madras Presidency telegraphs that a disease called black blister has appeared at Pakkal and Taluka, the number of deaths from which averages 50 a day.

SAYS A MINE CAUSED IT

Outside Agencies Were Responsible for the Maine Disaster.

AN OFFICIAL'S STATEMENT

Violent Words Attributed to Secretary Congosto—Quoted as Saying That Spain is Prepared for War and That He Hopes Hostilities Will Come.

Havana, via Key West, Fla., March 4.—A high American official here, whose position is such that his name cannot be used, but who has been connected with the investigation of the Maine disaster, said yesterday:

"There is absolutely no doubt that the Maine was blown up by a submarine mine. The Board of Inquiry is in posession of undeniable proof that such was the case. You cannot make it too emphatic. My information is direct and postive."

"The finding of the court," continued this official, "may be held back for two months, though a report will probably be made to Washington as soon as the sessions are concluded.

"One witness examined by the board, when sitting at Havana, said that not for three years had a vessel been moored at the same buoy as the Maine. This witness thought it strange when the Maine was placed there by the Havana harbor master.

"The fact that some plate were found at a distance from the ship does not prove that the first explosion was internal. A mine may have merely loosened the plates and caused the internal explosion, which hurled the plates outward and away from the ship."

It is stated on good authority that Pinkerton detectives are here working in the interest of the Spanish. They are said to be keeping a close watch on the investigation. It is also said that American secret agents have made a full investigation of the Havana defenses and that a report is now on its way to Washington detailing the plans of fortifications, the number of guns and men, etc.

Several United States naval officers who up to three days ago held the accident theory say they have changed their views. Now they all profess to believe in nothing but an external explosion.

Secretary Congosto is reported to have made the following remarks to a party of Americans who went to see General Blanco:

"Why do you beard the lion in his den? Is America prepared for war? Spain is. Your country has constantly insulted and humiliated mine. I hope war will come soon. We hate America. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose. I am a cold-blooded Spaniard and would prefer to die in Cuba to elsewhere."

He is said to have spoken with great vehemence. He intimated that Spain had practically lost Cuba and that therefore she had nothing left to fight for but national honor.

NINE LIVES LOST AT SEA.

Entire Nichols Family, of Bridgeport, Conn., Wiped Out by a Florida Squall.

Key West, March 4.—The schooner Speedwell, Captain Collier, from Marco, Fla., for Key West, was struck by a squall yesterday while off Marquesas, eighteen miles from here, and capsized.

Nine persons were drowned out of thirteen all told on board. Among the victims were the three children of Captain Collier, George, Tom and Wilbur, respectively 4, 6 and 8 years old, and the entire Nichols family, Bradley Nichols and his wife, their son and the son's wife, and two grandchildren. The family was from Bridgeport, Conn.

Those saved are Captain Collier, Samuel Cates and Jesse Green, deckhands, and R. W. Bates, of Myers, Fla., a passenger.

The Nichols family is said to have been well to do. All had been staying for a month or two at a small hotel kept by Captain Collier at Marco and they were on their way home.

The survivors say the Speedwell, which was a small vessel of about twenty-five tons, was making slow headway yesterday morning against a head wind. About 7 o'clock Captain Collier was at the wheel and the Nichols family and the Collier children were in the cabin asleep. Suddenly a squall came howling up abeam. Cates and Green rushed to take in sail. As the jib flapped loose, the squall caught the schooner and blew her clean over on the port side.

Collier, the deckhands and Mr. Cates were swept into the seething sea, but caught the rigging just in time to save themselves. The wind, rain and surges drowned the dying cries of the imprisoned Nichols family, and the Collier children.

The men lashed themselves to the rigging. After being there for two hours the sea subsided. Then they got the dingey loose, baled her out with a hat, broke a thwart in two pieces, and with these for oars rowed toward Marquesas.

After going three miles they were picked up, exhausted, by a fishing sloop and brought here.

FOR STARVING CUBA.

Relief Cargoes from New York to Be Distributed to Sufferers by Warships.

New York, March 4.—The steamship Bergen, of the Munson Line, sailing for southern ports to-day, will carry the following relief supplies to be distributed among the suffering Cubans through Consuls Brice, at Matanzas, and Barker, at Sagua la Grande:

One hundred and sixty-two cases of milk, 200 bags of rice, 125 bags of beans, 14,000 pounds of codfish, 12,000 pounds of bacon, 400 bags of corn meal, 25 tierces of lard, 600,000 grains of quinine.

All has been purchased by the Cuban Relief Society on donations of philanthropic disposition. In addition to the above supplies the same steamer will carry a miscellaneous stock of goods in the shape of food and clothing, the donations of outside committees, aggregating about 100 tons in all.

One of the Mallory Line steamers bound for Key West to-morrow will carry 75 tons of miscellaneous articles, comprising food, medicines and clothing. Part of this latter supply will be sent under direction of Rear-Admiral Sicard to Matanzas on the cruiser Montgomery, and the remainder will be forwarded to Sagua la Grande on the gunboat Nashville for distribution by Consuls Brice and Barker.

The Mallory Line Company has agreed to carry free of charge to Key West 50 tons of relief supplies every week.

Loud Bill Defeated.

Washington, March 4.—The Loud bill to correct alleged abuses of the second-class mail matter privilege, which last year passed the House by 144 to 104, was laid on the table in the House yesterday by a vote of 182 to 119. Forty-seven Republicans joined with the Democrats and Populists in accomplishing this result.

Before the bill was defeated Mr. Griggs secured the adoption of an amendment to allow newspapers and periodicals to transmit at pound rates 1,000 sample series.

The action of yesterday kills the bill. The fight for the measure has had the support of the Postoffice Department, on the ground that the privileges given to second-class matter under the present law were the chief cause of the deficit in postal revenue.

Publishers of newspapers and periodicals have been arrayed against the bill.

Singerly's Will Cannot Be Found.

Philadelphia, March 4.—The will of William M. Singerly, late proprietor of the Record, is missing. Since his death on Sunday the members of the family have searched his effects for the will. He is known to have made a will several years ago, in which he bequeathed the bulk of his estate, which was not then entangled as it is now, for the establishment of an orphanage for girls similar to Girard College. This will cannot be found. Neither can any will of an earlier or later date be located, although J. Howard Gendall, who was formerly Mr. Singerly's attorney, aided by the family, has searched his effects thoroughly.

Almost Drowned in Milk.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 4.—While Jacob Schmidt, a dairyman, was driving along the reserve township road on his way to Allegheny, with sixty gallons of milk yesterday, his wagon fell over an embankment. After rolling over several times, Schmidt, with his horse and wagon, stopped at the foot of the declivity. The man was rendered unconscious and lay in a pool of milk in the wagon. The milk was about ten inches deep, and but for a farmer who saw the accident Schmidt would have drowned. His head and shoulders were completely submerged. He was seriously injured.

No Wet Goods in Dry Goods Stores.

Albany, March 4.—A bill drawn by Morris Tekulsky, of New York, amending the Raines law, was introduced by Senator Page yesterday and will probably be supported by the Republicans. It defines the character of places where liquor may be sold and its object is to prevent the big combination stores from dealing in liquors.

Our Aim

Is not "How cheap can we manufacture," but "How good can we make every article from our mills."

H-O is the standard of the world in oatmeal, but it is no better than our flour with cream of tartar in it; our buckwheat from new grain; our wheat from California; our hominy from the South.

If your grocer does not sell all of our products we will supply your wants.

MIDDLESEX AGITATED.

The New Brunswick Times has worked itself into a white heat over the bill of Assemblyman Murray which proposes to take off a part of Middlesex county and add it to Clark township in Union county, and it takes about a 600 word editorial to berate the measure over a caption of "An Infamous Steal." The principal point of contention on the part of The Times is contained in the following:

The real reason is found in the fact that Clark township wishes to secure a schoolhouse built and paid for by Middlesex county townships. The school is that at Cedar Grove. For some years past the school, which is near the boundary line, has been attended by a number of children from Clark township, Union county, the township paying for the privilege, as was equitable and just. Now it is proposed to steal the Cedar Grove school, turn it over to Clark township, and deprive the people who built it and paid for it the right to send their children there unless Clark township is paid for the "accommodation." Can anything be imagined more impudent or more high handed than this? More than that it deprives Middlesex county of a quantity of valuable property and affects the residence of about fifty voters. The scheme is especially attractive to statesmen of the calibre of those who conceived and are now executing the grab. To a steal is added a gerrymander.

SUSPENDED FROM HIGH SCHOOL.

Students Who Left Without Permission Told to Stay Away.

Two of the boys at the Plainfield High School are taking a vacation this week that is not on the calender. Through the present arrangement of the schedule it sometimes happens that some of the boys have no recitation after recess, which comes at 11:20 o'clock.

Principal Travell has insisted that they remain, however, for the rest of the season and study, but nevertheless some of the boys have at intervals departed homewards. They have been repeatedly warned not to do it but Wednesday two of them left at recess.

Their absence was discovered Thursday they were informed that their case had been considered and they might suspend their visits to the High School until Monday. They are now enjoying this enforced vacation.

Besides the two young men who thus disobeyed the rules, there were several girls who departed at recess without permission. One of these was brought to the attention of Principal Travell and yesterday she, too, was suspended until the first of next week.

The Borough Council will meet in regular session next Monday evening, when it is to be hoped something will be done toward securing the trolley for the borough.

The meeting of the Council next Monday evening will be the last one of the present body. It is believed, however, that there will be little change in the next Council.

THEATRICAL.

"Beautiful Jim Key," the educated equine, will hold forth at Stillman Music Hall tonight and will undoubtedly attract a large audience. The exhibition is at once novel and instructive, and is a demonstration of the great powers of kindness. High-bred animals as a rule are more or less intelligent, but in the instance of the horse "J.m" there is something superior, and the results of assiduous training, coupled by greatest kindness and patience, is shown in the wonderful performances of this truly remarkable animal. There will also be a special matinee for ladies and children tomorrow afternoon. All seats will be reserved at 25 cents all over the house.

The Gonzalez Opera Company have a favorable reputation as exponents of light opera, and are probably as well known as any of the comic opera companies of the day. The repertoire consists of "Mikado," the opening bill Monday, followed by "Said Pasha," "La Mascotte," "Chimes of Normandy" and "Pinafore" in rotation named. Nothing appeals more to the average theatregoer than a clever comic opera organization, with its quota of good singing principals and pretty chorus girls. In this respect the Gonzalez Company is well equipped and is headed by that very attractive little prima donna, Miss Lizzie Gonzalez, whose name is familiar to all patrons of light opera. The opening bill is full of pleasing fun and good music; an opera that goes with a zest and is always sure of giving great satisfaction. The costuming is handsome and effective rendition of the opera in repertoire is promised. Prices are a revelation—10, 20 and 30 cents. Secure your seats at once.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP.

First Methodist church, said, after being introduced, that he brought greetings in behalf of the sister church, which was sixty years old.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that this week the Dutch have taken Plainfield, and we only hope that while we are their prisoners they will treat us well. When a church goes on in a victorious, aggressive way, to raise money for accomplishing the work of God, it is sure to come to just such an hour of blessed victory as this. But more beautiful than the outward show is the work that will be done through this agency on human souls. I know that though the visible work is about you, you will not be unmindful of that grander work which has for its end the regeneration of the human heart through the agency of God's grace."

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, was the next speaker.

"I congratulate Trinity Reformed church," he said, "on rising to a higher plane. It has been raised about six feet. I believe, in six months, and at that rate it needs only a little mathematics to ascertain that in time you will all get to heaven. But the people of Plainfield do not want you to go just yet. There is a work here for you to do, which is nothing more nor less than helping others to get to heaven. Some of my brethren who have spoken here tonight have congratulated you on being Dutch. I would congratulate you on the fact that you are reformed, but the reformation happened so long ago that most of you do not think about it any longer. And after all it is not reformation that you are working for, but regeneration—not an outward change in men, but an inward transfiguration. I congratulate you upon the pastor you have. Brother Schenck is better than the rest of us; he is a saintly man, a devoted man. The only danger in his case is that he will attempt tasks beyond his physical strength. I congratulate him, also, upon his congregation. No church in Plainfield is doing a better work than Trinity church is doing."

Rev. H. W. McKane, pastor of the First Church of Christ, was called upon and responded in a happy manner, saying that he was proud to be reckoned one of so goodly a company. He was not so much interested in the past of Trinity church, he said, as in its present. He was glad to know from what he had heard and what he saw, what the church, the pastor and the people were. He was glad to know that the church stands for something, namely, to promote the glory of God and to uplift mankind.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was next called upon.

"Many people," he said, "take pleasure in tracing their ancestry back to Charlemagne, but in the future is the promise which makes this church beautiful. I am reminded tonight of that saying of the Psalmist, 'One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord.' It is my wish and my belief that your pastor will so hold up the Lord Jesus in this house that you will look upon Him with changed faces and behold Him in the fullness of His marvellous beauty."

Rev. Arthur E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, was the next speaker.

"Fellowship," he said, "means partnership and we rejoice with you tonight and bring our contribution of good-will, which is due to you and your pastor. I find significance and value in our partnership, because it is a partnership of Christian thought, feeling and action. It is a partnership in faith, in love, in labor and in reward. It is our privilege to labor together to establish in the community a knowlege of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. May the beauty of this church be but the promise of a coming temple of righteousness which shall draw by its power men, women and children into fellowship with God."

The last speaker of the evening was Rev. William C. O'Donnell, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church.

"I bear tonight," he said, "the congratulations and the well wishes of my people. May all happiness be grown in the years to come. May your ship ever sail over tranquil seas. Your success is dear to every Christian heart; it is our success. Frances E. Willard's last words were 'How beautiful to be with God.' I say tonight, how beautiful to have God with us in this beautiful house."

A number of letters were received from pastors of Plainfield and North Plainfield churches who were unable to be present, expressing their congratulations and good will. A number of pastors arrived too late to make addresses, but took part in the reception which followed.

After singing "Blest be the tie that binds," the pastors and people adjourned to the new lecture room on the floor below, where refreshments were served by the ladies of the church. Nearly everyone present at the services early in the evening remained and enjoyed an exchange of greetings with the pastor and people of the church, and a committee from the Ladies' Christian Work Society, assisted by the members of the church and the Young People's Societies, served coffee and wafers to all present. The committee in charge was composed of the following ladies: Mrs. H. J. Martin, Mrs. E. H. Bird, Mrs. P. M. Demarest, Mrs. F. A. Church, Mrs. H. W. Marshall, Mrs. J. Krymer and Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle.

An Overlooked Principle.

If it requires ten horse power to start certain machinery an engine of nine horse power won't answer. It will be no better than no engine at all. You must have the additional power or all the effort of your engine will be wasted.

STILL CURING THE SICK.

Every Day at the Revere House Cures are Accomplished by the Boy Phenomenon that for Years Had Defied all Other Methods.

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF HIS ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING WELL-KNOWN CITIZENS WHO HAD BEEN GIVEN UP AS INCURABLE.

No New Cases Will be Taken for Treatment After Saturday, March 12, Although He Will Remain Two Weeks to Finish Cases Under Treatment.

The excitement which was occasioned last week when the papers announced that that the Boy Phenomenon had restored the sight of Benj. R. Lattimer, who had been blind for 2 years, had hardly subsided, when Mrs. Capt. S. Rice, of West Seventh street, appeared upon the streets walking without her crutches, which she had not been able to do for over 2 years, because of a very stubborn and severe case of inflammatory rheumatism of both limbs, augmented by a fall and sprained joints, and after she was sure the cure was permanent, signed the testimonial which has also been printed.

He continued his wonderful success this week, for on Monday Mrs. Ellen H. Arthur, who had been totally deaf in both ears for four years, rushed out of the treatment rooms and throwing herself into the arms of her husband cried out in perfect joy, "I can hear."

While that cure was being talked over in the reception parlors yesterday, in walked Mr. and Mrs. Tingley, of West Fourth street, both of whom had been cured of deafness, rheumatism and other troubles of many years standing.

Mrs Annie Smith, of West Second street, is another case worthy of mention, as she was stricken over a year ago with paralysis, which left her speech, hands and limbs in a helpless condition, now says she can work as well as ever and her speech has returned.

Mr. John Donnelly is another well-known citizen who can attest the wonderful curative power of the Boy wonder, and Mr. Higgins, another of our oldest and best known citizens is a walking example of what magnetism and the Boy Phenomenon has done for him. Mr. Higgins was a great and long sufferer from double sciatica and neuralgia. After 2 treatments he says: "I am now able to use my left arm as well as ever, can walk without my canes, and the pain has left me entirely. The first time in years."

While the above cures do not seem very remarkable, they had been pronounced incurable by the best medical men, and so they are, by all other methods, vital magnetism alone can produce such marvelous results in so short a time.

Last week 41 patients were discharged as cured, while thirty more will receive their discharge this week, but the above names are published because they had been given up as incurable. Thus has he lived up to his advertisements and promises. For he has made "the blind to see, the deaf hear, lame walk and sick well."

This is your opportunity to get well. While he will remain here all of next week, no new cases will be taken for treatment after Saturday, March 12, as the following week will be entirely devoted to treating those who go under treatment this week.

Those who wish his services may obtain consultation and examination any day from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., at the Revere House, and if curable a price for treatment will be named which is within the reach of all. If incurable the case will not be taken.

AN ORDINANCE locating the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company on North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed) Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road within the Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, and authorizing and empowering the construction and operation and maintenance of the same and granting permission for said Company to use electricity as the propelling power of its cars, and prescribing the terms and conditions upon which such location of the tracks and permission are granted.

Whereas, The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway a corporation organized under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of traction companies for the construction and operation of street railways, or railroads operated as street railways, and to regulate the same," approved March fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, having first filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, a description of the routes, together with maps exhibiting the same, did present their petition or application to the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, praying the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, for its consent to the construction, operation and maintenance of a street railway in the Township of Fanwood, and the right to locate its tracks conformably to the route filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, which route in the Township of Fanwood is upon and along North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, and was set out in the said petition, and

Whereas, Public notice has been duly given of such application and of the intention of the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood to consider the same by publication, also by posting a copy of the said notice in five or more of the most public places in said Township of Fanwood at least fourteen days prior to the date of the meeting of the said Township Committee, and

Whereas, Upon the day fixed by said notice and upon such days as the said hearing was adjourned to, public hearing was given to all persons desiring to be heard in favor of or opposed to or in any wise interested in the said application for the location of its tracks and the said matter having been duly considered by the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, and the said Company having filed with the Clerk of said Township the consent in writing of the owners or their duly authorized legal representatives of at least one-half in amount of the lineal feet of property on said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, within the Township of Fanwood, and upon which permission to locate, operate and maintain said street railway is asked.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, as follows:

Section 1. That the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, be, and they are hereby located in the following streets, avenues, or highways, in the said Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, to wit, as set out in the following description:

Beginning at a point in the centre line of Terrill Road where it is interescted by the division line between the City of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course north forty-four degrees and two minutes east for a distance of one hundred and forty-seven and nine-tenths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the left with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet for a distance of two hundred and sixty-four and eighty-four hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north twenty-eight degrees and nine minutes east a distance of three hundred and ninety-one and eighty-eight hundredths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the right with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet a distance of two hundred and ten and sixty-six hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north forty degrees and forty-seven minutes east for a distance of two thousand five hundred and twenty-nine and five-tenths feet to a point at the intersection of Park and Westfield Avenues; thence along Westfield Avenue in a magnetic course north forty-eight degrees and forty-three minutes east for a distance of five hundred and twenty-nine and six-tenths feet to a point in Forrest Road; thence along Forrest Road in a magnetic course of South forty-one degrees and twelve minutes east for a distance of twelve hundred and seventy feet to the line of the Borough of Fanwood.

Also, beginning at a point in the centre of North Avenue where the same is intersected by the division line between the Townships of Westfield and Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course of south eighty-six degrees and twenty-five minutes west for a distance of twenty-five hundred and sixty-nine feet to the boundary line of the Borough of Fanwood, conformable to the amended route of the new line of street railway and the map exhibiting the same, filed in the office of the Secretary of State of this State, and said Company is hereby given the right, power and authority to maintain and operate cars upon the said railway by electricity as the motive power. The said Company shall complete the construction of its whole line of railway within the Township of Fanwood in the manner herein provided, and all its fixtures and appurtenances, and commence the operation of the same and the running of its cars for the transportation of passengers on or before December first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, or this franchise shall be and become null and void and of no effect, unless the time for the completion of the same shall be extended by the Township Committee. If the said Company after the commencement of the operation of its said line of railway by the collection of fares thereon shall fail or neglect to operate the whole or any portion of the line hereby authorized daily and every day for the space of thirty consecutive days, or shall fail to operate the same for a total number of days exceeding thirty in any one year, all the rights, powers, privileges and every one of them of the said Company, its successors and assigns, under and by virtue of this ordinance, shall hereby cease and be determined and in either of such cases the Township Committee expressly reserves the right to sell the said line at auction to the highest bidder who will operate it, or may cause the said railway, or any part or parts thereof, to be removed from the streets or avenues, and to sell and dispose of the materials thereof at public auction, and after paying all the expenses of such removal and auction sale, and repairs to said avenues and streets and the cost of restoring the same to its original condition, to pay the balance of proceeds of such sale to the said Company, its successors and assigns.

Section 2. The said Company shall construct, maintain and operate a double track railway as aforesaid with crossovers, switches and sidings shown by map hereinafter specifically referred to. The rails to be laid by said Company shall be of steel of the girder pattern of a weight not less than seventy pounds per yard. And the said Company shall so construct and maintain said railway that the top of the rails shall at all times be flush with the grade of the street or highway. The ties, spikes and all other materials shall be of the best quality. The railway tracks of the said railway shall be laid as follows: One track on each side of the centre line of said streets or avenues so that the inner rail thereof shall be distant two feet and three inches from said centre line and the gauge of said tracks shall be four feet and eight and a half inches. The said Company at its own cost and expense in all streets or avenues through which it shall lay tracks hereunder, shall pave between said tracks and between the rails thereof in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner with a telford or macadam pavement to a depth of four inches and shall maintain the same flush with the rail of said tracks. The railway tracks and macadam or telford pavement shall be laid and constructed in the best workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Township Committee or other committee thereof having charge of the streets.

Section 3. During the construction of the said railway lighted lanterns shall be kept and maintained by said Company from sunset to sunrise at each and every night not less than fifty feet and not more than one hundred feet apart along every part of said avenues and streets, where the work of construction shall have been begun and not completed. The work in all other respects shall be thoroughly protected so as to prevent accident. In case any accident shall happen to any person or damage to property is caused because or by reason of any work connected with such construction of said railway, or afterward because or by reason of the operation thereof, or through carelessness or negligence of any of the Company's officers, agents, servants or employees, the same Company shall indemnify and save the said Township of Fanwood and its Township Committee from all costs, loss or damage by reason thereof.

Section 4. The Company shall at all times keep in good condition and repair to the satisfaction of the Township Committee (repaving if necessary) the paving between the tracks, between the rails and eighteen inches outside the same, to a depth of four inches.

Section 5. That said Company shall lay its rails to conform to the grade of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, at the time of laying of said rails, and in case of any change of the grade or of the surface of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Avenue, or any part thereof, at any time, then the said Company at its own cost and expense, shall immediately on request made in writing by the Township Committee, so change the location of its tracks and the surface or grade of such part of said avenues and streets, so as to conform to such change of surface of said avenues and streets, or change of grade or any newly established grade.

Section 6. That no change, addition, or alteration of gauge or the location of the tracks, sidings, switches, crossovers, poles or overhead structures of said railway company shall be made therein or thereabouts at any time by said company after the same has been first erected and approved by the Township Committee, without official action granting permission for such change, alteration or addition being previously taken by the Township Committee.

Section 7. The said Company and its officers, agents, servants or employees, shall not, nor shall any or either of them be allowed to shovel, thow or place any snow, ice, slush, or any other material along the side of said track or tracks, in such manner as to obstruct or hinder other public travel thereon or on the said avenues and streets, but when removing the snow, ice, slush, or other material, from its said tracks the said Company and its officers, agents, servants and employees shall without unnecessary delay and with a sufficient force of men, cause the same to be levelled between the said tracks and the gutter line on each side thereof.

Section 8. No salt shall be used by said Company on any part of its tracks, except on the grades, curves and crossovers, without the consent of the Township Committee or the proper Township officers, nor shall any car be allowed to stand in or obstruct any cross street, or to stand upon any cross-walk for any purpose whatever, or to stand or remain in any one position for more than five minutes at any one time, except when such car shall be unavoidablely obstructed or detained by accident or break-down without fault or negligence of said Company under a penalty of ten dollars to be paid by said Company to the Town Collector with costs of collection for each and every violation of this section.

Section 9. That where said railway tracks shall pass over culverts or gutters, the bottom of which shall be below the grade line of such railroad, iron girders or proper supports of the most approved pattern shall be provided by the company and such necessary iron bridges or iron drains shall be constructed across the tracks and shall be so constructed as not to hinder or obstruct the flow of surface water underneath the tracks of said railroad.

Section 10. The Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood on behalf of said Township, reserves the right to dig or excavate in or upon any of the said streets or avenues for the purpose of laying, examining, replacing or repairing any sewer, water, or gas pipes, or for the purpose of making any other public improvements, or for doing any other public work whatsover, and the said railway company shall have no redress or claim for damages because of any detention or obstruction to travel on the said railway arising therefrom. Provided, that such work shall be done as quickly as possible without causing unnecessary delay in the operation of said railroad; and provided further, that if any such improvement, or repairing, replacing, laying or re-laying or examining can be made or done in any feasible or practical way, without obstructing the operation of said railroad, then and in such case, it shall be the duty of the party doing such work to do the same in such manner as last aforesaid.

Section 11. Tha the said Company shall remove any dirt, gravel or any material or obstruction placed by the said Company or its agents or servants on any of the streets or avenues within three days after the service on an officer or servant of said Company of written notice so to do by the said Township Committee or its duly authorized agent. In case the said Company shall fail to remove such material or obstruction and to put the said streets and avenues in as good order as before such material or obstruction was placed thereon by said Company, the Township Committee may order and cause the said material or obstruction to be removed and the said avenues and streets to be put in complete order and repair at the expense of said Company.

Section 12. That all persons driving vehicles upon the railroad tracks of the said Company in any of the said streets or avenues when met or overtaken by a car of the Company shall on being warned by the ringing of a bell or gong or on request of the conductor or motorman of such car, as soon as possible turn and drive his vehicle off of such track, so as to allow such car to pass; it being understood that the cars of said Company shall have the right of way over the tracks of the Company (except at crossings where the public shall have the first right of way over and across the road and tracks of said Company), and the driver of any vehicle for the violation of any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay to the Township Collector for the use of the Township a penalty of ten dollars to be recovered before any Justice of the Peace of said Township.

Section 13. The cars to be used or run on said railway shall be well lighted and properly heated; they shall be kept clean and have proper bells or gongs, which shall be rung or sounded before such car reaches the crossing of any street intersecting any of the said streets or avenues and whenever necessary to give warning of the approach of such car; the said cars shall be run at a speed not greater than ten miles an hour, except for that portion of the road herein specified, to wit: Beginning at the division line between Fanwood and Westfield Townships on North Avenue and extending from thence to the division line between the Township of Fanwood and the Borough of Fanwood at the junction of North Avenue and Westfield Avenue also between the westerly side line of Park Avenue and the easterly side line of Terrill Road. And each car shall be provided with the necessary fenders of the most approved pattern, and such cars shall be run at an average headway of not longer than fifteen minutes, between the hours of six o'clock A. M., and ten o'clock P. M. and from ten o'clock P. M. to mid-night, such cars shall be run as the travel demand or warrant, but in any case the average headway shall not be longer than one-half hour; all cars on the said railway shall run the entire length of the line of railroad tracks hereby authorized to be constructed. The Company shall from time to time diminish the headway of its cars as the increase of travel shall demand. All cars placed upon the line of said Company shall be of the most approved pattern; and said Company shall maintain gates upon the sides of the platforms of the cars wherever there shall be a double track so that the ingress and egress to and from said cars can only be had from the side of the car nearest the curb. All cars run and operated by said Company shall stop both before and after crossing Park Avenue for the purpose of taking on and letting off passengers, and in no case to cross said avenue without first bringing said car to a full stop.

Section 14. That for the purpose of supplying light, heat and power for propelling cars on said railway, permission is hereby granted to the said Traction Company, and the right is hereby granted to said Company to erect poles and string the necessary wires thereon, upon the following terms and conditions:

The poles to be used for the equipping of said railway for operation by electricity shall be of iron, similar to those used by the Plainfield Street Railway Company for that purpose upon its Netherwood line in the City of Plainfield; said poles shall be at least twenty feet in height above the surface of the ground and shall be set and located opposite each other as near as may be on both sides of said avenues and strees and within the curb lines of said avenues and streets and at the points designated and shown upon a certain map entitled "Map showing proposed location of tracks or rails of a double track street railway also showing proposed location of poles for support of overhead construction for trolley wires of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, in the Township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey" which map is on file with the Township Clerk, and is hereby made a part of this ordinance for the purpose of showing the true location of the tracks hereby authorized to be laid upon the said avenues and streets by said Company and for the purpose of specifically designating and prescribing the several places within the line of said avenues and streets where such poles shall be located and set and the location of said tracks and poles therein shown is hereby approved and adopted by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood.

The said poles shall be set in the ground to a depth of not less than six feet and the hole in which said poles shall be set shall be not less than one foot in diameter and the excavation or space around said poles shall be filled with broken stone and concrete to the surface of the ground and the same shall be thoroughly packed and rammed.

The wires and overhead construction attached to said poles for the purpose of furnishing power for the propulsion of the cars of said Company shall be not less than eighteen feet above the grade of said avenues and streets and said overhead construction and wires shall be similar in character and size to the overhead construction now used by The Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, and the manner of stringing all of said wires, shall be similar to that now used by said Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, which overhead construction of poles and wires is hereby approved and designated as a pattern or model construction to be observed and followed by the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company in its overhead construction of poles and wires, prescribed in this ordinance. The wires strung upon said poles shall be properly guarded with other wires when required by the Township Committee. The poles when erected, shall be properly painted and shall together with all parts of said overhead construction, be maintained in a safe condition at all times, and shall be kept in thorough repair, and said poles shall be kept well painted.

That to enable the Township to ascertain from time to time the gross earnings of the said Company the books of the Company shall be opened for inspection by the Township Committee or by such other person or persons as the Township Committee for that purpose shall designate at the expense of the said Company. The payments provided for in this section shall be in lieu of all license fees for cars whether provided for in prior ordinances or not.

Section 19. Should the said company violate this ordinance in any section or provision thereof for which a penalty has not been already prescribed, and specified herein, the said railway company shall be subjected to a penalty of ten dollars ($10) for each and every violation, on conviction thereof, to be recovered before any Justice of the Peace of said Township. The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Try us and be convinced that we are up-to-date, and that you would rather have AMERICANS by all odds to serve you. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Order Preserved in Skaguay by United States Troops.

DEAD WITH THEIR GOLD

Two Men with $100,000 in Their Possession Found Frozen to Death—The Clara Nevada Was Blown on Rocks and Set on Fire by Explosion of Oil.

Victoria, B. C., March 4.—Passengers on the steamer Islander, which has just reached here from Skaguay, confirm the report that the Canadian flag has been raised at Summit Lake; also that the Canadians will establish a custom house at Crater Lake. Martial law has been declared at Skaguay, and the United States troops who went up on the Queen are enforcing law.

The attempt to float the steamer Corona has so far been a failure. Capt. Goodall has gone with divers to make an examination of the Cottage City.

The death rate at Skaguay averages fifteen daily, one of the latest victims being the postmaster.

It is also stated by passengers on the steamer Islander that the Dyea trail is strewn with dead mules.

Gold-Laden Klondikers Perish.

Victoria, B. C., March 4.—The steamer Islander, from Alaska, brings word that several days ago two Canadian mounted police came into Skaguay with two sleds in tow, on which were strapped two dead men.

The attention of the mounted police at Tagish was attracted by the dismal howls of a dog. After a short search they found the bodies of two men who had been frozen to death. It is said they were returning Klondikers and had in their possession $100,000 in paper and in gold dust. Their names are not known.

The Clara Nevada's Condition.

Seattle, Wash., March 4.—A letter has been received by the owners of the ill-fated steamer Clara Nevada, from Sanderson Reed, of Portland, who was sent north to search for the body of his friend, Purser George Foster Peck, and for the bodies of other members of the crew and passengers.

Reed says in his letter that the wreck has slipped partly off the rock and at high tide is about 24 feet under water. The masts of the steamer are still standing. As far as he could ascertain there is a big hole in the vessel's side, but the boilers are apparently intact.

From people at Seward, Reed learns that a terrible gale was blowing at the time the fire on the Clara Nevada was observed. As far as they could tell, the fire started in the ordinary. Suddenly there was a flash and all was dark. This flash was supposed to have been the explosion of the boilers, but Reed says that it probably came when the oil stores for the steamer's lamps and engines exploded.

REINDEER IN CHICAGO.

Will Be Hurried to Alaska as Climate Doesn't Agree With Them.

Chicago, March 4.—Two train loads of reindeer and Laplanders, brought by the Government to be used in Alaska expeditions, arrived yesterday. They cost the Government $50,000 to get them in Norway. The freight to Chicago was $10,000. A rumor was started that the Government had abandoned the purpose for which these reindeer and their attendants are intended, and that the whole outfit would be left in Chicago.

A. C. Bird, traffic manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Railroad, said that even if they were not wanted they would be rushed on to the Pacific coast and Alaska. They could not live here more than a short time.

P. B. Weare of the North American Transportation and Trading Company was asked if his company would have any use for the animals in case the Government abandoned its project. He declined to answer, and also declined to say whether his company had made the Government an offer for the herd. He simply said he had no interest in them.

Reindeer to Be Sold.

Washington, March 4.—The Senate Committee on Military Affairs has agreed upon a bill directing the sale of the reindeer and supplies purchased by the War Department for the relief of the miners in the Klondike who were supposed to be starving. The bill has not yet been drawn up, but an agreement has been reached on its general provisions, and it will be reported to the Senate shortly.

The decision was reached after a thorough investigation of the subject, and is in line with the opinions of the Secretary of War and Generals Merriam and Rucker, commanding the departments having the matter in charge, and of persons who have returned from the Klondike, to the effect that no danger from starvation exists now.

The Interior Department made a request that the reindeer be turned over to them, but the committee thought it were better the reindeer be sold.

Mayor of Springfield Ousted.

Springfield, Ohio, March 4.—The Circuit Court yesterday issued a decree ousting Mayor John M. Good from office. The proceedings were brought under the Garfield Election law, which requires candidates after the election to file sworn statements of all their expenses.

Judge Adams said the testimony showed that Mayor Good spent $283.50 in the campaign which he failed to include in his sworn statement of expenses, stated to be only $45. Of the first-named amount $91 was spent for beer.

Quarrel, Fratricide, Suicide.

Cordele, Ga., March 4.—Shep Wood, a young farmer, shot and killed his brother Thomas here yesterday. On seeing the result of his shot he turned the gun upon himself and sent a bullet through his brain. The brothers had quarreled over business matters.

President Dole Contributes.

Washington, March 4.—President Dole, of Hawaii, has sent his check for $500 for the Maine relief fund.

Higher and Still Higher

Go the grain markets, and the opinion continues that the top is going to be found much higher.

Under such circumstances the Prudent Farmer and Dairyman should see that he gets the most value for his money.

With us he has a large variety of feed from which to choose. Among those that seem at this time most desirable are MIDDLINGS, OAT FEED and PEA MEAL, all of which are cheap in proportion to their feeding value.

She leaves two daughters who resided with her. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church which she attended regularly when her health permitted. She was a woman of considerable property and leaves a substantial fortune to her children. She was in her eighty-second year and has been a resident of the borough for many years.

Gift of a Silver Pitcher.

One of the observable features that greeted the eyes of the visitors to the parlor of Trinity Reformed church last night, when it was thrown open for inspection to those who had attended the meeting in the auditorium, was a beautiful silver water pitcher that graced the centertable. After much inquiry and conjecture, it was finally learned that the donor was J. W. Johnson, of LaGrande avenue, who intended the article to represent his goodwill towards the society.

No Order for Uniformed Rank.

Brigadier-General J. M. Reese, of Phillipsburg, denies that he has issued an order to the various divisions of the Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias, asking for a detailed statement of the condition of the members, and also warning them to be ready to respond to a call for war if one should be issued. The item published in The Press concerning such a matter was printed on the information given by a leading member of the order in this city.

House Blocks the Artillery Bill.

Washington, March 4.—The Hawley bill for the creation of two additional regiments of artillery will not be taken up in the House to-day, as some of its friends had hoped. The Republican members of the Committee on Rules gave the matter some consideration after adjournment last night, but no conclusion was reached, and for the present at least the Committee on Military Affairs will not be given time for its consideration.

Great Britain has opened negotiations for a convention with Russia and Germany on the Chinese situation.

NO NEW FACTS.

Strong Indications, However, That the the Explosion Was Not an Accident.

Washington, March 4.—Men who are not carried away by their emotions or influenced by any material interests that might be affected by the fluctuations of the market, find nothing in the situation with relation to the Maine disaster to excite a war spirit one day and to restore peace the next day. The war days and the peace days are lighted by exactly the same known facts.

According to the best of authority here there is as yet no official information showing conclusively that the destruction of the Maine was the result of foul play, nor has there been received a line or a word of information to modify the serious aspect of the situation.

If the excitement is greater on one day, or if on another day there is a sudden calm, neither condition of mind is reflected from any additional advices the administraton has on the subject.

It is true now, as it was at the beginning that the administration does not want war. It is also true that preparations for war are being made. It is believed to be true that the administration has to-day no better knowledge of the prospects of war or peace than it possessed a week ago. The question depends upon two unknown things—first, upon the report of the Board of Inquiry; second, upon the course of Spain after that report has been received. As the case was stated very clearly to-day, a very serious situation was presented when the Maine was destroyed in the Havana harbor. At the time of the explosion the assumption of an accident was stronger than it has been at any time since.

Eliminating all the sensational stories that have been circulated and considering only official reports and evidences, which are universally accepted, the indications are strong that the explosion was not from an internal source. There is the best of authority for the statement that no official reports, nor unofficial information, have been received by the departments to strengthen the accident theory. The progress of minor developments to discredit the accident theory, has been consistent and steady.

The efforts made by the administration to counteract the influence of Secretary Long's expression of opinion are regarded as indicating that it is not deemed safe or wise to commit the administration so far in the effort to calm public sentiment. As anxious as is the President to guard against popular excitement, it is fully understood that the situation does not warrant such an expression of confidence as would entirely dispel apprehension. The situation is declared to be graver, rather than otherwise, yet not such as to render hostilities inevitable, or to destroy the hope of a satisfactory settlement of the whole question.

The administration will indulge this hope until it is no longer tenable. The belief is generally entertained that the destruction of the Maine will be determined by the board to have been by an explosion from the outside. What will be the result of such a report must be determined by the nature of the evidence cited in support of the report.

THE DAILY PRESS.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1898. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

THE DAILY PRESS THRIVES AND GROWS.

To Be Enlarged and Printed On a New Press.

BUSINESS MAKES IT NECESSARY.

Its Popularity With Readers Has Increased Its Circulation and Made a Great Pressure of Advertising on its Columns—Walter Scott's Men Now Working on a Modern Machine to be Set in the Press Room as Soon as Possible.

The Daily Press has thrived and grown so that it now takes another important step forward in the world of newspaperdom.

It has been recognized for some time by the proprietor of The Press that the size of the paper was totally inadequate to the demands that are being made on it in an advertising way. The pressure of this line of business has at times encroached on the space that should have been devoted to news, and as much as it is regretted to deprive subscribers of their quota of live reading matter—there was no other way out of it with the present facilities in the press room.

Now, however, the skilled machinists of one of Plainfield's principal industries—the press works of Walter Scott—are working on a machine that will soon be established in the press room which will permit The Press to go on and upward in its successful career.

Thursday Mr. Scott received an order to put in one of his latest pattern two-revolution presses in the press room of this paper just as quick as the work can be done. The machine is especially adapted to the needs of The Press. Most important of all, it permits the enlargement of the dimensions of the paper. The papers that it will print will contain seven columns to the page instead of six as is now the case. This additional column to each page will more equitably accommodate the advertising and the news features of the paper.

Another very important feature of the new press will be its printing capacity. It will be able to attain almost double the speed of the machine now in use, and keep pace with the growing circulation that The Press enjoys and which, more than anything else has made it valuable as an advertising medium. The effect of that will be the ability to put the paper in the hands of its subscribers at an earlier hour than under the present order of things.

Attached to the press is a folder fully able to fold, cut, trim and paste the sheets as fast as they are printed. The Press has always had the reputation of being one of the cleanest printed papers in the country and that reputation will be improved upon.

It is gratifying to the publisher to be compelled to make this improvement, inasmuch as it is the result of increased patronage in all departments and shows appreciation for the efforts to furnish Plainfield with an enterprising, clean, up to-date paper.

CONGRESSMEN WANT TO RETURN.

Loudenslager and Gardiner to Seek Fourth Terms.

Representatives Fowler, Gardiner, Loudenslager, Parker and Stewart are understood to be intending to seek a renomination to Congress this year. Representatives Howell and Pitney are as yes undecided. Representative McEwan, when interrogated, responded in a semi-jocular manner: "If you were my most intimate friend, and asked me that, and I replied that the last vote of the district—the Seventh—showed a Democratic majority of 9,142 votes, wouldn't you say that I ought to cogitate before returning a definite answer?"

The Democratic districts are the Third, Fourth and the Seventh, represented by the three representatives who are undecided whether they will run again.

Scudder's Funeral.

The funeral of John T. Scudder, the young colored man who died suddenly at his home on Race street Tuesday morning, was held from the basement of Reform Hall yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Scudder was considered a member of the congregation of the Calvary Baptist church, and so the pastor of that church, Rev. P. S. Gibson, conducted the services. They were largely attended by the members of that congregation. The interment was at Atlantic Highlands, where the retatives of the deceased man live.

BRAVE ACT OF AN UNKNOWN.

SAVED A NEWSBOY FROM INJURY.

The Little Fellow Fell in Front of a Plunging Horse, but the Stranger Acted Quickly and Effectually.

As the weary commuter wends his way homeward in time for dinner, the streets of Plainfield are alive with small newsboys. There is none of them livelier than a twelve-year-old lad named Edmunson. He lives on West Third street.

Last night Edmunson was lustily calling out The Press and the Journal. He attempted to cross Park avenue at the intersection of Second street. The street was filled with teams and vehicles, but the little newsboy started to dodge past them. He jumped in front of one, then behind another. Then he started to pass directly in the way of a horse attached to one of the wagons from Giles' dairy on Watchung avenue. The horse struck the lad and he fell headlong into he mud, directly in the path of the plunging animal.

A tragedy seemed sure when a man, he was a stranger to those who witnessed the act, sprang out. He grabbed the lad by the collar, landed him on the sidewalk and then disappeared before the astonished youngster had time to collect his thoughts and thank his preserver.

CLIMB UP MOUNT HOOD.

DR. WILDING'S EXPERIENCE TOLD GRAPHICALLY AND HUMOROUSLY.

Description of the Costumes and the Start Was Very Funny—They Lunched on Warm Rock Close by the Crater.

Mountain climbing appeared in an entirely new light to those who braved the storm of last evening and heard Rev. George C. Wilding, D. D., the well known lecturer, deliver his lecture "To the Top of Mount Hood," at Vincent chapel. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E church. A silver offering was taken up at the close and a goodly sum was received. The attendance was good despite the inclement weather.

It would be almost impossible to give any condensed account of Dr. Wilding's lecture. A principal feature of it was the humor with which it abounded. It was a humorous and graphic sketch of Dr. Wilding's trip to the summit of that great mountain peak of western North America in 1893, with a party of fifteen others. The description of the costumes and then the start were very funny. Dr. Wilding had something to say on the methods of climbing and something of the discomforts that the members of his party endured.

Dr. Wilding had several graphic descriptions of the magnificant scenery that was visible from various points on the mountain slope. The strange scene at the camp on the edge of the snow belt, where the party spent the night, was well described. He also told of their visit to the crater of a live volcano and how they lunched on the warm rocks close by the crater. The crevasses, the steep declivities, and finally the summit of Mt. Hood were all touched upon in the lecture. Throughout his lecture Dr. Wilding moralized on the various strange sights and scenes and pointed out a humorous application.

A Glimpse of the Far East.

A glimpse of the mission work in India and other lands was the principal portion of a missionary lecture by Mrs. J. O. Robinson, a returned missonary, at the First Baptist church last evening. The lecture was given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. It was well attended considering the night. Eighty-five stereopticon pictures enabled the lecturer to make her address far more graphic. While most of her lecture was devoted to the work in India, she touched on other foreign fields and gave some interesting facts regarding the work that is now being done in home missions.

Getting Ready for Summer Work

The city steam roller is now being overhauled and put into condition for work this spring. It has been found necessary to replace a few of the parts and make several slight changes in the machinery. The roller will be used on the streets as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Slipped and Sprained His Ankle.

William Dunn, a clerk at Rockfellow's grocery, slipped in the slush while returning to his home on Madison avenue last evening and sprained his ankle. Today he is confined to his home.

Watson's Trial.

The trial of Michael Watson, charged with selling liquor illegally, will come up in the City Court Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The trial will be held in the Council chambers. The case will be tried by City Judge DeMeza and a jury of twelve men.

LIVELY SENSE OF HUMOR

REAL CHARACTERISTICS OF OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES SHOWN.

Leon Vincent, in Full Sympathy and Acquaintance With His Subject, Pictured the Noted Man Entertainingly.

Leon Vincent is so popular a lecturer with a Plainfield audience, and American literature such a fascinating subject, that even the wet, driving snowstorm which began yesterday afternoon did not prevent a good attendance at the lecture on Oliver Wendell Holmes, which was given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Mr. Vincent's lecture was no dry chapter of commonplace biography, but a bright, sparkling, humorous account of the most important or entertaining facts connected with the life and character of the genial autocrat. His experiences as a lecturer were dwelt upon, the price paid him, $15 and expenses, his preference of a public house over someone's "spare refrigerator," his manner of stopping after a telling remark for the audience to laugh, all being mentioned. His remarkable success in the very difficult art of writing occasional poetry was also given prominence and "The Boys," one of the best of his poems, written for an anniversary of the Harvard class of '29, was read by Mr. Vincent.

Boyhood ways, such as hiding cigars from his mother in the barrel of his gun, which she would not touch, undergraduate life and poetry, and the after-training for the work of a physician, were all described briefly, but clearly and entertainingly. Of Dr. Holmes' later years, and the enduring work of those years, Mr. Vincent had much of admiration to say, and his words concerning those well known poems, "The Last Leaf" and "Dorothy Q," and "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," which has been called "The epic of the boarding house," found an echo in the minds of many present.

As a lecturer, Mr. Vincent is pleasant and unaffected in his manner and delivery, and shows himself to be thoroughly well informed upon and in sympathy with his subject.

A GREAT EQUINE ACTOR.

"Jim Key" Goes Through His Performance Docilely and Entertainingly.

"Jim Key," the famous equine actor, made his first public appearance in Plainfield last night at Music Hall. The unpropituous weather kept away a large audience, but Jim did his work in a docile and entertaining mood, and the small audience gave him plenty of applause. The work that best exhibits his superior intelligence was where he spells the names of persons called out from the audience. His examples of addition and subtraction were also wonderful feats for a horse.

While Jim gets the applause and is the most talked of, a word of admiration for his trainer, William Key, is deserving. The proverbial patience of Job could not have been much more than that of this colored man who has devoted eight years of his life to the kind treatment and education of Jim. It is only his pure love for the horse that Key goes about the country with him. He is worth about $40,000, and if he perferred he could live a life of ease and luxury in his southern home. But the whole purpose of his life seemed wrapt up in the dumb being whom he has taught to as nearly human as a horse can be.

Tonight Jim will make his farewell appearance in Music Hall and he will doubtless be greeted by a large audience.

$10 for the Cubans.

The monthly business meeting and committee conference of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church was held at the home of Miss F. G. Hawkins, of LaGrande avenue, Thursday evening. The reports of the committees were received. It was voted to give $10 of the missionary fund to the suffering Cubans.

Major Ackley, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad land department, and E. R. Collins, of the Beadnell-Collins Company, will stake out at Picton next week a site for a vegetable preserving factory, to be erected there this spring. The company has a factory now in operation near Boston.

Y., where she has been stationed some time, and at once assumed charge of the local corps. Captain Ormsby will be assisted by Lieut. Conklin, lately stationed at Newark.

SAVE SOULS OF SAILORS.

FLOATING ENDEAVOR WORK EXPLAINED TO PLAINFIELDERS.

Mrs. Cassera Tells of the Good Influences Exerted Among the Mariners at the "Floating Bethel" in Port.

Something of the work of the Christian Endeavorers among the mariners of this country was told at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening. Mrs. Cassera, who is in charge of the "Floating Bethel" at New York, was present. With her were five sailors, three from the S. S. Teutonic and two from the S. S. Umbria.

Mrs. Cassera gave a very interesting talk on the floating Endeavor work. She told something of the origin of the movement. It was started in 1892, at the time of the National Christian Endeavor convention in New York. In 1893, a "Floating Bethel" was placed at the Brooklyn navy yard. There are now "Floating Bethels" at many of the leading ports of the globe. The mission, of which Mrs. Cassera is in charge, is located on Hudson street, New York. There is a Christian Endeavor Society there composed of 163 sailors, 65 of whom are active members.

Mrs. Cassera's talk was rather of the mission and the methods employed there than her own experiences in the work. She told how on the arrival of a vessel in port she and an assistant went on board. They talked with the sailors and distributed reading matter among them and invited them to the Bethel. Many of the sailors spend their nights at the mission where they are free from the usual temptations that surround the seafaring man. The evenings at the mission are passed pleasantly and the sailors seem to enjoy them. In this way a path has been opened whereby she is able to do them much good spiritually.

One of the sailors present gave a selection on the mandolin, "What Shall the Harvest Be?" Another gave a lengthy testimony, and all united in singing "Let a Little Sunshine In."

Joseph M. Hawkins, chairman of the missionary commitee, was the leader of the meeting. Considering the stormy night, the attendance was very good.

PEACE IN THE CLINE HOME.

Husband and Wife Patch up Their Differences Out of Court.

Ed Cline's one remaining eye is safe for the present. It will be remembered that early in the week Ed's wife, Rosie, made an unpleasant scene in the Cline domicile on Plainfield avenue.

According to the tale of the indignant husbant, Rose attacked him with a carving knife. Cline has but one eye and he claimed that his spouse attempted to remove it by force of arms. Both sides appealed to the city for a settlement.

This morning, the couple appeared in court. This has healed the breach between them. Ed cast a loving glance from his solitary eye in the direction of the partner of his sorrows and she smiled back. Then they told the judge that they did not want to press the charge against each other.

The occasion was too good a one to be lost and the Judge delivered a few words of wisdom on the joys of home. He then suspended sentence and the crowd that had expected something exciting went away disappointed.

The trial of Charles Drake for non-support, was adjourned for a week.

JUSTICES ATTACK A NEW LAW.

The Dogberrys Foresee a Move to Abolish Their Offices.

A writ of certiorari has been filed to test the constitutionality of the act under which Robert H. Ingersoll has been appointed District Court Judge of Atlantic City. This act was one of the first passed by the present Legislature and signed by Governor Voorhees. It affects cities under the second class, and for that reason is alleged to be special. The contest, while it is made in the name of a resident of Atlantic City, is said to have been prompted by justices of the peace throughout the State, who see in the act the first step in a general move to entirely strip them of power.

Wanted in Virginia.

George B. Lord, a well-known stock dealer of Rocky Hill, was brought to the Somerset county jail yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Barcalow and delivered to Sheriff T. B. McGill, of Virginia. The requisition papers in the possession of Sheriff McGill charges Lord with having committed felony in Virginia. It is alleged that the details of the charge relate to worthless checks and shady transactions in cattle, for which Lord has been indicted. Sheriff McGill started for Virginia last night. He was accompanied by William Terhune, who will endeavor to secure Lord's release on bail.

AN UNTERRIFED DEMOCRAT.

L. G. COHEN REFUSES TO BE DOWNED.

Defeated in the Primary for a Nomination for Town Committeeman He Starts an Independent Ticket.

The political circles of Westfield were somewhat surprised this morning when it became known that in opposition to the regular Democratic and Republican tickets an Independeet ticket was to go in the field. The chief features of this new ticket are to be found in two nominees on the ticket, Freeman Bloodgood for freeholder, and L. G. Cohen for town committeeman. The latter engineered the ticket and is working it for all he is worth.

Mr. Cohen went into the Democratic primary a few days ago for the purpose of securing the nomination for town committeeman, but J. Austin Dennis beat Mr. Cohen by a vote of 65 to 51. This incensed Mr. Cohen and he started an Independent ticket.

By placing Mr. Bloodgood on the ticket he hopes to win many voters. The latter is the Republican candidate for freeholder. Mr. Cohen hopes to defeat Mulford Ross, Democratic nominee for freeholder, and he also expects to be elected town committeeman.

The new ticket has made quite a sensation. The other places on the ticket are filled by candidates taken from the Democratic and Republican tickets.

COP CAUGHT COURTING.

A BOROUGH MINION CALLED ON A GIRL OFF HIS BEAT.

Marshal Kliner Divested of His Power as an Officer on the Charge of Having Neglected His Duty—Denies Some Charges.

Humorists, and some realists, have believed from time immemorial that it was inherited privilege of a policeman to court the servant girls on his beat, and being feasted with all the delicacies in the family cupboard. If the charges made against Marshal George Kliner, of the borough, are true, that minion has an improved version of this custom, and that is the courting of a girl on some other officer's beat. As a result of this allegation, and two others of minor significance, Kliner was last night divested of his power as a policeman.

During the executive session of the Council the members discussed the charges made against the officer and it was decided to lay him off for ten days without pay. Mr. Carey, chairman of the marshal committee, informed Chief Marshal Wilson of the Council's action, and the latter immediately found Marshal Kliner patroling his beat on the east side in the the neighborhood of Watchung avenue. He informed the officer of what had taken place and the latter promptly gave up the property of the borough, although he expressed his opinion as to the charges made.

Marshal Kliner was up before the committee on license and marshals recently, and when the charges were preferred he denied them. Last evening he informed Chief Wilson that regarding two of the charges he had nothing to say, but the third charge he claimed to be innocent of.

The facts are that on two or three occasions attempts have been made to find Marshal Kliner on his beat. He did not reply to the call by whistle of his superiors, and it soon became evident that he he was not attending to business. It then became known that he was spending a portion of his time calling on people, when he was supposed to be on duty. In one instance, it is said, that he was found courting a young woman in the borough. The charges were sustained. Special Marshal Whitely is now doing duty in Kliner's place.

Child's Body Found in a Field.

The dead body of a two-weeks-old infant was found under a heap of brush in a field near the silk mill Thursday at Stirling, by a man who was repairing a break in the water reservoir. The body had evidently been concealed in the brush for several weeks. An investigation is being made to ascertain whether the child was deserted and left to die in the field, or was placed there after its death.

COUNCIL SECRETLY TALKS ABOUT REPORT

Work of Borough Expert Accountants Was Discussed.

THE RESULT WAS NOT MADE KNOWN.

A Private Conference After the Regular Council Meeting—In Open Session Councilman Burtis Reported Progress in the Work—Resolutions and Petitions Passed and Granted—Drawing Notes to Pay Borough Indebtedness.

The business of a public nature transacted at the March meeting of the Borough Council held last evening was transacted in a very short time, and the balance of the evening was passed by the Council in executive session, supposedly discussing the work of the special committee which has in charge the report of the expert accountants on the borough books. The result was not made known, but a report is expected in the near future.

The financial statement of Clerk Arnold was presented as follows: Borough, balance, $3,405.44; fire department, $1,231 71; roads, $1,603.39; lights, $1,713.56; poor, deficit, $371 31; paid county and State, $4,512.63; cash balance, $3,070.16. The sum of $102 93 was also reported as having been collected from licenses and fines.

Collector Spencer reported that $1,852 51 had been collected since the last report, and the amount previously reported to be $41,999.95, making in all to date $43,852 46.

The West End Hose Company notified the Council of the election of W. W. Mills and G. Giddis to membership in the company, and they asked the Council to confirm their action. The company now numbers nineteen members.

Mr. Burtis, for the special committee having in charge the report of the expert accountants on the borough books, reported progress as regards their investigation of the report. Mr. MacLaughlin reported progress in the matter of securing new books and the new system of vouchers for the borough accounts.

At this time a number of resolutions were offered. The first three were by Mr. Woolston. One provided for the drawing of a warrant for $50 to pay the six months note on the $2,000 certificate indebtedness due March 30th. The second resolution provided for the drawing of a warrant for $1,550.10 in favor of Collector Spencer to meet the note of $1,544.18 with interest. The third resolution provided for a loan of $1,500 chargeable to the road account. Two resolutions were offered by Mr. Burtis. The first one was for the drawing of a warrant for $1,537.31 in favor of Collector Spencer to pay the note of $1,531 44 with interest and charged to the borough account.

The other resolution was for the securing of a loan of $1,500, the same to be charged to the borough account. Mr. Rogers offered a resolution that a warrant for $1,028.94 be drawn in favor of Collector Spencer to meet a note of $1,025 with interest.

Mr. Woolston recommended the laying of a crosswalk across Rockview avenue near the residence of former Mayor William L Saunders. The same was granted, as was also one to be laid across Somerset street opposite J. P. Humble's grocery store. Regarding the latter Mr. Schutt said that he introduced a resolution two years ago for the crosswalk and nothing had ever been done with it. The Council promptly granted the request for the walk.

This concluded the regular business and the Council went into executive session.

GOT IN THE WAY OF THE TROLLEY.

Street Commissioner Conover Tried to Turn Across the Track.

An exciting accident occurred on Somerset street near Lincoln place last evening about 9 o'clock. George Conover, borough street commissioner, was returning from Westfield, and passed through Chatham street to Somerset street. When he reached the latter street a trolley car appeared, going toward the mountains. Mr. Conover was going the same way, and was driving rather fast. When near Lincoln place his horse was slightly in the lead, and Mr. Conover turned into Lincoln place ahead of the car. The consequences were that his wagon struck the trolley car and Mr. Conover was thrown out. One rear wheel was a complete wreck, and the buggy was otherwise damaged. Before the horse could get away someone standing near caught him.

Someone assisted Mr. Conover to his feet, thinking that he might have received injuries. He appeared to be all right and soon took charge of his rig which he left near Boyce's Hotel until he could make arrangements to take the damaged wagon home.

ALL READY FOR WAR

Navy Said to Be in Condition Should Strife Begin.

SENSATIONS ARE DENIED

The President and His Advisers Hold Important Conferences Over General Lee's Dispatches—No Early Report of Board of Inquiry Expected.

Washington, March 5.—The Naval Ordnance Bureau authorizes an emphatic denial of the yarn that the warships are deficient in ammunition. It is stated that the supply ashore is hardly sufficient for a long continued conflict, but Congress is to blame for that. The magazines of every ship in the service are as full as they are designed to be. Admiral Sicard's fleet has its full complement of explosives and projectiles. While it is true that the magazines of the battleships might be exhausted in a few hours, if every gun was fired indiscriminately as rapidly as it would operate, regardless of targets, no commanding officer is going to scatter his ammunition around in the ocean. The Pacific fleet is as well equipped as others.

It is also pointed out that the big army order for projectiles has no bearing on the navy, but is to supply a deficiency in coast defense ammunition. The naval fleets are declared to be thoroughly ready for a declaration of hostilities.

It is officially admitted at the Navy Department that the Naval Board of Inquiry has completed only the first branch of its investigation into the cause of the explosion that wrecked the Maine. No opinion is expressed as to when the work will be completed, although it is evident that Secretary Long thinks the board will return to Havana soon and make a more detailed examination of the hull of the Maine and examine and re-examine witnesses.

The Secretary still gives the assurance that he has no information bearing upon the cause of the explosion not given to the public. This statement undoubtedly refers to official correspondence, because it is only fair to assume that naval officers and enlisted men, newspaper correspondents and citizens generally who are at Havana, and some of whom were there at the time the Maine was destroyed, have sent communications to officials here, and that their contents must have reached the ears of administration officials.

President McKinley, it is well known, is in direct telegraphic communication with Admiral Sicard at Key West, commanding the North Atlantic fleet, but it is possible that no correspondence relative to the work of the Board of Inquiry has passed between them. Indeed, this is officially stated to be the fact. That the President has received information of some sort over this direct and interrupted telegraphic line is likely. It may have been by this means that the communication came, said to have been sent by Consul-General Lee, conveying to the President his unofficial but nevertheless decided opinion that the Maine was destroyed by an outside explosion.

Much mystery surrounds the receipt of this message and its contents. All that is positively known is that for the past two or three days the President, Secretary Long and Assistant Secretary Day have been in frequent consultation over some sort of important communication from General Lee. It could not have come to the Navy Department officially, because Secretary Long says he has made public all dispatches of an important character. General Lee's measure may have been sent in the regular sealed mail pouch of the State Department, or it may have been written direct to the President, or telegraphed to him over the direct wire from Key West into the White House.

Since the receipt of General Lee's letter other information has come to Washington, but this has also been unofficial. The impression prevails in the Navy Department and it is asserted with considerable positiveness that the court could now, if no more testimony were taken, show clearly that the destructive agency was exploded from the outside. Further investigation is necessary, not to make this fact more clear, but to show conclusively if possible what the external agency was, in what manner and by whom exploded.

If the evidence of external explosion is as manifest, upon inspection, as it is believed to have been found by the American divers, the hope is entertained that the Spanish divers will report this fact, and that the Spanish board will acknowledge the external explosion and the Spanish Government at once offer full reparation.

Unless Spain, actuated by a false and dishonorable pride, actually desires war or prefers war to the humiliation of confessing responsibility for the disaster, she will follow this course when the Spanish divers make the discoveries which it is anticipated they will.

Activity in the Iron Trade.

Philadelphia, March 5.—There is more than ordinary activity in the iron trade of Eastern Pennsylvania at present. The Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, of Scranton, will next week place in blast the Colebrook furnace, No. 2, at West Lebanon, which has been idle several months. Worth Bros. & Co., iron manufacturers at Coalesville, will erect a forge at their viduct mill to facilitate the supply of charcoal blooms, and the Keystone structural works at Royersford will next week resume operations in all departments. The Central Pattern Works at Middletown has added largely to its working force.

Wants Washington Gas Plant.

Washington, March 5.—The Evening Star yesterday afternoon printed an interview with Representative White, of Chicago, quoting that gentelman as saying that a company of capitalists in which Mr. L. Z. Leiter and himself are interested, have made an offer of $7,000,000 for the plant and good will of the Washington Gas Light Company.

U. S. Grant for Senator.

San Diego, Cal., March 5.—At a meeting of prominent Republicans steps were taken to promote the candidacy of U. S. Grant for the Unitde States Senate from California.

SEVEN SUTHERLAND SISTERS

Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner

This novel and wonderfully interesting exhibition has been a source of pleasure and profit to many thousands of people in every part of the country. It must be seen to be appreciated, and we personally have no hesitation in saying to the people of our vicinity that it is well worth the time spent, no matter how busy you may be. It is hardly necessary to explain who the Seven Sutherland Sisters are, their names are household words from Maine to California; only this, that over three million people in America alone have enjoyed the benefits derived from their valuable preparations, whose merits are so strikingly illustrated in this free exhibition. All are welcome; everybody come. You will find the exhibition full of helpful hints and valuable information—the pith and marrow of years of experience—useful in some period or other of every man or woman's life.

The ladies in attendance will cheerfully tell you many things you may want to know about the hair—why it is falling out; why it is harsh, thin, dry or lacks gloss; why you suffer from dandruff; how to avoid baldness; and, furthermore, personally explain the proper method in using their wonderful preparations in order to secure the very best results in curing and preventing the above troubles.

You are under no obligation to spend a penny. You are free to come and see for yourself, to make up your mind as to what you have seen, and to be guided entirely by your own judgment as to its value.

The exhibition is for a limited time only. Ladies especially are invited to attend.

Two Ounces of Blood Daily

Are added to your veins by taking with each meal one of the natural iron Capsuloids made from the fresh blood of young, healthy bullocks.

Hundreds have testified that this is the only iron medicine which agrees perfectly with stomach and bowels. The following testimony is selected at random from among some hundreds. Mr. Howard Patterson, of Tremont, N. Y., while acting as manager of one of Mr. Edwards' grocery stores, began to lose flesh and after almost losing his life through a steady decline, was saved and restored to health by taking Capsuloids. He writes as follows:

THE CAPSULOID COMPANY, New York City.

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot thank you too heartily for what your Capsuloids have done for me. I was a powerful young man two years ago but developed dry consumption, and continued to grow worse for nine months, when I was forced to go west. Climate, travel and medicine failed to do me the slightest good. My blood was exhausted; I was completely out of breath; to simply make change for customers made me pant; I grew thinner and thinner, lost my appetite and coughed terribly and was rapidly reaching the last stage of dry consumption, when I heard of your Capsuloids. They acted like magic. My blood grew rich, my heart ceased palpitating. I could get my breath easily, my appetite returned, I grew strong, had good color and had gained seven pounds at the end of seven weeks. I am still gaining right along and will report to you later. I am out of all danger now.

Some cough mixtures smother the cough. But the next breeze fans it into life again.

Better put the cough out.

That is, better go deeper and smother the fires of inflammation. Troches cannot do this. Neither can plain cod-liver oil.

But Scott's Emulsion can. The glycerine soothes and makes comfortable; the hypophosphites give power and stability to the nerves; and the oil feeds and strengthens the weakened tissues.

A NEARSIGHTED POLICY.

Plainfield is near enough to Somerville so that it ought to impress the citizens of that sleepy town with the fact that if the Eldorado of the East was in the realm of Somerset municipalities it would be a good thing for all concerned, but it seems to be a lamentable condition that such is not the case. Sad to relate, Plainfield looms up to the behind-the-times people of Somerset as a terrible apparition of high taxes and political jugglers and grabbers, bound to overawe and overpower the good people of that bailiwick if it should be annexed. Of course, it is not quite sure that Plainfield wants to go over to Somerset, but the proposition for such a consummation as a means of making a Greater Plainfield ought not to be so repugnant to the rural residents of the county as some of them presume. This week the Somerville Democrat contains the following anent the subject:

Our article last week on the annexing of Plainfield to Somerset county seems to have been misunderstood by some of our readers. We have no objections to the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield. In fact we think it would be a good thing, as the interests of the two places are almost identical and they are as one place now, except that they are under two distinct governments. But we do object to annexing Plainfield to Somerset county for many reasons.

Somerset county is purely an agricultural county. Its interests are entirely foreign to that of either Plainfield or North Plainfield. North Plainfield being in one corner of the county, it is so far away that it is not in sympathy with the rest of the county. The interest and sympathy of North Plainfield is altogether with Plainfield.

In a letter received from A. P. Sutphen, Esq., he says: "Annexation would increase the tax rate of Somerset county to almost if not quite double, and thus burden the farming community. Better leave Somerset county as it is. By economy our taxes are as low as the lowest, and our debt small. Let us keep it so." James L. Griggs, Esq., writes: "We are pleased to have the handsome city as a near neighbor, but I doubt the advisability of inviting it into our fraternity." On every hand the citizens of Somerville express themselves as opposed to annexing Plainfield to Somerset county.

Senator William M. Johnston has introduced two bills which comprise the report of the commission appointed by Governor Griggs to codify and revise the election laws. One of the bills introduced was a general law relating to elections. The volume of laws now on the statute books is reduced about half by the bill. The most important changes relate to the County Boards of Elections. Their term of office is increased to two years. No voters can be registered by these boards except by personal appearance. The boards cannot sit on election day to register voters as they have done heretofore.

Orders for the Naval Reserve.

Adjutant General Stryker has issued an order directing the commandant of each of the divisions of the Naval Reserve to report for duty to General Plume. General Plume then issued orders for the Batalion of the East to report to General Wanser, of the First Brigade, and for the Batalion of the West to report to General Sewell, of the Second Brigade. The two brigade generals will now issue orders for inspection and muster.

The suit of Mrs. Sarah Milliken against the city of Plainfield for damages resulting from the sewer beds will be called at Elizabeth at the April term of court. It is said that the plaintiff has several excellent witnesses.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Mrs. Rachel Darby, better known as "Aunt Rachel," died at her home in Washington Valley Wednesday night. Interment was in the Baptist cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The Democratic voters of Fanwood township and borough met in the Bucket and Engine Company rooms last evening for their primary. The meeting was very harmonious, and there was no opposition ticket run against the one finally selected. The candidates named and then unanimously nominated were Charles French for Freeholder, Douglass Darby for member of town committee, Charles Haberle for justice of the peace, and H. Guerrir for constable.

Seriously Accuses an ex-Judge.

Charges of a sensational nature are made in court against Charles T. Cowenhoven, a former Judge and Prosecutor of Middlesex county. Mrs. Anna R. Perrine testified that she had, as executor for an estate, collected more than $1,300, which she turned over to Judge Cowenhoven, and alleged that he had made no accounting of the money. An officer was sent to the office of Judge Cowenhoven, but he was out of town. He claims to be able to explain the transaction satisfactorily.

Wants to Save an Appropriation.

WESTFIELD

Cohen as the nominee.

The Westfield Board of Health held a meeting in the town rooms last evening. Dr. J. B. Harrison, the physician of the Board, reported the schools in good sanitary condition. A resolution was passed notifying the property owners on Addison street that the dumping grounds would be changed to the lot on the east side of Prospect street, south of Brightwood avenue.

DR. VINCENT FOR YALE.

Writes That He Sent His Only Son to the University and Has Never Regretted It.

Bishop John H. Vincent has written to a friend in New Haven denouncing the New York Voice, the temperance organ which has been attacking Yale so bitterly. Bishop Vincent says in his letter, dated February 21st:

"The Voice, a New York temperance paper, publishes my picture and says under it: 'Dr. Vincent would not send a son to Yale.' I have just written to Dr. Funk, of the Voice, the following:

"'Dr. Funk: I do feel grieved at the sensational announcement in the Voice that I would not send a son to Yale. I never signed any documents relating to no license in a college town with the thought of Yale University in my mind. The only son I ever had I sent to Yale, and I have never regretted it. Please publish this statement in the Voice.

Truly yours, John H. Vincent.

"'P. S.—Please show this to President Dwight.'"

THEATRICAL.

A finely-staged, cleverly-acted romantic drama with the prestige of runs in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago, with the striking title of "Darkest Russia," will be seen at Stillman Music Hall Friday night of next week. The play is written by H. Grattan Donnelly, who has shown wonderful ingenuity in portraying scenes characteristic of the Russian. The theme is a most interesting one, and the story is told with such vividness that absorbed attention is held from the opening to the closing scene.

A genuine novelty and an entertainment that will attract large audiences at the Stillman Music Hall next week will be the appearance of the Gonzalez Opera Company at the popular prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents. The organization is not entirely unknown here, as it was seen New Year's Day and gave much pleasure to the large audiences assembled for holiday amusement. Since that time it has much improved in its work, and the performances, which in other cities has met with unqualified praise, will be most thorough. Miss Lizzie Gonzalez still occupies the leading roles; a more versatile, pleasing little actress and singer is not to be found in any company. The other principals are very efficient, and the chorus is everything that could be desired. The ever popular "Mikado" will inaugurate the season, which is limited to three nights and two matinees. This will be the bill for Monday night and seats should be secured without delay.

Popular Patriotic Lecture.

W. W. Ellsworth, of the Century Company, delivered his illustrated lecture, "From Lexington to Yorktown," Wednesday night at Newburg to an audience of a thousand people. The lecture has become extremely popular, and he has been obliged to decline many applications. Plainfield is fortunate in being given the opportunity of hearing him at the Crescent Avenue chapel Monday evening next.

TO LOOK OVER THE GROUND.

Merits of Bergen Bill to be Pointed out by the Advocates of the Measure.

By invitation of Assemblyman Squire and Frank Bergen the committee on railroads and canals of the House of Assembly will visit Elizabeth today and will make a trip over Westfield avenue, the proposed widening of which and its equipping with a trolley road are causing such contension before the Legislature. The visitors were taken in carriages from Elizabeth to Plainfield, and will have a chance to judge for themselves of the merits of the plan proposed by Mr. Bergen.

It is more than likely that John Kean will be one of the party. The Union county advocates of the Bergen bill have strong hopes of its passage, despite the powerful railroad lobby that is fighting it.

Conduits frr Telephone Wires.

It will now only be a matter of a few weeks before the work of laying the underground conduits for the telephone wires will be begun. The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, whose wires are to go underground, is now having plans for the work prepared and they are rapidly nearing completion. It will then only be a question of suitable weather before the streets will be torn up to allow the conduits to be placed under the roadbed.

Contract For a Plainfielder.

At a regular meeting of the Borough Council of Undercliff, N. J., held Tuesday evening last, bids were received for improving a section of the river road along the Hudson and building a retaining wall in connection with same. David Bowden of this city was the lowest bidder, the approximate amount of work called for amounting to about $4,000. F. A. Dunham, C. E., of this city, and also of New York, is engineer in charge of the work.

HEALTH IN HIS HANDS.

ANOTHER WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN CURED BY THE BOY PHENOMENON.

Will Remain in Plainfield 2 Weeks Longer at the Revere House, Where He May Be Consulted Daily from 10 to 5.

And still the God-like work of healing afflicted humanity goes bravely on. Day after day, crowds of the most prominent and refined ladies and gentlemen of Plainfield and vicinity may be seen in the parlors of the Boy Phenomenon, at the Revere House patiently waiting their turn for consultation and treatment by the Boy Phenomenon. Many are just commencing treatment, who for years have considered their afflictions hopeless and incurable, but who were led to take this treatment, after personally witnessing the many phenomenal cures performed upon the public stage, and then investigating their condition afterwards, for the purpose of satisfying themselves as to the permanency of a cure by animal magnetism; while others may be seen emerging from the treatment rooms, their smiling faces telling their own happy story, some bidding the doctor good bye with tears of joy in their eyes, a "God bless you, doctor," and an expression of praise and gratitude suffusing their joyful countenances that is pathetic in the extreme.

One of the many remarkable cures accomplished by the Boy Phenomenon since his arrival here is that of Mr. I. D. TenEyck, our well-known market man, remarkable because of the startling rapidity in which it was effected. While several other more serious complaints have been permanently cured, it has required two or more treatments, while in the case of Mr. TenEyck, to use his own words he says: "I experienced relief as soon as he treated me, and its the first time I have been free from pain and able to use my arm since I was first attacked."

Mr. TenEyck is one of the oldest and most respected citizens, being engaged in the butcher business in this city many years. He is known to nearly everyone for miles around for his integrity and straightforwardness, and what he says can be depended upon.

Mr. TenEyck seemed so thankful for his sudden relief and restoration to health again after being laid up so long that the reporter questioned him regarding his experience, which is here related in his own words: "For years I have been subject to attacks of rheumatism, but none so severe as this last attack, which laid me up completely, with pains so terrible that I could not sleep, and with great difficulty managed to hobble around a little on a cane. My right shoulder was neerly stiff from rheumatism for over 20 years; the last 6 I have not been able to raise my arm or straighten it out, until I was treated by the Boy Healer; now you see I can use it as well as ever and the pains have all left me. I also had orthritis and white swelling of left knee joint, which left it completely ankylosed. I did not expect anything could be done with that, as all the doctors said it was incurable and would always be stiff, but to my surprise and gratification after the second treatment I was able to bend it considerable and now have over 3 degrees action in it," and to prove his statement bent the injured joint a number of times to show the suppleness it had attained.

Those who desire the services of this wonderfully-gifted young man should lose no time in securing an appointment, as his time is being rapidly filled. His office hours at the Revere House are from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, except the Sabbath.

BOARD OF HEALTH NOTICE.

At the last regular meeting an ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance to guard against the danger of infected milk," was adopted on its second reading. It is proposed to place the same on its third reading and adopt it at the next regular meeting of the Board.

STREET RAILWAY ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE locating the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company on North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed) Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road within the Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, and authorizing and empowering the construction and operation and maintenance of the same and granting permission for said Company to use electricity as the propelling power of its cars, and prescribing the terms and conditions upon which such location of the tracks and permission are granted.

Whereas, The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway a corporation organized under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of traction companies for the construction and operation of street railways, or railroads operated as street railways, and to regulate the same," approved March fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, having first filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, a description of the routes, together with maps exhibiting the same, did present their petition or application to the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, praying the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, for its consent to the construction, operation and maintenance of a street railway in the Township of Fanwood, and the right to locate its tracks conformably to the route filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, which route in the Township of Fanwood is upon and along North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, and was set out in the said petition, and

Whereas, Public notice has been duly given of such application and of the intention of the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood to consider the same by publication, also by posting a copy of the said notice in five or more of the most public places in said Township of Fanwood at least fourteen days prior to the date of the meeting of the said Township Committee, and

Whereas, Upon the day fixed by said notice and upon such days as the said hearing was adjourned to, public hearing was given to all persons desiring to be heard in favor of or opposed to or in any wise interested in the said application for the location of its tracks and the said matter having been duly considered by the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, and the said Company having filed with the Clerk of said Township the consent in writing of the owners or their duly authorized legal representatives of at least one-half in amount of the lineal feet of property on said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, within the Township of Fanwood, and upon which permission to locate, operate and maintain said street railway is asked.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, as follows:

Section 1. That the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, be, and they are hereby located in the following streets, avenues, or highways, in the said Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, to wit, as set out in the following description:

Beginning at a point in the centre line of Terrill Road where it is interescted by the division line between the City of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course north forty-four degrees and two minutes east for a distance of one hundred and forty-seven and nine-tenths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the left with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet for a distance of two hundred and sixty-four and eighty-four hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north twenty-eight degrees and nine minutes east a distance of three hundred and ninety-one and eighty-eight hundredths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the right with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet a distance of two hundred and ten and sixty-six hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north forty degrees and forty-seven minutes east for a distance of two thousand five hundred and twenty-nine and five-tenths feet to a point at the intersection of Park and Westfield Avenues; thence along Westfield Avenue in a magnetic course north forty-eight degrees and forty-three minutes east for a distance of five hundred and twenty-nine and six-tenths feet to a point in Forrest Road; thence along Forrest Road in a magnetic course of South forty-one degrees and twelve minutes east for a distance of twelve hundred and seventy feet to the line of the Borough of Fanwood.

Also, beginning at a point in the centre of North Avenue where the same is intersected by the division line between the Townships of Westfield and Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course of south eighty-six degrees and twenty-five minutes west for a distance of twenty-five hundred and sixty-nine feet to the boundary line of the Borough of Fanwood, conformable to the amended route of the new line of street railway and the map exhibiting the same, filed in the office of the Secretary of State of this State, and said Company is hereby given the right, power and authority to maintain and operate cars upon the said railway by electricity as the motive power. The said Company shall complete the construction of its whole line of railway within the Township of Fanwood in the manner herein provided, and all its fixtures and appurtenances, and commence the operation of the same and the running of its cars for the transportation of passengers on or before December first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, or this franchise shall be and become null and void and of no effect, unless the time for the completion of the same shall be extended by the Township Committee. If the said Company after the commencement of the operation of its said line of railway by the collection of fares thereon shall fail or neglect to operate the whole or any portion of the line hereby authorized daily and every day for the space of thirty consecutive days, or shall fail to operate the same for a total number of days exceeding thirty in any one year, all the rights, powers, privileges and every one of them of the said Company, its successors and assigns, under and by virtue of this ordinance, shall hereby cease and be determined and in either of such cases the Township Committee expressly reserves the right to sell the said line at auction to the highest bidder who will operate it, or may cause the said railway, or any part or parts thereof, to be removed from the streets or avenues, and to sell and dispose of the materials thereof at public auction, and after paying all the expenses of such removal and auction sale, and repairs to said avenues and streets and the cost of restoring the same to its original condition, to pay the balance of proceeds of such sale to the said Company, its successors and assigns.

Section 2. The said Company shall construct, maintain and operate a double track railway as aforesaid with crossovers, switches and sidings shown by map hereinafter specificially referred to. The rails to be laid by said Company shall be of steel of the girder pattern of a weight not less than seventy pounds per yard. And the said Company shall so construct and maintain said railway that the top of the rails shall at all times be flush with the grade of the street or highway. The ties, spikes and all other materials shall be of the best quality. The railway tracks of the said railway shall be laid as follows: One track on each side of the centre line of said streets or avenues so that the inner rail thereof shall be distant two feet and three inches from said centre line and the gauge of said tracks shall be four feet and eight and a half inches. The said Company at its own cost and expense in all streets or avenues through which it shall lay tracks hereunder, shall pave between said tracks and between the rails thereof in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner with a telford or macadam pavement to a depth of four inches and shall maintain the same flush with the rail of said tracks. The railway tracks and macadam or telford pavement shall be laid and constructed in the best workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Township Committee or other committee thereof having charge of the streets.

Section 3. During the construction of the said railway lighted lanterns shall be kept and maintained by said Company from sunset to sunrise at each and every night not less than fifty feet and not more than one hundred feet apart along every part of said avenues and streets, where the work of construction shall have been begun and not completed. The work in all other respects shall be thoroughly protected so as to prevent accident. In case any accident shall happen to any person or damage to property is caused because or by reason of any work connected with such construction of said railway, or afterward because or by reason of the operation thereof, or through carelessness or negligence of any of the Company's officers, agents, servants or employees, the same Company shall indemnify and save the said Township of Fanwood and its Township Committee from all costs, loss or damage by reason thereof.

Section 4. The Company shall at all times keep in good condition and repair to the satisfaction of the Township Committee (repaving if necessary) the paving between the tracks, between the rails and eighteen inches outside the same, to a depth of four inches.

Section 5. That said Company shall lay its rails to conform to the grade of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, at the time of laying of said rails, and in case of any change of the grade or of the surface of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Avenue, or any part thereof, at any time, then the said Company at its own cost and expense, shall immediately on request made in writing by the Township Committee, so change the location of its tracks and the surface or grade of such part of said avenues and streets, so as to conform to such change of surface of said avenues and streets, or change of grade or any newly established grade.

Section 6. That no change, addition, or alteration of gauge or the location of the tracks, sidings, switches, crossovers, poles or overhead structures of said railway company shall be made therein or thereabouts at any time by said company after the same has been first erected and approved by the Township Committee, without official action granting permission for such change, alteration or addition being previously taken by the Township Committee.

Section 7. The said Company and its officers, agents, servants or employees, shall not, nor shall any or either of them be allowed to shovel, throw or place any snow, ice, slush, or any other material along the side of said track or tracks, in such manner as to obstruct or hinder other public travel thereon or on the said avenues and streets, but when removing the snow, ice, slush, or other material, from its said tracks the said Company and its officers, agents, servants and employees shall without unnecessary delay and with a sufficient force of men, cause the same to be levelled between the said tracks and the gutter line on each side thereof.

Section 8. No salt shall be used by said Company on any part of its tracks, except on the grades, curves and crossovers, without the consent of the Township Committee or the proper Township officers, nor shall any car be allowed to stand in or obstruct any cross street, or to stand upon any cross-walk for any purpose whatever, or to stand or remain in any one position for more than five minutes at any one time, except when such car shall be unavoidablely obstructed or detained by accident or break-down without fault or negligence of said Company under a penalty of ten dollars to be paid by said Company to the Town Collector with costs of collection for each and every violation of this section.

Section 9. That where said railway tracks shall pass over culverts or gutters, the bottom of which shall be below the grade line of such railroad, iron girders or proper supports of the most approved pattern shall be provided by the company and such necessary iron bridges or iron drains shall be constructed across the tracks and shall be so constructed as not to hinder or obstruct the flow of surface water underneath the tracks of said railroad.

Section 10. The Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood on behalf of said Township, reserves the right to dig or excavate in or upon any of the said streets or avenues for the purpose of laying, examining, replacing or repairing any sewer, water, or gas pipes, or for the purpose of making any other public improvements, or for doing any other public work whatsover, and the said railway company shall have no redress or claim for damages because of any detention or obstruction to travel on the said railway arising therefrom. Provided, that such work shall be done as quickly as possible withoût causing unnecessary delay in the operation of said railroad; and provided further, that if any such improvement, or repairing, replacing, laying or re-laying or examining can be made or done in any feasible or practical way, without obstructing the operation of said railroad, then and in such case, it shall be the duty of the party doing such work to do the same in such manner as last aforesaid.

Section 11. Tha the said Company shall remove any dirt, gravel or any material or obstruction placed by the said Company or its agents or servants on any of the streets or avenues within three days after the service on an officer or servant of said Company of written notice so to do by the said Township Committee or its duly authorized agent. In case the said Company shall fail to remove such material or obstruction and to put the said streets and avenues in as good order as before such material or obstruction was placed thereon by said Company, the Township Committee may order and cause the said material or obstruction to be removed and the said avenues and streets to be put in complete order and repair at the expense of said Company.

Section 12. That all persons driving vehicles upon the railroad tracks of the said Company in any of the said streets or avenues when met or overtaken by a car of the Company shall on being warned by the ringing of a bell or gong or on request of the conductor or motorman of such car, as soon as possible turn and drive his vehicle off of such track, so as to allow such car to pass; it being understood that the cars of said Company shall have the right of way over the tracks of the Company (except at crossings where the public shall have the first right of way over and across the road and tracks of said Company), and the driver of any vehicle for the violation of any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay to the Township Collector for the use of the Township a penalty of ten dollars to be recovered before any Justice of the Peace of said Township.

Section 13. The cars to be used or run on said railway shall be well lighted and properly heated; they shall be kept clean and have proper bells or gongs, which shall be rung or sounded before such car reaches the crossing of any street intersecting any of the said streets or avenues and whenever necessary to give warning of the approach of such car; the said cars shall be run at a speed not greater than ten miles an hour, except for that portion of the road herein specified, to wit: Beginning at the division line between Fanwood and Westfield Townships on North Avenue and extending from thence to the division line between the Township of Fanwood and the Borough of Fanwood at the junction of North Avenue and Westfield Avenue also between the westerly side line of Park Avenue and the easterly side line of Terrill Road. And each car shall be provided with the necessary fenders of the most approved pattern, and such cars shall be run at an average headway of not longer than fifteen minutes, between the hours of six o'clock A. M., and ten o'clock P. M. and from ten o'clock P. M. to mid-night, such cars shall be run as the travel demand or warrant, but in any case the average headway shall not be longer than one-half hour; all cars on the said railway shall run the entire length of the line of railroad tracks hereby authorized to be constructed. The Company shall from time to time diminish the headway of its cars as the increase of travel shall demand. All cars placed upon the line of said Company shall be of the most approved pattern; and said Company shall maintain gates upon the sides of the platforms of the cars wherever there shall be a double track so that the ingress and egress to and from said cars can only be had from the side of the car nearest the curb. All cars run and operated by said Company shall stop both before and after crossing Park Avenue for the purpose of taking on and letting off passengers, and in no case to cross said avenue without first bringing said car to a full stop.

Section 14. That for the purpose of supplying light, heat and power for propelling cars on said railway, permission is hereby granted to the said Traction Company, and the right is hereby granted to said Company to erect poles and string the necessary wires thereon, upon the following terms and conditions:

The poles to be used for the equipping of said railway for operation by electricity shall be of iron, similar to those used by the Plainfield Street Railway Company for that purpose upon its Netherwood line in the City of Plainfield; said poles shall be at least twenty feet in height above the surface of the ground and shall be set and located opposite each other as near as may be on both sides of said avenues and strees and within the curb lines of said avenues and streets and at the points designated and shown upon a certain map entitled "Map showing proposed location of tracks or rails of a double track street railway also showing proposed location of poles for support of overhead construction for trolley wires of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, in the Township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey" which map is on file with the Township Clerk, and is hereby made a part of this ordinance for the purpose of showing the true location of the tracks hereby authorized to be laid upon the said avenues and streets by said Company and for the purpose of specifically designating and prescribing the several places within the line of said avenues and streets where such poles shall be located and set and the location of said tracks and poles therein shown is hereby approved and adopted by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood.

The said poles shall be set in the ground to a depth of not less than six feet and the hole in which said poles shall be set shall be not less than one foot in diameter and the excavation or space around said poles shall be filled with broken stone and concrete to the surface of the ground and the same shall be thoroughly packed and rammed.

The wires and overhead construction attached to said poles for the purpose of furnishing power for the propulsion of the cars of said Company shall be not less than eighteen feet above the grade of said avenues and streets and said overhead construction and wires shall be similar in character and size to the overhead construction now used by The Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, and the manner of stringing all of said wires, shall be similar to that now used by said Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, which overhead construction of poles and wires is hereby approved and designated as a pattern or model construction to be observed and followed by the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company in its overhead construction of poles and wires, prescribed in this ordinance. The wires strung upon said poles shall be properly guarded with other wires when required by the Township Committee. The poles when erected, shall be properly painted and shall together with all parts of said overhead construction, be maintained in a safe condition at all times, and shall be kept well painted.

Try us and be convinced that we are up-to-date, and that you would rather have AMERICANS by all odds to serve you. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

END OF TRIAL IS NEAR

Defence Closes Its Case in the Lattimer Shooting.

ARGUMENTS BEGIN TO-DAY

Council for the Defence Will Ask the Court to Dispose of the Case Without Letting It Go to the Jury—The Final Arguments.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 5.—The defence in the case of Sheriff Martin and his deputies closed finally at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, after testifying some of the Commonwealth witnesses to ascertain whether, at the preliminary hearing last September, they testified that at the meeting of the strikers at Harwood, on the night before the shooting, they all agreed not to carry clubs or weapons of any kind. Witnesses said they did not think they said anything about this feature.

The closing of the defense was then announced and the Commonwealth's witnesses in rebuttal began their testimony at 12 o'clock.

T. P. Ryder, I. H. Strauss, and C. R. Keck, who met the Sheriff a few minutes after he reached this city from the scene of the shooting, said they saw no mark, or discoloration, or bruise on the Sheriff's face.

Joseph Costello was then called. "I was helping a wounded striker," he said, "when Hess came up. I said: 'It's a shame to treat these poor fellows this way.' 'Shut up,' cried Hess, 'or I'll treat you the same way,' and he leveled his gun at me."

This ended the case for the people.

The counsel for the defense then submitted the points which they asked the Judge to incorporate in his charge. There were sixteen points.

Judge Woodward then asked the lawyers how many closing speeches they desired to make. Each side asked for two.

It was arranged that James Scarlett, special counsel for the prosecution, will speak first, beginning this morning. He will be followed by Messrs. Palmer and Lenahan for the defense, and the last speech will be made by District-Attorney Martin.

These will be concluded to-day undoubtedly, and then Judge Woodward will deliver his charge to the jury the first thing Monday morning.

It is said that after closing their arguments the counsel for defense will ask the court to dispose of the case without letting it go to the jury.

Judge Woodward's charge will be short. "I shall speak for only an hour and a half," he said, "and I expect to commence on Tuesday morning or afternoon.

Then the fate of the rich and prosperous employees of the millionaire coal operators who are charged with slaughtering nineteen half-starved miners will be left with the jury. What the verdict will be, of course, none can tell; but the popular impression among the townspeople, as well as among those who have been constant attendants at the trial, is that it will be acquittal.

TO PASS THE ARTILLERY BILL.

Committee on Rules to Fix a Time for Consideration of the Measure.

Washington, March 5.—The House Military Committee has had assurances that a rule will be reported granting time for the discussion of the bill increasing the artillery by two regiments, which passed the Senate some days ago. The Military Committee is certain that the bill will be passed in a short time.

While the Speaker has consented to the taking up of this bill, he and his trusted folowers are still determined to do all they can to counteract the war spirit in the House. During the past week Mr. Reed has been talking a great deal with members, and some of the Republicans are authority for the statement that he is making a personal canvass for recruits to support him in resisting the anti-Spanish sentiment, which is very strong.

It is said that he is making individual appeals to Republicans not to permit themselves to be carried away by sentiment and emotion, but to stand up consistently to the policy which has thus far been followed of holding the Cuban agitation in check. The grumblings that have recently been heard on the Republican side of the House cause the leaders some uneasiness, and it is felt that it will prove the most severe strain discipline has yet experienced to to hold the minority of the party in strict line with the Speaker. It is believed by some that eventually the managers will be compelled to yield to popular sentiment. It is not thought that the House can be held back when the report of the Maine Board of Inquiry has been laid before it.

PASSING COMMENT.

The advantages of good advice are illustrated by the decision handed down Tuesday by the Court of Errors and Appeals in the case of Jacob S. Smalley, of Bound Brook, against the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Smalley attempted driving across the railroad track just after a coal train had passed and was struck by a Blue Line flyer and severely injured. The view of the track at this crossing is obstructed by a high bank, and the crossing is dangerous. Smalley retained Reed & Coddington, of this city, who entered suit, but after examination of the facts, declined to proceed, and advised Smalley that he had no case. That he might obtain a verdict before a jury, but it would be set aside. Smalley then employed other lawyers and the case was tried before Chief Justice Magie and a jury, and resulted in a verdict for $2,250 in in Smalley's favor. The railroad company took the case to the Court of Errors, and that court, Tuesday, set aside the verdict on the ground that Smalley should have been nonsuited on the trial. This places all the costs on Smalley, and he now realizes that he would have been much wiser to have taken the advice of his first lawyers.

Street too Narrow.

The rear axle of a pony phæton, belonging to Mrs. Conway, of West Seventh street, standing in front, of Estil's store, on Park avenue, was quite badly sprung this morning by being run into by a passing wagon. The driver of the latter wagon stopped his horse at once to see how much damage he had done. The narrow street and three wagons abreast was the cause of the mishap.

Will Probably Endorse.

It is understood that the North Plainfield township Democrats will hold a primary this evening and endorse the ticket nominated by the Republicans last Thursday evening.

THEY WOULD FIGHT HARD IN THE SADDLE.

Union County May Put Forth a Troop of Cavalry.

GOVERNOR VOORHEES INTERESTED.

It Would be Necessary to Secure Legislative Permission, and it is Thought That This Can be Attained—Organization Would be Known as "Union Troop"—Westfield Men Interested in It—Conditions of Organization—Meeting at Westfield.

Union county is soon to have a crack cavalry troop, provided a sufficient number of eligible young men can be enlisted to warrant organization. The initiative step in the enterprise was taken at Westfield last week, when an informal meeting was held by a number of the young men of that and neighboring places to consider the matter. After discussing the matter at length the interested parties decided to proceed at once with the work of enlisting members. At least forty men are necessary to form a cavalry troop, but it is expected that this number will be enlisted without trouble. Any respectable young man of twenty-five or over is eligible to enlistment. This State now allows only two cavalry troops, and there are that number already in existence, but it is said that through the influence of Governor Voorhees there will be no difficulty in securing the passage of a legislative act admitting the new troop to the roll of the State National Guard.

The organization will be named the "Union Troop." As soon as the necessary number of names is enrolled a temporary organization will be effected and the troop will commence drilling. Immediately upon the passage of the act admitting the troop to the National Guard, the members will be furnished with the necessary uniforms and arms by the State.

A number of young men from Elizabeth, Roselle, Cranford, Westfield and this city have already signified an intention to join the troop. The work of enlistment is in charge of Dr R R. Sinclair, Dr. T. B. Harvey and George B. Dickerson, of Westfield.

There Was No Fire.

Saturday evening about 8:50 o'clock Chief Grant was notifield that there was a fire in a house located on Third place owned by Craig A. Marsh. Chief Doane gave orders for No. 2 hose carriage to go to the scene of the fire. When the firemen arrived there they learned that paper hangers and painters had been at work in the house, which was not occupied, and that they had started a fire in the furnace. The neighbors knowing that the house was unoccupied and seeing smoke coming from the chimney were at once led to believe that it was on fire. Investigation proved that everything was all right and the firemen had nothing to do.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

Driver Caught His Feet in Reins and Frightened the Team.

A lively runaway was witnessed last Saturday afternoon on North avenue. A team of horses employed by James Wilson, dealer in crushed stone, was driven up in front of Smalley Bros. meat market, and the man in charge caught his feet in the reins while getting off the wagon. This threw him on the sidewalk and at the same time frightened the horses. They ran down North avenue toward Park avenue, and just as they turned the corner one horse slipped in the mud and was thrown down. At the same time the wagon struck an ash cart owned by Alfred Hankinson. Mr. Hankinson and wife were seated in the wagon and were greatly frightened, although they were not injured. The ash cart was damaged somewhat, and the horse in falling cut his legs severely. The team was caught by John Morton, of West Front street, who prevented any further damage. The driver of the team soon put in an appearance and took charge of his rig.

At the corner of North and Park avenues a number of people were passing and it was considered miraculous that they escaped without injury. The runaway attracted a large number of people who surely expected to see serious results.

The branch works in this city are on Somerset street, where the quarters have been fixed up in elaborate shape.

FORMER SHERIFF WILL BE FANWOOD'S MAYOR.

George Kyte Receives an Honor at Neighbors' Hands.

PRESENT MAYOR LIVES IN NEW YORK.

Fanwood Primary Was Non-Partisan, But None the Less Lively—Col. Moore Defeated for Justice of the Peace—A Resolution Passed Advocating That a Trolley Franchise be Granted to the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company.

The springboard of politics lands men in strange position sometimes George Kyte, of Fanwood, jumped from the board once and landed in the office of the Sheriff of Union county, attaining great powers and several thousands of dollars in perquisites as a result. Saturday night he leaped again from the elastic-like footing of politicians and this time falls into an office that is constituted in "all honor and no pay." In other words, Mr. Kyte is to be Mayor of the thriving borough of Fanwood.

The primary that resulted in the selection of the former Sheriff as the executive head of the municipality to the east of Plainfield was held Saturday night in the Fanwood clubhouse. The chairman was A. D. Beeken and the secretary W. N. Maxon. Much interest was manifested in the primary and there was a good attendance of citizens.

The selection of a new Mayor was made necessary by the fact that the present executive, George C. Miller, has removed to New York, and is no longer a citizen of New Jersey.

Mr. Kyte's name was the only one suggested as successor to Mr. Miller. Of the twenty four votes cast in the primary he received twenty-one, two had "No" written on them, and one was a blank. Mr. Kyte wa declared the nominee with great gusto.

The only contest in the primary was between Col. Charles Moore and John L. Jones, Jr., for justice of the peace. The latter was a victor by one vote.

Alfred McKown and John P. Stevens were nominated for councilmen without dissent, as was also Anthony Farley for commissioner of appeal.

An attempt was made to give the primary a partisan tinge by endorsing John Robinson, the Republican candidate for freeholder in the township and borough. The proposition was voted down.

Another very important action of the primary was the vote declaring it to be the sentiment that the Borough Council should grant a franchise to the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company along the route first petitioned for.

The chair appointed as the committee Hamilton Wallis, A. P. Boller and John O. Heald.

FOR STREET WORK $20,000 IS WANTED.

Council Will Be Asked to Appropriate That Sum.

WHAT THE MONEY IS WANTED FOR.

Committee Will Introduce a Plan Which Will Not Permit of Favoritism in the Improvements — Plan to Give Park Avenue a Permanent Pavement From Front Street to North Avenue—West Front Street Will be Looked After

A few days ago The Daily Press stated that the councilmanic street committee were planning to make the streets of the city what they should be, and now the committee has made public some of its plans.

It is the intention of the committee to ask the Council for $20,000 for street purposes. This amount is considered necessary if progress is to be made. The committee will then introduce a system of working the streets so that there will be no favoritism shown in any section. This week Park avenue from North avenue to Second street will be treated with a coat of pure stone without any binder. This will be rolled by the steam roller. The trouble heretofore, and now realized by the committee, is that too much dirt has been used on the streets.

Another plan formulated by the committee is to secure the sanction of the Council to have a permanent pavement laid on Park avenue from Front street to North avenue. The material to be used will be asphalt or vitrified brick. The latter is considered to be much superior to the former. The committee is anxious to have an experiment made, and they think that the people will then be glad to have more work of the kind done. According to estimate it will cost about $2,000 to place a permanent pavement on the two blocks named.

West Front street is also to be looked after. From Grant avenue to Clinton avenue the road will be macadamized with the aid of the steam roller. The cost of this will be $3,000. Of this amount the street railway pays $1,000. Other streets about the city will be looked after by the committee, and the committee sincerely hopes to begin a system that will eventually give Plainfield streets of a superior character.

Regarding the miserable practice now in vogue on most of the principal buildings in the city, that of allowing the drainage water to run on the sidewalk and through poorly constructed gutters, the committee hopes to do something. At present there is no ordinance whereby the property owners can be compelled to change the mode of drainage, but some steps will be taken to have it different. It is possible that some of the above named suggestions will be presented at the meeting of the Council this evening. If the people of the city are willing to stand by the Council the men elected to represent them will see that Plainfield has good roads.

COUNSELED CANDIDATES.

A Republican Conference Held in the Borough.

The Republican candidates running for office in the borough met at the Council rooms, on Somerset street, last Saturday evening and listened to an able address from former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr. Many valuable suggestions were advanced by the speaker and he counseled the candidates in his usual efficient manner. The election was discussed by all present and an organized plan of work for the day formulated. The meeting was only attended by the candidates and Mr. Hegeman.

FROM JAIL TO HOSPITAL.

A City Prisoner Found in a Fit in a Cell Yetserday.

When Roundsman Flynn placed Milton Joseph Barnes in one of the cells at the station house yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Barnes was greatly excited. Two hours later he was found in a fit. He recovered after a time and spent the night in jail. This morning he was still suffering from a continuation of the first attack. He was found in a stupor and Chief Grant ordered his conveyance to Muhlenberg Hospital. He was taken in the ambulance at 9 o'clock.

Barnes is a young man with a record. He made a reputation for himself several months ago by asking the City Judge for trading stamps when he paid his fine. Of late, Barnes has been drinking more than was good for him. The fumes of the "Jersey lightning" have affected him and are supposed to be the cause of his present illness.

The trouble that led to his arrest resulted from drink. His wife claims that he would do nothing for her support. She swore out a warrant for his arrest on the charge of non-support The warrant was issued by City Judge DeMeza.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon Barnes, who is now at the hospital, had not yet recovered from the stupor into which he fell this morning.

PASSED THE $1,000 MARK.

Liberal Contributions Given to Missions by Presbyterian Women.

The interest felt by the women of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church in their Home Missionary Society was well shown by the large attendance seen at the annual meeting Friday afternoon.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. William Myers, showed the beneficences of the society during the year to have passed the thousand-dollar mark. The annual report of the secretary, Miss Mary Ketcham, gave an encouraging record of work done. The election of officers for the ensuing year took place as follows: President, Mrs. I. C. Pierson; vice-president, Mrs. S. R. Struthers; treasurer, Mrs. William Myers; secretary, Miss Mary Ketcham; secretary of literature, Mrs. Henry R. Halloway.

The address of the afternoon was by Miss Lincoln, treasurer of the Woman's Board. She spoke very interestingly of mission work, and especially of the work done by Rev. Louis Walz, formerly of this city. Miss Lincoln is a small woman, with a very soft voice, but such close attention was paid to her address that even those farthest from her did not lose a word.

DEATH OF JESSE R. DUNGAN.

A Prominent Son of Veteran Dies While Yet a Young Man.

The many friends of Jesse R. Dungan in this city will be grieved to learn of his death, which occurred about 5 o'clock this morning at his home at Harlingen, Somerset county. Mr. Dungan was Division Commander of the Sons of Veterans of New Jersey. He was a faithful and zealous member of the order. Last year he attended the National Encampment at Indianapolis and won distinction for New Jersey by being placed on several important committees. In December last he went from Somerville to his home at Harlingen to spend Christmas. While home he was taken ill and he finally went into consumption.

He was a brother of Nelson Y. Dungan, prosecutor of Somerset county. He was a promising young lawyer. He studied for several years with Judge Bartine and was considered to be one of the brightest law students in the county. He was a faithful Christian and devoted much time to religious work when able. The funeral services will be held at Somerville tomorrow.

HIGH TAX VALUATIONS.

Somerset Valuations are 20 to 30 Per Cent. Higher Than Other Counties.

In an interview with a Press reporter today, Elston M. French, the Democratic nominee for Assessor, said: "While in Trenton recently I called on two members of the State Board of Taxation and was surprised to learn that the valuations are assessed higher in Somerset and one other county than any other counties in the State.

"Most of the larger counties are assessed on a basis of about 30 to 40 per cent. of their value, while Somerset's valuations are assessed at about 60 per cent.

"It is unfair to Somerset county and our borough that, owing to our high valuations, we should pay more than our share of the State tax, and, if elected, I will do all in my power to obtain lower valuations in Somerset county.

"Until such a time as all counties in the State are assessed on an equal basis, there is no logical reason why this county should not be valued on a lower basis with the rest of the counties of this State."

Says He Wasn't Courting.

Marshal Kliner, of the borough, desires The Daily Press to contradict the statement made that he was detected courting a girl while on duty.

TROLLEY SPUR MAY COME FROM LEHIGH.

Plainfield Likely to Be Invaded by Another Electric Road.

SCHEME OF NEW YORK CAPITALISTS.

The Proposition is to Build the Line Over Private Property From South Plainfield to Arlington Avenue in This City—New Road Would be Capable of Hauling Lehigh Passenger and Freight Cars—Cheaper Freight Rates.

A party of New York capitalists are now figuring on a project which, if carried out, is likely to prove of great importance to Plainfield and its business men. The proposed scheme is no other than an attempt to connect Plainfield and South Plainfield with an electric railroad. Differing from the usual trolley line, it is proposed that not only passenger cars, but freight and coal cars as well, are to be transported by the connecting link of railroad. It is claimed that the proposed company has no connection with the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

The proposed changes from the usual trolley road scheme are so radical as to attract unusual attention. At present Plainfield can be reached directly by only one railroad, that is the Jersey Central Railroad. The Lehigh Valley is now three miles away at South Plainfield. According to an agreement between the two railroads, the Lehigh Valley will make no attempt to enter Plainfield. If, however, an outside concern should connect the Lehigh Valley with Plainfield, the situation would be entirely different.

The present freight rate between Plainfield and New York is 14 cents per hundred weight by the Jersey Central. The rate on the Lehigh Valley to South Plainfield from New York is 9 cents for the same amount. The promoters of the new scheme think that the difference between the two rates will allow them to bring the freight to this city and still keep the rate lower than that of the Jersey Central.

The proposed electric railway is to start from South Plainfield right by the freight yards of the Lehigh Valley and turn northward toward Plainfield following a line parallel to Plainfield avenue. The line will not follow any public thoroughfare but pass through the fields. It will be remembered that after crossing Arlington avenve, Cedar brook flows southward to finally empty into the South Plainfield or New Brooklyn pond. Almost all the way it is surrounded by smamp lands that have heretofore been put to no use. These lands merely add to the tax rate of their owners and breed mosquitoes by the million, at present. The plan is to secure a right of way following the line of swamp land for the road. If necessary, the brook could be confined by stone walls and the reclaimed lands filled in. Otherwise, an embankment could be built through the swamp for the railroad.

While the motive power would be electricity, the motors would be of sufficient strength to draw passenger coaches and loaded freight and coal cars. The track would be of the standard guage and the regular T rail is planned to be used. A double track line of about two miles in length is projected. The line will follow the course of Cedar brook around the curve to Arlington avenue. In its entire length, there are only two roads, one at South Plainfield and Randolph road, that the tracks would cross. The freight yard would be placed just west of Arlington avenue, with an entrance from that thoroughfare. The tracks would be continued over to Park avenue, if possible, where the passenger station would be located.

Property owners along the line of the proposed electric road have been interviewed. Some have stated their willingness to give the required amount of land for the sake of opening up the remainder of their property. Most of the property owners look with satisfaction on the scheme and have promised their support.

SPECIAL CERTIFICATES.

To be Granted School Teachers For Effective School Work.

State School Superintendent Baxter, of this city, has made an innovation in granting teachers' certificates which he thinks will be an incentive to teachers to do effective work and a guide to school boards in securing only efficient teachers.

He has provided for the granting of special certificates to holders of regular certificates whose school work is found to warrant special commendation by the county superintendent. This special certificate is of the same grade—first, second or third—as the regular certificate. It sets forth the precentage secured at the examination by which the regular certificate is obtained, the number of years taught and a statement of the subjects the holder is especially qualified to teach.

PRESIDENT'S ATTITUDE

English Press Consider McKinley's Stand to Be Dignified.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT AID

It Warns Contractors That Statements to the Effect That England Favors Spain Are Altogether Unfounded—Sagasta's Efforts to Purchase Vessels Frustrated.

London, Feb. 7.—Now that time and opportunity for reflection have been allowed by a temporary cessation of the patriotic and bellicose statements which, since the wreck of the Maine, have been the chief feature of the special cable dispatches from the United States, Englishmen are beginning to realize the depth of the pro-Cuban feeling in the United States, with which the thoughtful element here cordially sympathizes, although they still believe the Maine inquiry will absolve Spain from complicity in the disaster. An impression, almost amounting to conviction, prevails that public opinion will compel the Government of the United States to acknowledge the Cubans as belligerents and to intervene in Cuba.

The very calmness and patience of the people of the United States tend to confirm the conviction here that Americans have become aware that their government is preparing to satisfy the country's aspirations when the auspicious moment arrives. Every one in this country acknowledges the dignity and self-possession with which the Cabinet of President McKinley have been handling this most difficult affair, and this attitude of the United States Government has had a great effect in influencing opinion on this side of the Atlantic.

The Americans in London express themselves as being much gratified at the friendly attitude which the British Government has evidenced toward the United States. By the advice of the British Government ship builders and dealers in munitions of war here insist, practically, upon cash payments in the case of all orders booked by Spain. It seems that the Spanish Embassy, when bargaining with the ship building and other firms, indirectly suggested that Great Britain sympathizes with Spain. This coming to the ears of the British Government the latter lost no time in correcting any such impression with the leading firms which is in the habit of doing government work.

Another rumor which has decidedly pleased the Americans here has it that the United States Government has succeeded in obtaining complete plans of the principal Spanish harbors and their defenses.

In short, both Americans and Englishmen in this city have about concluded that the present calm has been brought about by President McKinley in order to allow the completion of preparations for defense and for possible initiative action and few people here will be sorry when a decision is reached and the long standing tension is ended.

Operators on the Stock Exchange are inclined to leave American securities alone until the crisis is settled. They burned their fingers during the past week, the net result of the seesaw movement being that London lost considerably to New York, and, although there is no doubt as to the final outcome, should war result, it is feared the struggle will cause the trade of the United States to suffer severely, hence London purchasers at present are not likely to be appreciable.

An exemplification of the feeling here is contained in a long article published by the Statist. After complimenting President McKinley, "whose powers are perhaps greater than those of an European sovereign," upon having exhibited "admirable firmness of character and independence of judgment," the Statist points out that "however strong the President may be, he has finally to obey the will of the people." Continuing, the Statist says:

"It would be the gravest mistake to suppose that because the jingoes, who have discredited themselves by reckless charges, which they were unable to substantiate, have failed to move the President, that public sympathy for the Cubans, which is very real and very widespread, will also fail."

Commenting upon the financial aspect of the situation, the same paper remarks:

"The withdrawal of gold for New York at this season of the year is noteworthy."

The Statist gathers therefrom a corroboration of the belief that "most of the late speculation in American securities has been conducted by the United States and financed by New York banks, hence the latter are now in no position to part with much money to the agricultural districts without calling loans." Another circumstance has powerfully contributed to the stringency. If there should be war, the expenditure will be upon an enormous scale, and the Government will have to borrow immense sums to meet this enormous expenditure. It is not surprising, therefore, if the banks are taking precautions, and are increasing their holdings of gold."

The Spectator believes that both Washington and Madrid "expect war, without desiring it," that "both are arming as rapidly as they can," and that "both are cogitating upon possible alliances," Spain with France and Russia and America with Japan, which wants the Philippine Islands and could double the American fleet at a few hours' notice if Russia permitted."

The Spectator continues: "Great efforts are being made on both sides to gain time, by President McKinley because the arsenals are not full, and by Premier Sagasta, because he must elect a morally obedient Parliament. The French Foreign Office, dreading a financial crash in Paris, is suggesting mediation; but it will in the end make a mistake in threatening a people, who, at heart, believe there is nothing strong in Europe except Great Britain."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way.

Miss Dunham, of Sanford avenue, has been visiting in Philadelphia.

Dr. J. P. Taylor, of Park avenue, returned from Philadelphia last Saturday.

A. T. Shand, of Staten Island, was the guest of Godwin Beard, of Hillside avenue, over Sunday.

John E. Stewart, of West Seventh srreet, has been confined to his home for several days with illness.

Miss McIntyre, of North avenue, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Chamberlain, of Westfield.

Miss Ethel Simmons, of New York, was the guest of Lucie Palmer Davis, of East Fifth street, Saturday evening.

J. Vincent Rittenhouse, of East Sixth street, returned to his studies at Lehigh University last evening after a short illness.

Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., of Washington Park, has improved so rapidly from her serious illness that she was able to sit up yesterday for a while.

Miss Richardson, of Brooklyn, who has been spending the past ten days with her aunt, Mrs. J. T. Scott, of West Seventh street, returned home today.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

A SIMPLE, HARMLESS REMEDY.

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics, and nine tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars' worth of patent medicines, and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know when widely-advertised patent medicines are used.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, 50 cts

ALONG THE CENTRAL.

Prizes Awarded to Engineer and Firemen For Drawing Heavy Trains.

The people along the line of the Central are making a general "kick" against the discontinuance of the fast morning train to New York which left this place about 8 o'clock. The people of Somerville in particular seem much put out over the matter, and it is hoped that the train will be continued.

Under the rules laid down by Superintendent Olhausen, of the Central, Amos Albright and William Paxson, of East Mauch Chunk, the engineer and fireman of engine No. 357 were awarded the cash prizes of $30 and $20 for carrying the greatest number of tons of coal to tidewater during the month of January.

According to a rule which went into effect on the Central this week, what have been known as "pushers" will go out of date. Hereafter, when it is necessary to have a helping engine to a train, it will be put in front. The change is made to avoid, as far as possible, the piling up of a train in case of an accident.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Malaria, Chills and Fever. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating Tonics. Price, 50c. For sale by R. J. Shaw. 11 30 eod 1y

A FIREMEN'S HOME.

The Matter Takes Direct Form Before the Legislature.

Senator Ketcham, of Essex, has presented to the Legislature a bill which provides for the establishment of a home for disabled firemen. The bill appoints as commissioners Bird W. Spencer, Benjamin W. Cloud, William M. Jeffries, William G. Corliss Charles N. Reading, John McKiernan, William H. Brown, George T. Werts, Egbert Seymour, William S. Hancock and William Bettle. The commissioners are to buy or build a home at an outlay not to exceed $75,000. To raise this money the commissioner of banking and insurance is to hold the money received from fire insurance companies on account of the 2 per cent. tax levied on them, instead of turning it over to the relief associations as now. The relief associations may also contribute to the fund. When the home is furnished and equipped and the commissioners have reported to the Legislature, the Governor shall appoint from the active or exempt firemen of the State eight persons, one from each Congressional district, who shall constitute the board of managers with the president of the New Jersey State Firemen's Association and the State Banking Commissioner and State Comptroller. The home shall be supported by bequests, gifts, etc., and the balance be made up by drafts upon the fund above alluded to in the Banking Commissioner's hands.

Taxes Received for 1898

After the Borough Council meeting adjourned last Friday, and while the members were in executive session, Collector Spencer submitted a report of taxes received in 1896. The amount received was $248.87 and from that is deducted $65.78 for Board of Health and special school tax, leaving the general tax amount collected to be $183.09.

The spirit of rivalry among the candidates for the offices in the borough is very strong, and unless present appearances are deceptive, there may be surprises when the results are announced. Both the Democrats and Republicans are striving for votes with exceptional vigor for the municipal election. The polls will be open tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock and close at 7 o'clock. Every good citizen should vote, as all the bad ones are certain to.

It is not generally known among citizens of North Plainfield at present, but it is a fact that the Borough Board of Education has appointed a special committee to investigate the accounts existing between Collector Spencer and the Board.

Communion Sunday Yesterday and New Members in Several Societies.

The bright sunshine and the balmy air yesterday had the effect of bringing out a large attendance at all the churches. In many of the houses of worship the sacrament of the Lord's supper was observed. At the First M. E. church six were received into full membership; in the Crescent Avenue church five were received by letter and seven by confession of faith; Trinity Reformed church admitted seven new members, four by letter and three upon confession of faith. One new member was admitted on confession of faith at the Congregational church, and two persons were baptized at the First Church of Christ, Grove street. THEATRICAL.

The Gonzalez Opera Company will reappear at Stillman Music Hall tonight, presenting the ever popular opera of "Mikado." The several principals of the Gonzalez Company are recognized favorites, especially the Prima Donna, Miss Lizzie Gonzalez.

"Darkest Russia," which comes to Stillman Music Hall Friday night, is not only one of the most absorbing, but one of the greatest successes seen in years. There are few plays which have met with such enthusiastic success. On every hand it is hailed as a masterpiece of realism. Prices for this great production will be 25, 35 and 50 cents. The reserved seat sale commences tomorrow.

Bronchitis.

A condition, and not a disease. A dozen causes, but only one cure.

Bronchitis comes when the membranes of the air passages are unable to throw off waste products that some morbid condition of the system allows to accumulate there. The remedy needed is DeLong's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

WONDERFUL TRANSFORMATION.

Of an Afflicted but Well-known Society Lady of Plainfield.

Suffered with Paralysis Four Long Years, Had Tried all Known Methods in Vain and been Given Up as Incurable by the Medical Profession, but is cured in a single Treatment by the Boy Phenomenon, now at the Revere House.

It's astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street come reports of people talking about the wonderful cures being performed by the Boy Phenomenon Truth, genuine merit, skill, a wonderful gift of healing, and honorable methods are sure to receive their just reward, and it is upon and along those lines that he has secured the confidence of the public. So many cures have been accomplished the past three weeks that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but a few will be given publicity each day for the benefit of the afflicted who are desirous of investigating some cure before undergoing treatment.

When anything that promises relief is offered you, the first thing you wish to know is, if it ever cured anyone else and what is more important, if they STAYED cured, and the amount of faith you will have in trying it will depend upon the reliability of the testimony offered in its behalf. When this is from remote strangers way beyond the reach of your consultation, doubts are sure to arise, but when it comes from disinterested people whom you know and can consult at any time, its reliability is apparent—its truth not to be doubted.

Still the invalid world have been imposed upon so much that they DO doubt. Their sad experiences have MADE them doubt everything that promises to afford them relief. It is even surprising that they are willing to try again, so often have they been deceived and discouraged, nor will they, unless undeniable proof be given them that the method which promises relief is genuine. They want proof, proof founded on truth and facts, wailed about, domed and turreted with facts. Facts are the offspring of development and accomplishment, and development is the material and legitimate progeny of doubt. Doubt leads to investigation, investigation to discovery, and discovery enlightens the mind, expands the intellect and brings us into closer affinity with nature, and thus it is that when an overgratified patient is positive they have been permanently cured or benefitted, their statement is published for the benefit of those who wish to further investigate. One of the most phenomenal cures accomplished since his arrival in Plainfield—phenomenal, because of the instantaneous relief which followed the first treatment, is that of Mrs. Caroline J. Ohl, who was one of the prominent ladies of society, and a leader in many organizations, previous to the accident which rendered her left side useless over 4 years ago. As the details of that accident are too well known to need recounting, as also her past hopeless and helpless condition.

Her simple statement to a newspaper man will be sufficient to alloy all doubts as to the efficacy of his power in similar affections. "As is well-known, I sustained an injury 4 years ago which paralyzed my left side, rendering it almost useless. All treatments have failed to help me until I was treated by the Boy Phenomenon. The first treatment restored to me the use of my left arm. I can now walk without pain, the numbness has all left my limb and I can walk with ease and have perfect use of it. I feel like a new being. I cannot express my thanks and gratitude in sufficiently strong terms for what the Boy Phenomenon has done in my case."

Those who desire his services should avail themselves of this pleasant weather and time, as it will be six months before his return. His office at the Revere House opens at 10 a. m. and closes at 5 p. m. daily, where consultation and examination may be obtained by the physician in chief to the Boy Phenomenon.

STREET RAILWAY ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE locating the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company on North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed) Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road within the Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, and authorizing and empowering the construction and operation and maintenance of the same and granting permission for said Company to use electricity as the propelling power of its cars, and prescribing the terms and conditions upon which such location of the tracks and permission are granted.

Whereas, The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway a corporation organized under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of traction companies for the construction and operation of street railways, or railroads operated as street railways, and to regulate the same," approved March fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, having first filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, a description of the routes, together with maps exhibiting the same, did present their petition or application to the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, praying the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, for its consent to the construction, operation and maintenance of a street railway in the Township of Fanwood, and the right to locate its tracks conformably to the route filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, which route in the Township of Fanwood is upon and along North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, and was set out in the said petition, and

Whereas, Public notice has been duly given of such application and of the intention of the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood to consider the same by publication, also by posting a copy of the said notice in five or more of the most public places in said Township of Fanwood at least fourteen days prior to the date of the meeting of the said Township Committee, and

Whereas, Upon the day fixed by said notice and upon such days as the said hearing was adjourned to, public hearing was given to all persons desiring to be heard in favor of or opposed to or in any wise interested in the said application for the location of its tracks and the said matter having been duly considered by the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, and the said Company having filed with the Clerk of said Township the consent in writing of the owners or their duly authorized legal representatives of at least one-half in amount of the lineal feet of property on said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, within the Township of Fanwood, and upon which permission to locate, operate and maintain said street railway is asked.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, as follows:

Section 1. That the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, be, and they are hereby located in the following streets, avenues, or highways, in the said Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, to wit, as set out in the following description:

Beginning at a point in the centre line of Terrill Road where it is intersected by the division line between the City of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course north forty-four degrees and two minutes east for a distance of one hundred and forty-seven and nine-tenths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the left with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet for a distance of two hundred and sixty-four and eighty-four hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north twenty-eight degrees and nine minutes east a distance of three hundred and ninety-one and eighty-eight hundredths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the right with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet a distance of two hundred and ten and sixty-six hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north forty degrees and forty-seven minutes east for a distance of two thousand five hundred and twenty-nine and five-tenths feet to a point at the intersection of Park and Westfield Avenues; thence along Westfield Avenue in a magnetic course north forty-eight degrees and forty-three minutes east for a distance of five hundred and twenty-nine and six-tenths feet to a point in Forrest Road; thence along Forrest Road in a magnetic course of South forty-one degrees and twelve minutes east for a distance of twelve hundred and seventy feet to the line of the Borough of Fanwood.

Also, beginning at a point in the centre of North Avenue where the same is intersected by the division line between the Townships of Westfield and Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course of south eighty-six degrees and twenty-five minutes west for a distance of twenty-five hundred and sixty-nine feet to the boundary line of the Borough of Fanwood, conformable to the amended route of the new line of street railway and the map exhibiting the same, filed in the office of the Secretary of State of this State, and said Company is hereby given the right, power and authority to maintain and operate cars upon the said railway by electricity as the motive power. The said Company shall complete the construction of its whole line of railway within the Township of Fanwood in the manner herein provided, and all its fixtures and appurtenances, and commence the operation of the same and the running of its cars for the transportation of passengers on or before December first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, or this franchise shall be and become null and void and of no effect, unless the time for the completion of the same shall be extended by the Township Committee. If the said Company after the commencement of the operation of its said line of railway by the collection of fares thereon shall fail or neglect to operate the whole or any portion of the line hereby authorized daily and every day for the space of thirty consecutive days, or shall fail to operate the same for a total number of days exceeding thirty in any one year, all the rights, powers, privileges and every one of them of the said Company, its successors and assigns, under and by virtue of this ordinance, shall hereby cease and be determined and in either of such cases the Township Committee expressly reserves the right to sell the said line at auction to the highest bidder who will operate it, or may cause the said railway, or any part or parts thereof, to be removed from the streets or avenues, and to sell and dispose of the materials thereof at public auction, and after paying all the expenses of such removal and auction sale, and repairs to said avenues and streets and the cost of restoring the same to its original condition, to pay the balance of proceeds of such sale to the said Company, its successors and assigns.

Section 2. The said Company shall construct, maintain and operate a double track railway as aforesaid with crossovers, switches and sidings shown by map hereinafter specificially referred to. The rails to be laid by said Company shall be of steel of the girder pattern of a weight not less than seventy pounds per yard. And the said Company shall so construct and maintain said railway that the top of the rails shall at all times be flush with the grade of the street or highway. The ties, spikes and all other materials shall be of the best quality. The railway tracks of the said railway shall be laid as follows: One track on each side of the centre line of said streets or avenues so that the inner rail thereof shall be distant two feet and three inches from said centre line and the gauge of said tracks shall be four feet and eight and a half inches. The said Company at its own cost and expense in all streets or avenues through which it shall lay tracks hereunder, shall pave between said tracks and between the rails thereof in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner with a telford or macadam pavement to a depth of four inches and shall maintain the same flush with the rail of said tracks. The railway tracks and macadam or telford pavement shall be laid and constructed in the best workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Township Committee or other committee thereof having charge of the streets.

Section 3. During the construction of the said railway lighted lanterns shall be kept and maintained by said Company from sunset to sunrise at each and every night not less than fifty feet and not more than one hundred feet apart along every part of said avenues and streets, where the work of construction shall have been begun and not completed. The work in all other respects shall be thoroughly protected so as to prevent accident. In case any accident shall happen to any person or damage to property is caused because or by reason of any work connected with such construction of said railway, or afterward because or by reason of the operation thereof, or through carelessness or negligence of any of the Company's officers, agents, servants or employees, the same Company shall indemnify and save the said Township of Fanwood and its Township Committee from all costs, loss or damage by reason thereof.

Section 4. The Company shall at all times keep in good condition and repair to the satisfaction of the Township Committee (repaving if necessary) the paving between the tracks, between the rails and eighteen inches outside the same, to a depth of four inches.

Section 5. That said Company shall lay its rails to conform to the grade of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, at the time of laying of said rails, and in case of any change of the grade or of the surface of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Avenue, or any part thereof, at any time, then the said Company at its own cost and expense, shall immediately on request made in writing by the Township Committee, so change the location of its tracks and the surface or grade of such part of said avenues and streets, so as to conform to such change of surface of said avenues and streets, or change of grade or any newly established grade.

Section 6. That no change, addition, or alteration of gauge or the location of the tracks, sidings, switches, crossovers, poles or overhead structures of said railway company shall be made therein or thereabouts at any time by said company after the same has been first erected and approved by the Township Committee, without official action granting permission for such change, alteration or addition being previously taken by the Township Committee.

Section 7. The said Company and its officers, agents, servants or employees, shall not, nor shall any or either of them be allowed to shovel, throw or place any snow, ice, slush, or any other material along the side of said track or tracks, in such manner as to obstruct or hinder other public travel thereon or on the said avenues and streets, but when removing the snow, ice, slush, or other material, from its said tracks the said Company and its officers, agents, servants and employees shall without unnecessary delay and with a sufficient force of men, cause the same to be levelled between the said tracks and the gutter line on each side thereof.

Section 8. No salt shall be used by said Company on any part of its tracks, except on the grades, curves and crossovers, without the consent of the Township Committee or the proper Township officers, nor shall any car be allowed to stand in or obstruct any cross street, or to stand upon any cross-walk for any purpose whatever, or to stand or remain in any one position for more than five minutes at any one time, except when such car shall be unavoidablely obstructed or detained by accident or break-down without fault or negligence of said Company under a penalty of ten dollars to be paid by said Company to the Town Collector with costs of collection for each and every violation of this section.

Section 9. That where said railway tracks shall pass over culverts or gutters, the bottom of which shall be below the grade line of such railroad, iron girders or proper supports of the most approved pattern shall be provided by the company and such necessary iron bridges or iron drains shall be constructed across the tracks and shall be so constructed as not to hinder or obstruct the flow of surface water underneath the tracks of said railroad.

Section 10. The Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood on behalf of said Township, reserves the right to dig or excavate in or upon any of the said streets or avenues for the purpose of laying, examining, replacing or repairing any sewer, water, or gas pipes, or for the purpose of making any other public improvements, or for doing any other public work whatsoever, and the said railway company shall have no redress or claim for damages because of any detention or obstruction to travel on the said railway arising therefrom. Provided, that such work shall be done as quickly as possible without causing unnecessary delay in the operation of said railroad; and provided further, that if any such improvement, or repairing, replacing, laying or re-laying or examining can be made or done in any feasible or practical way, without obstructing the operation of said railroad, then and in such case, it shall be the duty of the party doing such work to do the same in such manner as last aforesaid.

Section 11. Tha the said Company shall remove any dirt, gravel or any material or obstruction placed by the said Company or its agents or servants on any of the streets or avenues within three days after the service on an officer or servant of said Company of written notice so to do by the said Township Committee or its duly authorized agent. In case the said Company shall fail to remove such material or obstruction and to put the said streets and avenues in as good order as before such material or obstruction was placed thereon by said Company, the Township Committee may order and cause the said material or obstruction to be removed and the said avenues and streets to be put in complete order and repair at the expense of said Company.

Section 12. That all persons driving vehicles upon the railroad tracks of the said Company in any of the said streets or avenues when met or overtaken by a car of the Company shall on being warned by the ringing of a bell or gong or on request of the conductor or motorman of such car, as soon as possible turn and drive his vehicle off of such track, so as to allow such car to pass; it being understood that the cars of said Company shall have the right of way over the tracks of the Company (except at crossings where the public shall have the first right of way over and across the road and tracks of said Company), and the driver of any vehicle for the violation of any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay to the Township Collector for the use of the Township a penalty of ten dollars to be recovered before any Justice of the Peace of said Township.

Section 13. The cars to be used or run on said railway shall be well lighted and properly heated; they shall be kept clean and have proper bells or gongs, which shall be rung or sounded before such car reaches the crossing of any street intersecting any of the said streets or avenues and whenever necessary to give warning of the approach of such car; the said cars shall be run at a speed not greater than ten miles an hour, except for that portion of the road herein specified, to wit: Beginning at the division line between Fanwood and Westfield Townships on North Avenue and extending from thence to the division line between the Township of Fanwood and the Borough of Fanwood at the junction of North Avenue and Westfield Avenue also between the westerly side line of Park Avenue and the easterly side line of Terrill Road. And each car shall be provided with the necessary fenders of the most approved pattern, and such cars shall be run at an average headway of not longer than fifteen minutes, between the hours of six o'clock A. M., and ten o'clock P. M. and from ten o'clock P. M. to mid-night, such cars shall be run as the travel demand or warrant, but in any case the average headway shall not be longer than one-half hour; all cars on the said railway shall run the entire length of the line of railroad tracks hereby authorized to be constructed. The Company shall from time to time diminish the headway of its cars as the increase of travel shall demand. All cars placed upon the line of said Company shall be of the most approved pattern; and said Company shall maintain gates upon the sides of the platforms of the cars wherever there shall be a double track so that the ingress and egress to and from said cars can only be had from the side of the car nearest the curb. All cars run and operated by said Company shall stop both before and after crossing Park Avenue for the purpose of taking on and letting off passengers, and in no case to cross said avenue without first bringing said car to a full stop.

Section 14. That for the purpose of supplying light, heat and power for propelling cars on said railway, permission is hereby granted to the said Traction Company, and the right is hereby granted to said Company to erect poles and string the necessary wires thereon, upon the following terms and conditions:

The poles to be used for the equipping of said railway for operation by electricity shall be of iron, similar to those used by the Plainfield Street Railway Company for that purpose upon its Netherwood line in the City of Plainfield; said poles shall be at least twenty feet in height above the surface of the ground and shall be set and located opposite each other as near as may be on both sides of said avenues and strees and within the curb lines of said avenues and streets and at the points designated and shown upon a certain map entitled "Map showing proposed location of tracks or rails of a double track street railway also showing proposed location of poles for support of overhead construction for trolley wires of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, in the Township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey" which map is on file with the Township Clerk, and is hereby made a part of this ordinance for the purpose of showing the true location of the tracks hereby authorized to be laid upon the said avenues and streets by said Company and for the purpose of specifically designating and prescribing the several places within the line of said avenues and streets where such poles shall be located and set and the location of said tracks and poles therein shown is hereby approved and adopted by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood.

The said poles shall be set in the ground to a depth of not less than six feet and the hole in which said poles shall be set shall be not less than one foot in diameter and the excavation or space around said poles shall be filled with broken stone and concrete to the surface of the ground and the same shall be thoroughly packed and rammed.

The wires and overhead construction attached to said poles for the purpose of furnishing power for the propulsion of the cars of said Company shall be not less than eighteen feet above the grade of said avenues and streets and said overhead construction and wires shall be similar in character and size to the overhead construction now used by The Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, and the manner of stringing all of said wires, shall be similar to that now used by said Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, which overhead construction of poles and wires is hereby approved and designated as a pattern or model construction to be observed and followed by the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company in its overhead construction of poles and wires, prescribed in this ordinance. The wires strung upon said poles shall be properly guarded with other wires when required by the Township Committee. The poles when erected, shall be properly painted and shall together with all parts of said overhead construction, be maintained in a safe condition at all times, and shall be kept in thorough repair, and said poles shall be kept well painted.

Section 15. The period or term granted to the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company by virtue of this ordinance for the purposes herein set forth shall be for the term of ninety-nine years commencing July first, 1898, and ending July 1st, 1997.

Section 16. That for every mile of road owned or operated or that may hereafter be owned or operated by said Company within the limits of the Township of Fanwood (whether said road be single or double track) said Company shall pay or cause to be paid to the Collector of taxes of said township for the use of said township the following sums as license fees, to wit: for the year beginning January 1st, 1899, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1900, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1901, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1902, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1903, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the five years succeeding January first, 1904, three per cent. annually of the gross earnings of said Company, with a minimum payment, however, during said period of five years at the rate of two hundred and fifty dollars a mile per year; and for each and every succeeding year thereafter five per cent. of the gross earnings of said Company, with a minimum payment, however, at the rate of two hundred and fifty dollars a mile per year. The gross earnings in this section referred to shall be construed to include all earnings of said Company and full proportion of all earnings on full traffic to be calculated according to the proportion between the entire length of the journey and the number of miles travelled within the limits of the Township of Fanwood, all of said payments to be made each and every year on or before the last day of each year.

That to enable the Township to ascertain from time to time the gross earnings of the said Company the books of the Company shall be opened for inspection by the Township Committee or by such other person or persons as the Township Committee for that purpose shall designate at the expense of the said Company. The payments provided for in this section shall be in lieu of all license fees for cars whether provided for in prior ordinances or not.

2. Section 19. Should the said company violate this ordinance in any section or provision thereof for which a penalty has not been already prescribed, and specified herein, the said railway company shall be subjected to a penalty of ten dollars ($10) for each and every violation, on conviction thereof, to be recovered before any Justice of the Peace of said Township. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

Navy Officials Admit They Are Looking for Cruisers.

NEED OF MONEY IS FELT

Administration's Eyes Are Fixed on Two Vessels Building for Norway and Sweden—Waiting for Congress to Make the Necessary Appropriations.

Washington, March 7.—The critics of President McKinley's supposed attitude in regard to preparations for vindicating the national honor, have had no knowledge of the facts, or else have made their comments without regard for the truth. Mr. McKinley is not only in thorough accord with what has been done, but is making suggestions, and even giving directions to place the country in condition for meeting any emergency.

It is true that the President hopes there will be no war; but what he has said to his friends and official advisers makes it plain that he will take extreme measures to obtain satisfaction from Spain if the Naval Court of Inquiry reports that the Spanish Government is in any degree responsible for the destruction of the Maine. He has held frequent conferences with the officials of the Naval and Military Departments on the subject of arranging for offensive and defensive measures; he realizes fully that the situation is most critical, and believes that he would be derelict in his duty to himself and the country if anything within his power were left undone.

He has shown within the past few days an ardent desire to put the military and naval forces and the coast fortifications in first-class condition, and whatever may have been the original disposition of some of those whose counsel he seeks there is now no doubt that the President has brought them over to his way of thinking.

While the land forces will have an important part in any hostilities it is in the navy that principal dependence will be placed, according to the view of the administration, and Secretary Long has had frequent consultations with the President on the subject of increasing the naval efficiency. They are at the present time considering the advisability of arranging for the purchase of armor-clads owned by or being constructed for foreign governments.

Several offers have been received from shipbuilders who have vessels which they think they can dispose of to the United States without serious objections from the countries for whom the vessels are being built. It is also reported that some governments have expressed a willingness to have the United States take off their hands several formidable ships already completed.

The administration wants to get hold of some of these vessels, but does not know how to accomplish that end without express authority from Congress. Options can be obtained, but options cost money, and there is no money at hand available for the purpose.

The required sum might be taken from the naval appropriations as Benjamin F. Tracy did as Secretary of the Navy when the Government was confronted with the probability of war with Chili; but every cent of that is needed to carry out the projects already on hand. How to make such preparations as Secretary Tracy made without resort to legislative authority is the problem the President and Secretary Long are trying to solve.

It is understood that the attention of the Government in its desire to secure options is directed to two ships, both armored, which the Armstrongs are building for Sweden and Norway. They are practically ready. Two protected cruisers, also under construction by the Armstrongs for Japan, are also on the Navy Department list. They are similar to the vessels which Japan is having built by the Cramps of Philadelphia and the Union Iron Works of San Francisco.

The question of securing transports for powder, coal and other munitions is giving considerable bother to the Navy Department. Merchant vessels cannot be induced to carry explosives on account of the high rate of insurance which they would have to be obliged to pay, and the great risks taken. It is on account of this and because of the lack of funds for the purpose that the Mohican will take a cargo to Honolulu to be there transferred to the Baltimore, which will carry it to Hong Kong, where the vessels of the Asiatic station are concentrated.

The Baltimore's assignment to Asiatic waters was not only to augment Admiral Dewey's squadron, but also and principally to convey a sufficient supply of ammunition to the ships composing it, in prepartion for the emergency which may cause them to make an offensive movement on the Phillippines. There is felt to be a need of several vessels for transportation purposes, and the Navy Department would like to secure them at once, as they will require some overhauling to make them suitable for war service.

A marine machine shop is also desired. Such a vessel would stay with a squadron so as to be within call if any man-of-war suffered a breakdown in her machinery, or was disabled in action. But until Congress makes the necessary appropriations, the department will probably be obliged to forego the services of such craft.

To Prevent Flag Defacement.

Chicago, March 7.—The flag committees of the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Society of Colonial Wars have mailed to every United States Senator and Representative an earnest appeal to pass a law "to prevent the defacement of our national flag by attaching any advertisement or printing or painting thereon, or using any pattern or representation thereof for private gain."

Kansas City Payments.

Washington, March 7.—In answer to inquiries on the subject it is officially announced that the first payment of $1,000,000 on account of the sale of the Government's interest in the Kansas Pacific Railroad was made during the past week. The remaining $5,303,000 will be made in four euqall installments in thirty, forty, fifty and sixty days from the date of the sale, February 19.

BASKET BALL.

The famous Institute basket ball team of New York city will play the Y. M. C. A. business men's team this evening in this city. The Institute team have defeated most of the crack teams in New York and vicinity, and they come from the home of athletes, the Bowery.

The prospects are that another game of basket ball between the girls of the Senior and Third classes of the Plainfield High School will soon be played. The third class girls are confident that they are capable of putting up a stronger fight when the teams meet again and they are very anxious to try. It is probable that a certain number of visitors will be invited to be present at the game.

The champion basket ball players of the metropolitan district, the team from the 23d street branch of the New York Y. M. C. A., defeated the team from the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. Saturday night at New York. There was much favorable comment on the part of the New York experts on the excellent passing of the Plainfield boys. A thousand people witnessed the game. The New York team was ahead at the end of the first half by a score of 13 to 5. The game was finally won by them by a score of 25 to 11. The Plainfield team was composed of Walter L. Long, captain; Max Moraller, Berry Egan, Eric Moraller and Geo Proctor Smith.

OVERSEER OF POOR IS CHRISTIAN HANSEN

Nominated by Mayor Fisk and Confirmed by Council.

BUT NOT WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

Councilmen Hetfield, Moffett and Liefke Opposed to Confirmation—Applications for Liquor Licenses Taken Up and Disposed of—The Public Library Wants $3,500 for the Fiscal Year—Other Business Transacted by the City Fathers.

The programme of business presented at the regular March meeting of the City Council held last evening was nothing out of the ordinary. It was expected that the appropriations for the year would be made. They were not, however, and the matter was laid over until the next meeting, which will be held two weeks hence. The licenses laid on the table at the last meeting were taken up and, as will be seen further on, they were withdrawn by the attorney for the applicants. The question of confirming the appointment of the Mayor's selection for an overseer of the poor brought out many opinions as will be noticed in the proceedings. Other business of more or less importance was considered in a routine manner as reported below.

James F. Burke presented a new application for a license to sell liquors at his place on West Third street. The application was referred to the license committee.

S. H. Whitney, of East Front street, asked for permission to erect a sign in front of his dry goods store, the same to be placed ten feet above the sidewalk. Residents of West Front street, between Grant and Clinton avenues, asked the Council to macadamize the street, as the property owners have complied with the city ordinance as regards the laying of walks and curbing. Geo. O. Stevens and others asked for an electric light on Compton avenue, between Dunellen avenue and Front street. The Electric Light Company notified the Council that the lights ordered have been located on Sycamore avenue.

Mason W. Tyler, for the directors of the Public Library, stated in a communication that $3,800 would be needed this year for the support and expenses of the library. The matter was referred to the finance committee. A communication was received from residents of Plainfield avenue and West Second street, asking the Council to provide proper sidewalks, crosswalks and drainage at that point, where the crossings are often impassable.

Mayor Fisk appointed as special policemen, Franklin P. Gedney, Aaron Mattox, Edwin Dobbs and James Babbitt, and they were confirmed by the Council. The Mayor also appointed Christian Hansen as Overseer of the Poor to serve for three years. This appointment was referred to the alms committee and later was presented by Mr. Andrews, of the committee, who made a minority report. On the other hand, Mr. Hetfield, of the same committee, presented a majority report and moved that the nomination lay on the table. He said that he did not favor having a superintendent and matron at the City Industrial Home, and an overseer of the poor beside. He thought it was useless. He did not wish to antagonize the Mayor or Council but thought it would be best to have one person to whom the committee could look.

On the ballot to confirm or lay on the table Messrs. Buckle, Hetfield, Leifke, Moffett and Neuman voted to lay on the table. There were seven votes for confirmation and Mr. Hansen was finally confirmed by a vote of 8 to 3. Those voting in the negative were Messrs. Hetfield, Liefke and Moffett. All but the last three named spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Hansen and favored his appointment.

Inspector of Buildings T. O. Doane reported the granting of six permits during the month, and Street Commissioner Gavett reported the granting of seven sewer permits during the same time. The reports of the Collector and Treasurer were received and filed.

Mr. VanHerwerden offered a resolution that the note of $1,400 for the Watchung avenue extension account be paid, and the resolution was adopted.

Mr. Barrows offered a resolution that the committee on streets and sewers be authorized to advertise and receive bids for the furnishing of crushed stone and material for crosswalks and culverts for the year, the same to be received at a meeting of the Council, March 24th, at 8 p. m. Another resolution by the same member provided for the city macadamizing streets when the property owners agree to pay their share for the work. Both resolutions were adopted, and

HALF YEAR PROMOTIONS

SUPERINTENDENT MAXSON URGES UP-TO-DATE SCHOOL METHODS.

It is the General Sentiment That Promotions Should be Made at Half Year Intervals Instead of a Whole Year as Now.

There was little to occupy the attention of the Plainfield Board of Education at their regular meeting last evening. President Probasco did not arrive until the meeting had started, Mr. Lovell acting as president pro tem until his arrival. Mr. Lounsbury, the secretary, was detained at home by illness and Dr. Jenkins acted in his place. The other members were present.

There was the usual routine business to be transacted. The report of Collector Bird showed that school taxes to the amount of $829 97, with interest amounting to $35.70, making a total of $865.67, which had been deposited in the First National Bank.

The report of the medical inspectors showed that they had examined 497 during the month of February, making 652 pupils examined to date. Of these, 172 were unvaccinated, about 27 per cent. Among the pupils, 34 cases of defective eyesight were detected for the first time, as well as 21 cases of defective hearing. In each case, the parents of the children had been notified by letter and advised to consult their family physician.

Superintendent Maxson presented a check for $426 for the tuition of out-of-town pupil. Superintendent Maxson made a verbal report of a convention of school superintendents recently held at Chattanooga which he attended. He gave a brief synopsis of several of the most important papers, and pointed out the principal points that found favor with the superintendents in attendance. He called attention particularly to the discussion on the subject of grading and promotion, and how it was the general sentiment that the promotion should be made at half year intervals instead of a whole year as at present. The Board extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Maxson for his interesting report. The Board then went into executive session.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO VOTE.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall Issues a Statement to Instruct Her Sex.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, yesterday sent out the following statement to the press of the State:

Tuesday, March 15th, the annual school meetings will be held in the rural districts of the State, and all interested in the welfare of the public schools hope that the women will attend the meetings and use the rights of suffrage that still remain to them. If the amendment to the Constitution, voted upon by the people last September, had been carried, they would have regained the right to vote for school trustees, but since it was defeated the women have gained no new rights; but they are still, of course, entitled to those which they possessed before—namely, of serving as school trustees if elected by the votes of men, (see Chapter CCXXXVI Laws of 1873,) and of voting on all questions coming before the school meetings, with the single exception of voting for the election of school trustees. Thus women are entitled to vote for a tax, for the issuing of bonds, to serve as chairman or teller of a meeting, and to vote for such officers. In a word, with the exception just noted, they have the same powers as men at school meetings, and for the sake of the little children, it is to be hoped the mothers, as well as the fathers, will attend and show their interest in our public schools.

To Help the Building Fund.

The Young Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Redeemer has arranged for a series of cake sales to be held during the successive Saturdays in March. All kinds of cake will be for sale and it is to be hoped that all the members of the parish and their friends will aid the young ladies of the guild in this very worthy undertaking. The proceeds of the sales will be for the church building fund of the parish. The first of the sales will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Miss Barlow, Prospect place.

Important Pythian Business.

Every member of Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, is requested to be present at the meeting of the lodge tomorrow evening. Important business relative to the securing of William J. Bryan to lecture in this city will come up and it is desired that all should express themselves in the matter.

Another Middlesex Freeholder.

At a meeting of the County Board of Elections of Middlesex county, held at New Brunswick Saturday afternoon, it was decided that the borough of South River, recently incorporated by action of the State Legislature, was entitled to a Freeholder, and that official will be voted for with the borough officials March 22d, the date designated by the Board.

A GROUP OF FIVE HOSPITAL BUILDINGS PLANNED

BOARD OF GOVERNORS TOOK AN IMPORTANT STEP LAST EVENING.

Architect Alfred E. Barlow, of New York, an Expert on Hospitals, Submits Plans—Committee Appointed to Devise Ways and Means to Raise Necessary Money.

The time has come when Plainfield should give her strongest support to one of her greatest institutions, Muhlenberg Hospital. A new hospital is planned, a new one, not in name, but in reality. It is still to be the Muhlenberg Hospital but a new and improved structure built on the lines of the most up-to-date plans. While the present hospital has done good service, it has fallen behind in the rapid march of progress. Built as it was, it was more of a temporary structure than a permanent one. The project to enlarge and equip the hospital in most modern fashion is not a sudden scheme. For several years, the members of the board of governors have been considering it and the present plans are the outgrowth of long consideration.

Last night a special meeting of the board of governors of the hospital was held. Alfred E. Barlow, of New York city, appeared before the board and presented the plans and details of the proposed changes to the hospital. The evening was spent in a careful examination of them. Mr. Barlow explained the details very convincingly. After a discussion, the board unanimously approved of the scheme. Of course, the necessary funds for the building of the new buildings was an important matter. A committee on ways and means was appointed to look into the matter and report at the next meeting of the board.

Briefly described, the system consists of five buildings. The administration building is central, flanked on either side by a connecting service and ward building, one side for the men and the opposite side for the women. The ward buildings include in each case the separate medical and surgical wards.

The dominating principle of the wards and, indeed, of the whole pavilion system, is to obtain for the patients the maximum of sunlight and air. Every other condition is relentlessly subordinated to them, affording the patients the uttermost of the favoring natural and scientific conditions.

The wards are therefore so placed as to be constantly in the sun and subject to the fresh air circulation. They are simple rooms providing for each bed 1,800 cubic feet of air space and 125 feet of floor space, to be perfectly warmed and ventilated, abundantly lighted, with all surfaces to be of perfectly smooth, polished and impenetrable textures, admitting of the most perfect scientific cleanliness. These rooms are constructed upon arches open underneath during all weathers except when unduly inclement or cold.

The ward rooms communicate with the "quiet lobby" and to the line of main corridors, extending from end to end of the entire system and connecting the administration building with the wards. Across this corridor is the service building. This separation affords complete quiet for the wards.

The service building contains an examination room, toilets, baths, drug and linen stores, special diet kitchen, a dining room for the convalescent patients, and a special or children's ward of four beds. The second story of the service building contains rooms for five pay patients, necessary toilets, and a maternity ward of three beds. In the basement of this building are found the kitchen, heating apparatus, disinfecting room and clothes storage. By this division of the building, it affords complete separation of all functions of service frem the wards propers. This description for both wings lacking the administration building with such differences as may arise from the occupation of the different sexes.

The administration building has on the first story a visitors' room, matron's office, staff dining room, medical board and library. The second story is devoted to pay patient rooms and the third story to dormitories for the attendants.

While the principal entrance will be from Muhlenberg place, the ambulances will enter from the South Second street side, communicating with the operating system which occupies a wing connecting the administration building with the eastern wing. The operating system includes an examination room, etherizing room, operating theatre, recovery room, X-ray, sterilizing and apothecary rooms, beyond which is an accident or emergency ward.

Of the present structures it is proposed to move both to the South Second street side, devoting the annex to isolating and contagious cases. Separated from this, the present building will be devoted to dispensary or out-door patients and to the medical and surgical clinics. These are to be entirely separate from the hospital system proper, and are to be reached only from the South Second street side. The Nurses Home is to remain in its present position.

The board of governors hope soon to begin the construction of one of the service and ward buildings and continue the work as soon as possible.

A FRATERNAL SESSION.

Clinton Commandery, of Brooklyn, Were Royally Entertained by Trinity.

The members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., enjoyed a fraternal visit from some of the members of Clinton Commandery, of Brooklyn, last evening. The Order of Malta was conferred by Eminent Sir. Robert W. Fielding, of Clinton Commandery. Owing to the visitation it was conferred in short form.

After the transaction of the business a programme of social pleasures was enjoyed. The visiting members were accompanied by their vocal quartette and they entertained the members with some of their best selections. The other feature was the appearance of the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club. The club never played better and the members acquitted themselves with honors. Following the musical programme a banquet was served to all present. The visitors were highly pleased with the entertainment provided and carried home with them pleasant memories of the event.

A LARGE FUNERAL.

Rev. C. E Herring's Remarks Impressive at Mrs. Diedrick's Bier.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Diedrick were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from the house on Grove street, and were largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased. Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, and he spoke from the text "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled." The speaker addressed his remarks chiefly to those present, but his reference to the life of the departed was very impressive. He said that she was known home and abroad as a faithful Christian woman.

The floral tributes were beautiful. There was a bunch of lillies and a sheaf of wheat, while the bier was covered with white and pink pinks. Interment was in the North Plainfield cemetery.

Death of Mrs. VanDeventer.

The death of Mrs. Cornelia VanDeventer, widow of the late Jeremiah VanDeventer, occurred last Sunday. The deceased was quite aged and she had for some time past been in feeble health. She lived with her grandchildren, Augustus Brunson and Miss Brunson. The funeral will be private.

Progressive Dominoes.

The Twentieth Century Social Club will hold a meeting this evening at the home of Morris Sutphen, of West Second street. Progressive dominoes will be the principal event of the evening. The election of officers will also be held.

WORKING FOR VOTERS.

Great Interest Felt in the Borough Election Today.

Perhaps never before in the history of the borough has there been shown such great interest in an election as is being evidenced today by the voters of the borough. There is acknowledged to be a great deal of cutting on both sides.

It is said that many Republicans are supporting E. M. French for assessor, while some Democrats are supporting G. F. Brown for collector.

In the first district the vote at 10:30 this morning was 155 and in the second district it was 108. This is considered to be good. Last year at noon the vote was scarcely 200, and this year's vote is up to the average.

A Woman's Narrow Escape.

The team attached to one of Boice, Runyon & Company's coal wagons ran away on Park avenue this morning. A woman narrowly escaped being run over at the corner of Fourth street. She did not see the team until it was almost upon her. She had sufficient presence of mind to step out of the path of the plunging horses just in time. The horses were finally stopped without doing any damage.

Mike Watson's Trial Postponed Again.

WAR THAT MADE A NATION

WILLIAM W. ELLSWORTH DESCRIBES REVOLUTIONARY BATTLES.

Divided the Engagements Into Five Groups, and Illustrated His Remarks With Stereopticon Views—Salient Points

A large audience was present at the lecture given by William W. Ellsworth in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening under the auspices of the Continental Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of this city.

The subject of the lecture was "From Lexington to Yorktown," and the lecturer handled the mass of matter relating to the battles of the Revolution in a manner which proved him a conscientious student of that period of history.

He simplified the subject considerably by dividing the battles of the Revolution into five groups. Those fought in the vicinity of Boston, including Lexington and Bunker Hill, with which the war opened, made up the first group. The difficulties of Washington in holding together an army of men enlisted for only one or two months, in the face of a well drilled British army, were dwelt upon.

The stereopticon views, of which there were 175, were well chosen, and include reproductions of many original drawings made by officers in the two armies during the progress of the war. The scene of the battle of Long Island was illustrated in admirable style, the old sketches and prints being supplemented by snap shot pictures of the same places taken at the present time.

The third group of the Revolutionary battles was fought in the vicinity of Trenton and Philadelphia, and included the two winters, full of hardship, which the little band of Continental soldiers passed in winter quarters at Morristown and Valley Forge.

The last series of battles was fought in the states of Virginia, and North and South Carolina, and it was this series which culminated in the capture of Yorktown and the defeat of the British attempt to subdue the colonies.

PLANNED THIS YEAR'S WORK.

Y. M. C. A. Committees Feasted and Talked Business.

A pleasant affair took place in the Y. M. C. A. building last evening, when the newly-appointed committees of the association held their first meeting and conference.

The members, to the number of about thirty, assembled at 6:30 o'clock and were treated to a supper by the ladies' social committee. The tables were placed in the small hall, which presented a very pretty appearance.

The ladies in charge of the supper arrangements were Mrs. J. W. Gavett, Mrs. A. B. Beers, Mrs. Henry W. Rankin, Mrs. J. H. Manning, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mrs. L. M. French, Mrs. LeRoy H. Gates, Miss Carrie C. Dewey and Miss Adele Kirby. The artistic dinner service and lamps were furnished by J. W. Gavett, chairman of the social committee.

After the supper the company adjourned to the parlor of the building, where a conference upon the work of the different departments was held. The topics and speakers were: Social work, J. W. Gavett; religious work, George M. Rittenhouse; physical work, S. B. Joseph and C. E. A. Heywood; educational work, I. W. Travel and John Leal; lecture committee, J. A. Robinson; boys' work, John Dalziel; and membership work, Curtis M. Thorpe and W. D. Murray. Stephen Cahoone, the president of the association, presided at the conference.

CATHOLICS READY TO FIGHT FOR COUNTRY

Put Themselves on Record in a Set of Resolutions.

OFFER SERVICES TO GOV. VOORHEES.

Catholic Club Feel That the Affairs of the Country are at a Crisis and They Pledge Their Allegiance—If War Should be Declared and the State Forces are Not Sufficient the Club Members are Willing to Respond to a Call of Duty.

The knowledge of impending wars and rumors of war has stirred the patriotic fires within the breasts of the Catholic citizens of Plainfield. They have been wishing for many days, while the war fever has raged, for an opportunity to express their allegiance to the government, but not until last evening did a suitable opportunity present itself. The chance was offered at the monthly meeting of the Catholic Club, held last night in the club house corner of Liberty and West Sixth streets.

The rumor that a resolution expressive of the club's patriotism was to be offered in the meeting called out a large attendance. Over 150 members were present, which is almost double the usual number in attendance.

President George J. Tobin called the meeting to order, and went to the point in a speech calling attention to the critical state of affairs now existing between this country and Spain. It was the duty of every American citizen, he said, to support the Stars and Stripes in an hour of need, and he knew that the Catholics of the land would not be found wanting if their services should be needed by the Government.

The following patriotic resolution was then adopted unanimously:

Whereas, Serious questions have recently arisen between the United States and the Kingdom of Spain, which may try to the utmost the patriotism and unselfishness of the citizens of this country, and

Whereas, The settlement of such questions has been embarrassed by a calamity which has filled this Nation with deep grief. Now therefore, we the members of the Catholic Club, of Plainfield, N. J., in regular meeting assembled, for ourselves and for the Catholic community that we represent, desire to express in the strongest terms our unswerving loyalty to this Nation, and to render their support to the authorities of the Government in this crisis, and be it further,

Resolved, That the gratitude of the country is due to the chaplain of the battleship, Maine, Rev. Father Chadwick, for his untiring efforts to relieve the sufferers and to recover the bodies of the dead who perished in this disaster, and be it further,

Resolved, That in the event of war being declared by Congress between this country and Spain, or by the aggression of the latter country, that the Governor of this State need the assistance of more men than the regular army of the State now provides for, that we as members of the Catholic Club, of Plainfield, will volunteer to protect the National honor and the flag of the free, and be it further,

Resolved, That we extend to the grief stricken families of the heroes who perished in the disaster to the battleship, Maine, our sincere sympathy.

After the passage of the resolution the members arose and sang American patriotic airs.

DIED AT BROOKSIDE RETREAT.

A Resident Succumbs to a Delirious Attack Following the Grip.

The death of John VanBenschoten, aged forty years, occurred this morning at Brookside Retreat. The deceased was a resident of Orange. About a week ago he was taken ill with grip which made him delirious, and his family had him removed to the retreat, where he died rather suddenly early this morning. He was a salesman for a firm at Orange. Later in the morning the body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Henry DeMott, on Somerset street, and today it will be taken to Orange for burial. The deceased leaves a wife and family.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING.

Members of a New Board of Education to be Elected.

The Borough Board of Education met last evening and transacted business mostly of a routine nature. The accounts of the clerk were examined and the report for the annual school meeting was prepared. The school meeting will be held next Tuesday evening, when three trustees will be elected. The terms of Messrs. McCutchen, Wells and Waring will expire, and there seems to be good reasons to believe that they will be re-elected.

Funeral of Jesse R. Dungan.

The funeral services of the late Jesse R. Dungan, whose death was reported in this paper yesterday, will be held from the Dutch Reformed church, Harlingen, Somerset county, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Carriages will meet trains at Belle Mead station. Interment will be at Somerville.

SPAIN BACKS DOWN

Her Request That Consul Lee Be Recalled Is Withdrawn.

NO DEMAND WAS MADE

A Prompt Withdrawal Followed the Discovery That President McKinley Did Not Regard the Proposition with Favor—Gen. Lee's Comment.

Washington, March 8.—Spain has withdrawn her request for the recall of Consul-General Lee, and it is now believed that the incident is practically closed. The withdrawal came yesterday in the shape of an official communication from Minister Woodford.

It is now stated that the request was never put in the shape of a demand, but that it was merely a suggestion on the part of Spain, and when she found that it would not be pleasantly received by this country she promptly receded.

It is learned that the Spanish objection to Consul-General Lee was based largely upon his sympathy for the Cubans and some of his utterances in print. The Spaniards also take exception to the friendly relations between General Lee and correspondents of papers which have been decidedly unfriendly to Spain. It is believed that Senor de Lome prompted the request for the recall of Consul-Gneral Lee.

GEN. LEE'S COMMENT.

Says He Will Continue to Guard American Interests.

Havana, March 8.—General Fitzhugh Lee, the United States Consul-General, when questioned regarding Spain's demand for his recall, said:

"I shall continue to do my duty, which is to guard American interests."

"Fitzhugh Lee, my son, came to visit me during the short vacation granted him by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad," continued General Lee. "He was here before, has many friends, and will return to the United States when his vacation is over, next week. Mrs. Lee is not ill, nor is she nervous. I have not written her anything to alarm her. I have had no need to do so."

The coast survey steamer Bache, on her return from Key West, will take the Fern's place here, near the wreck of the Maine, as quarters for the officers. The Fern is to go north to take on board supplies for the reconcentrados, taking these supplies direct to Matanzas and Sagua la Grande. Technically, the Fern is a war vessel, because she mounts one gun, a six-pounder, which is used for saluting.

Only surmises can be made as to how long the Maine Court of Inquiry will remain here, but it does not seem likely that the court will remain much longer. Its members profess ignorance as to the time of their departure for the United States.

NO DEMAND MADE.

Spain Satisfied With the President's Acquiescence in Another Matter.

Washington, March 8.—There seems to be a decided misunderstanding in regard to Spain's expression of dissatisfaction with General Lee, as Consul at Havana. At the conference at the White House yesterday, the President explained the situation by showing a cable from General Woodford, saying that Spain had never demanded General Lee's withdrawal, nor directly stated that he was persona non grata. The intimation had come in a diplomatic way and was in no sense a demand.

It had been coupled with two other requests, one in relation to the relief supplies and the war ships and another touching an incident which has been kept a profound secret. The President's firm and direct answer that he would not consider a recall of General Lee and his intimation that the most available ships would be used to carry the relief supplies were not exactly what Spain expected, but his acquiescence on the third request, which is still a State Department secret, satisfied Spain and General Woodford notified the President that the Madrid Government had made no further request for General Lee's recall, nor would it do so.

This was taken as a virtual withdrawal of the intimation that Spain would be pleased if General Lee was withdrawn.

In Memory of Maine's Dead.

London, March 8.—At a meeting of the American Society here yesterday, steps were taken to contribute to a fund for the purpose of providing a memorial to the dead of the Maine, Messrs. Newton Crane, J. L. Taylor and Hyman Maxim made feeling speeches, and a letter was read from the Anglo-Saxon club, requesting permission to contribute to the fund, as an expression of sympathy upon the part of all English speaking races. A letter was also read from Lord Vernon, captain of the Honorable Corps of Gentlemen-at-Arms, proffering a contribution of $125. It was decided, however, to limit the contributions to Americans, and a committee, including Messrs. Crane, Taylor, Maxim and Consul-General Osborne, was appointed to take charge of the matter.

Ammunition for the Fleet.

Key West, Fla., March 8.—The Mallory line steamer Alamo arrived here yesterday from New York, with a cargo of ammunition for the United States fleet, a greater part of which is intended for the cruiser Cincinnati. The cruiser Montgomery will take the ammunition to the Cincinnati.

American Fleet at Hong Kong.

London, March 8.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Hong Kong says that six additional American war vessels are expected there shortly.

Spain's Torpedo Boats Ready.

Glasgow, Scotland, March 8.—The crews to man the Spanish torpedo boat Osado and Andes, built by the Thomsons for Spain, have arrived here. It is expected that the boats will be completed on Friday or Saturday, when they will go to Ferroll, Spain, where they will take on board their armaments. From Ferrol the Osado and Andes are going to Cuba.

London, March 8.—Two separate commissions of Spanish officers arrived in London last week to purchase ammunition.

The Cranford Citizen is the journalistic baby of Union county. It made its debut under the editorship of E. R. Clyma, late of the Westfield Standard, last Saturday. Casual observation would indicate that Cranford is a pretty small town to support two newspapers. Editor Potter and The Chronicle are well-intrenched in the local field and it does not seem probable that they will take a back seat in favor of the infant.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Mr. Barrows stated that the streets would be macadamized in the order in which they were petitioned for.

An ordinance changing the name of Cemetery avenue to Bellview avenue was introduced by Mr. Hetfield, and was adopted on its second reading and ordered engrossed and advertised.

The petition of E. M. French asking the Council to change the grade of West Fourth street, West Third street and Spooner avenue was granted on a motion offered by Mr. Hetfield, and an ordinance to that effect was introduced and the same was ordered advertised.

Mr. Hetfield made a motion to reconsider the liquor license application of John Kavanaugh. This was done, and the application was then laid on the table.

Mr. Barrows then moved that the Council go into a committee of the whole to consider the liquor license applications of Chris. Bock, J. F. Rurke, John Kavanaugh and Mark Hipp. Such action was taken, and Mr. Hetfield was made chairman of the committee and the committee then took a recess, but in a few minutes the committee returned, and Mr. Hetfield moved that the petition of the applicants' attorney to withdraw the applications be granted.

Mr. Buckle made a motion that the fire and building committee be authorized to act with the special committee having under consideration the securing of new quarters for a city jail, police station, etc. The motion prevailed, after which a motion was made that when Council adjourn it be to meet in two weeks. Council then adjourned.

THEATRICAL.

"Darkest Russia" is the announcement of the attraction that will appear at Stillman Music Hall, Friday night. It is a Russian drama, but has been constructed on original lines with a touch of real American humor that is at all times refreshing. This accounts for the fact that it is one of the greatest successes of the stage for years. Everywhere it is greeted as a masterpiece of realism. Its story is interestingly told while the comedy that is interspersed in liberal quantity lends a brightness and cheerfulness that is all its own. Close attention has been paid to all the details and the production can be appropriately called complete in every particular. Note the prices. Best reserved seat on lower floor for 50 cents.

Manager Edwards, of Music Hall, showed good sense and business judgment last night when he cancelled the engagement of the Gonzalez Opera Company, who were booked for four performances. The production given last night was so inferior that Manager Edwards concluded to cancel the rest of the advertised productions. He had announced Mikado for last night, but the company arranged to produce La Mascotte and permitted the principal comedian of the Mikado performance to leave town, so Manager Edwards was unable to keep his word. This, together with the bad acting and singing of the performers, made him resolve not to injure his already good reputation for presenting meritorious attractions by allowing the engagement to proceed.

TWO IN ONE FAMILY.
Are Cured of Deafness and Rheumatism by the Famous Boy Phenomenon.
THEY ARE THE OLDEST, BEST KNOWN AND MOST RESPECTED CITIZENS OF PLAINFIELD.
Cure Follows Cure in Quick Succession, Under the Marvelous Treatment of the Boy Phenomenon That Restores Hearing.—Two Letters That Smash all Incredulity.
The phenomenal cures accomplished by animal magnetism, administered through the Boy Phenomenon, who has an overabundance of that vital fluid, continues to attract crowds of our very best citizens to his parlors at the Revere House, and to excite the greatest interest all over the city. While some of the stories of cures performed seem too wonderful to believe, the most conservative versions stop very little short of the miraculous. What lends an air of truthfulness to the report of these cures is the fact that the names and addresses of persons cured have been published, and every one of them have been well known citizens, whose veracity could not be doubted.
Our citizens have had occular demonstration of this most subtle power the past four weeks and an opportunity to judge for themselves, by personal observation and interviews with many of our prominent citizens, relative to the permanency of cures effected by Vital Magnetism.
The many surprising cures of cases that have been pronounced hopeless and given up as incurable by all other modes of treatment, has resulted in dispelling all doubts as to its efficacy and permanency that existed a few weeks ago. The people have been convinced, skepticism has vanished, and today the public are firm believers in the wonderful curative powers of vital magnetism.
Facts are what the public want and demand, before they will believe in any thing new or wonderful, therefore the names of well-known and reputable citizens who have been cured are published, that all may investigate their truth and authenticity. The following cures were effected nearly a month ago and are now published for the first time to show that the cures are lasting.
The letters speak for themselves, comment is unnecessary. Mr. and Mrs. Tingley are too well and favorably known in Plainfield to need any eulogy of their honest straight forward conscienceness.

PLAINFIELD, N. J. March 3, 1898.
TO THE PUBLIC:
I wish to express my sincere thanks for the benefit I have received from the Boy Phenomenon. I have been deaf in one ear for twenty years. Three years ago I had la-grippe, and since then have also been hard of hearing in the other ear. Now my hearing is greatly improved. Four years ago I had a serious fall, and since then have had difficulty in walking, and had distress in my limbs and back which are now greatly relieved. I also had catarrh in my head very badly, and it has yielded to his treatment. I feel it my duty to let others know, that they may also receive benefit. I cannot say too much in favor of the Boy Phenomenon, whose healing powers are beyond description. Very truly, Mrs. Grace A. Dunn Tingley, 405 West Fourth St., Plainfield, N. J.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., March 3, 1898.
TO THE AFFLICTED:
I have been hard of hearing caused by la-grippe, which I had four years ago. I can now hear as well as ever. Thanks to the Boy Phenomenon. I strained the cords of my limb, thirty years ago. It has troubled me most of the time since, but since this treatment I can walk with perfect ease. For a long time have had distress in my stomach and pain in my head, and could not sleep at night. His treatment has greatly relieved me, and I sleep well, which I had not been able to do in years. I wish to express my faith in the treatment of the Boy Phenomenon, and to recommend this treatment to the public. Truly yours, J. S. Tingley, 405 West Fourth St., Plainfield, N. J.

Those who desire the services of the Boy Phenomenon should lose no time in making appointments, as his time is being rapidly taken up, and when his book of appointments is full, no more new cases will be taken for treatment.
His office hours at the Revere House are from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

STREET RAILWAY ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE locating the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company on North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed) Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road within the Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, and authorizing and empowering the construction and operation and maintenance of the same and granting permission for said Company to use electricity as the propelling power of its cars, and prescribing the terms and conditions upon which such location of the tracks and permission are granted.

Whereas, The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway a corporation organized under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of traction companies for the construction and operation of street railways, or railroads operated as street railways, and to regulate the same," approved March fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, having first filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, a description of the routes, together with maps exhibiting the same, did present their petition or application to the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, praying the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, for its consent to the construction, operation and maintenance of a street railway in the Township of Fanwood, and the right to locate its tracks conformably to the route filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, which route in the Township of Fanwood is upon and along North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, and was set out in the said petition, and

Whereas, Public notice has been duly given of such application and of the intention of the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood to consider the same by publication, also by posting a copy of the said notice in five or more of the most public places in said Township of Fanwood at least fourteen days prior to the date of the meeting of the said Township Committee, and

Whereas, Upon the day fixed by said notice and upon such days as the said hearing was adjourned to, public hearing was given to all persons desiring to be heard in favor of or opposed to or in any wise interested in the said application for the location of its tracks and the said matter having been duly considered by the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, and the said Company having filed with the Clerk of said Township the consent in writing of the owners or their duly authorized legal representatives of at least one-half in amount of the lineal feet of property on said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, within the Township of Fanwood, and upon which permission to locate, operate and maintain said street railway is asked.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, as follows:

Section 1. That the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, be, and they are hereby located in the following streets, avenues, or highways, in the said Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, to wit, as set out in the following description:

Beginning at a point in the centre line of Terrill Road where it is interescted by the division line between the City of Plainfield and the Township of Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course north forty-four degrees and two minutes east for a distance of one hundred and forty-seven and nine-tenths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the left with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet for a distance of two hundred and sixty-four and eighty-four hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north twenty-eight degrees and nine minutes east a distance of three hundred and ninety-one and eighty-eight hundredths feet to a point of curve; thence curving to the right with a radius of nine hundred and fifty-five and four-tenths feet a distance of two hundred and ten and sixty-six hundredths feet to a point of tangent; thence in a magnetic course north forty degrees and forty-seven minutes east for a distance of two thousand five hundred and twenty-nine and five-tenths feet to a point at the intersection of Park and Westfield Avenues; thence along Westfield Avenue in a magnetic course north forty-eight degrees and forty-three minutes east for a distance of five hundred and twenty-nine and six-tenths feet to a point in Forrest Road; thence along Forrest Road in a magnetic course of South forty-one degrees and twelve minutes east for a distance of twelve hundred and seventy feet to the line of the Borough of Fanwood.

Also, beginning at a point in the centre of North Avenue where the same is intersected by the division line between the Townships of Westfield and Fanwood; thence in a magnetic course of south eighty-six degrees and twenty-five minutes west for a distance of twenty-five hundred and sixty-nine feet to the boundary line of the Borough of Fanwood, conformable to the amended route of the new line of street railway and the map exhibiting the same, filed in the office of the Secretary of State of this State, and said Company is hereby given the right, power and authority to maintain and operate cars upon the said railway by electricity as the motive power. The said Company shall complete the construction of its whole line of railway within the Township of Fanwood in the manner herein provided, and all its fixtures and appurtenances, and commence the operation of the same and the running of its cars for the transportation of passengers on or before December first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, or this franchise shall be and become null and void and of no effect, unless the time for the completion of the same shall be extended by the Township Committee. If the said Company after the commencement of the operation of its said line of railway by the collection of fares thereon shall fail or neglect to operate the whole or any portion of the line hereby authorized daily and every day for the space of thirty consecutive days, or shall fail to operate the same for a total number of days exceeding thirty in any one year, all the rights, powers, privileges and every one of them of the said Company, its successors and assigns, under and by virtue of this ordinance, shall hereby cease and be determined and in either of such cases the Township Committee expressly reserves the right to sell the said line at auction to the highest bidder who will operate it, or may cause the said railway, or any part or parts thereof, to be removed from the streets or avenues, and to sell and dispose of the materials thereof at public auction, and after paying all the expenses of such removal and auction sale, and repairs to said avenues and streets and the cost of restoring the same to its original condition, to pay the balance of proceeds of such sale to the said Company, its successors and assigns.

Section 2. The said Company shall construct, maintain and operate a double track railway as aforesaid with crossovers, switches and sidings shown by map hereinafter specificially referred to. The rails to be laid by said Company shall be of steel of the girder pattern of a weight not less than seventy pounds per yard. And the said Company shall so construct and maintain said railway that the top of the rails shall at all times be flush with the grade of the street or highway. The ties, spikes and all other materials shall be of the best quility. The railway tracks of the said railway shall be laid as follows: One track on each side of the centre line of said streets or avenues so that the inner rail thereof shall be distant two feet and three inches from said centre line and the gauge of said tracks shall be four feet and eight and a half inches. The said Company at its own cost and expense in all streets or avenues through wheih it shall lay tracks hereunder, shall pave between said tracks and between the rails thereof in a good, substantial and workmanlike manner with a telford or macadam pavement to a depth of four inches and shall maintain the same flush with the rail of said tracks. The railway tracks and macadam or telford pavement shall be laid and constructed in the best workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Township Committee or other committee thereof having charge of the streets.

Section 3. During the construction of the said railway lighted lanterns shall be kept and maintained by said Company from sunset to sunrise at each and every night not less than fifty feet and not more than one hundred feet apart along every part of said avenues and streets, where the work of construction shall have been begun and not completed. The work in all other respects shall be thoroughly protected so as to prevent accident. In case any accident shall happen to any person or damage to property is caused because or by reason of any work connected with such construction of said railway, or afterward because or by reason of the operation thereof, or through carelessness or negligence of any of the Company's officers, agents, servants or employees, the same Company shall indemnify and save the said Township of Fanwood and its Township Committee from all costs, loss or damage by reason thereof.

Section 4. The Company shall at all times keep in good condition and repair to the satisfaction of the Township Committee (repaving if necessary) the paving between the tracks, between the rails and eighteen inches outside the same, to a depth of four inches.

Section 5. That said Company shall lay its rails to conform to the grade of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, at the time of laying of said rails, and in case of any change of the grade or of the surface of said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Avenue, or any part thereof, at any time, then the said Company at its own cost and expense, shall immediately on request made in writing by the Township Committee, so change the location of its tracks and the surface or grade of such part of said avenues and streets, so as to conform to such change of surface of said avenues and streets, or change of grade or any newly established grade.

Section 6. That no change, addition, or alteration of gauge or the location of the tracks, sidings, switches, crossovers, poles or overhead structures of said railway company shall be made therein or thereabouts at any time by said company after the same has been first erected and approved by the Township Committee, without official action granting permission for such change, alteration or addition being previously taken by the Township Committee.

Section 7. The said Company and its officers, agents, servants or employees, shall not, nor shall any or either of them be allowed to shovel, thow or place any snow, ice, slush, or any other material along the side of said track or tracks, in such manner as to obstruct or hinder other public travel thereon or on the said avenues and streets, but when removing the snow, ice, slush, or other material, from its said tracks the said Company and its officers, agents, servants and employees shall without unnecessary delay and with a sufficient force of men, cause the same to be levelled between the said tracks and the gutter line on each side thereof.

Section 8. No salt shall be used by said Company on any part of its tracks, except on the grades, curves and crossovers, without the consent of the Township Committee or the proper Township officers, nor shall any car be allowed to stand in or obstruct any cross street, or to stand upon any cross-walk for any purpose whatever, or to stand or remain in any one position for more than five minutes at any one time, except when such car shall be unavoidablely obstructed or detained by accident or break-down without fault or negligence of said Company under a penalty of ten dollars to be paid by said Company to the Town Collector with costs of collection for each and every violation of this section.

Section 9. That where said railway tracks shall pass over culverts or gutters, the bottom of which shall be below the grade line of such railroad, iron girders or proper supports of the most approved pattern shall be provided by the company and such necessary iron bridges or iron drains shall be constructed across the tracks and shall be so constructed as not to hinder or obstruct the flow of surface water underneath the tracks of said railroad.

Section 10. The Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood on behalf of said Township, reserves the right to dig or excavate in or upon any of the said streets or avenues for the purpose of laying, examining, replacing or repairing any sewer, water, or gas pipes, or for the purpose of making any other public improvements, or for doing any other public work whatsover, and the said railway company shall have no redress or claim for damages because of any detention or obstruction to travel on the said railway arising therefrom. Provided, that such work shall be done as quickly as possible without causing unnecessary delay in the operation of said railroad; and provided further, that if any such improvement, or repairing, replacing, laying or re-laying or examining can be made or done in any feasible or practical way, without obstructing the operation of said railroad, then and in such case, it shall be the duty of the party doing such work to do the same in such manner as last aforesaid.

Section 11. Tha the said Company shall remove any dirt, gravel or any material or obstruction placed by the said Company or its agents or servants on any of the streets or avenues within three days after the service on an officer or servant of said Company of written notice so to do by the said Township Committee or its duly authorized agent. In case the said Company shall fail to remove such material or obstruction and to put the said streets and avenues in as good order as before such material or obstruction was placed thereon by said Company, the Township Committee may order and cause the said material or obstruction to be removed and the said avenues and streets to be put in complete order and repair at the expense of said Company.

Section 12. That all persons driving vehicles upon the railroad tracks of the said Company in any of the said streets or avenues when met or overtaken by a car of the Company shall on being warned by the ringing of a bell or gong or on request of the conductor or motorman of such car, as soon as possible turn and drive his vehicle off of such track, so as to allow such car to pass; it being understood that the cars of said Company shall have the right of way over the tracks of the Company (except at crossings where the public shall have the first right of way over and across the road and tracks of said Company), and the driver of any vehicle for the violation of any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay to the Township Collector for the use of the Township a penalty of ten dollars to be recovered before any Justice of the Peace of said Township.

Section 13. The cars to be used or run on said railway shall be well lighted and properly heated; they shall be kept clean and have proper bells or gongs, which shall be rung or sounded before such car reaches the crossing of any street intersecting any of the said streets or avenues and whenever necessary to give warning of the approach of such car; the said cars shall be run at a speed not greater than ten miles an hour, except for that portion of the road herein specified, to wit: Beginning at the division line between Fanwood and Westfield Townships on North Avenue and extending from thence to the division line between the Township of Fanwood and the Borough of Fanwood at the junction of North Avenue and Westfield Avenue also between the westerly side line of Park Avenue and the easterly side line of Terrill Road. And each car shall be provided with the necessary fenders of the most approved pattern, and such cars shall be run at an average headway of not longer than fifteen minutes, between the hours of six o'clock A. M., and ten o'clock P. M. and from ten o'clock P. M. to mid-night, such cars shall be run as the travel demand or warrant, but in any case the average headway shall not be longer than one-half hour; all cars on the said railway shall run the entire length of the line of railroad tracks hereby authorized to be constructed. The Company shall from time to time diminish the headway of its cars as the increase of travel shall demand. All cars placed upon the line of said Company shall be of the most approved pattern; and said Company shall maintain gates upon the sides of the platforms of the cars wherever there shall be a double track so that the ingress and egress to and from said cars can only be had from the side of the car nearest the curb. All cars run and operated by said Company shall stop both before and after crossing Park Avenue for the purpose of taking on and letting off passengers, and in no case to cross said avenue without first bringing said car to a full stop.

Section 14. That for the purpose of supplying light, heat and power for propelling cars on said railway, permission is hereby granted to the said Traction Company, and the right is hereby granted to said Company to erect poles and string the necessary wires thereon, upon the following terms and conditions:

The poles to be used for the equipping of said railway for operation by electricity shall be of iron, similar to those used by the Plainfield Street Railway Company for that purpose upon its Netherwood line in the City of Plainfield; said poles shall be at least twenty feet in height above the surface of the ground and shall be set and located opposite each other as near as may be on both sides of said avenues and strees and within the curb lines of said avenues and streets and at the points designated and shown upon a certain map entitled "Map showing proposed location of tracks or rails of a double track street railway also showing proposed location of poles for support of overhead construction for trolley wires of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, in the Township of Fanwood, County of Union and State of New Jersey" which map is on file with the Township Clerk, and is hereby made a part of this ordinance for the purpose of showing the true location of the tracks hereby authorized to be laid upon the said avenues and streets by said Company and for the purpose of specifically designating and prescribing the several places within the line of said avenues and streets where such poles shall be located and set and the location of said tracks and poles therein shown is hereby approved and adopted by the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood.

The said poles shall be set in the ground to a depth of not less than six feet and the hole in which said poles shall be set shall be not less than one foot in diameter and the excavation or space around said poles shall be filled with broken stone and concrete to the surface of the ground and the same shall be thoroughly packed and rammed.

The wires and overhead construction attached to said poles for the purpose of furnishing power for the propulsion of the cars of said Company shall be not less than eighteen feet above the grade of said avenues and streets and said overhead construction and wires shall be similar in character and size to the overhead construction now used by The Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, and the manner of stringing all of said wires, shall be similar to that now used by said Plainfield Street Railway Company upon its Netherwood line within the City of Plainfield, which overhead construction of poles and wires is hereby approved and designated as a pattern or model construction to be observed and followed by the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company in its overhead construction of poles and wires, prescribed in this ordinance. The wires strung upon said poles shall be properly guarded with other wires when required by the Township Committee. The poles when erected, shall be properly painted and shall together with all parts of said overhead construction, be maintained in a safe condition at all times, and shall be kept in thorough repair, and said poles shall be kept well painted.

Section 15. The period or term granted to the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company by virtue of this ordinance for the purposes herein set forth shall be for the term of ninety-nine years commencing July first, 1898, and ending July 1st, 1997.

Section 16. That for every mile of road owned or operated or that may hereafter be owned or operated by said Company within the limits of the Township of Fanwood (whether said road be single or double track) said Company shall pay or cause to be paid to the Collector of taxes of said township for the use of said township the following sums as license fees, to wit: for the year beginning January 1st, 1899, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1900, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1901, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1902, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the year beginning January first, 1903, at the rate of one hundred dollars per mile; for the five years succeeding January first, 1904, three per cent. annually of the gross earnings of said Company, with a minimum payment, however, during said period of five years at the rate of two hundred and fifty dollars a mile per year; and for each and every succeeding year thereafter five per cent. of the gross earnings of said Company, with a minimum payment, however, at the rate of two hundred and fifty dollars a mile per year. The gross earnings in this section referred to shall be construed to include all earnings of said Company and full proportion of all earnings on full traffic to be calculated according to the proportion between the entire length of the journey and the number of miles travelled within the limits of the Township of Fanwood, all of said payments to be made each and every year on or before the last day of each year.

That to enable the Township to ascertain from time to time the gross earnings of the said Company the books of the Company shall be opened for inspection by the Township Committee or by such other person or persons as the Township Committee for that purpose shall designate at the expense of the said Company. The payments provided for in this section shall be in lieu of all license fees for cars whether provided for in prior ordinances or not.

Section 17. That the fares to be charged by said Company for every passenger riding on its railroad in the Township of Fanwood, shall be as follows:

1. The Company shall sell thirty-three school tickets in one strip for one dollar, said tickets to be void if detached, and to be good only between the hours of eight A. M. and five P. Furniture Advertising That Costs--Yet Pays

It costs us many dollars to buy newspaper space. It costs us many more to whittle down all prices where no profit, often loss is sustained. Yet while costly advertising in one way, it's paying in another.

By it we gained over 3 acres of floor space, an immense list of cash and credit patrons, a reputation for liberality in every deal, And now it's clearing out many present lines at a rapid gait, leaving elbow room for Spring patterns fast seeking entrance.

$5.85—This new Chiffonier, with mirror, or $3.85 without mirror.

Carpets, good heavy Ingrains, 29c yard. Extra heavy Ingrains, 39c. Fine Tapestey Brussels, 50c—all other weaves reduced too.

Too few of you know our bedding stock—fine hair mattresses, now $6.75. Husk mattresses $3.95. Excelsior mattresses, $1.75. Feather pillows, 65c.

Stoves and Ranges Going Quick

We're closing up the stove store—we've priced each piece so that profit's all squeezed out. Cylinder Stoves for $1.87, were $3.50—finely nickeled self feeding Parlor Stoves at $5.95—elegant self-feeder that was $20, now $11.95. Ranges equally low. The much praised "Portland Range" holds its own as ever—over 9,000 in steady use.

The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And stil what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by Plainfield people.

Read what a citizen says.

Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, Carpenter & Contractor, living at 213 Spooner Ave., says: "For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hips and loins, so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted the least cold it always settled in my back, and at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store, I had only taken a few doses when I found they were helping me, and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand, so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for aching and lameness in the back and consider them an honest kidney medicine and possessing all the merits claimed for them."

MILLIONS FOR DEFENSE

Mr. Cannon Introduces a Bill Appropriating $50,000,000.

WILL BE PASSED AT ONCE

Result of a Conference with the President at the White House—House Passes the Bill Providing for Two Additional Regiments of Artillery.

Washington, March 8.—Chairman Cannon, of the Appropriations Committee, yesterday introduced a bill entitled "Making Appropriations for the National Defense." It is as follows:

"That there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated for the national defense and for each and every purpose connected therewith, to be expended at the discretion of the President, and to remain available until June 30, 1899, fifty million dollars."

It was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. Cannon had an interview with the President in the morning, and at its conclusion went to the Capitol and called a special meeting of the Appropriations Committee. After this meeting Mr. Cannon introduced the National Defense bill in the House.

The bill will be passed at once. This can be stated on the highest authority.

ARTILLERY BILL PASSED.

House Adopts the Measure to Create Two Additional Regiments.

Washington, March 8.—The House immediately on meeting yesterday took up the bill providing for two additional artillery regiments, and passed it almost unanimously on a viva voce vote.

There seemed to be but three votes in the negative: Cox, of Tennessee; Jones, of Virginia; and one other who could not be located.

The debate developed nothing exciting, but there was a great outburst of enthusiasm when Mr. Hay (Dem., Va.) declared that he stood ready to vote for any measure to prepare for the emergency which confronted the country.

When Congress assembled there was evidence of general excitement immediately after the reading of the journal in the house Chairman Hull, of the Military Committee, moved to take up the Artillery bill. Republicans, Democrats and Populists acquiesced. It required a two-third vote to pass the bill under suspension of the rules.

No effort was made to obstruct action, though there was a desire to extend debate beyond the forty minutes allowed under the rules, the purpose apparently being to give members an opportunity to go on record for the measure as an emergency proposition. There was no extension of time, however. Neither Mr. Bailey nor any leading democrat uttered a word of opposition.

To Mr. Cox, of Tennessee, was assigned the twenty minutes' time of the opposition, and that proved to be as much as he could consume. He opposed the bill in a ten-minute speech, which was interrupted by Democrats, and then yielded ten minutes to Jones, of Virginia, who spoke against the measure. This ended the opposition.

MONEY WILL BE PROVIDED.

Senator Hale Advises Secretary Long to Buy Warships if Necessary.

Washington, March 8.—Senator Hale, chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, and also chairman of the Sub-Committee on Appropriations, to consider the naval bill, said yesterday that he had suggested to Secretary Long, of the Navy Department, the advisability of making the purchase of any supplies which might be considered necessary in the event of a war with the understanding that the funds for them would be provided by Congress.

The Senator said that large quantities of coal had already been practically secured for shipment to Key West, and he had no doubt that the Secretary would extend the policy by contracting for warships and ammunition if necessary.

"I hardly think, however," he said, "that it will become necessary, for I hope that there will be no war. Furthermore, I doubt the report that Spain has purchased any warships. But be that as it may, no precaution will be left untaken by this country to insure a proper protection of our interests in any contingency. I have agreed with those who have advised against special appropriation bills for the purchase of supplies, because I think the Secretary has sufficient authority now to make any purchase necessary, and if he finds it necessary to expend more funds than he has these will be supplied in the general deficiency or some other general appropriation bill."

ACTIVITY AT DOVER.

A Train-Load of Ammunition Shipped from There Every Night.

New York, March 8.—The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad during the last week has shipped over 50,000 tons of gunpowder and ammunition from the Government storehouses at Dover, N. J. Secret orders have been received from Washington for the railroad to place a special train at the disposal of the Government to carry ammunition from Dover in the event of war. It is proposed to sidetrack cars at Dover and run them direct to the Government stores, which are located about three miles from Dover.

Orders have also been received by the Government officials at Dover not to allow anybody to visit the Government reservation until further orders. A Government officer is on guard at the gate, both day and night, and intercepts all intruders.

How much powder and ammunition is stored at Dover is known only to the officials of the War Department in Washington. There are twelve store houses on the reservation that are all filled with gunpowder, dynamite, projectiles and ammunition. During the past week a train load of ammunition has left Dover each night of the week. Upon its arrival in Hoboken the ammunition was placed on Government lighters and taken to the coast fortifications.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Next Friday evening the Knob Hill bowling team will roll a game with the old Crescent League team on the Ulrich alley.

The record for the month of March for the high score at the Park Club has been broken by Clarence L. Murphy. He rolled 234. In the first two frames, his total score was only 18, then he finished with seven strikes and one spare. The high score was held by F. O. Ball, 230, rolled in the game against the New Jersey Athletic Club.

Secretary C. A. Smith, of the Central Journal League, has completed the records made by the teams and individuals competing in that organization, says the Elizabeth Journal. The Roselles win the championship for the second time, with the E. A. C. a close second, and the New Jerseys only a step behind. The high team score, 929, was made by the Bergen Point team, Roselle and Westfield being tied two pins behind. In the race for individual prizes Baker, of Westfield, had little difficulty in winning the high average honor with 177.2, for 18 games, Lewis, of the Jerseys, and Pope, of Elizabeth, being several points behind. The high average spare prize goes to Vanderveer, of the E. A. C., who totalled three more than his nearest competitors, 117 for 24 games. Warner, of Roselle, and F. O. Ball, of the Parks, were tied in second place, with 114 spares each. The records:

At the end of the first half the Business Men were ahead one point. The Plainfield team was composed of Doane, O'Donnell, Richards, Johnston and F. G. Smith. The other game was between the "Big Five" and Students team, both of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. The Students won by a score of 14 to 6.

REPUBLICANS GET ALL BUTT HEIR ASSESSOR.

ELSTON M. FRENCH THE ONLY VICTORIOUS DEMOCRAT—COUNCILMANIC CANDIDATES OF REPUBLICANS HAD GOOD-SIZED MAJORITIES.

Dr. J. F. Cooley was the Republican Candidate Sacrificed—Westfield Had a Hot Fight All Around, With the Democrats on Top—Democrats Won at New Market —G. O. P. Victory in Fanwood and Scotch Plains Former Sheriff Kyte is Now Mayor.

With one exception, the Reputlican ticket in the borough had a sweeping victory over the Democratic opponents, though the defeated ones put up a stiff fight and are resting content with having captured the important office of Assessor for Elston M. French.

Not in several years has the strife and interest been so manifested between the two parties, and a heavy vote was polled as a consequence. Issues that were the result of conditions prevalent in municipal affairs at present figured largely, though ubiquitously, in the fight for votes. The partisan rule of voting straight tickets seemed to be observed more in the breach than anything else, and as a result split tickets poured into the ballot boxes in a manner that caused considerable surprise.

There seemed to be a determined fight to trade off Justus H. Cooley, Republican candidate for assessor, for E. M. French, his Democratic opponent. By doing this the votes of many Democrats were thrown over to help elect G. F. Brown collector on the Republican ticket. There was scarcely a ticket that was not scratched.

In the first district it was late in the evening before Brown, for collector, managed to get even with his opponent, Jacob Voehl, but once even, it was not long before he gradually, but surely, gained a lead In the second district, Mr. Brown kept ahead of his ticket throughout.

For councilmanic honors, George T. Rogers and John Valiant, Republicans, kept ahead of the ticket and won against Harry M. Cooke and John Vetterlein, Democrats, by good majorities

E. M. French made a great fight against Justus H. Cooley for the office assessor During the early part of the day it was thought that Cooley would be elected, but as the day grew older the latter's chances grew smaller.

The contest for freeholder between Andrew Lutkins, Republican, and Andrew Love, Sr., Democrat, was very close. Mr. Love was defeated by a majority of 41.

In the first district the Republican vote was 285, while the Democrats polled 167. In the second district there was a total vote of 459. The Republicans received 214 votes and the Democrats 163.

The vote throughout was one of the heaviest ever polled in the borough, and it was nearly 2 o'clock this morning when the count was finished.

The following are the detailed returns from North Plainfield borough:

STUBBORN FIGHT IN WESTFIELD.

Democrats Scored a Victory Over Republicans and Independents.

The election in Westfield was a stubbornly-contested one, and the situation was complicated by the presence of an independent third ticket in the field, of which L. G. Cohen was the animating spirit.

The important offices were those of freeholder and township committeeman, and both offices were captured by the Democrats by large majorities M. M. Scudder, Democrat, was elected freeholder over Freeman Bloodgood by a majority of 128. J. A. Dennis, Democrat, received 159 plurality for town committeeman over his Republican opponent, L. E. Hart. L. G. Cohen, the Independent candidate, ran close to Hart, polling 132 votes. E. R. Collins, Republican, and Addison S Clark, Democrat, were elected justices of the peace. J. N. Wilcox and Dr. S. Cooper, Republicans, were elected surveyors of the highways, and C. A. Smith, John J. Coger and J. N. Wilcox, Republicans, were elected commissioners of appeal.

The constables elected were George Davis, Republican, and Gustave H. Koester, Democrat, and J. M. French, Republican, was elected poundkeeper. The suggestion to increase the number of the Township Committee from three to five, was carried, and the following appropriations were voted for the ensuing year:

Appropriations—For roads, $5,000; for street lighting, $2,800; for poor, $600; for fire department, $800; for fire alarm system, $200; for hydrants, $700; for maintenance of sewer system and interest on bonds, $3,000; for township expenses, $2,500; for police, $1,500.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN FANWOOD.

John Robinson Elected Freeholder by a Good Margin.

In Fanwood township the Republicans captured every office but one, justice of the peace. John Robinson, Republican, received 43 majority over Charles French, Democrat, for the office of freeholder. William Terry, Republican, was elected town committeeman over his Democratic opponent by a majority of 47. Cook, Republican candidate for commissioner of appeals, defeated Radin, Democrat, by 44 votes. William Traynor, Republican, received a majority of 14 for constable over H. Guerrier, Democrat. Chas. Haberle, the Democratic candidate for justice of the peace, received a majority of 9 votes over his Republican opponent, William H. Turton. The total number of votes cast in the township was 255.

AT BOUND BROOK.

A Fight Between Traction Companies Was the Issue of Election.

The election in Bound Brook was the hottest ever held there. The fight was between the Philadelphia and New York Traction Company and the Brunswick Traction Company. Both companies had avowed candidates in the field. Almost every vote in the borough was polled. The result was close, and the count proceeded slowly. The Philadelphia and New York company won. Its candidates—William Taylor, Howard Moore and William Smalley—were elected by two majority over the Brunswick company's men. When the result was announced the adherents of the Philadelphia and New York company began to celebrate with a brass band, fireworks and free drinks.

DEMOCRATS WON AT NEW MARKET.

Elected Freeholder and Town Committeeman by Small Majorities.

The Democrats and Republicans of Piscataway Township each placed a ticket in the field yesterday, and the voting was very close considering that there were no great issues. The Democrats succeeded in securing two of the most important offices, freeholder and town committeeman. The vote was as follows:

Freeholder, Alex. Manning, D., 192; Calvin Drake, R., 182; Manning's majority, 10. Town committee, Jos. V. D. Field, D., 192; Clinton F. Randolph, R., 180; Field's majority, 12. Surveyors of highways, B. DeWitt Giles, D., 175; Lewis Harris, D., 173; Albert L. Boice, R., 200; Samuel Giles, R., 200; Boice's majority over Giles, 25; Samuel Giles' majority over Harris, 27. Commissioner of appeal, Lewis D. Walker, D., 181; Wm. T. Dayton, 191; Dayton's majority, 13. Constable, Francis Mulveny, D., 172; Thomas Wrench, R., 200; Wrench's majority, 28. Justice of the peace, Frederick Holden, D., 175; Alfred L. Storms, R., 195; Storms' majority, 20. The appropriatiations received the entire support of both parties.

QUIET IN DUNELLEN.

Slight Contest Between Frank Wynkoop and Joel Giddis for Council.

Election day in the borough of Dunellen was a quiet one and the only contest was for councilmanic honors between Frank Wynkoop, Republican, and Joel Giddis, Democrat. The ticket was nominated by the citizens, Democrats and Republicans, but for some reason a few of the boroughites evidenced a dislike for Mr. Wynkoop. There were 223 votes cast. For Council, Lewis Schneider received 187; Frank Wynkoop, 122; Frank Humpston, 188, and Joel Giddis, 92. The first three were elected, Albert W. Warden, for justice of the peace, received 170 votes and Joseph Maier, 160. John P. Apgar, for commissioner of appeal, received 218 votes. The appropriations of $1,500 for borough purposes, and $150 for support of poor received the vote of the entire ticket. As complimentary votes, J. E. Henry received 38 votes and Samuel Merrill 14 for council. Thomas Cady received one vote for Justice of the peace.

FIFTIETH YEAR OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Their Semi-Centennial Celebrated at High School Today.

APPROPRIATE EXERCISES HELD.

A Sketch of the Origin and Growth of the State and Local System Presented by O. B. Leonard—Dr. Yerkes Spoke of the Great Advantages of Education and the Progress Made in the Last Half Century—Sup't Maxson in Charge.

The semi-centennial of the founding of the public school sytem in the city of Plainfield was fittingly celebrated, this morning, at the High School. Special exercises were held and a large number of friends of the school were present to hear them.

Superintendent H. M. Maxson was in charge of the exercises and made a few remarks of introduction. The school assisted in the programme by rendering several songs. Principal I. W. Travell led the singing.

A very interesting sketch of the history of the school system was read by O. B. Leonard, of this city. He spoke as follows:

The first Constitution of New Jersey was adopted July 2d, 1776, but no provision was introduced for educating its citizen youth. The irregular and uncertain contributions of the people for the support of school masters which had been observed all through the colonial period still remained unchanged. Nor were there any alterations to this first charter of our liberties, tending to the intellectual training of the children, till a new State Consttitution was agreed upon in 1844. But the cause of education towards the close of the last century received encouragement of sufficient importance to merit a passing consideration. On the 27th of November, 1794, the Legislature of New Jersey passed "An act to incorporate societies for the promotion of learning."

Under this law any association of persons were authorized to be formed into a body politic by electing trustees (not more than seven) who might take a name by certifying the same and recording the certificate in the county clerk's office. This law operated as a stimulus for about thirty years, for starting grammar schools, academies and literary institutions which sprang up in different parts of the State. Though in every instance of short career, these societies proved a useful incentive for encouraging and promoting an interest in the public mind on the subject of education.

Of some twelve or thirteen such institutions, one existed in this town. Desiring to form a company for literary purposes, a number of the inhabitants of the village chose as trustees John Wilson, Samuel Manning, John Manning, Benjamin Laing and Frederick Vermeule, to manage the undertaking. They organized under the name of the "Plainfield School Society" on the 4th of June, 1811. Subscriptions were made that summer and an academy building erected during the fall and winter on the site of Mr. Leal's present school on West Front street. Here several teachers were employed at the private expense in training the town children of adult years. The enterprise flourished and continued till the beginning of 1835, when a fire burned off the roof and second story, and the school was closed.

That the names of those who taught our parents and grandparents may not be forgotten let them be recorded:

Joseph F. Randolph, 1812-16; William Marsh, 1817-20; William Coles, 1820-22; Professor Delamater, 1823-24; Pierrepont Potter and Ruth P. Cook, 1825-27; William Marsh, (again) 1823-30; Peter P. Runyon, 1831-33; Buckley C. Morse, 1834-35.

In 1833 a "Classical Academy" was built from funds solicited the previous decade, chiefly from persons of the Presbyterian persuasion. Within a year after the First Presbyterian church was completed and occupied for public service 1825, the classes of the academy were taught in the basement of the new church. The institution at the time the building was erected on a lot adjoining the meeting house, was called the "Plainfield Seminary." The school flourished for ten years or more after this. It became known subsequently as the "Greenbrook Family School," and later as the "Plainfield Female Institute." In 1845 the property became the residence of the late Cornelius Boice, Esq.

During the years 1834 and 1835 there arose a rival seminary of learning in the lower end of town, located on the corner of West Front street and Central avenue. This was called the "Plainfield Classical Institute" and was largely under the patronage of the Baptist denomination of this State and New York. This new enterprise lasted about ten years. The establishment of a few excellent private "family schools" in the different parts of the village weakened the material support of both the uptown seminary and this down town institute and discouraged the maintainance of all subsequent educational efforts of an academic character.

By this time, 1835-40, the town had grown into some prominence with a younger population engaged quite extensively in manufacturing pursuits, mainly hats and clothing. It was during this decade that a steam railroad was running through the place, the first regular trip to New York by cars and boat being made on Saturday, December 29, 1838. The inhabitants then numbered about 1200, with some 200 children who ought to be attending school. Still there were no suitable accommodations for their free education, especially for the younger ones of parents unable to patronize private schools.

The organization of the public school in town during 1847-8 continued uninterruptedly the intellectual training of the youth of Plainfield.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. He told something of the great advantages in educational lines at the present day and of the wonderful progress that had been made in the last half century. He also touched on the necessity of taking advantage of all these helps. He interspersed his remarks with anecdotes.

MISSIONARY WOMEN ELECT.

And Hear a Returned Missionary Talk of Her Work.

The Presbyterian Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue and the First Presbyterian churches, held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church.

The annual report of the treasurer showed that the society had raised in the last year $1,083.51 for the cause of foreign missions. The meeting appropriated $132 to aid a mission school in Tokio, Japan. The balance of the surplus remaining in the society's treasury was appropriated to the general foreign mission fund of the United States.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. Ford, was an interesting document. The society has always taken a special interest in mission work in Brazil and the progress made in that country was well set forth. The society held ten meetings during the year, with an average attendance of 31 The death of Mrs. Silas Yerkes, an active member, during the year, was a great loss to the society, said the report.

The annual report of the work of the Young Ladies' Mission Band was presented by Miss Ethel Holmes.

The society appointed Miss Scribner, formerly its president, to attend the twenty fifth annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church to be held next month, and convey to that society the greetings of the members of the Presbyterian society.

Miss M. E. Holmes, a returned missionary from Syria, was introduced and delivered an interesting talk on "The Bible and Foreign Missions."

"There must be a foundation stone for missionary work," the speaker said, and that foundation stone is the Bible. The inspired Word of God was remarkable and unique among other sacred books such as the Arabic Koran and the Vedas, in the fact that it will bear translation into any language. When put into any tongue it at once becomes a classic. The Bible is the key and the only key which will unlock the door of hope to the Nations which are setting in darkness. There should be a more thorough study of the Bible at home by those who are anxious to know about missions, for that is the only authority and text book on missions. There are people who say that missionaries are under the necessity of vindicating missions. No one but God is compelled to vindicate missions. He has given us the command in His Word. The debt of the foreign missionary board had in many instances caused a stoppage of important work in many places. In one station in Syria, where the preacher was at work, it became necessary through through the reduction in the board's means to close up nineteen preaching stations."

The following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

Mrs. Samuel Milliken, president; Mrs. Wilson W. Smith, first vice-president; Mrs. James Petrie, second vice-president; Mrs. Harriet Burton Ford, secretary; Miss Addie Dietrich, treasurer; Mrs. William Remsen and Mrs. Groendyke, collectors; Miss Sarah Hayes, secretary of the literature committee.

At 5 o'clock a collection was taken which included the contents of the mite boxes. Tea was then served to the members.

TO CRUSH OUT ROYDISM.

Order and Decency Will be Maintained in Music Hall.

The matter of order and decency at the several performances at Stillman Music Hall has ever been a study and effort on the part of Manager Maze Edwards, who has certainly done much during his short incumbency as lessee and manager, to elevate the moral, intellectual entertainment and theatrical tastes of this community. It has been hard for him, however, to control a certain element which attend at times, who delight apparently in "guying" and who are lawless in every sense of the word. Remonstrance and admonishment having failed, Manager Edwards has finally arranged for the presence nightly of a uniformed policeman and Edward Martin is now on duty, as guarantee for order, both in the lobby and body of the house.

Officers Re-elected.

At the meeting of the directors of the Plainfield Street Railway held last Monday all of the old officers were re-elected as follows: President, Thomas Nevins; vice-president, Dr. T. J. Fritts; secretary and treasurer, Adrian Riker; directors, Chandler Riker, Thomas Nevins, Jr., Dr. Fritts, J. B Brown, Thomas Nevins, Sr., Courtland Riker, Adrian Riker. John Adleman was elected superintendent for another year. Nothing was done at the meeting looking for an extension of the road in this city.

Spencer Goes to the Penitentiary.

George Spencer, alias John Reed, of Plainfield, was yesterday at Cambridge, Mass., sentenced to a term of not less than four nor more than five years in the State Prison, for swindling S. D. Hardy, of Framingham.

ENDEAVORERS PLAN FOR FUTURE WORK.

Annual Meeting of City Union Held Last Night.

MISS HAWKINS CHOSEN PRESIDENT.

Secretary's Report Showed What the Seventeen Local Unions Have Accomplished—Vigorous Remarks About Sabbath Observance—Talk of Establishing a Summer Home in Plainfield for Poor Girls of the City of New York.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union was held last night in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. E E. Anthony, president of the union, presided. The meeting opened with a service of song, led by Horace Martin, Jr., after which Rev. A. E. Main read the scripture lesson and offered prayer. Miss Florence Genevieve Hawkins, secretary of the union, then read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were approved as read. The annual report of the secretary followed, giving much interesting information concerning the seventeen societies of the union and their work.

The various departments of the union, such as evangelistic, press, etc., were also mentioned, as well as the younger societies, the Junior Endeavor organizations. The whole report was full of encouraging records of past endeavor, and of inspiration for the future.

The election of officers for the coming year was the next item of business, the following officers being elected: President, Miss Florence Genevieve Hawkins; vice-presidents, E. E Anthony and E Lake; secretary and treasurer, Miss Ernestine M. Smith. I. Winthrop Travell moved a vote of thanks to the retiring president and secretary, which was unanimously passed. Miss Hawkins said a few earnest words concerning her appreciation of the honor conferred upon her, and her desire, "trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength," to worthily fill her new position.

She then introduced the first speaker of the evening, Clarence Schenck, of Newark, who gave a most vigorous and practical address on "Sabbath Observance." He spoke of man's need, physical, mental and social, of a day of rest, and of the various ways in which the sabbath is broken in New Jersey. Sunday bicycling, with danger to morality from the frequenting of low road houses, was spoken of with especial plainness. Mr. Schenck, who is the head of the N. J. State C. E. Sabbath Observance Department, is anxious to have a sub-department organized in every local union, which should set every individual society at the work of promoting sabbath observance in their own immediate vicinity.

At the close of Mr. Schenck's address, Miss Hawkins spoke of a suggestion which had been made to the union, of opening in Plainfield a summer home for the poor girls of New York. Rev. Mr. Fox, pastor of a mission church in "darkest New York," had been invited to speak on the work which might be done by such an organization, and was now introduced. He described the conditions of life amid which the poor of great cities live, and what might be done for them by fresh air, wholesome food, contact with nature, and with friendly Christian people. If such a movement could be started in Plainfield, many mothers who cannot now come to the Westfield Camp because they cannot leave their older children, could come out from the city at the same time with them.

At the close of the address Miss Hawkins announced that the question would be acted upon by the union at a later date.

After the singing of "Blest be the tie," and the benediction, pronounced by Rev. A. I. Martine, of Dunellen, the Endeavorers adjourned to the parlors of the church, where refreshments were served and an informal sociable was held.

Leaves One Office to Take Another.

Supt. Rollinson, of the Public Schools of Rahway, has resigned. It was accepted with regret by the board. The resignation takes effect March 31st. Mr. W. M. Swingle, principal of the High School, will be appointed superintendent for the school year. Mr. Rollinson has lately been appointed postmaster.

Putting the Streets in Condition.

At the first suggestion of spring time, the street department has started out vigorously to place the city streets in better condition for the opening of the season. Gangs of men have been started on East Front street, Grant avenue, Central avenue and West Fifth street, and Watchung and Belvidere avenues. They will clean off some of the superfluous mud and dirt and patch the macadam in such places as are necessary.

SPAIN BUYING SHIPS

News of Her Purchase of War Vessels Confirmed.

GETS THREE NEW CRUISERS

Two Coast Defense Vessels About to Be Launched in France, Also Secured—The Amazonas Will Have a Spanish Crew—America's Waiting Game.

London, March 9.—The English newspapers confirm the news of Spain's purchase of war ships. The St. James's Gazette, which Monday published the denials of the Spanish Embassy and Spanish Naval Commission, which has an office in London, says:

"It is ascertained on very high authority, in spite of denials, that the Spanish Government has almost certainly succeeded in buying three nearly completed cruisers here and two coast defense vessels in France. Experts are almost as much surprised at the success of Madrid in raising money as by the clever diplomacy which secured the Chilian and Brazilian cruisers of the Armstrongs, at a cost believed to be a million pounds sterling, almost before the move was suspected."

The article goes on to say that much competition between Spain and the United States for these various ships constructing was expected, "but America has come to the conclusion that its naval resources are strong enough to confront Spain, and is playing a waiting game."

Continuing, the St. James' Gazette says: "An American naval authority now in this country takes a cynical view of the six torpedo boats building for Spain here and of the three already delivered, 'which might just as well be paid for by Spain in the first instance, and make valuable additions to the United States Navy later on.'"

The article also points out that the earliest time in which the Chilian cruiser, which cost £400,000 ($2,000,000) can be finished is three months, and adds that the other vessels purchased will take longer to finish, so that in the event of war, "which will come soon if at all," the ships will be useless, as international law will prevent their delivery."

In conclusion, the St. James's Gazette remarks: "A feature of the warship market at present is the small number of vessels available. Three cruisers and two coast defense vessels is the best Great Britain and France can do. It is true these are not the only warships building; but the others, twelve Japanese and two Chinese cruisers, and eight torpedo destroyers for Japan, are so keenly and immediately desired by their respective governments, that no price would buy them."

It is said that even if the Amazonas should sail from here with a Brazilian crew, she will turn up in Cuban waters with a Spanish crew. The affair, naturally, has been kept as secret as possible.

Inquiry among financiers and diplomats here who are most likely to know the facts reveals general skepticism regarding the reports that a Spanish loan has been floated in London. Spain, it is true, has made repeated attempts to raise money, the most recent attempt being only a fortnight ago, when the Rothschilds and other financiers were approached and emphatically and finally informed the Spanish agents that there was no more money to be had from them for Spain.

Diplomats here say Spain has endeavored to raise a loan among her wealthy citizens abroad, offering a lien on public buildings as security, and it is thought possible this may be the source of the present disbursements.

Woodford Says Spanish Loan Has Failed.

Washington, March 9.—A cablegram received from Minister Woodford was laid before the Cabinet yesterday by the President. It declared that Spain has exhausted every means of raising money for the prosecution of a war, without success. All the financial centres of Europe have rejected her overtures. General Woodford pronounces it an utter impossibility for Spain to secure funds with which to engage in hostilities against the United States.

BELGIAN PRINCE IN NEW YORK.

He Comes Over to Study American Customs and Methods.

New York, March 9.—Prince Albert Leopold Clement Maria Mainrad, of Belgium, arrived in this city yesterday on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. The Prince's visit being official, he is traveling incognito as the Count de Rethy. Accompanying him are Lieutenant-Colonel Jungbluth, his aide-de-camp, and Court Physician Charles Melis.

The Prince is only twenty-two years of age, and is handsome and well-built. He is deeply interested in economics and the industrial progress of his country, and the real purpose of his visit here is to study American methods and customs.

After being entertained in this city he will be taken by Count Lichtervelde to Washington, where a series of receptions are to be given in his honor. On Friday evening he will be dined by President McKinley, and on Saturday evening by Vice-President Hobart.

From Washington he goes South as far as New Orleans and West as far as San Francisco. It is his intention to visit all of the important cities of the country.

He is finely educated and well fitted to make a study of America, and he is said to have a disposition to give his people the benefit of his observations when he comes to the throne as the successor of his uncle, King Leopold.

The Sharkey-Choynski Fight.

San Francisco, March 9.—The Sharkey-Choynski fight, which takes place on Friday night, has aroused more interest here than any mill for months. Already there has been some heavy betting, and the fact that money is coming in so far ahead of hostilities makes it certain that it will be the biggest betting fight of years here. The odds are now 10 to 9 on Sharkey. Next in interest is the Jackson-Jeffries mill. It was said that Jackson found he could not get into condition, and the Olympic Club sent a physician to examine him. He reports that the negro is in splendid form.

PASSING COMMENT.

At the square which stands at the intersection of LaGrande and Putnam avenues and Franklin place there is a group of electric lights that sadly need attention. They were meant to be a cluster of four sixteen candle-power lamps inside of a large globe. The vicissitudes of life have ended the career of two of the lamps and the other two burn very dimly. At night the square is hardly lighted, instead of being brightly illuminated, unless the moon comes to the assistance of the electric lights.

The weather of Sunday was so decidedly springlike that there were many wheelmen and wheelwomen who availed themselves of the privilege of a spin on the county roads. The roads were in fairly good condition except for sundry small sections of mud. Plainfield sent its quota of wheelmen out and there were a number of others who passed through the city during the day. The owners of fast horses found the day a good one for their kind of pleasure and there were numerous fast steppers to be seen all along the county roads. Aside from the county roads the rest of the thoroughfares were nigh impassable for the mud.

Editor Morse, of the Westfield Leader, is original and up-to-date in his methods of maintaining a live religious interest in the Disciples mission at Garwood, which he conducts. Taking the current war talk for a basis, he printed the following card and distributed it among his friends:

WAR HAS BEEN DECLARED AGAINST Spain, Not Spain, but Satan.
Christ warns you against the enemy.
Will you enlist?
Will you have Jesus for your Captain?

The Cranford Chronicle editor says that the slips were signed in enthusiasm and numbers.

Wheelmen of this city, and especially members of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be interested to hear of a wheeling trip with educational features which is being arranged by Secretary Lewis, of the Prospect Park Branch, of Brooklyn. Mr. Lewis received so many favorable comments upon a similar trip taken by a number of association men under his direction last summer that he has decided upon a trip next summer through the Shenandoah Valley. The length of time required for the trip will be two weeks. The route will include visits to Valley Forge, Gettysburg, Antietam, Harper's Ferry, the Luray Cavern and other points of interest. The indications are that the party will be a large one this year, as the plan combines pleasure with education in a very acceptable manner.

From time to time many budding poetical geniuses offer their wares gratis to The Press, and sometimes they escape the waste basket and blossom forth in type to startle the poet's friends who usually are ignorant of his or her ability to successfully rhyme words and soft sentiments. The following poem has been hanging on the coat tails of the editor for some time, and so here it is:

TO LINCOLN.

Hail thou! O Lincoln grand,
Thou saver of the States.
Thy name shall ever stand
Unchanged by time or fates.
Thou didst for freedom rise
To set the negroes free.
Praise for thee shall reach the skies
Thou lover of blest liberty.

They looked to thee for freedom.
Thine ear did hear their cry.
Thy hand stretched forth to save them.
Emancipation thy reply!
Once more then we must hail thee
Hail thee! O Lincoln, just,
In sacred memor, thy name shall be
Tho' thy body's turned to dust.

Thy name can never perish
In the country of the free.
Thy acts we all shall cherish
Till time no more shall be.
By an impious hand did death
Seek thee for his own.
But he did not take away the memory
Of the saver of our flag and home.

—H. L. Martin.

Incidentally it might be stated that Mr. Martin is a shoe clerk. Also that he is musing now over a memorial poem to the memory of the Maine victims.

RESULT IN THE BOROUGH.

It was pretty well settled before the polls opened that the Republicans, with the exception of the candidate for assessor, would be victorious in the borough. The Democrats, however, made a fight that put the Republicans on their mettle, and great interest was shown in the struggle. The men elected are entirely worthy of the confidence that has been placed in them by the voters, and the municipality across the brook is assured of a continuance of the present good government.

NO POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE.

The borough and township elections held throughout this section yesterday were not sweeping enough in favor of either one party or the other to have any general political significance. Each section had different issues at stake, all of which were purely local and in no way indicative of a drift of sentiment that may affect the body politic at large. The returns published in The Press today, which have been gathered carefully and authentically, will show this to be true.

"Don't skip the third page."

PATRIOTIC BUSINESS MEN.

Agitating Observance of Decoration Day in a Fitting Manner.

A movement is now on foot looking toward a proper celebration of Decoration Day, this year. There has been a feeling among many of the Grand Army men of this city, which has been steadily growing, that the significance of that day is not appreciated by the general public in Plainfield. The Grand Army posts with their auxiliary organizations have done their share in providing for the ceremonies of the day but they have not had the support from the townsfolk that they deem should be forth coming. Most of the people consider the day one for out-door pleasure and forget entirely the reason for the observation of the holiday.

Now it is the plan of the G. A. R. men to arrange a more united celebration. They do not wish to prevent the citizens from spending the day enjoyably, but they think that a little time should be spent in memory of the heroes of the war who fell in defence of their homes.

The attention of the new Board of Trade is to be called at their next meeting to the circumstances already mentioned, and the Board is to be requested to take the matter in hand and arrange a public celebration for May 30th. While there has been no promise from the Board that the request will be granted, several of the influential members of the Board who have heard of the proposed plan expressed themselves as being in favor of it.

CYCLING COMMENT.

J. J. Goff, of Park avenue, has purchased a bicycle, and last Monday he rode his wheel to Elizabeth. Mr. Goff is a heavyweight, but he gets there just the same.

The New Jersey Bicycle and Supply Co., R. Frucht, proprietor, corner of Park avenue and Second street, have a large stock of bicycles, tires, lamps, oils, cement, bells, brackets tapes and other bicycle articles, which they are offering at very great bargains. They claim that no such prices were ever offered before in Plainfield. Don't miss this chance for a bargain. They sell both wholesale and retail. See their advertisement in another column.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

WOMAN'S PART.

Elston M. French's Popularity With the Ladies an Element of His Success.

There are those men in the borough who account for Elston M. French's victory for the Assessorship by linking his success at the polls with his popularity with the fair sex of the community. Though without their votes, Mr. French concededly had the voice of every woman whom he knows in the borough with him in his canvass for votes, and however much the husbands may declare that they voted for the young man out of the goodness of their own heart, it is not at all improbable that they were prompted by the admonition of their wives or sweethearts.

MAYOR WILSON JUBILANT.

He is Highly Gratified Over the Result of Election.

Mayor Wilson is beaming all over with smiles this morning as a result of the election in the borough yesterday.

He expressed himself as highly gratified and pleased, especially with the choice of Messrs. Rogers and Valiant for the Council. The Mayor said that with such gentlemen in the Council the taxpayers could be assured of careful adminsitration of public affairs.

Maggie Benford in Court Again.

Paradise alley has again come into prominence. Mrs. Maggie Benford, grey-haired and decrepid, is again implicated. James Brown, a very Americanized son of Italy, claims to be the victim of her wrath. He says that she has been using all sorts of improper language to him, calling him bad names and generally disturbing the neighborhood with her foul tongue. But for her and her family, he says, Paradise alley would never have attained the unenviable reputation it has secured.

THEATRICAL.

Sidney R. Ellis' very successful attraction, "Darkest Russia," will be presented at Stillman Music Hall Friday night. It has a strong plot, full of dramatic situations, and although having largely for its theme the unreasonable laws of Russia, it is in no way sensational. It does not bore the audience with scenes that are unreal. On the contrary every art known to stage realism has been utilized to make the effect as natural and picturesque as possible. In dealing with the secret police, nobility, Nihilists and exiles, the author, H. Grattan Donnelly, has shown great skill, and the play pictures Russia as it is today in a true and faithful manner. The company that will interpret the different characters in the play is a strong one, and Manager Ellis' personal guarantee is given that it will be a first-class performance. Best reserved seats on lower floor, 50 cents.

Manager Mace Edwards announces with much satisfaction that he has effected an engagement with Augustin Daly for the appearance of his famous company in the greatest success seen in this country for years, "The Geisha," which will have its first presentation at Stillman Music Hall Wednesday night of next week. This is the original organization that has been holding such sway in New York at Daly's Theatre and throughout the country. It is complete and perfect in every detail. The music is delightful, the costuming exquisite and elegant, the whole production one of sumptuous beauty. The original favorites all appear—Miss Virginia Earle, Miss Nancy McIntosh, Miss Ethel Hormick, Miss Helma Nelson, James T. Powers, Cyril Scott, Augustus Cook and Julius Steger.

A BAKER'S HARD LUCK.

Rudolph Kersting Badly Broken Up Over His Business Failure.

After a hard struggle to keep his business going, Rudolph Kersting has been compelled to close up his bakery on West Front street. Yesterday City Judge DeMeza, as attorney for Kersting's old partner, Hermann Klinsman, who held a mortgage for $300, closed up the place. There were also several other attachments.

Kersting was greatly excited over his troubles and it was feared might take desperate measures. His wife was in terror for fear that he might attempt to end his own life. Judge DeMeza and Canstable Rockafellow stopped him as he attempted to leave the store. After a search the constable found a loaded revolver on his person.

The property at the bakery will be sold Monday at auction to satisfy the mortgage.

E. J. Richards has decided to abandon his drug business at Liberty and West Fourth streets.

—Pastor McKane, of the Deciples Church, will speak on "Sowing and Reaping" this evening.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

The Ladies' Sewing Society of the Presbyterian church will hold its monthly meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. C. A. Andrus, of Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Hester Knapp, of East Orange, are visiting at the home of John Knapp, on Broad street.

The Woman's Club entertained its men friends at the Westfield Club Hall Monday evening. The chief event of the evening was a reading by George W. Cable, the well-known novelist.

Westfield is somewhat agitated over a threatened invasion of its streets by the Elizabeth Gaslight Company. The report is circulating that the company has several carloads of gas mains on the way to the town and that when they arrive a large force of men will be brought in and the streets torn up without consulting the township authorities. The company claims that it is given the power to do this by its charter. The company was incorporated at the same time as the Union Water Company, and controlled by John Kean. It is said that the original plan was to commence the work of laying the pipes Monday, but the cars containing the mains were held along the road by the orders of Kean, who feared that such a hostile demonstration on the part of his company might have a detrimental effect upon the chances of the Republican ticket in yesterday's town election. If the attempt is made to lay the pipes as reported it is possible that the citizens will use force to prevent the seizure of the streets.

Bronchitis.

A condition, and not a disease. A dozen causes, but only one cure.

Bronchitis comes when the membranes of the air passages are unable to throw off waste products that some morbid condition of the system allows to accumulate there. The remedy needed is DeLong's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

It is a constructive tonic with specific action on the bronchial tubes. Ours is the best emulsion because always fresh. Cures all chronic affections of the air passages.

Being Certain!

We know that many people who have bought Pianos from us have come here with the idea that, knowing nothing about Pianos themselves, they could put their trust in our judgment and feel safe.

Good reputation is a first requisite in business—especially a Piano business—and our reputation is so good that we have yet to hear of a buyer of one of our Pianos who wasn't perfectly satisfied.

Good Pianos only, and straight liberal methods of doing business, have built our immense trade.

WONDERFUL TRANSFORMATION

OF AN AFFLICTED BUT WELL-KNOWN SOCIETY LADY OF PLAINFIELD.

Suffered with Paralysis Four Long Years, Had Tried all Known Methods In Vain and been Given Up as Incurable by the Medical Profession, but is cured in a single Treatment by the Boy Phenomenon, now at the Revere House.

It's astonishing how good news will spread. From every ward and street come reports of people talking about the wonderful cures being performed by the Boy Phenomenon. Truth, genuine merit, skill, a wonderful gift of healing, and honorable methods are sure to receive their just reward, and it is upon and along those lines that he has secured the confidence of the public. So many cures have been accomplished the past three weeks that it is next to impossible to investigate them all, but a few will be given publicity each day for the benefit of the afflicted who are desirous of investigating some cure before undergoing treatment.

When anything that promises relief is offered you, the first thing you wish to know is, if it ever cured anyone else, and what is more important, if they STAYED cured, and the amount of faith you will have in trying it will depend upon the reliability of the testimony offered in its behalf. When this is from remote strangers way beyond the reach of your consultation, doubts are sure to arise, but when it comes from disinterested people whom you know and can consult at any time, its reliability is apparent—its truth not to be doubted.

Still the invalid world have been imposed upon so much that they DO doubt. Their sad experiences have MADE them doubt everything that promises to afford them relief. It is even surprising that they are willing to try again, so often have they been deceived and discouraged, nor will they, unless undeniable proof be given them that the method which promises relief is genuine. They want proof, proof founded on truth and facts, wailed about, domed and turreted with facts. Facts are the offspring of development and accomplishment, and development is the material and legitimate progeny of doubt. Doubt leads to investigation, investigation to discovery, and discovery enlightens the mind, expands the intellect and brings us into closer affinity with nature, and thus it is that when an overgratified patient is positive they have been permanently cured or benefitted, their statement is published for the benefit of those who wish to further investigate. One of the most phenomenal cures accomplished since his arrival in Plainfield—phenomenal, because of the instantaneous relief which followed the first treatment, is that of Mrs. Caroline J. Ohl, who was one of the prominent ladies of society, and a leader in many organizations, previous to the accident which rendered her left side useless over 4 years ago. As the details of that accident are too well known to need recounting, as also her past hopeless and helpless condition.

Her simple statement to a newspaper man will be sufficient to alloy all doubts as to the efficacy of his power in similar affections. "As is well-known, I sustained an injury 4 years ago which paralyzed my left side, rendering it almost useless. All treatments have failed to help me until I was treated by the Boy Phenomenon. The first treatment restored to me the use of my left arm. I can now walk without pain, the numbness has all left my limb and I can walk with ease and have perfect use of it. I feel like a new being. I cannot express my thanks and gratitude in sufficiently strong terms for what the Boy Phenomenon has done in my case."

Those who desire his services should avail themselves of this pleasant weather and time, as it will be six months before his return. His office at the Revere House opens at 10 a. m. and closes at 5 p. m. daily, where consultation and examination may be obtained by the physician in chief to the Boy Phenomenon.

STREET RAILWAY ORDINANCE.

AN ORDINANCE locating the tracks of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company on North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed) Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road within the Township of Fanwood, in the County of Union, and authorizing and empowering the construction and operation and maintenance of the same and granting permission for said Company to use electricity as the propelling power of its cars, and prescribing the terms and conditions upon which such location of the tracks and permission are granted.

Whereas, The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway a corporation organized under the provisions of an act entitled "An act to authorize the formation of traction companies for the construction and operation of street railways, or railroads operated as street railways, and to regulate the same," approved March fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, having first filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, a description of the routes, together with maps exhibiting the same, did present their petition or application to the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, praying the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, for its consent to the construction, operation and maintenance of a street railway in the Township of Fanwood, and the right to locate its tracks conformably to the route filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, which route in the Township of Fanwood is upon and along North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, and was set out in the said petition, and

Whereas, Public notice has been duly given of such application and of the intention of the Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood to consider the same by publication, also by posting a copy of the said notice in five or more of the most public places in said Township of Fanwood at least fourteen days prior to the date of the meeting of the said Township Committee, and

Whereas, Upon the day fixed by said notice and upon such days as the said hearing was adjourned to, public hearing was given to all persons desiring to be heard in favor of or opposed to or in any wise interested in the said application for the location of its tracks and the said matter having been duly considered by the said Township Committee of the Township of Fanwood, and the said Company having filed with the Clerk of said Township the consent in writing of the owners or their duly authorized legal representatives of at least one-half in amount of the lineal feet of property on said North Avenue, Terrill Road, Second Street extension (proposed), Westfield Avenue and Forrest Road, within the Township of Fanwood, and upon which permission to locate, operate and maintain said street railway is asked,

The railway tracks and macadam or telford pavement shall be laid and constructed in the best workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Township Committee or other committee thereof having charge of the streets.

Section 3. During the construction of the said railway lighted lanterns shall be kept and maintained by said Company from sunset to sunrise at each and every night not less than fifty feet and not more than one hundred feet apart along every part of said avenues and streets, where the work of construction shall have been begun and not completed. The work in all other respects shall be thoroughly protected so as to prevent accident. In case any accident shall happen to any person or damage to property is caused because or by reason of any work connected with such construction of said railway, or afterward because or by reason of the operation thereof, or through carelessness or negligence of any of the Company's officers, agents, servants or employees, the same Company shall indemnify and save the said Township of Fanwood and its Township Committee from all costs, loss or damage by reason thereof.

Section 4. The Company shall at all times keep in good condition and repair to the satisfaction of the Township Committee (repaving if necessary) the paving between the tracks, between the rails and eighteen inches outside the same, to a depth of four inches.

Furniture Advertising That Costs--Yet Pays

It costs us many dollars to buy newspaper space. It costs us many more to whittle down all prices where no profit, often loss is sustained. Yet while costly advertising in one way, it's paying in another.

By it we gained over 3 acres of floor space, an immense list of cash and credit patrons, a reputation for liberality in every deal. And now it's clearing out many present lines at a rapid gait, leaving elbow room for Spring patterns fast seeking entrance.

The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

GIVEN AWAY FREE.

Samples of the only Natural Pure Iron Medicine extracted from Fresh Blood of Bullocks.

This Natural Iron called Hæmoglobin, which we extract from the fresh blood of bullocks, is enclosed in little soft gelatine covers. It is perfectly natural and contains no acid such as all other iron medicines contain. It never blackens the teeth; it agrees with the weakest stomach; it is the greatest blood maker; it causes no skin eruptions; it is tasteless and odorless; it makes pale people rosy; it does not constipate the bowels; it makes the nerves strong and it adds to your veins TWO OUNCES OF BLOOD DAILY, and is called

Capsuloids—the only natural iron medicine—is not a patent medicine, and wherever introduced is at once taken up by the doctors. You say you cannot take iron? Try Capsuloids. Come for a free sample box of Capsuloids and you will find you can take Natural Iron. How can you get them? To secure a free sample box, cut this out and take it to L. W. Randolph, 143 W. Front St.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold at 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50, or sent by mail on receipt of price by THE CAPSULOID COMPANY, 146 Fifth Ave., New York.

This is not a patent or secret medicine. It is prescribed largely by doctors.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

A SIMPLE, HARMLESS REMEDY.

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics, and nine tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars' worth of patent medicines, and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

SQUADRON NOT TO SAIL

The Spanish Torpedo Boats Will Remain at Cadiz.

DEPARTURE IS POSTPONED

The Pais Says That the Fleet Will Not "Sail Now, Nor at Any Time in the Future"—Gen. Woodford's Visits Mentioned.

London, March 9.—Advices received here from Madrid say the Spanish torpedo squadron at Cadiz will not sail for Cuba, "owing to information received from the United States and Captain-General Blanco."

The Pais, in confirming the statement that the departure of the torpedo squadron has been indefinitely stopped, says:

"It would not be surprising were the event closely connected with the recent visits of General Woodford to Senor Gullon and Senor Sagasta. Every one may be assured that the squadron will neither sail now nor at any time in the future."

NOTHING AGAINST LEE.

Spain Has Received No Complaint Regarding His Attitude.

Madrid, March 9.—A semi-official note just issued declares that the Spanish Government has not received any complaint regarding the attitude of General Fitzhugh Lee, the United States Consul-General at Havana, adding:

"On the contrary, Captain-General Blanco affirms that General Lee's behavior has always been correct. Nevertheless, the incident serves to explain the origin of the ill will between the two countries. This is proved by the statements attributed to Secretary Sherman, by which the jingoes have created the belief in the United States that Spain is trying to provoke war, while at the same time engendering the feeling in Spain that it is the United States which demands the opening of hostilities.

"It is essential that this double game should be ended, in order to prevent the two countries from going to war without motives, and without either of them desiring it."

Assurances of Peace.

A semi-official news agency has issued the following announcement:

"After a brief uneasiness, there is a general belief now that peace will not be broken, and that the relations between Spain and the United States will continue amicable.

"Political personages assert that the late sensational dispatches are completely wrong in attributing an aggressive tone to the diplomatic relations between the two governments, which have not for a single moment lost their friendly character."

TO BUY WARSHIPS.

Commander Brownson Has Absolute Carte Blanche.

Washington, March 9.—The most important feature of the day yesterday, aside from the Congress proceedings, was the departure of Commander Brownson of the Navy for Europe with carte blanche orders to buy battleships, cruisers or torpedo boats in his individual judgment, and without waiting for instructions from the Secretary of the Navy. Before leaving Washington, Commander Brownson had decided with other officers and the Secretary that most of the vessels now offered for sale were antiquated and might not be considered.

The ships to which Commander Brownson will devote his attention first are the armored cruisers which are being built for the Argentine Republic and Chili—one at Leghorn, in Italy, and one in England. Such ships, if the United States navy would be rated as second class battle ships. They are of about the same tonnage as the Maine and would carry about the same complement of men and guns, and, altogether, would be most desirable vessels.

This country could purchase the two, but not either one singly. The rivalry between the Chilians and the people in the Argentine is too intense to permit of the existence of a government in either that would sell a ship while its rival was building one. It is well understood, however, that this country can purchase both, and that it will do so.

Great Enthusiasm at Maine Benefit.

Washington, March 9.—A crowd gathered outside the National Theatre yesterday afternoon half an hour before the beginning of the concert for the beenfit of the Maine sufferers, and when the President and Mrs. McKinley arrived there was a burst of cheers which was continued in the theatre. The President was obliged to come to the front of his box and to bow several times before the excitement subsided. Every seat in the house was filled, and it is estimated that about $2,500 was cleared for the fund.

The audience was the most fashionable that has ever gathered in a Washington play house and the most American. The only foreigner present was Mr. Zelenry, the Secretary of the Russian Legation, who, when the little flags were sold by the prettiest girls in Washington, bought two and waved them with much enthusiasm.

Shot Dead by a Burglar.

Providence, R. I., March 9.—William O. Hutchins, a wealthy jewelry manufacturer and one of the best known of the younger business men in the city, was shot dead in front of his house by a robber about 7 o'clock last evening. The murderer got away, and there is no clue to his identity. The tragedy occurred in the heart of the fashionable residence part of the city. Mr. Hutchins was about thirty-three years of age. The entire detective force of the city is at work on the case.

Col. Morrison's Successor.

Washington, March 9.—The President sent to the Senate yesterday the nomination of William J. Calhoun, of Illinois, to be an Interstate Commerce Commissioner. Mr. Calhoun, who succeeds Colonel William R. Morrison as Interstate Commerce Commissioner, is a lawyer of Danville, Ill., and was appointed Special Commissioner to Cuba by President McKinley last year.

RESULTS OF ELECTION.

was very little to excite interest. The ticket nominated by the Republicans and Democrats was elected as follows: Town committeeman, T. H. Taylor; commissioners of appeal, P. H. Ackor, A. P. Voorhies, Goldstein Smalley; surveyors of highways, E S. Ackor, George Steward; pound-keepers, John Gunn. J. R. Doty. In the contest for the office of constable, H. F. Ackor, R., and C. Rolf, D., each received 22 votes, and another election will be necessary. The Republican appropriation of $1,000 for roads was defeated, and the amount of $1,500 named by the Democrats was carried. The salary of Town Committeemen was made $25 as usual. The appropriation of $300 for support of poor was carried.

RESULTS IN UNION COUNTY.

Indications Are That J. Martin Roll is Elected Freeholder.

The contests in the other townships of Union county were very close. The vote was the largest that has been polled except at a State or National election. The returns are slow in coming in, but they indicate a slight Democratic gain in the Board of Freeholders.

George W. Littell, Republican, has been beaten in Cranford by Emmor K. Adams, Independent Republican, nominated on a citizens' ticket, and indorsed by the Democrats. Adams and all the rest of the candidates on the citizens' ticket were elected by over 200 majority.

James A. Burnet, Democrat in Union township, is re-elected Freeholder by about 60 majority. The Democratic candidates for the other township offices were elected by about the same majorities.

The indications are that Freeholder J. Martin Roll, Republican, the trolley king, is re-elected in Springfield by a much reduced majority, and that Freeholder Swain, Democrat, has been successful in Summit.

The latest returns from Linden indicate the defeat of Harry McCandless, the Republican candidate for Freeholder, by Francis T. Higgins, Democrat, by 28 majority. The entire Democratic ticket was very probably elected.

The contest in Clark township was very close. It resulted in the election of Mayor Benjamin King, Republican, for freeholder over M. H. Ackeer, Democrat, by a majority of 4. The remainder of the Republican ticket was elected by a majority varying from 4 to 6.

MAYOR KYTE NOW.

He Received Nearly All the Votes Cast in Fanwood Borough.

In Fanwood borough the Citizens' ticket headed by George Kyte, for Mayor, went through with large majorities. The total number of ballots cast was 71, and the majority of John Robinson, Republican candidate for freeholder, over Charles French, Democrat, was 38.

For the office of mayor, former Sheriff George Kyte had practically no opposition, receiving 62 out of 71 votes. Alfred MacKowan and John P. Stevens were elected councilmen for three years. Col. Chas. K. Moore, Republican, was defeated for justice of the peace by John L. Jones, Citizens' candidate by a plurality of 17 Anthony Farley, another Citizens' candidate, was elected commissioner of appeal, and appropriations of $2,000 were voted for borough expenses.

NO FIGHT IN WARREN.

Republicans and Democrats United on Candidates.

The following candidates were unanimously elected in Warren township: For justice of the peace, Chas. E. Austin; for township committee, Henry P. Williams, for constable, John Miller, for commissioner of appeals, William F. Redman, all for three years; for surveyor of highways, William Miller; for poundkeepers, Antone Ammon, Jacob Koechlein and John Burnett.

Acquitted at a Mock Trial.

The Plainfield Debating Society held a mock trial last evening. Edward Baker was charged with assaulting George Allen. William Sweeney and Harvey Linbarger were the attorneys for the State, while Harry DeMeMeza and V. W. Nash, Jr., conducted the defence. Justice V. W. Nash and Counsellor W. K. McClure were the justices. The prisoner was acquitted.

Adopted New By-laws.

The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church held a business meeting, last evening. The committee on by-laws, of which James McGee was chairman, made its report and the new by-laws were adopted without objection.

Under such circumstances the Prudent Farmer and Dairyman should see that he gets the most value for his money.

With us he has a large variety of feed from which to choose. Among those that seem at this time most desirable are MIDDLINGS, OAT FEED and PEA MEAL, all of which are cheap in proportion to their feeding value.

LATE RETURNS SHOW SOME BIG SURPRISES.

Union County Board of Freeholders May Be a Tie.

MR. ROLL, TROLLEY KING, ELECTED.

If Elizabeth Goes Democratic Next Month the County Legislature Will Be Composed of Eight Democrats and Eight Republicans—Election in Springfield Was Hotly Contested—Summit Went Democratic—Results in Other Towns.

Latest returns from the township elections in Union county show some big surprises in the freeholder contests. Should Elizabeth elect four Democratic freeholders next month the new board would stand eight Republicans and eight Democrats, with one Independent Republican. Freeholder Wahl, Republican, of New Providence; Freeholder Swain, Democrat, of Summit; Freeholder Robinson, Republican, of Fanwood; Freeholder Burnet, Democrat, of Union, and Freeholder Roll, Republican, of Springfield, were all re elected by nearly the usual majorities. A feature of the elections was the very heavy vote polled in most of the townships, it being only exceeded by that cast at a Presidential election.

The election in Springfield was the most hotly-contested held in years, and the vote was unusually large for a township election. The fight was over the office of chosen freeholder, and J. Martin Roll was re-elected to the board by a plurality of 11 votes. His total was 91, against 80 for Lewis T. Terry, the Prohibition candidate, and 56 for Dr. T. J. Jackson, the Democratic candidate.

Early in the morning a so-called "Independent Republican ticket" bearing the names of the regular Republican nominees, except that Terry's name was in the place of Roll's for freeholder, made its appearance. Thirty-seven of these tickets found their way into the ballot-box. The Prohibition vote was 43 and the Democratic 61.

Mr. Roll and his friends were greatly pleased over his victory. George MacDonald, who was recently appointed postmaster at Springfield, was supported by Mr. Roll, who declared Mr. Terry, the opposing candidate for the place, to be a "Mugwump." Mr. Terry and Mr. Roll were candidates for the Republican nomination for freeholder, and after the latter had been nominated Mr. Terry accepted the Prohibition nomination, and made an energetic canvass in the effort to defeat Mr. Roll.

The entire Republican ticket, except Mr. Roll, was elected by 63 plurality, and is as follows: Township committeeman, three years, Albert P. Carter; justice of the peace, unexpired term, Ezra R. Squire; constable, three years, Isaac R. Howard; commissioner of appeals, three years, Theodore E. Squire; surveyors of highways, George W. Goff and Abraham J. Kolster; poundkeepers, Nathan C. Merwin, George W. Goff, Christopher Thomas and Thomas Lamb.

The entire Democratic ticket was elected in Summit with the exception of constable, George C. Hand, the Democratic candidate for township committeeman, defeated A. M. Jones, Republican, by twelve majority. The other successful Democratic candidates are: Freeholder, William H. Swain; assessor, James W. Reeves; justice of the peace, LeRoy A. Gibby; commissioner of appeals, Alexander A. Taylor and J. F. Chamberlain; overseer of the poor, John Kelly; surveyors of highways, Patrick Kelly and Martin Funcheon; poundkeepers, James Moore, William A. Sayre, William Eagan and James Eakley.

John F. Wahl was re elected chosen freeholder in New Providence on the Republican ticket by a majority of fifty. Jasper Fuchs, the Democratic candidate for member of the township committee, was elected.

Cranford defeated Freeholder George W. Littell, Republican, by about 200 majority, his successful opponent, Emmor K. Adams, being elected by a combination of Republicans and Democrats on a Citizens' ticket.

In Clark township every vote but one in the township was cast, and Major Ben King, Republican freeholder, was only re elected by four majority.

Linden, a strong Republican township, furnishes the greatest surprise, Harry McCandless, Republican, being beaten by twenty-eight votes for freeholder by Francis T. Higgins, Democrat.

HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONS

A Baptist Worker Tells of the Endeavors of that Denomination.

Last evening at the First Baptist church Mrs. J. O. Robinson, a graduate of the Baptist Training School, of Philadelphia, gave an illustrated lecture on home and foreign mission work before the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. The views were especially fine and portrayed vividly the work being done by the Baptists in this country and abroad. Especially interesting were the views showing the slum work in this country. Mrs. Robinson is a very interesting lecturer and she made her subjects a delight to all present. She was very successful in enlisting the sympathies of her audience and at the close a collection was taken to further the interests of the work.

Evangelist Moody's Meetings.

It will interest Plainfield people to hear of the series of meetings to be conducted by the great Evangelist Moody in the Grand Central Palace, on Lexington avenue, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets, New York city. The meetings will be held every week day next week, except Thursday, from 10 o'clock a. m. to 10 p. m. Besides Mr. Moody the speakers will include Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, of Philadelphia, Dr. A. C. Dixon, of Brooklyn, and many other favorites. Next Thursday will be Christian Endeavor Day, and the meetings will be in charge of President Francis E. Clark, John Willis Baer and others. The seats will be free.

Wood Pile on Fire.

Yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock an employe of the Pond Tool Works telephoned to fire headquarters and told First Assistant Chief Martin that there was a fire on West Front street near the works. Mr. Martin ordered the chemical engine to the scene, which was a large pile of wood near the home occupied by Isaac Houston, 935 West Front street. The wood caught fire from a locomotive spark and the inmates of the house were fearful lest the structure be destroyed. The firemen were kept busy for a half hour fighting the flames, and after discharging one tank the fire was extinguished.

Fractured His Ankle.

Louis Beekman, carpenter, of East Third street, met with a painful accident Tuesday while working on H. J. Martin's new house on Jackson avenue. He was working on a scaffold about eight feet from the ground, when he slipped and fell the entire distance to the ground. He was assisted to a physician's, and an examination developed the fact that an ankle was fractured. Mr. Beekman was taken to his home after proper treatment was given, and he will be confined for sometime.

A meeting of the trustees of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was held Monday evening. A number of applications for membership were received and accepted. The enlarged membership of the club is steadily filling up.

CONFESSED IN CHURCH.

SENSATIONAL INCIDENT IN A WESTFIELD HOUSE OF WORSHIP.

An Aged Couple Admit That They Were Too Strict With an Orphan Lad That They Fostered and Who is Dead.

An incident that is not often paralelled in these days was witnessed by those who attended service at the Westfield Baptist church last Sunday morning. Prompted by the upbraidings of their consciences an aged man and woman stood before the congregation of which they are members and confessed to a wrong which they had committed over a year ago, and which was beginning to be forgotten.

The couple who were the principal actors in this strange drama are John Bacon and his wife. They came to Westfield five years ago and started a small fish store. Trade prospered and Bacon soon needed help. He went to New York and secured an orphan boy named Robert Richardson, promising the people from whom he secured the lad that he would feed clothe and educate him well in return for his services. The boy was only twelve years old when brought to Westfield.

It was not long after the Bacons brought their youthful charge to the village before it began to be whispered about that the boy was cruelly treated. Stories were told of his begging food at the houses where he was sent to deliver fish, and of his being compelled to sleep in a shed without covering in the depth of winter.

Richardson ran away from the Bacons, and was given a home by Miss Luella Bennett, the daughter of the Westfield agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. The lad soon afterward developed a trouble of the head, and died within a few weeks in the Elizabeth General Hospital, where he was taken for treatment. The disease was in the bones of the head, and might have been caused, physicians said, by a blow.

Feeling ran high against the Bacons for a time, and many freely stated their opinion that the old man and his wife were responsible for the boy's death.

The dramatic climax came Sunday morning, when Bacon and his wife confessed in church that they had been too strict with the lad and had wronged him.

The confession was made amid a breathless silence on the part of the congregation, and in response to questions put by the pastor,

FOR MODERN WARFARE.

A New Industry at Garwood to Make Castings for Steel Projectiles.

The present crisis of National affairs arouses unusual interest in the fact that a factory is soon to be built at Garwood, seven miles from here, where steel projectiles for the heavy ordnance of this country is to be turned out as rapidly as needed.

Tuesday the ground was staked out for a large manufactory at Garwood. It is for the New Era Metal Company. The company manufactures steel castings by a new process which is claimed to possess special advantages for steel projectiles. The company is looking forward to a contract with the Government for the manufacture of them.

The factory is to be 100 feet long and 80 feet wide. It will be of brick with an iron frame. The New Era Company has contracted with the Berlin Bridge Company, of Berlin, Conn., for the erection of the building. The factory is to be located between North avenue and the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad, just west of the station, and opposite the present factory of the C. and C. Electric Company.

An International Delegate.

Aaron M. Powell, president of the American Purity Alliance, and Anna Rice Powell, corresponding secretary, were appointed at a recent meeting of the executive commitee as representatives to the international congress to convene in London in July. This congress will be held under the auspices of the International Federation for the Abolition of State Regulation of Vice.

A Garwood Enterprise.

Superintendent Frank W. Morse, of the Garwood Land and Improvement Company, has given an option to the Elmira Lumber Company on the establishment of a lumber and coal yard on a sight lying between North avenue and the Jersey Central railroad, east of the station.

To Discuss Appointments.

Next Saturday evening the Mayor and Council of the borough will hold an executive session in the borough lockup, for the purpose of discussing the appointments to be made next Monday evening.

DIDN'T HEED WARNING.

AND NOW THEY ARE DEFENDANTS IN A SUIT FOR TRESPASS.

A Privilege Accorded One Land Owner Was Used by Two Others Who Did Not Comply With the Orders Given.

The case of Pfinger against William Miller and John Miller was tried yesterday at Washingtonville before a twelvemen jury and Justice Speer. The case occupied the whole afternoon and the jury was out from 6 o'clock until 9:45, and was then unable to agree. The vote stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction. The jury was released and the case will be tried again next Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The facts of the case are that Pfinger owns some property near his hotel and in the rear of it John Weber owns a strip. Pfinger gave Weber the privilege of using his driveway to go back and forth, and Weber in turn gave the Miller brothers the same privilege. The latter arrangement was disliked by Mr. Pfinger and he objected. He then told the two brothers that he would sue them for trespass. They had no idea that he would until they received notice of such suit being commenced.

They secured Lawyer Horace Codington to defend them, and Pfinger employed McNabb & Clark. The trial was a long and tedious one. The jury was composed of the following: R. W. Vail, Wm. M. Demler, Theodore Leurrsen, Francis Bartel, P. H. Ackor, Arthur Phillips J. T. Mundy, Henry Kline, Robert Rogers, Louis Volz, H. X. Myers and George Mobus.

Next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock the case of Pfinger against Weber will be tried before Justice Speer. The same lawyers will represent Mr. Pfinger and Lawyer Codington will plead Mr. Weber's case. This case is for damages caused by Weber cutting wood on property which was only leased to him by Pfinger. In the case tried yesterday Mr. Pfinger sued for $100, and the same amount is stated in the case of Pfinger against Weber.

CHANGED TERM OF OFFICE.

Parliamentary Club Officers to Serve a Year Instead of Six Months.

The Parliamentary Club, of this city, held its regular meeting in the small hall of the Y. M. C. A. building this morning. The topic for the morning's study was the organization of the United States Government and the British Parliament. Mrs. E. Clark, Jr., was elected a member of the club, and the constitution was amended changing the term of the officers from six months to one year, and placing the annual meeting in April instead of October.

The committee in charge of the musical lecture under the club's auspices reported a successful sale of tickets. The club extended its invitation along with the other federated clubs of this city for the State Federation of Women's Clubs to hold its next annual convention in Plainfield.

A WAY TO CONSOLIDATE.

A New Scheme Will be Proposed to Effect a Greater Plainfield.

Although there has not been a meeting of the joint committee on consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield for several weeks, interest in the formation of Greater Plainfield has not lessened. It is understood from reliable authority that a prominent citizen is preparing a recommendation which will be submitted to the committee at no distant date. The proposed scheme is something on the line of former suggestions, but includes several entirely new ideas which will be considered with interest.

To Be Interred Here.

The remains of the late C. H. Winfield, of Jersey City, will be brought to this city Saturday morning on the arrival of the 9:40 train, to be interred in Hillside cemetery. The services will be private. The funeral will be held from his late home tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

GRASS WAS ON FIRE.

Threatened to Destroy a Chicken House in the Borough.

A small fire occurred on Sycamore avenue, in the borough, yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, in the rear of a house owned by Lewis Barkalew, of Lincoln place. Some one had set fire to the grass in the vacant lot back of the dwelling and it was rapidly spreading over the lot. When discovered by a small boy in the neighborhood the flames were dangerously near a chicken house which was threatened with destruction. The boy went to the home of B. A. Starr and one of the occupants sent in an alarm from Box 157, corner of Mercer avenue and Park place. Both borough fire departments responded and extinguished the flame before any damage resulted.

Yesterday afternoon a small boy walked into the office at French's mill, on Somerset street, and told Mr. French that his mill was on fire. The youngster appeared very cool. An investigation proved that employes at the mill were working on the roof repairing the elevator that was out of order. One of the men had been smoking a pipe and had knocked the ashes out on the roof. This set fire to the dry wood, and it was but a few minutes when the wood was smoking fiercely. A few pails of water soon extinguished the fire and it was not necessary to send in an alarm of fire. Three holes about the size of a man's head were burned in the roof, and that was the extent of the damage.

DID NOT PRESS HIS OLD PARTNER.

But When French Took Possession Klinsman Showed His Prior Claim.

The facts concerning the closing up of the business of Rudolph Kersting have appeared in a different light from those given in yesterday's Press. It was P. M. French, who secured an attachment against the property of Kersting, who took the initiatory move toward closing up the bakery. The execution was served by Constable Mattox and an inventory made of the goods for a sale.

During Kersting's career at his present establishment he has had no better friend than his old partner, Herman Klinsman. Klinsman held a mortgage on Kersting's property, but he frequently tided Kersting over some particularly hard moment and assisted him in many ways.

When Klinsman learned that French had taken possession of the goods that came under Klinsman's mortgage he instructed his attorney, City Judge DeMeza, to foreclose the mortgage. Having the prior claim, the property goes to Klinsman to satisfy his demand. Kersting will probably not make any further attempt to continue the business.

In Justice Nash's court the landlord and tenant case of Leifke against Kersting was tried and judgment for the possession of the premises rendered. It is understood that Mr. Leifke will attempt to obtain possession of the store occupied by Kersting as soon as possible.

Character Reading.

The second of Mrs. Clemence M. Draper's lectures on practical physiognomy, was delivered this morning in the parlors of the Revere House. This lecture was even more interesting than the former one, as the lecturer began to take up a little more of the detail of character reading from the signs shown in the face. The lecture was illustrated by large charts of the human face, and portraits of noted men, but the most interesting illustrations were the well-known Plainfield women whose faces were read as living examples of prominent traits of character.

Told of a Great Convention.

A large audience gathered in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening to listen to reports from the National Convention of Student Volunteers, held at Cincinnati, Ohio, February 23-26. The speakers were William D. Murray and Councilman Fred H. Andrews, and both gave interesting accounts of their impression of the great convention, which was attended by 2,200 students who have volunteered to devote their energies to mission work in foreign lands.

Administered Oath of Office.

DEADLY CLUTCH OF FLAMES ON A WOMAN.

Fire Proved a Terrible Master in Westfield.

MRS. AMOS CLARK THE VICTIM.

Tried to Prevent the Spread of Flames in a Field and She Became a Living Torch Before the Eyes of Her Family—Husband Smothered Out the Fire, But Not Until It Had Done Its Fatal Work—Died in a Few Hours—Medical Skill of no Avail.

Fire proved a terrible master in Westfield yesterday afternoon when it took the life of Mrs. Arthur Clark before the eyes of her husband and children.

The Clark family live on a farm on Mountain avenue about one mile from the railway station. The place was at one time the home of Mr. Clark's father, Amos Clark, who represented this district in congress. Clark, with the assistance of a hired man, was cleaning out the brush and other rubbish about the place yesterday afternoon. In a field near the house a large heap of brush was placed and set on fire.

Clark went some distance down the road and stood talking with a neighbor when the two were suddenly startled by a series of piercing screams. They looked in the direction whence they came and saw Mrs. Clark with her dress in flames, making frantic efforts to free herself from the burning clutches of the fire.

She had gone into the field where the fire was spreading in the grass, and while attempting to stop its progress her clothing accidentally caught.

Clark ran to his his wife's assistance and attempted to smother the flames with blankets. They were extinguished only after the clothing had been nearly all consumed.

The flesh was burned so badly that it began to peel as soon as Mrs. Clark was carried to the house.

She lost consciousness soon after the accident.

Dr. J. B. Harrison, of Westfield, was hastily called and did all that was possible to relieve the injuries.

The case was one that was beyond medical skill, however, and at an early hour this morning Mrs. Clark died.

DR. REINER'S CASE CLOSED.

Indictment Dropped and the Editor Allowed Judgment.

The indictments for criminal libel found by a Union County Grand Jury nearly two years ago against Dr. John Max Reiner, the managing editor and publisher of the Central New Jersey Herald, were dismissed yesterday by Judge McCormick.

Dr. Reiner made himself obnoxious to Mayor Rankin by his bitter criticisms in his newspaper of the way the Mayor governed the city, particularly in regard to the excise law.

A Cordial Invitation.

The teachers and pupils of Franklin School will hold "Public Day," Friday, March 11th, if not stormy. We wish to give our parents and friends an opportunity to see us at our work as we shall follow our regular programme. In each room specimens of our manual work will be ready for inspection. Those who wish to hear the school sing will please be present at 9 o'clock. School will be open all day to visitors.

Says She Isn't a Scold.

Mrs. Edward Cline, of Plainfield avenue, thinks that she is a much-abused woman. She says she is industrious and hard-working and that if it wasn't for her the family wouldn't have a home. She says she can bring plenty of neighbors to police court to testify to her amiable tongue and peaceable disposition. She doesn't like it a bit to think that the reports of police court characterize her as a scold.

Firemen Will Not Petition

The firemen of the borough desire The Daily Press to contradict the statement appearing in another paper that they are getting up a petition asking for the appointment of George Fairchild as chief of the department. They say that their petition last year was unheeded, and they have decided to allow the Mayor and Council to use their own judgment without influence.

Sociability After Business.

The Epworth League of the Monroe Avenue church held an enjoyable sociable in the church Tuesday evening after its regular business meeting. A vocal solo was rendered by Miss Messersmith and a piano solo by Miss Lizzie Firstbrook, and refreshments were then served by a committee of the young ladies of the league.

DEFENCE BILL A LAW

President Now Has $50,000,000 for the Nation's Defence.

SENATE WAS UNANIMOUS

All Pairs Broken That the Senators Might Record Themselves in Favor of the Defense Preparations—Big Crowd in the Galleries.

Washington, March 10.—President McKinley now has at his absolute disposal $50,000,000 to use in any way that he deems proper for the defense of the nation.

The Urgency Deficiency bill, which was introduced in the House on Monday and passed there unanimously Tuesday, was passed by the Senate yesterday without a dissenting vote, and became a law at 3.40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the President affixed his signature.

If the United States has not warships enough the President is permitted to buy more. If the army is lacking in equipment President McKinley can supply the deficiency. No one asks the President what his plans are. Congress will refrain from adopting the resolutions of inquiry, plentiful enough in ordinary circumstances.

In every way the President is given to understand that he can proceed in Cuban affairs without let or hindrance, and that whatever he does will be approved should President McKinley adopt a policy of armed intervention Congress will back him up. Should it seem wiser to the President that Cuba's independence should be recognized that course will be satisfactory. That the President fully understands his sacred responsibility is evidenced in the care with which he is moving. That he appreciates the gravity of the situation is known of all men.

Washington, March 10.—The Senate yesterday passed by a unanimous vote the Urgent Deficiency bill, which passed the House Tuesday, placing $50,000,000 of the money in the Treasury at the President's disposal for use in the national defense. The vote was: Ayes, 76; noes, 0.

In anticipation of an animated discussion of the question of peace and war, as connected with the consideration of the bill placing $50,000,000 at the disposal of the President as an emergency fund, the Senate galleries were crowded before the hour of beginning business. The attendance of Senators was considerably larger than usual.

At a quarter after 12 Senator Hale arose and sent the appropriation bill to the clerk's desk. There was a solemn silence when the clerk began to read the bill. When the last clause, appropriating the fifty millions was finished, there was a slight rumor of applause from the galleries, but it was only a murmur and died away without reproof from the Vice-President.

When the reading of the bill was finished the Vice-President asked if there was any objection to its passage. Not a murmur was heard, and the bill was ordered to be read a third time. There was a most impressive silence as the title of the bill was read, and then the Vice-President stated that the bill having been read a third time, was on its passage. There was no attempt to speak, and the only motion made was when Senator Hale asked for the yeas and the roll was called.

Pairs were broken on both sides of the chamber in order that all those present might evince their patriotism and desire to uphold the hands of the President in this time of emergency by voting directly for the measure.

Within twenty-six minutes after the Senate had convened the roll call had been completed, and the Vice-President had announced that the bill was passed, seventy-six Senators voting in the affirmative and not one in the negative.

As the Vice-President made his announcement a slight ripple of applause ran through the galleries, but the members of the Senate remained calm and dignified, repressing all enthusiasm, which it was evident from the smiling faces and intense interest manifested in every look and gesture a great majority of them felt.

During the roll call it was authoritatively announced for every absent Senator that if he were present he would vote aye.

The leading provision in the bill is: "National defense—to be expended at the discretion of the President, and to remain available until January 1, 1899—$50,000,000." The whole operation occupied just fifteen minutes.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Chandler and referred to the Committee on Contingent Expenses, authorizing the Committee on Naval Affairs in its investigation into the destruction of the battle ship Maine to send for persons and papers and to employ a stenographer.

At 12.30 o'clock the Senate went into executive session, on motion of Mr. Davis (Minn.), Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations. After considering nominations until 1.30 o'clock the Senate adjourned until today.

Uncle Sam Proposes to Purchase Lots of Torpedo Boats.

Washington, March 10.—While Commander Brownson goes abroad with unlimited power to purchase vessels, it is understood here that his mission is especially to search for torpedo boats, which are more desired by this Government than heavier fighting ships. One of the vessels Commander Brownson has his eye on is now being built at Leghorn, Italy, for the Argentine Republic, while the other is being constructed for the Brazilian Government by the Armstrongs in England.

Both are vessels of the size of the Maine, and will carry an armament similar in weight and size of guns. Both are practically completed, and are receiving the finishing touches. Commander Brown intends to purchase these two vessels, and if he believes it can be done safely he will have them sent to this country in their present condition.

While there are enough guns and other equipment now on hand to fit out both these vessels, Commander Brownson may decide to purchase complete armaments abroad. In that event he will obtain the guns for the Argentine battle ship from the Krupps, at Essen, Germany, while the Armstrongs will supply the guns for the Brazilian vessel. He will also purchase every torpedo boat and every torpedo destroyer that he can find.

A member of the Naval Affairs Committee of the House is authority for the statement that a large part of the appropriation of $50,000,000 will be used in the construction of torpedo boats in this country, assurances having been given by various contractors that they could furnish a large number of them in three months' time. The proposition to build more torpedo boats meets with the approval of members of Congress, because they can be quickly constructed.

Commander Brownson Sails.

New York, March 10.—Commander W. H. Brownson, U. S. N., who has been commissioned to go abroad and inspect and obtain available warships for the United States, left on the American liner St. Paul for Southampton yesterday. The commander was unaccompanied. "I am going to England," he said, "under orders direct from the Navy Department and not from the President. My mission is to prepare for the exigencies of the situation and to see what can be had and what can be done in case of war, the possibilities of which I think are very remote."

May Buy at Once.

London, March 10.—The indications are that the United States Government will not wait for the arrival here of Commander Willard H. Brownson in order to purchase warships. Definite offers have already been made for ships building here, with a view of forestalling Spain, which is supposed to be bargaining for the same vessels.

MONTGOMERY AT HAVANA.

The United States Cruiser is Saluted by Spanish Ships.

Havana, March 10.—The United States cruiser Montgomery arrived here yesterday. The arrival was quiet, it being understood generally that she comes to replace the coast survey steamer Fern as quarters for Captain Sigsbee and others. Commander Converse of the Montgomery is a high authority on explosives, and his advice will be useful to the Court of Inquiry into the loss of the Maine. After firing the usual salutes and being saluted in return by the Spanish ships and the forts, the Montgomery was moored in the harbor near the wreck of the Maine and in the centre of a circle of Spanish vessels. Later in the day Commander Converse received the correspondents on board the cruiser, but had nothing to tell beyond the facts already sent. He seemed satisfied to have a rest in Havana harbor for awhile, as the cruiser has been busy touching at many West Indian ports lately.

Captain Sigsbee, Lieutenant Commander Wainwright and Ensign Powelson will occupy quarters on the Montgomery, the Fern having left Havana for Key West last evening. What change of orders awaits the Fern at Key West is not known here. The Montgomery is as trim as possible. Nobody is allowed on board without permission; but nobody is excluded if business or courtesy demands the admission of the visitor. There is no indication of the length of the cruiser's stay in this harbor.

What effect the presence of the Montgomery will have no one will be able to tell until she has been here several days. She is so much smaller than the Viscaya or the Almirante Oquendo that it is apparent to every one that she was not sent in a warlike mood. There is no apprehension among naval officers that the Montgomery will share the fate of the Maine.

It is announced here that immense quantities of food given to the reconcentradoes by the Red Cross Society have been resold to Havana dealers. The provisions in which this traffic is alleged to have been carried on include bacon, beef, biscuit and condensed milk.

PREPARING FOR DEFENSE.

Conferences With the President in Regard to Emergency Preparations.

Washington, March 10.—Although there was no called Cabinet meeting at the White House yesterday, nearly every Cabinet officer visited the President and had a conference with him. Secretaries Long and Alger conferred with the President in regard to the emergency preparations now being made in their departments. Secretary Gage spent some time discussing the fifty-million appropriation and the methods of making it available. Secretary Sherman also called.

The most significant move the Navy Department made was the detailing of officers to command the Columbia and Minneapolis. Orders were issued for all the detail to be ready to move on Sunday next and to report on their respective vessels on Tuesday.

Ninety marines from the Washington barracks have been ordered to leave at once to make up the marine guard for these vessels, forty-five being the number for each ship.

As soon as the vessels have their complement of officers and men, they will be ordered to rendezvous at harbor than down the Delaware. As for the big vessels to get out of that harbor t han down the Delaware. As the officers are ordered to report for duty on Tuesday, the vessels are expected to leave for Hampton Roads next week. By that time the Brooklyn will have reached that place from Laguayra, and the three vessels which are to form the nucleus of the flying squadron will be ready for action.

Disastrous to Civilization.

Paris, March 10.—The Temps says: "The war into which the United States throws itself headlong will be disastrous to civilization." Continuing, the Temps says it hopes "the good sense and good faith of the Spaniards and Americans will prevent war."

More Soldiers for Cuba.

Madrid, Spain, March 10.—It became known yesterday that the Spanish steamer Alfonso XII. sailed for Cuba from Barcelona on Saturday last, with four officers, 900 soldiers and 4,000,000 Mauser cartridges.

The reports of another uprising in the Philippines are semi-officially denied at Madrid.

MR. SPENCER'S ACCOUNTS.

North Plainfield is not the only section of Somerset county that is interested in the examination of Collector Spencer's accounts, as will be seen by the editorial comments from Somerset county papers. The Bound Brook State Centre had this terse editorial:

North Plainfield's Lexow committee is still striving to find flaws in the past administration of Collector (now Surrogate) Spencer, while no X-ray is needed to discern the animus actuating the power behind the committee and that it proceeds from a character known to be so base as to deserve only the utmost contempt of all fair-minded citizens. Despite all that can be said or done, Mr. Spencer still stands forth the same honest, honorable and gentlemanly "Newt," the friend of all classes.

Yesterday the Somerville Messenger printed the following:

H. N. Spencer, who has been collector of taxes in North Plainfield for so many years, and against whom statements more or less damaging have appeared in print, still asserts that he will be fully able to explain any and all apparent discrepancies in his accounts with the local government. The Messenger has endeavored to avoid saying anything that could be construed as an unfair and partisan statement in reference to Mr. Spencer; but, in justice to itself, it must say that he owes it to himself and all who have been his supporters for years past, to make such a showing as will exonerate him in the minds of fairly-disposed persons. He had promised that he would do this. Why does he not do so?

"Don't skip the third page."

OPPONENTS HAVE THEIR SAY.

They Tell Their Objections to the Squire Trolley Bill.

The Squire Trolley bill was again before the Assembly committee on railroads and canals yesterday when the opponents of the measure were heard.

P. Woodruff, counsel for East Orange township, protested against the measure because, he said, it is entirely in the interest of the trolley company. He thought the matter should be triable by a jury.

George R. Howe, of East Orange, declared the Squire bill equal to the infamous race-track law. He said the people of East Orange were favorable to the trolley, but unwilling to permit a few men to say where the trolley shall run, and to allow them to play into the hands of a few men.

L. W. Serrell, of Plainfield, feared the bill delegated to freeholders the powers of the Legislature.

Colonel Haines, of the Consolidated Traction Company, appeared, he said, to correct numerous misstatements made by Frank Bergen. He would not oppose the bill if the good people of Union merely wanted to widen North avenue. He though the question of a trolley franchise and that of widening the avenue distinct matters, and would heartily favor the latter if the former were eliminated. He said that freeholders should not be given power to grant trolley franchises.

The committee will give no further public hearings upon the measure.

THEATRICAL.

"Darkest Russia," a romantic drama from the pen of H. Grattan Donnelly, treating, as its name implies, of the land of the Czar, will be presented at Stillman Music Hall Friday night under the personal supervision of Manager Sidney R. Ellis. Summed up, "Darkest Russia" is a story of love and devotion, interest ruling supreme from beginning to end, situations that are startling, as well as impressive, stage pictures that any artist might sigh to produce on canvas, costumes of perfect accuracy, characters depicted true to life, comedy of the kind that cheers and brightens up what might otherwise prove a tale of sorrow. None go to their homes after seeing "Darkest Russia" with any other than the most pleasant recollections and a feeling of benefit. Note the reduction of prices for this great production. Best reserved seats on lower floor, 50 cents.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the local theatrical season is promised at Music Hall next Wednesday when "The Geisha," the Japanese musical comedy, which has run two years at Daly's Theatre in London and an entire season at the same manager's house in New York, will be presented with the full New York caste, beautiful scenery and the wealth of oriental accessories that have so excited the admiration of artists and public alike in the two great capitals The company is headed by Misses Nancy McIntosh and Virginia Earle, James T. Powers, who has been a star actor for half-a-dozen years or more, has in this piece the funny part of a Chinese tea-house keeper, and it is hardly necessary to say has made an emphatic hit in it. Julius Steger is a valuable member of the organization, on account of his fine voice and cultivated method of singing, for much of the musical part of the work falls to his share. Others in the cast are Herbert Gresham, Miss Helma Nelson, Nell McClay, Eric Scott and many other actors of note, the company and chorus numbering fifty. The authors of "The Geisha" have just added several new songs and dances for the principal characters, but the old favorites are all retained.

The attraction at Music Hall for two performances, opening with a matinee Saturday, will be the New Henry Specialty Company. This is one of the best organizations of its kind on the road, numbering sixteen high-salaried artists. The company is headed by the famous Garnellas who made such a hit in Plainfield two seasons ago in the farce comedy, "The Trolley System." Frank Cushman, the well known minstrel, Miss Alice Herbert, the character dancer, and many others. There will be a special matinee for ladies and children Saturday afternoon when the prices will be only 15 and 25 cents, and at the evening performance the prices will be 25, 35 and 50 cents.

GRAVE-ROBBING.

The Man Detected, but Not Apprehended.

GRAVES ROBBED DAILY IN THE CITY.

Convincing Evidence Accumulating Every Hour.—The People of Plainfield Excited.—Robbery Bold and Above Board.—No Attempt to Conceal His Acts.

In all ages of the world, in all civilized countries grave-robbing has been, and is still looked upon as one of the most dastardly, diabolical and fiendish acts that a depraved and brutish man can commit. Everybody has a holy horror of "ghouls," and they are shunned and loathed by all classes of society.

Whenever a grave is despoiled, and some sacred remains that have been laid to eternal rest have been disturbed or stolen, the finer sensibilities of the entire community are aroused against such a profanation of the dead and no effort is spared to apprehend and punish the perpetrator. Every neighborhood has, in some period of its existence, been stirred to deepest indignation by the devilish work of the "ghoul," and even Plainfield is not exempt from the depredations of the grave-robber.

Within the last few weeks hundreds of instances can truthfully be cited where grave-robbing has been carried on with impunity under the very eyes of the people and with their approbation and sanction. This may seem strange to the uninitiated and unlettered, but the intelligent reading public know it to be a fact and many have witnessed it with their eyes.

In fact, every day it is being carried on to a degree that is simply astounding, and in place of protesting, they are commending the act.

But there are different ways of grave-robbing, and one is to rob the hungry receptacle of its prey.

This puts another phase on the matter and makes the work the most exalted and God-like that ever engaged the energies of man. Grave-robbing is the daily avocation of the world-renowned "Boy Phenomenon," and his success has so astonished the world that it has been said of him: "His magic touch gives life to the dying, robs the sickroom of its suffering, and cheats the coffin of its prey," and in this way robs many thousands of graves every year of its would-be victims.

His private parlors at the Revere House is where grave-robbing is done with neatness and dispatch. Every hour of the day and every day of the week this wonderful healer stretches out his magnetic hands and robs a grave of its victim. He is the grave's especial and implacable foe. Scores of our people, who, but a few weeks ago, were candidates of an early grave, now rejoice that they have been rescued from the jaws of death and the mouth of the grave by the magnetic touch of this youthful healer.

For over three weeks there has been a constant incoming and outgoing, not of novelty-hunting and curiosity-seeking individuals, but among the number may be seen many of our most prominent citizens journeying toward this great Mecca of health in hope that his magnetic hands may restore to health and happiness their many ills that have for so many years defied the most able physicians, who have, from time to time, given them the cheerless assurance that their only hope of rescue from their affliction was a quiet nook in the cemetery, quoting these emotional lines of Montgomery as a consolation to their blighted spirits:

"There is a calm for those who weep,
A rest for weary pilgrims found;
They softly lie and sweetly sleep low in the cold, cold ground!"

On staff and crutch, or borne by the loving arms of friends, they come, dragging their weary, emaciated and shrunken limbs, and among these sufferers may be seen many careworn faces, whose owners are suffering from dyspepsia, kidney disease and many chronic ailments for the relief and cure of which they have for many years sought in vain, and with despair depicted, daring to hope, when hope had long since fled, that the seeming impossible might be accomplished.

Among the hundreds of patients who have been cured are many who have tried every known method and the most scientific skill of the medical profession has been exhausted in efforts to effect a cure.

Owing to the large number of new patients from outside towns, who have secured appointments for treatment, it may be necessary for him to remain in Plainfield during this entire month.

TO RECOGNIZE CUBA

President Soon to Acknowledge the Island's Independence.

INEFFICIENCY OF SPAIN

Unable to Preserve Order, and the United States Must Intervene—Whether War Results or Not Depends on Spain—Administration Ready to Act.

Washington, March 10.—The Administration realizes that while there may be a peaceful settlement of the Maine question, the greater one, that of Cuba, still remains. To settle this the President and his Cabinet are preparing. This means the independence of Cuba.

The President, in his message to Congress, stated his plan in this matter. He gave Spain an opportunity to put autonomy into effect and asked her to set a time when she would restore peace on the island. The Administration has waited patiently for the Madrid Government to name this date, but no answer has been received.

It is evident to the President and his Cabinet that when the report of the Court of Inquiry and the Cuban correspondence are made public, the Administration must be prepared to act as the President promised in his message last December. Spain has permitted the time to pass when anything short of the independence of Cuba will suffice.

The course of the President in the last few days, the asking for a $50,000,000 appropriation, the active preparations for any emergency by all the departments, and the taking of the public into his confidence—all mean that the real crisis is about at hand.

This is practically the universal opinion in Congress, and it is more than mere speculation. No doubt is felt that the independence of Cuba is to be recognized by this Government. Whether this causes war depends upon Spain. The loss of the Maine is known not to have been the result of an accident. If it is not shown to have been the act of Spanish officials, or by their connivance, it will still demonstrate the inefficiency of Spainish control in Havana. The necessity of assistance by this Government to prevent the depopulation of the island by starvation, confessed by the acceptance of the assistance, is another evidence of the helplessness of Spain to maintain in Cuba the conditions of government. The barbarities, proven and confessed, show inability to preserve the forms of civilization. Incapacity and loss of control on the island are shown.

Intervention by this Government to save the population from starvation is the first step toward a broader intervention to preserve life and property and to save the island from becoming a barren waste. The conditions in Cuba have compelled Spain to acknowledge the need and propriety of this Government intervening to check devastation by starvation. The right of further intervention, if necessary, naturally follows.

This is the view of the situation held in Congress, and intervention is expected.

The passage of the fifty million appropriation bill by Congress has brought a general sense of relief. Heretofore there has been apprehension that evil would result from the Administration not being prepared for an emergency, and, at the same time, it was feared that the public steps necessary to preparation would aggravate the situation. Moreover, both parties feared some break or evidence of lack of harmony when the time came for action. All these apprehensions have been relieved by the unanimous vote in both houses, and the knowledge that the President is in condition to make all necessary preparations without delay. Further reason for satisfaction is found in the belief that a policy has been inaugurated which will result in the final settlement of the irritating Cuban question.

While the hope is entertained that the unprecedented action of Congress and the display of resources by this Government will impress the Spanish Government, yet there is not much faith in the ability of Sagasta to control or resist Spanish public sentiment. It is expected that Spain will be compelled to choose between settling the Cuban question peaceably herself on the basis of independence, or having this Government recognize the independence of the island without considering the course Spain may see fit to follow.

The steps that will be taken will not be of a character to provoke Spain to war, though it is thought they will probably have that effect, and will certainly lead speedily to Cuban independence.

An evidence of the spirit with which the question of supporting the President was approached was furnished Tuesday by the action of Speaker Reed, Mr. Cannon, General Henderson and Mr. Dalzell, the Republican members of the Rules Committee and the chairman of Appropriations Committee, in leaving it to Mr. Sayers, the Democratic leader on the Appropriations Committee, to fix the programme for the consideration of the defense bill. The same spirit was shown when Mr. Bailey, the Democratic leader, supported by every Democrat in the House, and the Populists, view with the Republicans in a display of patriotism. This was not the result of a momentary impulse, but was the formal entrance upon a policy of support of the President and submergence of party politics in this crisis which will continue until the close.

Cleveland Strike Over.

Cleveland, O., March 10.—After more than two months' hard fighting, the Globe Ship Yard strike has been settled. The battle is declared off and the men compelled to acknowledge a defeat, which may mean the disintegration of their local union. Between 400 and 500 hands were involved in the strike.

$100,000 Fire in Chicago.

Chicago, March 10.—The three upper stories of the building at the southeast corner of Monroe and Market streets were gutted by fire last evening. The damage was about $100,000 to the structure, and to the stocks of tenants who were a number of small manufacturers of clothing and manufacturers' agents.

THE DEPUTIES ACQUITTED.

Verdict of Not Guilty Rendered in the Lattimer Riot Trial.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 10.—The jury in the case of Sheriff Martin and his deputies for shooting of strikers at Lattimer, on September 10, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Long before the time for court to convene yesterday morning there was a big crowd waiting to gain admission to the court room. Judge Woodward did not take his seat on the bench until 10.05 o'clock, the jury coming in a few minutes later. When the jurors had taken their seats the roll was called, each man answering to his name. The clerk then asked: "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

The foreman replied: "We have," at the same time handing the clerk the written verdict, which was promptly passed to Judge Woodward.

After reading the verdict the Judge returned the paper to the clerk. The latter, addressing the jury, said: "Gentlemen, your verdict in the case of the Commonwealth vs. James Martin et. al. is not guilty, so say you all."

"We do," was the reply.

The jury was then polled and each juror answered not guilty as his name was called.

There was an attempt at applause, but it was quickly suppressed by the Judge.

When the jury retired Tuesday evening, they took only one ballot and it was unanimous for acquittal. It is said the jury was prepared to render a verdict before leaving the box. The ballot was taken only for form's sake.

After the jury had been thanked and discharged by Judge Woodward, District Attorney Martin asked that the defendants be required to continue their bail bond, as there are still seventeen indictments for murder hanging over them, and thirty-eight for feloniously wounding. The bond was continued as requested.

District Atttorney Martin says he has not decided what to do with these other cases, but will confer with the Prosecuting Committee. This committee, it is said, will insist upon further prosecution.

The trial of Sheriff Martin and his deputies began on Tuesday, February 1, and continued for five weeks, about 150 witneses being called by the Commonwealth and the defense. The case was bitterly fought by both sides, and has excited more interest than any other case ever tried in this section of the State.

It is said that the trial will cost the county almost $10,000 and the defense $50,000. The lawyers engaged by the Prosecuting Committee to assist the District Attorney were to have a fee of $1,000 each. So far each has received $700 of it.

TREASURY IN GOOD SHAPE.

Customs Receipts Increasing—Gold Reserve Touching Record Figures.

Washington, March 10.—At no time has the national Treasury been in a healthier condition than now. There is not only a greater store of gold in the vaults of the Treasury building today than there has been for a decade, but at no time within many years has the flow of gold into the Treasury been so strong and steady as it is at present. There are in round numbers $170,000,000 in gold in the Treasury, and the supply is increasing every day, though the Government is making no effort toward further accumulation. The most remarkable and gratifying of recent developments has been the reappearance of gold in the payments for customs at New York. In the past few years the yellow metal has never been tendered in payment of customs dues, but the gradual restoration of confidence has had the effect of renewing the flow of gold into the custom houses.

It has been gradual, but it has now become unmistakable. Last September the proportion of gold was only eight-tenths of 1 per cent. of all the receipts. The next month it rose to 3.6 per cent. In November it had increased to 5 per cent., and so it rose steadily until now it is no less than 10 per cent. of the receipts. The Treasury authorities have done nothing to produce this condition, nor even to encourage it.

The customs payments in actual coin is regarded in financial circles as one of the best barometers of the confidence of the money market. Next to gold, United States notes are considered the best forms of payment of customs dues, and these constituted 54 per cent. of the receipts in January, and rose to 64 per cent. last month.

FLORIDA'S FORT PLANS STOLEN.

Burglars, Said to Be Spanish Spies, Break Into Building at St. Augustine.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 10.—Following is an excerpt from a letter which has been received here, the information coming from an official in the Government building in St. Augustine:

"The Government building here was entered by thieves on last Thursday night and robbed, the thieves taking nothing but the plans and specifications from the engineers of the fortifications of the State. The discovery caused great excitement among the officials, and the matter has been kept a profound secret. The town has been besieged with Spanish spies for the last ten days, and it is generally believed by the authorities that they are the perpetrators."

Maine Survivors Arrive in New York.

New York, March 10.—Five members of the crew of the Maine, who were among those rescued after the battleship was blown up in Havana Harbor, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Lampasas from Key West. They met with an enthusiastic reception from the moment they were seen from shore until they reached the Navy Yard in Brooklyn. The men were George B. Load, master at arms; F. Topping and "Gus" Schwartz, seamen, and K. Kushida and T. O. Awo, Japanese attendants in the wardroom.

Iron Works Reopen.

Newcastle, Del., March 10.—Next Monday the Delaware Iron Works will resume operations, after a suspension of four months, and give employment to nearly 500 hands. Many families have been in distress since the shutdown, aid being furnished them by prominent citizens.

Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by Plainfield people.

Read what a citizen says.

Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, Carpenter & Contractor, living at 213 Spooner Ave., says: "For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hips and loins, so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted the least cold it always settled in my back, and at such times my suffering was something intense. When Doan's Kidney Pills came to my notice I was in pretty bad shape and procuring them from L. W. Randolph's drug store, I had only taken a few doses when I found they were helping me, and on completing the treatment I was quite free from pain. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand, so as to have a sure remedy close by if the trouble should ever return. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for aching and lameness in the back and consider them an honest kidney medicine and possessing all the merits claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

WANAMAKER OUT FOR GOVERNOR.

In a Manly Letter He Accepts the Call as a Duty.

Philadelphia, March 10.—John Wanamaker will be the candidate of the Business Men's Republican League for Governor. He gave out his letter of acceptance last night, addressed to the notification committee appointed at the meeting of representatives from nearly all the counties of the State, held in this city on February 7.

Mr. Wanamaker's delay of more than a month has led many of his friends to believe that he would decline the nomination. He has been ill for some days, but he is much better, and he said last night that he will begin active political work at once. It was intimated that Mr. Wanamaker will be his own campaign manager.

In his letter of acceptance Mr. Wanamaker says, among other things:

"I consent to be a candidate for Governor in pursuance with your request, presented to me February 7. My reply to you has been necessarily delayed. These are the reasons:

"I have not wanted to become a candidate and add to my labors the duties of personally conducting a campaign.

"I have been endeavoring to persuade you to select any one of a dozen men of the State available for the place.

"I ardently hoped that the leaders of the Republican party would accept the notice served upon them by the Bourse meeting, that the people intended to have something to say as to who should be their next Governor.

"The developments of the past two weeks have been invaluable to your cause and conclusive upon me in determining my action.

"The crisis upon us is serious in its bearing upon the future standing and prosperity of the State. Since the last three county conventions I have had a clearer vision of the dangers of the situation—and now, after taking ample time to analyze existing conditions, and having carefully considered every phase of the situation from all political standpoints, I have arrived at this final decision with a comprehensive knowledge of what the contest involves personally and what the chances of success are.

"I simply hold it to be imperative that some one shall be selected to whom the interests of the State can be safely intrusted, who shall represent the people, not the edict of any one man.

"Therefore, let there be no misunderstanding as to where the responsibility rests, and let the Republican voter demand a strict accounting. With school funds long past due, and personal property taxes withheld from counties to allow the State Treasurer to farm out millions of dollars to favorite banks; with a capitol commission breaking down the restrictive barriers erected by popular sentiment, and planning a building that will cost millions when completed; with the knowledge that indemnity bonds, padded junketings and mileage grabbers will be paid out of the State Treasury if the machine elects its Governor, I am convinced from proofs in my hands from all parts of the State that the people are ready to unite with you in driving back the bosses and re-entering upon their rightful inheritance.

M'COY CLAIMS CHAMPIONSHIP.

His Forfeit Has Not Been Covered—Will Fight Gus Ruhlin.

Indianapolis, March 10.—"Kid" McCoy, in a signed statement last night, lays claim to the middleweight and heavyweight championships of the world. He asserts that his forfeit of $5,000 has never been covered, and that under all laws of the prize ring he is entitled to both championships.

Personal notice had been served Fitzsimmons of the "Kid's" intentions. Closing his statement, McCoy says:

"Therefore, my challenge being unaccepted and my forfeit money uncovered, I claim the middleweight and heavyweight championships of the world, and will defend them, according to the rules of the prize ring."

McCoy under his forfeit with Billy Madden last night signed articles for a fight with Gus Ruhlin, another claimant for the championship. The articles call for a fight at catchweights to be held within three months before the club offering the largest purse or percentage. The gate receipts are to be divided, 65 per cent. to the winner and 35 per cent. to the loser. The match is to be for the world's championship.

Boutelle Praises Uncle Sam's Ships.

Philadelphia, March 10.—The thirty-sixth anniversary of the naval battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac was celebrated last night by a banquet given by the Pennsylvania Commandery of the Naval Order of the United States. Congressman C. A. Boutelle, of Maine, chairman of the Naval Committee, responded to the toast, "The Navy." He said: 'There is no domain in which the magnificent power and resources of this country have been so wonderfully exhibited as in the rehabilitation of the American navy. We have built ships which all find are the swiftest and most invulnerable in the world."

Cambridge and Oxford universities will probably accept the American challenge to an international chess match.

BOY SHOT HIS FRIEND

Attempt at Murder and Suicide at Millersville, Pa.

WAS JEALOUSY THE CAUSE?

Roy Gehrig Shoots William Davis and Then Kills Himself—Leaves a Note Saying They Tried Suicide for Love of Two School Girls.

Lancaster, Pa., March 10.—Roy Gehrig, of Milton, Pa., shot and perhaps fatally wounded Will B. Davis, of St. Clair, Pa., at Millersville yesterday and then killed himself.

The boys were pupils of Pierce's Business College at Philadelphia, and went to Millersville on Saturday to call upon two girl students at the Normal School. They returned to the vilage Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, and, securing a room at Hoak's Hotel, retired immediately. Early yesterday morning the inmates of the place were startled by a fusilade of pistol shots, and a moment later Davis came running down stairs with blood gushing from several wounds on his face. Another shot was heard, followed by the sound of a body falling to the floor. Davis ran into the barroom exclaiming:

"My chum shot me."

He was in bed, he said; when Gehrig, who was walking around the room, drew a pistol and fired at him three times in quick succession. One bullet struck him in the left temple and is supposed to be in his head; another entered his upper lip and came out under the ear, and the other struck him in the right wrist.

Those who rushed to the room where the tragedy occurred found Gehrig lying on the floor with a bullet hole in his left temple. He died without regaining consciousness. A note written by Gehrig and found near his body gives his explanation of the tragedy as follows:

"We are dead in love with Alice Cummings and Annie Holmes, and not being able to see them, and they keeping away from us, we resolved to take our lives. My name is Roy Gehrig, of Milton, Pa., and the little fellow is William Davis, of St. Clair. Please notify our parents at once. We would like to be cremated, so notify our parents at once."

Davis says he knows nothing of the note, and denies there was any compact to commit suicide. From what can be learned it seems that Gehrig, who was introduced to the girls by Davis, was desperately in love with Miss Cummings, and that he and Davis had a dispute over her. Gehrig then, it is said, decided to kill Davis and then take his own life, and wrote the letter to make the affair appear like a double suicide. Each was about nineteen years old.

At Pierce's College it was stated that Gehrig left the school for good on Monday after having been taken to task for absence last week. It was said that he was of peculiarly nervous disposition. Davis was in his class yesterday until the close of the day's session. The boys were social companions. Gehrig's father is a brewer at Milton, and Davis' father is a coal operator at St. Clair.

Of the girls whose names are mentioned in Gehrig's note nothing is known here. Miss Cummings is from Lancaster and Miss Holmes from St. Clair.

Davis's wounds are not fatal. One of them is in the lip, whence the ball cut a furrow through his cheek. Another bullet struck his wrist, while the third is imbedded in the skull close to the temple.

The wounded man told the Coroner's jury at the inquest that his bedfellow had been restless all night and had risen before him. Gehrig was already dressed when Davis started to rise. Davis had one leg on the floor when his companion drew a pistol and began firing.

There was no quarrel, Davis asserted. This, briefly, was the story which the wounded man told when questioned by the Coroner and his jury, but it was evident that he was not telling all he knew, and the authorities are not satisfied. Davis manifested reticence when he told of the meeting of himself and Gehrig with the Normal School girls last Saturday, and his account of the shooting was not very clear.

Miss Cummings and Miss Holmes corroborated the account of the meeting at the Normal School reception, and said they had never seen Gehrig before that evning, and could not account for his strange infatuation.

It came out in the testimony that when Gehrig paid the bill for lodging at the Black Horse Tuesday night he refrained from paying for breakfast, saying that something might happen, and that when the young men wrote their letters before retiring, Davis mailed his, but Gehrig did not. This is believed to be the hysterical note found in his pocket.

Maine Court of Inquiry's Report.

Washington, March 10.—The statement was made at the Navy Department yesterday that the report of the Maine Court of Inquiry probably would come to the department some time next week. It did not appear, however, that this statement was founded upon any direct report from the court, but was rather an estimate based upon the progres so far made as revealed by the change of methods on the part of the court. It is not expected that Lieutenant-Commander Marix, the Judge Advocate, will leave the court until it has completed its labors, as it is the custom for the Judge Advocate to assist in the preparation of the final report of the court.

Spanish Board Acquits Spain.

Havana, March 10.—The Spanish Board of Inquiry cabled last night to the Minister of Marine in Madrid that the investigation of the wreck of the battle ship up to this time shows conclusively that "the upper part of the Maine was blown upward, and the hull collapsed through the force of internal explosions."

Not Bought by Spain.

Washington, March 10.—The Administration has definite information, from a source which is regarded as beyond question, to the effect that Spain has not purchased the two Brazilian cruisers Barboso and Amazonas.

BIG CHIEF SURPRISED.

BRAVES AND SQUAWS GAVE HIM AN UNEXPECTED VISIT.

C. L. Holstein, the Honored One, was Equal to the Occasion, However, and Soon Had His Visitors Dancing

Big Chief C. L. Holstein, of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of his birthday yesterday, and Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, and the members of the tribe, gave the popular Red Man a jolly surprise last evening. Under the direction of Miss Sebring the party met at the office of Attorney Newcorn and proceeded to the wigwam of Brother Holstein. The constant ringing of the door bell soon brought Mr. Holstein to the door. He was completely taken by surprise as he had heard nothing of the intended visit. He recovered from his surprise and soon had the happy guests tripping the light fantastic toe to the music from the "tom toms."

About 11 o'clock, Mrs. Holstein, who is always equal to the occasion, and who knew more about the surprise that she would have her husband know, invited the guests to partake of a sumptuous repast of corn and venison. After the visitors had spent an hour in gratifying the inner man, popular songs were rendered by Messrs. Dreier, Holstein and Pangborn. Dancing was then resumed and it was early this morning when the guests departed. Everyone declared that they had enjoyed themselves immensely.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pangborn, Mr. and Mrs. Jule Stephany, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Allen, Miss Ella Sebring, Harry Dreier, A. J. Stiglitz, Jr., Messrs. Winnie and Harry Stephany, Miss Lizzie Dunlap, of Plainfield, and Miss Polhemus, of Easton, Pa.

Mr. Holstein received several pleasing tokens, including a bouquet of thirty five roses—one for each year. They were presented by Miss Dunlap.

SURPRISED HIS FRIENDS.

Member of the Borough Police Takes Unto Himself a Wife.

Last evening a popular member of the borough police force very quietly took unto himself a wife. The affair was kept so still that not even intimate friends of the contracting parties knew of it. The groom is George Wise, and the bride Miss Minnie Smalley, of Linden avenue.

The happy couple, in company with Miss Minnie Noe, bridemaid, and Elderton Smalley, best man, drove to New Market early in the evening and were married by Rev. F. E. Peterson, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The marriage took place at the home of Mr. Peterson, after which the party returned to Plainfield.

A pleasant time was had at the home of the bride when congratulations were offered by a few friends who happened to know of the event. Mr. and Mrs. Wise will reside for the present at the home of the groom on Grandview avenue. They both have the best wishes of their many friends for a life of happiness and success.

Tried to Commit Suicide.

Mrs. Mary Rogers, of Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street, attempted to commit suicide this morning by drinking carbolic acid. Her mouth was badly burned, but the poison did not take effect. She was despondent.

ROMANCE OF RUSKIN AND MILLIAS.

A Husband Renounces His Rights That His Wife May Find Happiness.

A romance of real life is recalled to the public mind by the announcement of the death in London of Lady Millais, widow of Sir John Millais, painter and former president of the Royal Academy. Lady Millais suffered from cancer of the throat, the same death of her husband, and from whom she is said to have contracted the malady. Sir John E. Millias married his wife in 1855. She was divorced from John Ruskin the year before, and her former husband stood by in the church while she became the spouse of the celebrated painter. Euphemia Chalmers Gray, as she was known in her youth, was still in her teens when she met the author of "The Stones of Venice." Their love seemed to be reciprocal, but it did not prove to be enduring. Ruskin met Millais soon after the latter exhibited his "Pizarro Seizing the Incas" at the academy in 1848. They were drawn together by common sympathies, and Millais was invited to Brantwood to paint the portrait of Mrs. Ruskin. The famous picture of "The Huguenot Lovers," executed by Millais in 1853, was the result of this visit. Millais at the time was a man of superb physique, broad shouldered, deep chested and of great strength. He fell in love with Mrs. Ruskin and she did with him. Ruskin was fully aware of the passing of his wife's affections. He did not blame her, but he secured a divorce. It is said that most of his sorrow in later life was the result of this disappointment. Seven years ago he became violently insane, and from time to time was confined in a madhouse. It is said that the death of Millais in 1896 had much to do with restoring his reason. At any rate, he has lived at Brantwood since June of that year, surrounded by his books and art treasures and the friends he loves so well.—Troy Times.

Light Vote in Somerset.

Returns from all townships in Somerset county show that the spring elections resulted in a light vote and small Democratic gains. In Bridgewater township, the county seat, the Democratic ticket was elected. Jas. Ten Eyck, Democrat, defeated William Hardgrove, Republican, for township committeeman. The townships of Bernards, Branchburg and Hillsborough elected Oliver H. Perry, Edward E. Hoagland and John S. Everett as Democratic freeholders. In North Plainfield and Franklin G. G. VanCleef and Andrew Lutkins were elected as Republican representatives. The Board now stands eight Democrats and two Republicans.

SENATOR REED DEFIED THE LOBBYISTS.

His Bill Taxing Telegraph Poles Heard in the Senate.

THOUGH OPPOSED, IT WAS PASSED.

The Senator Explained That it was Necessary Because Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Telegraph Poles and Wires Pay No Taxes Because They are Assessed as Real Estate and Taxes Cannot be Collected.

(Special Dispatch to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 11th.—The Assembly began the afternoon session yesterday by the adoption of a concurrent resolution for sine die adjournment on Thursday, March 24th. The Senate will not concur until it is demonstrated that the work of the session can be concluded on the day named, which now appears somewhat doubtful. The Senators are of the opinion now that final adjournment cannot be reached before March 30th, and the adoption of the resolution is intended merely to hasten legislation.

A quiet but interesting fight occurred in the Senate which resulted in the route of the railroad lobby by a narrow margin. It was on the final passage of Senate No. 10, which provides for the designation of telegraph poles as personal property and authorizes their taxation as such in municipalities where they are located.

Mr. Reed, who fathered the bill, explained its provisions at length, saying it was made necessary by the fact that hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of telegraph poles and wires in the State paid no taxes at all because they are assessed as real estate and the tax cannot be collected.

While speaking, the Senator from Somerset remarked that the railroad lobbyists, who were flitting about the chamber, were unduly alarmed, because the bill did not apply to them at all.

Senators Stokes, Hoffman, Engle, Vreeland and Johnson, of Bergen, all found objections to the bill, which they appeared to think would affect railroad property and cause it to be taxed twice.

"While denying that such is the object of the bill," retorted Senator Reed, "it would entail hardship on the railroads if it did, for the railroads have too long escaped. If they were compelled to pay double taxes for a short time it would do no harm."

Senator Daly accused the objectors of special pleading, and declared their arguments were specious and designed to cloak their real objections to the bill.

Senator Reed said it was not at all edifying to see the friends of railroads so much concerned when any measure with a taxation feature attached was under consideration.

The bill then passed by a vote of 11 to 7—Braun, Daly, Engle, Foster, Francis, Hand, Johnson, of Bergen; Martin, Ketcham, Reed and Skirm voting in the affirmative, and Barber, Hoffman, Johnson, of Camden; Packer, Miller, Stokes and Vreeland voting in the negative.

After passing a few minor bills the Senate adjourned until next Monday.

IRVINGTON-MILBURN RACE.

Big Cycle Event Likely to be Decided in New York.

If the Park Board will permit it, the Irvington-Milburn road race may be transferred to New York city. The Associated Cycling Clubs of New York have long considered the plan, and if the new Park Board is more favorably disposed toward wheelmen than the former one, it is proposed to have the race take place on Riverside Drive or on the proposed speedway on Pelham Parkway.

The township authorities, through whose districts the race has been run every year, are opposed to the race and have repeatedly threatened to stop it. This and the fact that there should be no reason for a New York association going to Jersey to hold the race has caused the committee in charge to try to secure a course in the metropolitan district.

The wheelmen tried to have the race decided on Riverside Drive last year, but the Park Board sat down hard on the proposition. The committee will this year make an effort to get the use of the drive for two hours on Memorial Day, and if it is successful a course of three miles long will be laid out.

GAVE A YANKEE SOCIABLE.

WAS ORIGINAL AND ENTERTAINING.

Queen Esther Band of Grace M. E. Church Illustrated Songs in a Very Unique Manner.

Grace M. E. church was well filled last evening with an audience that was thoroughly delighted with the Yankee sociable given by the members of Queen Esther Band of the church. The affair was a novel one. There were three parts to the entertainment, all of a musical nature. Part first consisted of the rendition of popular airs on the piano by Bert Simpson, who played a few notes of each song. Each person was given a piece of paper and a pencil. As the songs were given in brief they were supposed to guess the title and jot it down Some of the guesses were very amusing.

Part second was devoted to the illustration of popular songs by tableaux, as follows: "Coming Through the Rye," Carrie Pangborn; "Star Spangled Banner," Edna Sebring, Frances Culp, Margaret Darby, Mildred Long; "Peek-a-Boo," Edna Sebring, Frank Culp and Margaret Darby took part, while George Voehl's St. Bernard dog was a prominent character. Ada VanHorn, Ethel Noe, Ethel Most standing behind a copy of the New York Times, represented the song "Just Behind the Times." Edna Sebring and Frances Culp dressed in gowns of blue, represented "Two Little Girls in Blue." The St. Bernard dog was sent after a small ball thrown by George Voehl, Jr., thus representing "After the Ball." Edna Sebring, Frances Culp and Margaret Darby represented "Little Fisher Maiden" by sitting in a canoe. "The Street Musician" was represented by Harry Schuck who played a violin and received compensation from Winnie Carroll and John Carney who were supposed to be playing on the streets. The song of "Marguerite" was interpreted by Marguerite Darby who stood close by a Marguerite plant. "See Saw" was represented by John Carney who was sawing wood.

The last part of the programme was a representation of terms used in music.

At the close a silver collection was taken and the whole affair netted about $10. Miss Nellie Valiant, as president of the band, was in charge, and she was assisted by Miss Marguerite Schuck and Miss Delia Voehl.

CLING FAST TO THE FEES.

Republican Leaders Oppose the Bill for Salaried County Officials.

The surrogates and county clerks of New Jersey are up in arms over the bill introduced into the Senate which proposes to take away all their fees and put them on salaries. The bill was probably introduced for the purpose of making capital for the Republican party on the ground that it was an economic move. But the bill has already reached the breakers. The Republican leaders who, two years ago, were enthusiastically advocating the abolition of the fee system in the State offices find that when the principle is extended to the profitable county offices, such as that of surrogate and county clerk, there is a decided protest.

Senator Stokes, of Cumberland county, has come out flat-footed against the measure. He thinks that the county clerks earn their money and are worth more than the salary provided for them in the bill.

The measure provides that the county clerks, surrogates and registers of deeds shall receive the same salaries, and are provided for as follows: Atlantic county, $2,200; Bergen, $4,500; Burlington, $4,500; Camden, $5,200; Cape May, $1,500; Cumberland, $3,000; Essex, $7,500; Gloucester, $2 200; Hudson, $7,500; Hunterdon, $2 200; Mercer, $4,900; Middlesex, $4,700; Monmouth, $4,700; Morris, $4,500; Ocean, $1,500; Passaic, $5,600; Salem, $1,800; Somerset, $2,200; Sussex, $1,800; Union, $4,900; Warren, $2,200.

In this provision, the second-class counties are the greater sufferers. In some of them, such as Mercer, the county clerks and surrogates find their offices exceedingly profitable. In Mercer county they are each worth to the incumbent from $15,000 to $18,000 a year, and a considerable amount of that money goes into the campaign fund of the Republican party when there are lively local or State elections.

Coal Still Selling Cheap.

Notwithstanding the reports that the price of coal was to be advanced back to the old price of $5.50 per ton for domestic grades, a coal dealer, who knows all about this situation, this afternoon told a Press reporter that there was no immediate prospect of the prices being advanced.

VOICE FROM AN ASYLUM.

LAWS COMMITTING INSANE PERSONS UNJUST, SAYS JUDGE ULRICH.

The Former Plainfield Lawyer Writes to Senator Reed Urging a Commission to Revise Laws Caring for the Insane.

In the Senate yesterday Senator Reed, of Somerset, presented a petition from former Assemblyman John Ulrich, of Union, which brought up recollections that were not of the pleasantest to several of the members who listened to its reading.

Judge Ulrich set forth that the laws for the committal of insane persons to hospitals, sanitariums and similar institutions are "palpably unjust, deficient, wrong, inequitable and contrary to the intent of the Constitution," and that the laws for the liberation of persons illegally committed to these institutions are equally deficient.

The former Assemblyman went somewhat into details to prove this latter allegation, and urged the attention of the Legislature to the subject with a view to securing remedial legislation. He concluded by asking that a joint legislative committee be appointed to investigate the different State hospitals for the insane.

Judge Ulrich was committed to the Trenton Asylum some years ago, but is now in a private sanitarium. He was at one time very prominent in State politics.

His petition was referred and there is a possibility of the appointment of a committee to make the investigation he considers.

ON THE RAMPAGE.

John Richards Accuses Bessie Ritter With Scandalous Conduct.

The sun shone brightly on the Eight Row yesterday afternoon, and the air was soft and balmy. All was not at peace in that group of dwellings, however peaceful the day. Mrs. Bessie Ritter was on the rampage, according to the rather vulger expression of her neighbor, John Richards. According to the latter, her performances were so scandalous that the city should take a hand. Therefore he swore out a complaint before the City Judge.

Now Eight Row is a small settlement on West Front street, just east of the Dunellen borough line. Richards has not announced the original cause of all the trouble. He merely related the alleged treatment of himself by Mrs. Ritter. He says that she came out in her yard and disturbed the peace and quiet of the neighborhood by swearing at him. He says that she used all kinds of profane and indecent language.

As a grand finale to the trouble, Richards claims that his enraged neighbor invaded his premises and seized a chair that stood on the piazza. This chair, says Richards, Mrs. Ritter demolished without delay, continuing her tirade of fiery utterances.

Mrs. Ritter was placed under arrest this morning, and her trial set down for Saturday morning.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL LECTURE.

A Picturesque and Entertaining Talk—The Lecturer Referred to Several Composers.

Plainfield music lovers had an unusual treat last night in the delightful lecture on "America's Song Makers," given in the Casino by Mrs. Alfred Chester Coursen, under the auspices of the Rasores and the Woman's Parliamentary Club.

The pretty little Casino stage presented a charming appearance, arranged as an outdoor drawing room. Mrs. Coursen, whose bright, sympathetic face attracted her audience at once, was introduced by Charles W. McCutchen. She began her talk, which was picturesque and entertaining throughout, with an account of the earliest music of America, that of the Indians, showing charts of the picture-writing which is the Indians written music, and then singing the weird but surprisingly melodious songs. The African slave songs, with their plaintive beauty, followed, and then the transition was easy to Stephen C. Foster's "Old Kentucky Home," which provoked much applause. The composer of whose songs Mrs. Coursen then gave example were not spoken of in any chronological order, but were arranged to alternate grave and gay, simple and elaborate. The composers, of whose life Mrs. Coursen made some brief mention, were DeKoven, MacDowell, Nevin, Gerrit Smith, Foote, Neidlinger, Loomis, Chadwick, Margaret Ruthven Lang and Dudley Buck. The song which seemed to best please the audience was Nevin's "Oh, That We Two Were Maying," which Mrs. Coursen was obliged to repeat. Mrs. Coursen has a sweet, well-modulated and intensely sympathetic voice, which was exceedingly pleasing. Her accompaniments were played by Miss Ellington Lum.

JUNIORS READY FOR WAR.

Franklin Council Pass Resolutions Pledging Services to State.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., held last evening, resolutions were adopted offering the services of the members of the council as volunteers to the State in case of war. The resolution was ordered sent to Governor Voorhees.

It is quite likely that Somerset Council will adopt similar resolutions this evening at their meeting. The combined membership of the two councils is about 300, and many of the members are well-drilled in military tactics and are well-fitted to serve the country as soldiers.

At the meeting last evening the members were very pronounced in their views concerning the trouble that now threatens this country, and everyone showed a decided willingness to go to war if necessary.

HIS SERVICES VALUED.

A. L. Titsworth Engaged as Organist of Trinity Church for the 18th Year.

The music committee of Trinity Reformed church was empowered last evening by the consistory of the church to re-engage the present organist of the church, A. L. Titsworth, for another year. This will be the commencement of Mr. Titsworth's eighteenth consecutive year as organist of the church. Such a long and continuous service speaks volumes for his proficiency, and is a strong evidence of the satisfaction with which his efforts are received by the congregation of Trinity.

The music committee was also empowered to secure a quartette choir for the church, composed of the Misses Krymer and Williams and the Messrs. Clark and Moore. If satisfactory results are obtained, this quartette will be engaged permanently.

Death of a Young Lad.

The death of Charles Flanders, aged six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Flanders, occurred after a short illness with malignant diptheria and pneumonia. Everything possible was done to save the little fellow's life, but all was of no avail. He was a grandson of Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, and the family have the entire sympathy of a host of friends in their hour of bereavement.

From Somerville to Plainfield.

Mr. Kitchen and family, of Somerville, have leased the Day property at 92 Duer street, and will take possession April 1st. The Misses Kitchen are saleswomen at White's dry goods house, and the change will be more convenient for them.

Dance at South Plainfield.

A sociable and dance will be held at Washington Hall, South Plainfield, this evening. Prof. Guttman, of this city, will furnish the music.

Library Presentation.

There have been presented to the library of Grace M. E. church 110 valuable books. The donor's name is not given.

SACRED TO MEMORY OF THE VETERANS.

G. A. R. Men Want a More Solemn Memorial Day.

ARRANGING FOR ITS OBSERVANCE.

The Exercises This Year Will Seek to Impress the Rising Generation so That Sports and Recreations of the Holiday Will Give Way to Deeper Reverence for the Dead Heroes—Plans for This Year—Committee in Charge.

The committee from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., having in charge the observance of Memorial Day, held its first meeting last evening and discussed a number of plans for the coming event. The committee consists of I. L. McVoy, chairman; Charles B. Stephens, secretary; Elmore D. Moffett, William Day, Col. Mason W. Tyler and Capt. J. Frank Hubbard.

The event this year will be different in many respects from previous celebrations. The sense of the committee seems to be that heretofore the day has been made too much of a gala day and that there has been too much of a Fourth of July spirit manifested. They recognize that the celebration should be made as sacred as possible, and should be given up to solemn thoughts of the dead heroes. Starting with these suggestions for a basis, the committee are strongly impressed that the great hurrah usually attendant upon such occasions should be done away with.

As one member of the committee said, "We cannot put a stop to bicycle racing, baseball and sports in general, but we should set an example for the younger generation to follow that will lead them to regard the day as sacred as possible. There is no doubt but what the day in previous years has been desecrated and made an occasion for joyfulness, and it is the intention of the committee to turn about and place a proper reverence on the day."

On the morning of May 30th the veterans and school children will march to the various cemeteries with martial music and decorate the graves of the departed veterans. This will be done by the post members as a body and special details will not be sent out as heretofore.

During years past the members of the Woman's Relief Corps have been obliged to work hard to make the proper arrangements with school children for the observance of the day. This year it is planned that the women shall be relieved somewhat from this arduous task. There will not, probably, be the usual chorus of school children to sing, but instead a male quartette will be substituted to sing patriotic songs, while a band of music will be present at the memorial service in the afternoon which will be held in either Music Hall or Reform Hall.

The committee accepted the invitation of Rev. W. C Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, to attend divine service at the above church the Sunday evening before Decoration Day.

Charles Stephens and William Day compose the committee on music, flags and hall, while Elmore D. Moffett, Mason W. Tyler and J. Frank Hubbard compose the committee having in charge the securing of appropriations and speakers. Wm. Day is a committee of one to take charge of the matter of decorating the graves and he will select his assistants. The whole committee will meet again Wednesday evening, March 23d, at the office of Elmore D. Moffett, on North avenue, when further arrangements will be made.

FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

A Somerville Man Brings Suit Against a Westfield Corporation.

Walter L. Chapman, an accountant, living in Somerville, has brought suit in the Supreme Court against the Iron Clad Rheostat Company, a corporation manufacturing electrical apparatus at Westfield. The suit is for $1,000 for breach of contract.

Chapman entered the employ of the concern as accountant some time ago. He purchased a quantity of stock which he claims was to be repurchased in case he was discharged from the employ of the company. Some time ago he was discharged, but the stock was not repurchased by the other stockholders. So he has brought suit through his attorneys, Murphy & Blatz, of this city.

A Democratic Constable.

In justice to William N. Pangborn, of the borough, who is a Democrat, it should be stated that he was one of the constables elected last Tuesday, making two Democrats elected on the ticket.

Fighting.

Roundsman Flynn arrested two men this morning on the charge of fighting. Their trial was set down for Saturday morning.

AUXILIARY CRUISERS

Conference Between Sec'y Long and President Griscom.

ARRANGING THE TRANSFER

The American Line Officials Offer Not Only the Four Large Ships, but the Smaller Vessels of the Fleet to the Government.

Washington, March 11.—One of the most important conferences held by Secretary Long yesterday was with President Clement A. Griscom, of the American Line Steamship Company, and the owners of the steamers St. Paul, St. Louis, New York and Paris. Mr. Griscom was accompanied by his son, and the conference with the Secretary was in regard to the transforming the Atlantic liners into auxiliary cruisers.

The intention is, if it becomes necessary, to press these vessels into the service under the power given the Government in the subsidy act, and attach them to the proposed flying squadron, which is about to rendezvous at Hampton Roads. The Secretary and Mr. Griscom discussed the situation in detail.

Mr. Griscom, not only assured the Secretary that the four large vessels were at the disposal of the United States, as, under the law, they could be taken at any time, but also that the company was willing to place the smaller vessels of the fleet at the disposal of the Government any time either by sale or charter. These vessels do not come under the provisions of the subsidy law, but Mr. Griscom assured the Secretary that the company was ready at any time to turn them over to the Government.

It is understood here that the Navy Department considers the four large steamers of the International Steam Navigation Company now practically under its control, and has a naval officer ready to take command of each at once.

Orders have been issued at the Bureau of Navigation to put the monitor Miantonomah and the ram Katahdin into commission, following the officering of the Columbia and the Minneapolis. The first-named vessel will be ordered to Southern ports, to do the same work of protection that the Terror in New York and the Puritan at Hampton Roads are doing.

Secretary Long has received the reports from chiefs of bureaus and other naval officials as to work going on. He received a large number of cable reports from naval attaches at foreign legations in regard to the chances of purchasing war vessels now being built in foreign ship yards. These reports showed that there were a large number of purchaseable vessels now being built at private yards, which could be secured at once. But the vessels in Government yards were not available. This information will be of great assistance to the Department, and no doubt a report will be prepared and cabled to Southampton to await Commander Brownson's arrival there.

OPENLY CHARGED BRIBERY.

Councilman in Philadelphia Says $5,000 Was Offered to Him.

Philadelphia, March 11.—The rumors of lobbying in connection with the several bills before city councils for the transfer of the city water works to private corporations had their culmination in a direct charge of attempted bribery made by a member of the Common Council at a meeting of that body yesterday.

The meeting was a special session called for the consideration of the measure known as the Schuylkill Valley water bill. Shortly after it had been taken up Walter N. Stevenson, member from the Thirty-second Ward, declared that $5,000 had been offered to him to vote for the bill. He further said that he was informed that members who were voting for the bill were getting from $1,000 to $5,000 for their votes. He asked that an immediate investigation be made.

Other opponents to the bill followed with remarks corroborative of Stevenson's charges, and amid great excitement a motion was adopted, by a vote of 67 to 61, to definitely postpone the consideration of the bill. The special session was then adjourned.

The charges probably will result in a deathblow to the water bill. The bill provides for a transfer of the city's water works to the Schuylkill Valley Water Company for a period of fifty years, the city to pay the company $1,400,000 for its water supply.

Boy Victim of Chum Will Recover.

Lancaster, Pa., March 11.—William B. Davis, who was shot Wednesday at Millersville by his chum, Roy Gehrig, the latter then committing suicide, will probably recover. The bullet that entered his temple was located by the X-ray. It took a downward course and lodged between the upper jaw and cheek bones. No effort will be made to remove it at present. Davis still maintains that they had no quarrel, but states that Gehrig frequently threatened to commit suicide and said if he did he would first kill Davis.

Farmer Murdered by a Tramp.

Tamaqua, Pa., March 11.—Joseph Weaver, a farmer of Lisard, a village ten miles from here, was shot and killed yesterday by an unknown tramp. Weaver found the man sleeping in his barn and ordered him to leave. The tramp fired two shots, one of which entered Weaver's heart. He died almost instantly. The tramp escaped.

To Promote General Miles.

Washington, March 11.—The Senate Committee on Military Affairs yesterday decided to recommend the passage of the bill authorizing the revival of the grade of Lieutenant-General of the Army. The bill auhorizes the President to nominate an officer for this grade. The bill is in the interest of General Miles.

Fifteen Locomotives for Egypt.

Philadelphia, March 11.—The Baldwin Locomotive Works has booked an order for fifteen locomotives for the Egyptian State Railway. They are to be heavy mogul freight engines, and will be shipped early in May.

ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE

No Significance in the Visit of the British Ambassador.

WOULD HELP US IN EUROPE

Administration Not Likely to Put Us Under Obligations to the British, Although Their Moral Support is Expected in War with Spain.

Washington, March 11.—President McKinley said yesterday: "There is no significance in the visit of the British Ambassador."

This utterance was made in answer to the story published in certain papers that when Sir Julian called at the White House on Tuesday it was to convey a message from the Queen expressing her desire that war with Spain be avoided, and to point out that the commercial relations of Great Britain with the United States were too extensive to be jeopardized by a war between this country and Spain. Assistant Secretary Day has already officially denied that the visit was for any such purpose, and even Sir Julian, who has not allowed himself to be quoted in the newspapers for three years, authorizes the statement over his name that the Cuban question was not discussed while he was with the President.

It is somewhat strange that a visit of the Ambassador to the President should give rise to so much speculation, because it is not an unusual thing in diplomatic procedure for an Ambassador to call upon the President. An Ambassador is the personal representative of his sovereign or President, and as such he can call in person upon the chief executive of the country to which he is accredited.

There is no doubt that in this case the wish was father to the thought, and that England would undoubtedly be pleased to have the impression get abroad, especially in Europe, that an alliance has been made between Great Britain and the United States. In fact, in this instance, the first suggestion of such a thing came by cable from London Wednesday night to a correspondent of a London paper, and on this information was based the story published. One can readily see the great advantage to be gained by Great Britain in having this impression get abroad on the Coninent, especially in view of the Eastern situation.

As a State Department official said yesterday, the United States was not going to place herself in the position of being under any obligations to England at this time, especially as the latter's aid was not necessary. We could easily handle Spain ourselves, and to accept assistance from England would only make it obligatory for us to aid England in the event of trouble over the Chinese situation, which now seems sure to come.

From this it will be seen that England is pleased that the impression should get abroad at this time that she offered assistance to the United States. There is every reason to believe, that, if war should come, the United States would have the sympathy of Great Britain and her moral support, and that, if she should interfere in any way before hostilities, her interference would be in the direction of bringing about such a settlement of the Cuban controversy as the United States is seeking.

It is also believed that should the President recognize the independence of Cubans, England would follow suit, and thus notify Spain that she could receive no sympathy or aid from the British. This much of friendly co-operation between Great Britain and the United States is anticipated. But a close alliance of a formal character is regarded as a thing of the remote future. The mutual interest of the two governments in preserving the integrity of China and the need of Great Britain for the moral, if not the active, support of the United States in her contention with the rest of Europe over the Eastern question, is expected naturally to dispose Great Britain to assume a most cordial and sympathetic attitude toward the United States in the present emergency.

British commerce would undoubtedly suffer somewhat from war between the United States and Spain. But it is not believed that it would suffer nearly as much as has the American commerce on account of the Cuban war. There is no probability, it is thought, of Spain being able, in the event of war, to blockade any of the principal American ports, and, of course, the war vessels of neither Spain nor the United States would interfere on the high seas or in ports, in the absence of a blockade, with the vessels carrying the British flag.

At all events, if war were forced upon this Government by the act of Spain, it is not regarded as at all probable that we will be deterred from the defense of our dignity and our rights by the consideration of a consequent temporary inconvenience to Great Britain, or that Great Britain expects or desires such a thing. It is felt to be a matter of congratulation by leading men in Congress, as well as those in official life, that there exists between Great Britain and the United States a cordiality of sentiment and community of interests far beyond the ordinary comity of nations. The attitude of Great Britain with respect to our relations with Spain is expected to be such as to contribute, as far as any foreign influence can, toward checking Spain in any course which would compel the United States to go to war.

Says McCoy's Claim is a Farce.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 11.—Mike Connelly, Peter Maher's manager, says "Kid McCoy's claim to the heavyweight championship is a farce. He told me in a personal interview that he was afraid of Maher. He said: 'I am challenging champions, but fighting suckers.' Our $5,000 forfeit is still in the hands of Sam Austin for any man in the world to cover, and until McCoy fights a topnotcher his claim is ridiculous. Maher has whipped both men McCoy is after now."

There must be a cause!

There must be a reason for our unique position in New Jersey. With countless competitors in the field, you would expect that the business of one or two of them would nearly approach in size the business of the largest, but the truth is that ours is many times larger than any other single one.

One of the causes is that we sell Pianos that we know are the seven best, in their different grades, that America produces—CHICKERINGS, GABLERS, HARDMANS, VOSES, STERLINGS, STANDARDS and HUNTINGTONS. These names are a cause unto themselves.

SELFISH SOMERSET.

Like the Somerville Democrat, the Bound Brook State Centre has got itself in an unpleasant frame of mind over the agitation of a Greater Plainfield and gives voice to the following wail:

The Plainfield Board of Trade has taken upon itself to appoint a committee to formulate plans for consolidating the city and borough under one government and so changing the county lines as to have both in either Union or Somerset. Naturally the people of other parts of Somerset county will object to parting with the thriving borough, while to take in the whole city would give Plainfield a political preponderence throwing Somerset's county seat and other ambitious towns entirely in the shade. In fact, the whole scheme seems shady, and perhaps it will be well to wait and see what light the committee may be able to throw upon it.

The question of the constitutionality of the veterans' rights act is now being considered in the Supreme Court, and pending a decision no vigorous effort will be made to oust John C. Blore from the wardenship of the Union county jail in favor of the the new appointee, Charles W. Dodd, of this city. When the decision is announced it will determine Mr. Blore's contention to his right to retain the office.

Retail merchants throughout the State are making a strong effort to have the Legislature declare the trading stamp business illegal, but the stamp people are also up and doing to thwart any such purpose. Senator Reed is arrayed on the side of the merchants.

Weak from Loss of Blood

This morning while Jacob Mintz, of Pearl street, was working at Lewis' slaughter house on Somerset street, he cut his hand badly with a butcher knife. The loss of blood was great and before a physician could be secured Mintz was very weak. He was taken to his home, where he is now under treatment. It has not yet been determined whether Mintz will lose any of his fingers or not.

THEATRICAL.

A decided novelty and genuine New York success, Sidney R. Ellis's scenic production of the romantic drama of the Czar's realm, "Darkest Russia," will hold the boards at Stillman Music Hall tonight. The play is one of marked intensity and is everywhere receiving pronounced praise. Not an adverse criticism has been written and the production is one combining in every detail all the elements of lasting success, which has been presented at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, for six weeks; at McVicker's, Chicago, four weeks, and at the Chestnut Street Opera House, Philadelphia, four weeks. "Darkest Russia" is from the pen of H. Grattan Donnelly, who has shown wonderful ingenuity in portraying scenes characteristic of the Russian.

"The Geisha," which deals so humorously and picturesquely with "Happy Japan, Garden of Glittor," appears at Stillman Music Hall next Wednesday, with all its wonderful equipment of rich costumes and scenery and such distinguished artists as Virginia Earle, Nancy McIntosh, James P. Powers and Julius Steger, all of which made this exquisite light opera such a success at Daly's Threatre, New York, and throughout the country. The entire organization with all its splendor of mounting, music and choral effects will be transferred here complete. Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at box office Saturday morning.

We have not had a first-class specialty company here for some months, but all who delight in such will have their tastes gratified by the performances of the New Henry Company at Stillman Music Hall tomorrow afternoon and night. The organization is a notable one, and with such stars as Frank Cushman, the well-known minstrel comedian, the famous Garnella Brothers and the Buffon trio of grotesque dancers, a first-class fentertainment may be anticipated. The matinee tomorrow should not be forgotten.

The Guy Brothers' Minstrels appear here at Stillman Music Hall Thursday next.

Traveling Facilities to the South.

The eyes of the public are always turned with interest on the Nation's Capitol, Washington, with its magnificent public buildings, its beautiful streets, its world-famous library, and the fact that it is the centre of all this great country's interests. Baltimore and Washington are brought into close touch with us by the two great systems, the Philadelphia and Reading Railway and the Baltimore and Ohio. The Royal Blue Line needs no introduction. It is famous for its swift, safe and superb trains, its comfortable and commodious cars, and the marvelous exactitude with which its trains speed to their destination. There is only one way to go south; take the Philadelphia and Reading to Philadelphia where close connections are made over the Royal Blue Line.

ISAIAH PROPHESIED IT.

The Man of God's Strange Vision of the Future.

THE MAGNETIC PHENOMENA OF OUR TIME FORETOLD MORE THAN TWO THOUSAND YEARS AGO—GRAND AND GLORIOUS DIVINATION OF EVENTS THAT WERE TO BE AND ARE NOW BEING FULFILLED.

"Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped, the lame man shall leap as an hart and the tongue of the dumb sing."—Isaiah, Chapter 35, Verse 4.

The beauty of diction, the poetical phrasing, the sweetness of expression, the wondrous melody, the penetrating perception, the sublime thought displayed in the book of Isaiah conspire to make it the grandest, the greatest and profoundest work of literature that ever emanated from the brain of man, and, had it no other importance than being a mere masterpiece of fiction, its entrancing volubility would stamp it as the product of an inspired mind. But there is not a sentence, not a line that the great prophet wrote that is not pregnant with a meaning so deep, so far-reaching and wide in its range that it cannot be mistaken, and is filled with consequences fraught with the most absorbing interest to mankind. The man of God was endowed with a spirit of divination so keen that the future was an open book to him. He foretold events that would transpire, and phenomena that would occur so startling in their effects that the nations would be thrilled and awed at their bewildering transformations. He threw the carthode rays of his God-given vision upon the future ages, and peering down the corridors of time, he beheld and foretold of things dire and forbidden that would happen. He saw the rise and fall of nations and obliteration of dynasties. He beheld the carnage of war in all its wild, furious, devastating effects. He viewed the pestilential scourge in its varied phases overwhelm the nations and strew the land with the victims of its ravages, and he sang a dirge of sorrow and wept as he sang over the universal calamities that were to be. But his lyre was not always strung to doleful strains, for he saw, amid the jarring discord of war, the overthrow of nations and the pestilences' withering breath, a plentitude of blessings showered upon the world that filled his soul with joy, and he sang a new song, replete with the vision of good things, the burden of which was:

"Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped, the lame man shall leap as an hart and the tongue of the dumb sing."

No more beautiful and reassuring passage occurs within the covers of Holy Writ, because it tells of a time when Nature would so unfold herself in her mysterious evolutions to give to the human race an agency infallible in its power to annihilate disease, dispel physical infirmities and rehabilitate lost faculties, build up, restore and rejuvenate degenerated manhood and womanhood from which a new and vigorous race should spring. For ages the genius of man has been exhausted in efforts to invent, devise, or evolve a plan that would successfully combat the deadly inroads of the innumerable maladies that human flesh is heir to, but every new method or system but added perplexity to the problem. True, science seems to have done much to stay the onslaught of disease, but it remained for Nature to right her own wrongs, and what science failed to do, she, in that subtle, secret force, vital magnetism, has revealed the fountain of perpetual youth.

In the person of the Boy Phenomenon is concealed the well spring of life, of which Isaiah speaks, for in fact and in truth, he daily makes the eyes of the blind to open, unstops the ears of the deaf, puts elasticity in the step of the lame man.

The Boy Phenomenon is not only one of the seven wonders of the world, but is indeed the most wonderful and powerful magnetist of his age in existence. His parlors are every day thronged with an aggregation of afflicted humanity.

Mr. Audsley and his son, George C. Audsley, of Grove street, will sail for Europe tomorrow to be absent a few months.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text:—He that soweth the good seed is the Son of man. Matt. xiii: 37. March 13, 1898.

24. "Another parable put He forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field." As this parable is only one of a series of seven recorded in this chapter, and probably spoken on one day, four by the seaside, and three, with the interpretation of this one, privately in the house, we must consider briefly the seven that we may better understand this one. We must also notice why He now began to speak in parables. It was not that they might better see and understand, but just the contrary (verse 13). They had rejected their King (chapter xii, 14), and now He will not tell them plainly what would happen in consequence. It was no mystery, but something very plainly revealed in the prophets, that there should be a kingdom on this earth, with a righteous King on David's throne, bringing blessing to all nations, but it was a mystery still hidden as to what would take place on this earth if this kingdom should for any cause be postponed. These seven parables set forth the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven—that is, the course of this age till the harvest. Only a portion of the seed sown will bring fruit to perfection, and much of that will be hindered by tares sown by the devil. The little company of true believers will become a great worldly thing full of birds in the branches, the followers of the devil joining the church for their own ends. The church herself (the woman with the meal) will so corrupt her food that there will be but little sound doctrine, the preachers preaching to please the people and not the Lord. But there is another side to this dark story and that is told to the disciples in the house privately (verse 36). Because there is a real treasure of true believers in this field, the world, One has bought it who has the right of redemption, and He did so by giving up all that He had. The treasure may be the true Israel. See Ex. xix, 5, 6; Mal. iii, 17, margin. The one pearl from the depths of the sea is very suggestive of the church gathered out of all nations. The One buying it must be, as in the former case, the Lord Himself, for He gives up all He has. Then when the elect church has been presented faultless, the one pearl and elect Israel made a righteous nation, the treasure for the time being hidden in the field, there shall be a great multitude from all nations who shall form the saved nations, who shall walk in the light of the New Jerusalem and bring their glory and honor into it (Rev. xxi, 24, 26). God has a great plan which He has revealed to us and those who walk with Him will never be discouraged (Isa. xlii, 4; liii, 11). As to the first verse of our lesson His own explanation is that He Himself is the sower, true believers are the seed, and the field is the world.

25. "But while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way." His explanation in verses 38, 39, is that the tares are the children of the wicked and the sower of such is the enemy, the devil. If men were wide awake—that is, God's men—the enemy might not get in as many tares as he does, but too many are asleep, like Jonah, turning their backs on what God wants them to do, or, like Samson, given up to living unto themselves. Let us all give heed to Rom. xiii, 11; Eph. v, 14. Many a preacher out of employment might find light on his path very quickly if he had no touch of either Jonah's or Samson's trouble.

26. "But when the blade was sprung up and brought forth fruit then appeared the tares also." One cannot always tell which are tares and which are wheat, but the Lord knoweth them that are His, and He will make no mistake. Each one can be sure for himself whether he is tares or wheat, a child of the wicked one or a child of God. I John v, 12, with John i, 12, and iii, 16, will tell any one who wants really to know.

27. "So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? From whence, then, hath it tares?" At the marriage in Cana the servants knew whence came the wine, but this is a more difficult case, and servants do not know everything; not by a good deal. We know in part, and if any man thinketh that he knoweth anything, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know (I Cor. xiii, 9, 12; viii, 2.)

28. "He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?" Some servants seem to enjoy gathering out, or attempting to gather out, the tares, or at least in letting the tares know what desperate tares they are in the estimation of the wheat.

29. "But He said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them." The rooting up or gathering up process can have no reference to salvation, for in harvest time all are gathered—the tares for the fire and the wheat for the barn. In chapter xv, 13, He says, "Every plant which My Heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up."

30. "Let both grow together until the harvest, and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares and bind them in bundles to burn, them but gather the wheat into my barn." This verse is fully explained by verses 39 to 43. The harvest is the end of the age, as the expression "end of the world" always signifies. I do not know where we are told that this planet shall ever be destroyed. Even Peter, in speaking of wonderful changes which shall occur says with great emphasis, "Nevertheless we according to His promise, look for a new heavens and a new earth wherein dwells righteousness" (II Pet. iii, 13). There have been ages, and there are ages to come; the present one, of which our Lord spake, already draweth to a close, but the beginnings and closings of the ages seem always to be of an overlapping nature rather than a decided one and the other. The second coming of our Lord Jesus at the end of this age will, like His first coming, be a series of events, the first of which will be the whole true church caught up to meet Him in the air (I Thess. iv, 16-17).

It costs us many dollars to buy newspaper space. It costs us many more to whittle down all prices where no profit, often loss is sustained. Yet while costly advertising in one way, it's paying in another.

By it we gained over 3 acres of floor space, an immense list of cash and credit patrons, a reputation for liberality in every deal. And now it's clearing out many present lines at a rapid gait, leaving elbow room for Spring patterns fast seeking entrance.

Carpets, good heavy Ingrains, 29c yard. Extra heavy Ingrains, 39c. Fine Tapestey Brussels, 50c—all other weaves reduced too.

Too few of you know our bedding stock—fine hair mattresses, now $6.75. Husk mattresses $3.95. Excelsior mattresses, $1.75. Feather pillows, 65c.

Stoves and Ranges Going Quick

We're closing up the stove store—we've priced each piece so that profit's all squeezed out. Cylinder Stoves for $1.87, were $3.50—finely nickeled self feeding Parlor Stoves at $5.95—elegant self-feeder that was $20, now $11.95. Ranges equally low. The much praised "Portland Range" holds its own as ever—over 9,000 in steady use.

The American people shall have no need of the CHINAMAN in the future if every American Laundryman will supply the proper kind of work. Try us and be convinced that we are up-to-date, and that you would rather have AMERICANS by all odds to serve you. Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. And still what is more horrible is that all your clothes are sprinkled from the mouth. Think twice before you speak and have an American citizen to do your laundry by all odds.

A SIMPLE, HARMLESS REMEDY.

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics, and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars' worth of patent medicines, and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know when widely-advertised patent medicines are used.

SPAIN AFTER ALLIES

Trying to Get the Support of Russia and France.

SHE CHANGES HER POLICY

Realizes the Grave Problem Which Confronts Her—Believes That England Would Side with the United States—Spain Purchases Three Steamers.

Madrid, March 11.—Political and financial circles here now fully realize that Spain is facing a grave problem. In view of the attitude of the United States it is understood the Spanish Government has completely changed its policy toward Cuba and is now courting the co-operation of the Cuban constitutional party, urging the maintenance of the volunteers and the pushing of the campaign against the insurgents, thus giving the military policy predominance over diplomacy.

This change is due to the fear that, if the radical autonomists insisted upon the disarmament of the volunteers or incited the constitutionalists to disaffection, a conflict would supervene, "affording the United States an opportunity for armed intervention."

The presence in Madrid of the Spanish Ambassador to France, Senor Leon Castillo, has started rumors to the effect that Senor Guilon, the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs, is about to resign, and that he will be replaced by Senor Castillo. But this is denied in official circles, where it is said the visit of Senor Castillo is connected with the Government's negotiations to obtain the support of France and Russia which is favored by all parties, including the Carlists and Republicans, as there is a general feeling that in the event of war the racial and commercial interests of Great Britain will impel her to side with the United States.

It is understood the first effect of the understanding with France will be that Spain will receive financial assistance, in order to avert her national bankruptcy.

SPAIN'S PURCHASES.

Has Purchased Three Coasting Steamers and is Looking for More.

Berlin, March 11.—Senor Sandoval, the Spanish military agent in Germany, Austria and Scandinavia, has made three conditional purchases of coasting steamers at Fiume and two at Polo. He left yesterday for Stettin and Hamburg, to inspect a number of vessels offered.

The United States, so far, has made no purchases from among her options in Germany. Lieutenant Commander A. P. Niblack, the United States Naval Attache here and at Rome, has returned to the latter city.

WAR THOUGHT CERTAIN.

Manchester Guardian Says Uncle Sam Can Buy English Ships.

London, March 11.—Despite the momentary abatement of the tension between the United States and Spain, official circles in London take the gravest view of the situation, and the belief is prevalent, as gathered from inquiries at the highest sources on both sides, that, unless a solution of the Cuban difficulty is arrived at within six weeks at the latest, war is inevitable.

It is not expected that Spain will effect a settlement with the insurgents, and the only alternative is the absolute surrender of the Madrid Government, which the Spanish public press will resist to the last moment.

The Manchester Guardian says: "The belief is strong in well-informed quarters that the United States Government is deliberately withholding the facts in regard to the destruction of the warship Maine, while quietly preparing for the possibility of war in the spring."

The Guardian also says it learns that the United States Government has received several offers of purchaseable ships in Great Britain, so that it is a mere matter of selecting the vessels which come nearest to the requirements of th authorities at Washington.

A Martin Juror Roughly Handled.

Hazleton, Pa., March 11.—A. W. Washburn, one of the jurymen who sat on the trial of Sheriff Martin and his deputies, narrowly escaped being roughly handled when he reached his home, at Freeland, yesterday. The verdict of acquittal has excited the wildest indignation in this vicinity. It has been intimated that Washburn was "influenced" in his views. When he stepped from the train a great crowd of angry people met him. They hooted violently. "Down with the corporation puppet! Hang him!" was heard on every side. Washburn's friends went to the rescue and escorted him to his home. They were followed by an angry crowd through the town. The police were kept busy trying to prevent the mob from closing in on the juror and his friends.

No Duty on Warships.

Washington, March 11.—A letter from the Secretary of the Navy was read in Congress yesterday asking that a bill be passed admitting free of duty any ships that might be purchased by the United States Government, as well as all naval supplies. The Navy Department has received long cipher cablegrams from its naval attaches abroad regarding the purchase of ships and supplies now in Europe. They indicate that any quantity of desirable supplies may now be secured from private establishments, but none from Government works. The Department has, however, determined that the enormous resources of this country will be ample to meet any demand for ammunition and similar emergency requisites.

Yukon Relief Parties.

Seattle, Wash., March 11.—Although the Government relief expedition to the Yukon has been abandoned, another plan has been substituted which has the same destination in view and which will subserve the same purpose. The plan is to divide the herd of 537 reindeer now here into two parts. The greater number, 337, will leave here as soon as transportation arrangements can be perfected for Pyramid Harbor. The second expedition will leave here for Prince William Sound some time in May and will start for the interior of Alaska in June.

BASKET BALL.

Another game between the Senior and Third class girls of the Plainfield High School will be played Friday afternoon at the Whittier School. Both sides are anxious for the game and both are equally sure of victory. The game will probably be private.

The members of the basket ball team of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. had their pictures taken in a group several evenings ago by Frank E. Richards, of the association. The photographs were taken in the gymnasium by flash-light. They are excellent.

The basket ball writer of the New York Press commented very favorably on the playing of the team from the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. If the team was as accurate in throwing goals as it was in passing, it would be a very hard combination to defeat, he thought.

The first and second basket ball teams of the Bedford branch of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. will come to this city Monday night to meet the first team and the business men's team from the local association. The two games will be played during the evening. As the Bedford boys are very strong in both their teams, the Plainfielders will have their hands full if they expect to win.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Letter-Carrier Stephens has purchased an Eldridge wheel of Manager Cuming.

Manager Cuming of the Eldridge Cycle Co., received another shipment of wheels yesterday.

The Stearns tandem is now on exhibition at the Bard Cycle Company's store, on North avenue.

W. J. B. Thiers, of Grove street, has received his new Eldridge wheel, purchased from the Eldridge Bicycle Company.

Harold Chandor, of East Fifth street, has received his new Eldridge racer which will be his mount for the coming summer.

The county roads were in good condition yesterday and many wheelmen and wheelwomen from this city were out to take a short spin.

The new catalogue of the Cleveland wheel has been received by the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company and they are now receiving orders for that wheel as fast at they can book them.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Monday evening the Knob Hills will roll a game with the Pumpernichel Club, of New York, at the Ulrich alleys.

There will be a bowling match on the Ulrich alleys this evening between the Knob Hills and a picked team from the "Old Crescents."

With the close of the Central Journal Bowling League and the approach of spring, bowling is losing interest among the members of the Park Club. Tuesday and Saturday evenings are usually devoted to bowling by the older members of the club, but now the bowling committee has decided on account of the decrease of interest, to make it Saturday night only. Before the season closes, however, there will be a concluding match between the members of the regular five and the Juniors. The games will probably be rolled some evening next week. It is the intention of the first team to give the Juniors a handicap of 50 pins on a game.

AT THE TRAPS.

The return pigeon match for $100 between Belloff and McDowning, of New Brunswick, and the Terry boys, of this city, is to be shot at Campbell's Clubhouse, near the race-track, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock sharp. The Terry boys won the first match at New Brunswick. Plenty of live birds for sweepstake shooting after the match.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The Peters Cartridge Co., represented by T. H. Keilar, of this city, as agent, has just published a creditable paper—"Peters Cartridge Bulletin." It is full of news interesting to shooters and is distributed gratuitously. The paper is the work of "Tee Kay," who has introduced it to the sporting fraternity.

No Spanish Loan.

Paris, March 11.—Nothing is known here of a Spanish loan. The story that France intends financially to support Spain seems to be unfounded. France will lend no money in the event of a Spanish-American war, or with such a possibility in sight, without the most perfect security, and it is said this Spain is unable to give.

Millions from the Klondike.

New York, March 11.—Nearly $1,000,000 in gold from the Klondike has been received at the New York Postoffice Building during the past three days, consigned to banks in this city. The gold arrived in bags, holding from $1,000 to $10,000 each. It was carried from the trains to the postoffice in ordinary mail wagons, accompanied by a guard of armed men.

ROBUST GIRLS PLAY GOOD BASKET BALL.

The Senior and Third Classes Meet in the Gymnasium.

ROUGH PLAYING WAS AVOIDED.

The Fair Contestants Attired in Bicycle Suits and Red Sweaters—Excellent Exercise and Within the Bounds of Modesty and Propriety—Both Sides Showed Acquaintance With the Rules of the Game—Names of Players and Results.

The public had its first glimpse of basket ball as played by the girls of the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon, on the upper floor of the Whittier building. The room has been converted into a gymnasium for the benefit of the girls. It was a match game between teams composed of the girls of the Senior and of the Third classes. The public, in this case, was confined to the friends of both teams who were invited to witness the contest.

Now to the privileged ones who were present at the game it was a pleasant surprise. Those who have seen a basket ball game, as played by the local Y. M. C. A. team and their opponents, have considered the game as rather rough for school girls. By making a rule that when a player once secured the ball no effort should be made to knock it out of her hands, the rough play was eliminated. The game, as shown in the match of yesterday, proved itself an excellent exercise for any girl of ordinary abilities, and entirely within the bounds of modesty and propriety withall.

There was no uniform attire on the part of the girls. All wore the ordinary short bicycle skirt so much in vogue. Several of the Seniors wore red sweaters with the initials, "G. A. A.," standing for Girls' Athletic Association, in white letters on the front of the sweater. While embodying all the features necessary for the active exercise, there was nothing striking in the costumes.

The game itself was something of a surprise. Considering the short time since the introduction of the game among the school girls of Plainfield and the fact that the exercise was something of an entire new character to the girls, the progress that they have made was remarkable. As it was the first game before an audience, both sides felt the situation at first. As the game progressed, however, and the contest grew warmer, the fair players forget the spectators lined up against the walls and played with rousing vigor.

The Seniors were the first to gain courage and, as a result, they took the lead for the first half. When time was called for the end of the first half, the score stood 10 to 6, in favor of the higher class.

With the beginning of the second half the younger girls recalled the team play as directed by Superintendent H. M. Maxson, who has coached that team of late. Their team play was certainly superior to that of the Seniors, although the latter did well. The younger girls seemed a trifle more agile and felt the lively exercise to a less degree. When time was called the score stood 16 to 16. Play was then continued until one side should score. Miss Constance Patton, by a brilliant throw, made the winning goal for the Senior team. The final score was 18 to 16 in favor of the Seniors.

It would not be fair to the participants to mention the special work of anyone. By playing the side line game it was only possible for the forwards to make the goals. Miss Patton and Miss Loizeaux divided the work on the Senior team. The other team played into the hands of Miss Miner for the goal throwing and she made seven out of the eight.

The teams were composed of the following:

SENIOR CLASS.		THIRD CLASS.
L. Loizeaux	left forward	P. Denton
C. Patton	right forward	B. Minn
C. Long	centre	E. Morse
S. Richards	left guard	R. Maxson
E. Osgood	right guard	A. Morgan
A. Kirby

Walter L. Long, coach of the Senior team, officiated as referee. The umpires were Superintendent H. M. Maxson and George Proctor Smith.

JUMPED TO ESCAPE, BUT WAS CAPTURED.

AND SHE RISKED HER OWN NECK.

Mrs. Maggie Benford Leaped From the Second Story of Her Home on Paradise Alley.

Three steps at a time, Roundsman Flynn bounded up the stairs to the second floor of the Benford cottage, yesterday afternoon. The next moment Paradise alley was astonished to see the mistress of that establishment sail toward the ground from the second story window, a large bandbox in one hand and a hat in the other. Then the blue cap of the officer appeared through the window.

It all went to prove, the neighbors say, that Mrs. Maggie Benford is not right in her mind. The Press has already told of the trouble between Maggie and her Italian neighbor, Joseph Brown. A warrant was issued in the case and given to Roundsman Flynn to serve yesterday afternoon.

When Flynn arrived on the scene on his bicycle, Maggie fled for the house. The officer followed. She left the door open and he went in and then upstairs where he heard all sorts of strange noises. Then Maggie made her exit as her son did when pursued by Flynn a year ago. She went over the fence in a moment and the Roundsman found her hiding in a neighboring outhouse.

She made no objection to being arrested and went to the office of the City Judge, where she gave herself up without resistance. She explained to the Judge that she was guilty of calling Brown names. She explained that the reason she jumped from the window was that her son had jumped from there. All the questions of the Judge could elicit no other explanation.

This morning she was arraigned before the Judge at the City Court. She declared that she never would drink any more and expressed her willingness to sign the pledge at once. She was ill, she said, in mind and body. After delivering a lecture on the evil of her way, the Judge suspended sentence. She departed calling down a blessing on the head of the Judge and Roundsman Flynn.

SURPRISED BY DEFENSE.

Young Man Suing for Alleged Wages Admitted Working for Board Only

In January, 1897, Charles Johnson, the milkman of Dog Corners, employed Neils Neilson to assist in his milk business, and agreed to give him board and lodging in return for his services. Neilson did not prove satisfactory and was discharged. After waiting a year he brought suit before Justice Nash for wages in addition to his board. Johnson retained Irving L. Brady to defend him. The case was tried Tuesday, William K. McClure representing the plaintiff. The defense sprung a surprise in the case by producing three witnesses who had heard Neilson say that he was working for his board and was not receiving any wages. The Judge reserved decision until this morning when he rendered judgment for the defendant with costs of suit.

SERVICE OF THE PEOPLES' SICK ROOM

Importance of a Hospital of Modern Build and Ideas.

MEANS GOOD FOR THE COMMUNITY.

The Plans for New Buildings for Muhlenberg Hospital are Favorable to the Quickest Return to Thorough Health—Projected Alterations Have Awakened Much Discussion and Great Interest is Felt in the Outcome of the Plans to be Presented

In modern communities no question can exceed or equal in importance and interest the creation and proper maintenance of its "community sick room." So rapidly has modern science interpreted and applied the accumulation of facts of past experience that within the last few years the methods of medical analysis and treatment have been completely revolutionized. By exhaustive and elaborate tests the subtle germ-elements of disease have been described, cultivated and classified. The results on surgical and medical methods and the advance in anticeptic knowledge and treatment can hardly be estimated.

Especially is this felt in the conviction as to the successful separation of the sick from the well even to the possession in every house of a specially constituted "sick" or "hospital" room and the exact and thorough application of the most advanced anticeptic knowledge to the entire environment of the patient. Sun, air, temperature, light, every application, every utensil, in a word, absolutely every condition and regulation more favorable to the quickest return to thorough health and usefulness is utilized.

The convenience and utility of the aggregation of the sick for treatment and restoration has long been conceded in the existence of hospitals. Modern treatments now preceive conditions and causes before unknown and require as essential a service and watchfulness hardly to be attained by the treatment at the sick room in the home and, indeed, in no other structure than one planned, constructed and furnished in complete correspondence with the latest discoveries and applications of medical and surgical science. The question of mere convenience and utility becomes subordinate to the broad humanitarian principle of the quickest extermination of disease and pain. Obviously this requires the most perfect medical conditions and means attainable.

It was these considerations that led the members of the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital to a discussion and approval of the scheme of entire final reconstruction of the hospital buildings on modern lines, as already described in The Daily Press. The projected alterations at the hospital have caused much discussion by those who are interested in the hospital, and the report of the committee that was appointed to look into the methods of raising funds for the work is awaited with interest.

Miss Grace Aspinwall Bowen, of Brooklyn, a daughter of the late Henry C. Bowen, and sister of Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, was married Wednesday at Athens, Greece, to Arthur Sherburne Hardy, United States Minister to Persia. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Rufus Byam Richardson, whose husband is director of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, and Professor of Greek language and literature at Dartmouth. Arthur Sherburne Hardy is a graduate of West Point and Amherst College, and was at one time editor of the Cosmopolitan Magazine. Mrs. Hardy was also a sister of Herbert Wolcott Bowen, formerly United States Consul-General, of Barcelona, Spain, who was a yearly visitor at the Hotel Netherwood.

Mr. Bassford has already been heard in Plainfield as a pianist, and as such is recognized as an artist of unquestioned ability. His appearance as an organist is looked forward to with great pleasure by all music lovers and musicians. Mr. Bassford has held high positions, both as organist and choirmaster, in New York city.

CONSTABLES' LIVELY DISCUSSION.

Dr. Simpson Holds a Chattel Mortgage Over the Judgement Secured by a New York Firm Against the Stock in the Gem Pharmacy—Constable Mattox, Acting for Mortgage, Prevented Public Sale—After the Store Was Vacated He Used Padlocks

The Gem Pharmacy, corner of Liberty and West Fourth streets, was the scene of a lively battle between two constables yesterday morning. The proprietor, E. J. Richards, was forced to give up the place by his creditors Monday.

Ever since Richards assumed charge of the place a chattel mortgage has been held on the stock by Dr. M. S. Simpson. Richards also had other obligations outstanding, chiefly with New York wholesale druggists who furnished him with stock. One of these firms recently sued Richards and secured a judgment for several hundreds of dollars. An execution was issued and placed in the hands of Constable George R. Rockafellow, who proceeded to advertise a sale of the goods.

The sale was to have taken place this morning. At the appointed time Constable Rockafellow, accompanied by former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, counsel for the parties holding the execution, appeared at the store and hung out a red flag. All was progressing serenely when Constable William R. Mattox entered the store.

"I forbid this sale to go on," Mattox said.

"Well, sir, this sale is going on; don't make any mistake about it," retorted Rockafellow, glaring at the intruder.

"I hold a chattel mortgage upon these goods," said Mattox, "and the sale will be illegal."

The situation was getting equally when Lawyer Codington interfered and explained that the goods would be sold subject to the chattel mortgage.

Rockafellow started his sale, and as there were no other bidders, Mattox in a joke bid $300.

"Sold," shouted Rockafellow.

Mattox protested that he had no intention to buy the goods, and that they could not be sold on only one bid. Rockafellow insisted that they could, however, and declared the lot sold to Mattox.

The red flag was hauled down shortly afterward and all parties left the store. Half an hour later Mattox returned and placed two large padlocks upon the doors.

The neighbors are now waiting with interest to see what the next act in the drama will be when Constable Rockafellow and Lawyer Coddington return to find their entrance to the store barred by the pesky padlocks.

TROUBLE IN PROSPECT.

Westfield Officials Won't Permit Gas Pipes to be Laid.

The attempt of the corporation styling itself the Cranford Gaslight Company to lay its gas mains in the streets of Westfield, threatens to result in open hostilities between the township authorities and the company's representatives. Several carloads of gas pipes are lying on a siding near the Westfield station, and last evening the new Westfield Township Committee received notice that the company would proceed at once to dig up the streets. The notice was referred to the township counsel and the committee gave orders that constables should arrest anyone attempting to dig up the streets of the township without a written permit from the Committee.

The Cranford Gaslight Company was incorporated under the act of the Legislature of 1872. The officers are Alden Bigelow, of Cranford, president, and former Sheriff George Kyte, of Fanwood, secretary.

A Friend Very Sick.

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Baker, of Belvidere avenue and Ravine road, who is the mother of Mrs. J. B. Gross, and the grandmother of A. A. Holly, is very low and not expected to live. Mrs. Baker, who is over 80 years old, was formerly of Wheeling, W. Va., and was the widow of a prominent Wall street banker. She has made Plainfield and Netherwood her home during the past twenty years. She is a member of the Society of Friends. Mrs. Gross is the widow of the late Prof. Gross, formerly superintendent of the public schools of this city.

THEIR WINNING TWIST MISSED.

VETERAN BOWLERS WERE BEATEN.

Knob Hills Were too Strong for the Old Crescents at a Friendly Game Last Night.

After several years absence from the bowling alleys of this city, the "Crescents" made their appearance at the Ulrich alleys, last evening, to roll a match with the Knob Hills. There were many familiar faces on the Crescent team but they seemed to have lost their famous twist for the high scores, so common of old. The absence from the alleys had its effect on the veterans and they could not hold the pace set by the younger bowlers of the Knob Hill team. The Knob Hills took the lead and kept it to the end, enlarging it until it nearly reached the hundred mark in the last frame. The Crescents rallied toward the last and tried to make one of their famous finishes but the lack of practice was apparent and they soon succumbed to the victors.

The individual scores were as follows:

TEMPTING TO THE TASTE.

An Oyster Supper Being Conducted by the W. C. T. U.

Last evening in the rooms of the W. C. T. U., on East Front street, an oyster supper was given by the members of the union. The affair was most successful and will be continued this evening. Those in charge of the supper and its arrangements have made the rooms attractive. The rooms were prettily decorated under the direction of Miss C. R. Yates.

There is a chocolate tea table in charge of Miss Mamie French, and a candy table in charge of Mrs. Ira Travell, assisted by Miss Margaret Yerkes, Miss Kittie Ross and Mrs. Charles Hall. Another table, where cakes are sold, is presided over by Mrs. Parse and Mrs. E. P. Williams. Then there is a table devoted to a display of fancy worsted articles. Miss Mary Martine is in charge of this table.

One of the very interesting features is the display of pictures, which are copy prints from famous paintings. Mrs. S. A. Cahoone has charge of this department. The oysters are in charge of Mrs. McNaughton and Mrs Clinton Randolph, assisted by Mrs. Georgia Wilson.

The other members of the union who are assisting consist of Mrs. John Dunham, Mrs. Francisco, Mrs. Frank Burke, Miss Susie Jackson, Mrs. Charles VanWinkle, Mrs. Ramsey Blair and Mrs. John French.

With each supper ticket a souvenir is given, consisting of a small booklet tied with white ribbon.

Surprised By Young Church People.

Miss Charlotte Messersmith was given a pleasant surprise party at her home on Washington street last evening by a number of young people of the First Presbyterian church. The evening was passed in games and dancing, and at a late hour refreshments were served. Among those present were the Misses Charlotte Messersmith, Mabelle Force, Evelyn Searing, Louella Mills, Jessie and Edith Pruden, Edith Bond, Miss Bittenbender, Miss Maag and the Misses Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hoagland, John Johnson, John Abbott, William Abbott, Fred VanEps, J. A. Stafford, Harry Messersmith and Fred Ross.

Max Wiertz to Leave Town.

After several years of excellent service as steward, Max Wiertz will sever his connection with the Union County Country Club Monday. Mr. Wiertz will also close up his business in this city as a caterer. He has purchased the principal interest in a cafe on Aldrich Court, 45 Broadway, New York, and will be in charge there hereafter. Mr. Wiertz has been a favorite with the Plainfielders and has had charge of many of the large banquets that have been held in this city.

Arranging for a Lecture.

A business meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church was held in Vincent chapel last evening. Definite arrangements were made for the lecture which is to be given under the auspices of the literary department Thursday evening. It was decided to attend the Epworth League rally in Elizabeth Friday evening. An informal social under the charge of the literary committee followed.

Justice Moffett's Court.

Justice Moffett issued a summons today in the case of Coddington against Randolph, on contract. The case will be tried next Thursday.

TROLLEY WILL BE LINKED TWO WAYS.

Street Railway System is Spreading East and West.

PROBLEM OF DUNELLEN TRANSFERS.

The Directors of the Plainfield Street Railway Company Will Meet in a Few Days to Adjust Terms With the Brunswick Traction Company, Which Will Tap Them at Dunellen—More Cars Talked of for Plainfield Line.

The prospect of uniting Plainfield with a big trolley system from both the east and the west has increased the interest in the proposed actions of the Plainfield Street Railway. That company will be called upon to make several decisions in its plan of action with the new companies. These are awaited with interest.

There will be little trouble in adjusting the arrangement between the Plainfield Street Railway and the Elizabeth and Westfield Electric Street Railway, whose line will stretch toward this city from Scotch Plains. The principal capitalists of both companies are the same, which fact will make it easy to make some agreement whereby the cars of the Elizabeth and Westfield line can run direct to Plainfield.

At the Dunellen terminus of the Plainfield road the situation will be somewhat different. Those interested in the Brunswick Traction Company, which has just secured a franchise in Dunellen are not at all interested in the welfare of the Plainfield company.

The Brunswick company will run cars direct from New Brunswick and Somerville to Dunellen and will want to continue them over the lines of the Plainfield company into Plainfield proper. It is not probable, however, that any arrangement satisfactory to both companies will be arrived at for some time, and until then the passengers will have to be transferred at Dunellen. A meeting of the directors of the Plainfield Street Railway will soon be held to consider the matter.

There is another matter that is being seriously considered by the Plainfield company. That is the increase of the service in the city. The traffic on the electric cars is steadily on the gain and the company is thinking of running the cars on six-minutes headway during the busy times of the day instead of on twelve-minutes headway as at present. This would necessitate doubling the number of cars. There are now a number of turnouts that are not in use at present, but could be utilized for an increase in the car service.

Any such increase in the number of cars as proposed would necessitate a corresponding increase in power. Under the existing circumstances the Plainfield Electric Light Company cannot furnish any more power than they are at present. The company is not in the position to give any more power without making some changes in its plant. The trolley company wants more power and wants it very soon. So the company is now investigating the project of having a power house of its own or getting someone to start one to supply the street railway system with all the power necessary. Both projects are being considered. If the Electric Light Company makes a change, it is possible that the present conditions will be continued, although the officials of the trolley company prefer to have a power house of their own.

A GENIAL SATIRIST.

Prof. Vincent's Last Lecture Was About William Dean Howells.

Leon Vincent delivered the last of his series of three lectures upon American authors to a good-sized audience in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday.

The lecturer was introduced by Mrs. Charles Reed, and spoke upon the life and works of William Dean Howells. Howells was born in 1837, and spent his early life in humble fashion as a printer's apprentice.

The different works of the author, including Venetian Life, Italian Journeys, Suburban Sketches and the later novels, especially Their Wedding Journey, were discussed at length by the lecturer, and attention was called to the author's fine discrimination of the little social insincerities that characterize American society.

The book of Howells will be valuable as setting forth in most realistic style the state of American social life at the present time. The weakness of the novels is in their lack of coherent plot. Howells is a satirist, but a genial one, with little trace of bitterness. His English is remarkable for its purity.

AFTER TWO CRUISERS

The United States Negotiating for Brazil's New Warships.

NO PURCHASES OF JAPAN

Gen. Flagler Authorized to Reserve a Large Number of Rapid-Fire Guns for Sea Coast Defenses—Negotiation for Small Arms and Equipments.

Washington, March 12.—Negotiations are proceeding for the purchase of the Brazilian cruiser Amazonas and her sister ship, the Barbozo, by the United States, but so far as the Navy Department is advised have not yet been closed.

The negotiations for the two Japanese cruisers, now building at Philadelphia and San Francisco, are off, and the present indications are that no further steps will be taken toward acquiring them. The Japanese Government appears to be even more desirous of securing these ships than the United States, and owing to the present relations of Russia and Japan, it is felt that the needs of Japan are quite as urgent as those of this country.

Rapid-Fire Guns.

Secretary Alger has authorized General Flagler, tht chief of ordnance, to procure at once a large number of rapid fire guns for sea coast defenses. This action is taken wthout waiting for the allotment among the various bureaus of the War and Navy departments of the $50,000,000 voted for the national defense. All the rapid-fire guns that can be procured within a reasonable time will be shipped to the seacoast fortifications. They constitute what is known as the auxiliary defense for the fortifications, and are a material assistance to the big guns, which necessarily are slower of movement and firing. Contracts for the delivery of carriages for these rapid-fire guns have also been authorized, and the carriages will be shipped to the fortifications as soon as completed. The carriages, however, can be made and delievered much quicker than the guns.

Quite a number of establishments throughout the country have responded to the Department's inquiries as to making these guns. They include the army gun factory, the Bethlehem Iron Works, the Driggs Ordnance Company and the American Ordnance Company. The guns are mounted without much trouble, so that haste in their manufacture is the essential in the present crisis. It is now admitted that directions have been given to the Government arsenals and armories to increase the working force to the fullest practicable extent. Likewise, all ordnance firms having Government contracts have been requested to work their men night and day.

Orders for small arms and extra ammunition have been placed with the Union Metallic Cartridge Company, of Bridgeport, Conn., and the Winchester Arms Company, of New York. Negotiations for the supply of large numbers of small arms, army equipments and accoutrements are now in progress.

Fort McHenry, in Baltimore Harbor, will be selected as the headquarters of one of the new regiments of artillery instead of Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., as originally proposed. The selection of Fort Slocum as the headquarters for the other regiment will not be altered.

To Connect Forts.

General Greely, chief signal officer, has received authority to proceed without regard to ordinary restrictions in establishing rapid telegraphic connections between the sea-coast fortifications. It will not be necessary, therefore, ot invite proposals for furnishing supplies and to follow the ordinary and slow methods. This rather extraordinary authorization was conferred on Geenral Greely after a forcible presentation by him to the Secretary of War of the pressing demand for modern means of communication between the forts.

He showed that even in New York Harbor, where the War Department has devoted its best energies to the perfection of the fortifications, it requires three-quarters of an hour to pass a message from one battery to another. Fort McHenry, Baltimore, is worse off, while the only method of communication between the national capital and its most important defensive works, Fort Washington, on the Potomac, is by means of a messenger.

The naval officers who are endeavoring to buy ships abroad have encountered an obstacle in the difference between the calibre of the guns mounted on foreign-built ships and the United States Navy standards. Not only do these guns differ in calibre from our own in most cases, but they are almost all designed for the use of smokeless powder. This will require the procurement in Europe of a large quantity of ammunition in special sizes for these ships.

Manning the Forts.

Orders were issued at the War Department yesterday for manning the newly established fortifications on the Atlantic coast from Boston down to Galveston on the Gulf. It is expected that the movements of the troops to the various places assigned them will begin within the next forty-eight hours. The troops will be ordered to go into camp and live just as they would in case of active military operations against an enemy.

The new fortifications on Long Island head ,at the entrance to the barbor of Boston, will be guarded by a battery of the Second Artillery, now at Fort Adams, R. I. For the operation of the big guns on Sandy Hook, New York harbor, two batteries, now at Fort Slocum, one at Fort Hamilton and another at Fort Wadsworth, will be utilized. It is expected that the Sandy Hook garrison will be established at once. Fort Monroe, Va., is probably the strongest and best equipped station on the Atlantic coast, and the garrison there will be called upon to man other fortifications, but not to an extent that would weaken its own efficiency. One battery of the First Artillery at Fortress Monroe will be transferred to Fort Morgan Ala. which in conjunction with Fort Cains commands the entrance to Mobile Bay.

Another battery of the First Artillery wil be sent to Tybee Island Ga., for the protection of the mouth of the Savannah River. The garrison headquarters band and one battery of the First Artillery stationed at St. Francis Barracks, St. Augustine, Fla., will be transfered to duty at Sullivan's Island, Charleston harbor. The garrison at Battery I of the Second Artillery will be assigned to duty at Fort Caswell.

In Readiness for Service.

Washington, March 12.—The developments at the War and Navy Departments show that the Administration is expecting action in the Cuban matter next week as already stated. Orders have been issued to the two torpedo boats, the Winslow and the Foote, to proceed at once to Key West to join Admiral Sicard's fleet. By the first part of the week the largest and strongest fleet ever gathered as the North Atlantic Squadron will be at Dry Tortugas. The fleet will be ready for any orders from Washington, and will be under steam at all times.

The Two Cruisers Almost Ready.

Philadelphia, March 12.—The big cruiser Columbia was taken out of the League Island dry dock yesterday afternoon. She will begin taking on stores at once. Ammunition will be taken on board at Fort Mifflin. The Columbia and Minneapolis will sail South in a few days. Their destination is not positively known, but it is said the first port touched will be Hampton Roads.

More Marines Wanted.

Washington, March 12.—The House Naval Committee yesterday placed in the naval bill, provision for an increase of 473 in the number of naval marines. This had been especially asked for by the Secretary of the Navy, and was not included in the regular recommendations. It brings the total number of marines up to 3,073.

MORE NEW WARSHIPS.

Two Monarchs of the Sea to Be Launched at Newport News.

Newport News, March 12.—The work on the two new battleships which are being built for the United States Navy is being pushed rapidly. Everything is nearly ready for ther first plunge in the water. The sponsors for the two boats will be Miss Chrystine Bradley, daughter of Governor Bradley, for the Kentucky and Mrs. Herbert Winslow for the Kearsarge. Mrs. Winslow is the wife of Lieutenant Commander Winsthe son of the late Admiral Winslow, who commanded the Kearsage, when she fought and vanquished the Alabama.

It is settled that the Kentucky will be christened with a bottle of water. Governor Bradley has requested James Speed, of Louisville, to get the water from the old Lincoln homestead, in Larué County. Mr. Speed's father and Abraham Lincoln were close friends.

THE KENTUCKY.

These two new additions to the Navy belong to the same class as the Texas and Massachusetts. They will cost nearly five million dollars each. They will be larger and stronger than the other boats of the same class, and will carry heeavier battery. The main batteries will carry 13-inch breech-loading rifles, four 8-inch breech-loading rifles and fourteen 5-inch rapid-fire breech-loading rifles. The secondary batteries will consist of twenty 6-pound rapid fire, six 1-pound rapid fire and four Colt machine guns, two field guns for landing and four torpedo tubes for long Whiteheads, two on each broadside. These are the most powerful batteries on any battle ship afloat. The heaviest guns carried by any foreign war vessel are 12-inch rifles.

Each ship will have two double-decked turrets. In the lower deck will be mountd the 13-inch guns, and the two 8-inch guns will be placed in the upper deck, making the heavier battery consist of four 13-inch guns and four 8-inch guns in two turrets. These turrets are to be protected from a distance of four feet below the water line to the top of the upper turret, by solid nickle steel, Harveyized and retempered armor.

SPEAKS FOR PEACE.

Spain's New Representative Declares That Neither Nation Wants War.

Washington, March 12.—Senor Luis Polo y Bernabe, the new Spanish Minister, spoke for publication last night for the first time since his arrival in the country on the relations between the United States and Spain. Asked if the present conditions indicated war, he hesitated an instant and then gravely replied:

"I am sure the United States does not want war, just as I am that the Spanish Government does not want war and will do everything honorable in its power to avert such a calamity."

Since the Minister's arrival he has received a cablegram from Captain-General Blanco, stating that the Cuban Cabinet had designated Senors Sevallios, of New York, and Barilla, Secretary of the Havana Chamber of Commerce, to act with Senor Angulo in negotiating a civil treaty between the United States and Cuba.

The Minister referred incidentally to this fact as another evidence of the complete autonomy which Spain has granted to Cuba. Although Senor Polo will be the plenipotentiary in arranging the Cuban treaty, the Cuban delegates above named, chosen by the Cuban Cabinet, will have entire control of the terms of such a treaty.

Death of President-Elect.

Washington, March 12.—The Senate Committee on Judiciary yesterday completed its consideration of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States, providing for the succession to the Presidency in case of the death of the President-elect before his inauguration. The amendment was modified so as to empower Congress to legislate on the subject.

Have You Seen the Free Exhibition?

If not, come before it is too late.

There were a great many people who accepted our previous invitation and visited our store to see the free exhibition, enough to keep the ladies busy all day long giving personal demonstrations of those wonderful preparations, The

The ladies in attendance, however, are accustomed to this, and saw that every one was well taken care of.

The most of these people said they were glad that they came; when they left they had learned a great deal worth learning. They had seen something worth coming to see. Were you one of them? If not, we want to say right now, for your benefit as well as for those who failed to see our last announcement, that there are but a few days left for the tardy ones. The time of the exhibition is limited; there are many hundreds of people waiting elsewhere to see it. This is positively the last week here, and we know full well there are lots of people yet who want to see it and expect to see it, but are putting it off from day to day until something happens that will prevent them from coming at all. These people will probably never realize how much they have missed until their thinning locks and falling hair leaves them with disfiguring, humiliating baldness as a penalty for their neglect, while their more careful brothers and sisters will have profited by the information gained at this exhibition and can glory in a wealth of beautiful, luxuriant hair.

Don't put it off until tomorrow, come today. Why can't you spend a few minutes from your housework or business for your own benefit? You may never have the chance again. Why not accept it now? Come by all means, and in future years you will thank us for the invitation.

Three ways

in which you can get a Piano from us:

ONE.—You can pay cash for it, and thus save the slight additional charge for time payments. The house that says: "No extra charge for instalments" is insincere; it has a lower price for cash, or else it doesn't want to sell except on time.

TWO.—Easy time payments; in most instances a first payment of TEN DOLLARS will secure a Piano at once. Later payments according to your ability.

THREE.—You can rent a new Upright of your own choosing at as low as $1. per month, and if you decide to purchase within a reasonable time we'll allow all the rent you have paid.

All three ways are good ways.

PASSING COMMENT.

An Elizabeth cycling dealer has tried rather dangerous tactics to draw the trade to his establishments. He advertised largely in the Elizabeth papers, and there in a prominent position in the ad was the statement that the chainless wheel of a well-known manufacturer, listed at $125, was being sold at $75. Many Elizabeth wheelmen went down to see how it was that the price could be cut in such a manner. At the store they were told that it was a typographical error, and that the ad should have read $125 instead of $75. It aroused considerable talk among the other dealers as well as in the cycling fraternity.

The following arthmetical problem has been going the rounds of the press: "A banker found a $10 bill. At home he gave it to his wife, who paid the butcher in settlement of his account. The butcher paid it to a farmer for a calf, and the farmer paid it to the merchant, who in turn paid it to the washwoman, and she, owing the banker a note of $10, went to the banker and paid the note. The banker recognized the bill as the one he had found, and which up to that time had settled $50 of debt. On a careful examination he found the bill was counterfeit. Of course, the problem is, who lost in the transaction."

Tobias Metz, of Trenton, a veteran of the Civil War, has discovered that he is a ward in Chancery, just when it looked as if he would have to go to the poorhouse. It has been discovered that he has $960 in the Chancery Court. Several years ago he sold property. There was a dispute about the title and the money was paid into the Court of Chancery, pending settlement. The old veteran is simple-minded and did not understand the movement. He believed the money was swallowed up in litigation. The Grand Army veterans were looking around to see what could be done for the support of the old man, when it was accidently discovered that he had money in the Chancery Court. An application will be made for the money this week, and a guardian will be appointed for the veteran.

THINK THEY ARE AWAKE.

The Somerville Democrat this week prints the paragraph from last Saturday's Daily Press, referring to the position some Somerset county people are taking towards the consolidation of the city and borough, by annexing the city to Somerset county, and says:

Somerville is not so sleepy as The Press would like to make the public believe. It is not so sleepy as to want Plainfield annexed to Somerset for the purpose of raising our tax rate. It is not so sleepy but that it has all the improvements that Plainfield can boast of, such as macadam streets, flag sidewalks, public sewers, gas, electric light, graded schools, fine churches, public library, and a fire department that we will match against any department in the State for quick and efficient work. It is not so sleepy but that it has secured all these improvements without debt, and maintains them at about one-half the tax rate that the citizens of wide-awake (?) Plainfield have to pay. No, thank you. We do not care to have Plainfield annexed to this county. We are not sleepy enough for that.

We are receiving letters daily commending our course in fighting against the annexation of Plainfield to this county. Among others Jacob Nevius writes: "I agree with you in this matter." J. V. E. Vanderhoef writes as follows:

To the Editor of the Democrat:

Dear Sir—In a recent issue you ask for opinions in reference to annexing of Plainfield to Union county.

I am opposed to it for the same reason as quoted in The Democrat, which is, "If that city was annexed to Somerset, Somerville, Raritan, Peapack, Bernardsville and every other section of the county would be in the same fix that Plainfield is now, the tail end of Union county. Plainfield and North Plainfield would have votes enough to gobble everything they wanted. It would not be long before they would want to make Plainfield the county seat, and thus trouble would begin."

I have no objections to Plainfield annexing North Plainfield as a city, but don't let them gobble up the county, for that is just what they would do. I was formerly a resident there and know whereof I speak.

Sincerely yours,
John V. E. Vanderhoef.

Acting Governor Foster M. Voorhees has written to the editor of the Morristown Chronicle, in reply to the report that he was drawing two salaries. His letter in effect is as follows: "I am entitled to draw the two salaries referred to in the Morristown Banner editorial; as a matter of course I shall not do so. I shall cover the salary attaching to the office as Senator into the treasury."

Senate bill No. 49, which repealed the law granting tax exemptions to the extent of $500 to firemen and soldiers, has been defeated. Senator Reed was largely instrumental in defeating this bill.—Somerset Democrat.

A NEW BICYCLE FACTORY.

Company Capitalized at $100,000 to Build Wheels in This City.

Papers have been filed in the county clerk's office at Somerville for the incorporation of a company known as the Frazur Sun and Planet Company. The incorporators are John A. Frech, of Somerville; David C. Frazur, of New Market; Wm. J. Davis, of New Market; Geo. M. Frech, of Annandale, and Edward L. Clark, of Dunellen. The capital stock of the company is $100,000. The object of the company is the manufacture of bicycles, bicycle gearing and gear transmission machinery under U. S. letters patent granted to David C. Frazur. The company will locate their factory in Plainfield and will employ from 25 to 50 men. The plant will be equipped with the very best improved bicycle machinery.

An Old Offender Promises.

Frank Conshee, of the borough, was arrested last evening by Marshal Wise on the charge of non-support and for being drunk and disorderly. This morning when arraigned before Recorder Thomas sentence was suspended on the condition that he stop drinking for ninety days and support his wife. This Mr. Conshee agreed to do and he was discharged.

To Preach in St. Stephen's.

MRS. THRIFTY'S DINNER.

A Novel Entertainment Given in the Congregational Church.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church arranged a pleasing entertainment and social given in the church last evening.

The first part of the evening was spent in listening to a number of pretty selections rendered by Mrs. Buckley's Ladies' Orchestra, interspersed with recitations by Miss Pound, whose elocutionary ability is marked. The musical selections and recitations were heartily received by all and repeated encores were given.

Part second was devoted to the novel features of the programme. Each person present was given a printed programme which was headed "Mrs. Thrifty is to give a dinner party to some of her friends and has given her grocer a generous order. She is setting the table with suitable appointments, after which she will serve the menu."

The table furnishings were then guessed as follows:

"A brief sleep and relations," napkin; "A Sailor and part of a house," salt cellar; "A gang and the Latin for 'and'"; "A tool and a term of respect," saucer; "A dairy product and a baseball player," milk pitcher; "A letter and a horse's gait," decanter; "A family inheritance," plate.

Everything now being ready Mrs. Thrifty invited her friends to dinner and served the following menu:

"An insect and a letter," beef; "Maxim and an herb," sausage; "Timber and a fowl," woodcock; "Absalom's undoing," hare; "A thickening of the epidermis," corn; "Letter of the alphabet," peas; "Hasty pudding and part of a house," mushrooms; "A short visit, a personal pronoun and a part of a plant," cauliflower; "Difficult for a slow person to do," catchup; "A large city, a color and the staff of life," Boston brown bread; "Lists," rolls; "The fruit which made Norse gods immortal and a printer's term," apple pie.

The above caused plenty of fun and amusement for those present. The programme was concluded after refreshments were served. Mrs. Floyd Fuller, chairman of the association, was in charge, and she was assisted by Mrs. LaBoyteaux and Miss Chase.

BAPTIST ENDEAVORERS.

Hear Encouraging Reports and Elect Officers for a Year.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church held its annual meeting last evening. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, L. H. Biglow, Jr.; vice-president, George F. Brown; recording secretary, Harry Drake; corresponding secretary, Miss Alice Woodland; treasurer, Miss Susie Woodland. President Biglow only appointed the heads of the various committees which are as follows: Prayer meeting, Burton Jones; lookout, J. H. Crane; social, Miss Margaret Harold; music, Miss Florence Marsh; missionary, Miss Julia Shinn; flower, Miss Ella Serrell. The other members of the committees will be selected by the chairman.

The secretary reported that during the past year twelve new members had joined the society, of which number two are associate members. The treasurer reported that after paying all bills there was left in the treasury a balance of $11, and of the latter amount it was voted to give $10 to the Christian Herald fund for the suffering Cubans.

A number of the members signified their intention of going to New York next Thursday to attend the special services to be held by Evangelist Moody. The day will be known as Endeavor Day and exercises appropriate to the day will be held.

THEATRICAL.

The New Henry Company of specialists make their first appearance at Stillman Music Hall tonight, presenting a programme of excellence and merit worthy of best patronage The several members of the organization are all recognized stars of the vaudeville world and have been members of the best companies traveling. Frank Cushman, the favorite minstrel comedian, is a host in himself. The celebrated Garnella Brothers have been identified with all the leading acrobatic organizations of the country, and the famous Button trio, grotesque dancers, are European artists of high repute, and were leading features at Koster & Bial's, Keith's and Tony Pastor's theatre for several months. The other members of the company all excel in their various acts. There should be a crowded house.

There have been many minstrel organizations appearing in this city, but none more pleasantly remembered than the famous Guy Brothers, who are announced to appear at Stillman Music Hall Thursday night of next week. Their present company is said to be the equal of the best that is now in existence. Many new and novel features are introduced, notably good ballad singing and refined witticisms. They will make a grand street parade the day of their arrival.

In the annals of comic opera nothing in this country has proven more successful than "The Geisha," produced with enormous success first at Daly's Theatre in London and later at his house in New York. That Mr. Daly is the master of stage-craft of the present day is conceded, but he has beaten his record this time. His brain has worked out a production that will remain in the hearts of all lovers of music, a joy forever. No man living attends more closely to the details of things, as they actually should be, than Augustin Daly; therefore it is easy to predict a long success for this play in America. The visit of "The Geisha" will be under the personal direction of Mr. Daly. "The Geisha" is unquestionably the most successful light opera seen since "The Mikado." In many respects it is its superior.

Louis Beekman, of East Third street, who fractured his ankle the forepart of this week, is doing as well as can be expected.

GRAVE-ROBBING.

The Man Detected, but Not Apprehended.

GRAVES ROBBED DAILY IN THE CITY.

Convincing Evidence Accumulating Every Hour.—The People of Plainfield Excited.—Robbery Bold and Above Board.—No Attempt to Conceal His Acts.

In all ages of the world, in all civilized countries grave-robbing has been, and is still looked upon as one of the most dastardly, diabolical and fiendish acts that a depraved and brutish man can commit. Everybody has a holy horror of "ghouls," and they are shunned and loathed by all classes of society.

Whenever a grave is despoiled, and some sacred remains that have been laid to eternal rest have been disturbed or stolen, the finer sensibilities of the entire community are aroused against such a profanation of the dead and no effort is spared to apprehend and punish the perpetrator. Every neighborhood has, in some period of its existence, been stirred to deepest indignation by the devilish work of the "ghoul," and even Plainfield is not exempt from the depredations of the grave-robber.

Within the last few weeks hundreds of instances can truthfully be cited where grave-robbing has been carried on with impunity under the very eyes of the people and with their approbation and sanction. This may seem strange to the uninitiated and unlettered, but the intelligent reading public know it to be a fact and many have witnessed it with their eyes.

In fact, every day it is being carried on to a degree that is simply astounding, and in place of protesting, they are commending the act

But there are different ways of grave-robbing, and one is to rob the hungry receptacle of its prey.

This puts another phase on the matter and makes the work the most exalted and God-like that ever engaged the energies of man. Grave-robbing is the daily avocation of the world-renowned "Boy Phenomenon," and his success has so astonished the world that it has been said of him: "His magic touch gives life to the dying, robs the sickroom of its suffering, and cheats the coffin of its prey," and in this way robs many thousands of graves every year of its would-be victims.

His private parlors at the Revere House is where grave-robbing is done with neatness and dispatch. Every hour of the day and every day of the week this wonderful healer stretches out his magnetic hands and robs a grave of its victim. He is the grave's especial and implacable foe. Scores of our people, who, but a few weeks ago, were candidates of an early grave, now rejoice that they have been rescued from the jaws of death and the mouth of the grave by the magnetic touch of this youthful healer.

For over three weeks there has been a constant incoming and outgoing, not of novelty-hunting and curiosity-seeking individuals, but among the number may be seen many of our most prominent citizens journeying toward this great Mecca of health I hope that his magnetic hands may restore to health and happiness their many ills that have for so many years defied the most able physicians, who have, from time to time, given them the cheerless assurance that their only hope of rescue from their affliction was a quiet nook in the cemetery, quoting these emotional lines of Montgomery as a consolation to their blighted spirits:

"There is a calm for those who weep,
A rest for weary pilgrims found;
They softly lie and sweetly sleep low in the cold, cold ground!"

On staff and crutch, or borne by the loving arms of friends, they come, dragging their weary, emaciated and shrunken limbs, and among these sufferers may be seen many careworn faces, whose owners are suffering from dyspepsia, kidney disease and many chronic ailments for the relief and cure of which they have for many years sought in vain, and with despair depicted, daring to hope, when hope had long since fled, that the seeming impossible might be accomplished.

Among the hundreds of patients who have been cured are many who have tried every known method and the most scientific skill of the medical profession has been exhausted in efforts to effect a cure.

Owing to the large number of new patients from outside towns, who have secured appointments for treatment, it may be necessary for him to remain in Plainfield during this entire month.

"KEEP HANDS OFF CUBA."

Kaiser Says, "As Long as William II. is Emperor Yankees Shall Not Take Possession."

Madrid, Spain, March 12.—The Madrid Correspondencia printed last night the following telegram from Berlin, received late this afternoon:

"I know from a sure source that Thursday night at a family dinner party in the palace, at which was present Princess Irene, the wife of Prince Henry, the Emperor's brother, who is now in command of the German squadron in the far East, William II. uttered the following really startling words in consequence of the conversation having turned upon Cuban affairs.

"The German Emperor, placing the hilt of his sword on the table, said:

"'What I declare is that as long as William II. is Emperor of Germany the Yankees shall not take possession of Cuba.'"

The President Concerned.

Washington, March 12.—The President is said to be exhibiting considerable uneasiness about the safety of Americans in Cuba. It is regarded about Congress as reasonably demonstrated by Senator Proctor's course in Cuba that he went there in a manner as the agent of the President. The President shows anxiety not to form an exaggerated notion of the desperate condition of affairs in the island, and took the opportunity of receiving a personal report from Senator Proctor, in whose friendship for himself and in whose judgment he has great confidence.

Opposition to Powderly.

Washington, March 12.—The Committee on Immigration has reported adversely upon the nomination of T. V. Powderly to be Commissioner of Immigration. The nomination was held in committee for several weeks, on account of the absence of Senator Chandler. He having returned to Washington, the matter was brought up, and, the vote being taken, Mr. Chandler, united with the Democratic Senators to secure an adverse report. It is believed that the report will be made the basis of an animated controversy in the Senate.

Says Catholics Are Loyal.

Chicago, March 12.—"No true American Catholic will think of espousing the cause of Spain against that of this country because the former is a Catholic nation," said Archbishop Ireland in an interview here yesterday. "To do that is to set one's self down as traitorously inclined to the teachings of his religion, as well as to the country which it is his bounded duty to defend against all enemies, both internal as well as external."

Furniture Advertising That Costs--Yet Pays

It costs us many dollars to buy newspaper space. It costs us many more to whittle down all prices where no profit, often loss is sustained. Yet while costly advertising in one way, it's paying in another.

By it we gained over 3 acres of floor space, an immense list of cash and credit patrons, a reputation for liberality in every deal, And now it's clearing out many present lines at a rapid gait, leaving elbow room for Spring patterns fast seeking entrance.

$10.75—these Oak Suits—good enough for any use—formerly $15.

Too few of you know our bedding stock—fine hair mattresses, now $6.75. Husk mattresses $3.95. Excelsior mattresses, $1.75. Feather pillows, 65c.

Stoves and Ranges Going Quick

We're closing up the stove store—we've priced each piece so that profit's all squeezed out. Cylinder Stoves for $1.87, were $3.50—finely nickeled self feeding Parlor Stoves at $5.95—elegant self-feeder that was $20, now $11.95. Ranges equally low. The much praised "Portland Range" holds its own as ever—over 9,000 in steady use.

Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. THE BIG FIGHT A DRAW.

Sharkey Throws Choynski Over the Ropes Into the Audience.

San Francisco, Cal., March 12.—The great fight between Choynski and Sharkey was ended last night by Sharkey throwing Choynski over the ropes into the spectators. The police then rushed in and forced Sharkey from the ring.

At 9.40 the men entered the ring. Cheers greeted them as they made their way to their corners. Before anything could be done a referee had to be chosen. This caused a wrangle in Sharkey's corner, which lasted for several minutes. Finally, after several men had been refused, Dan Leary was accepted by both sides. Leary was not present, so after another squabble George Green ("Young Corbett") was selected.

Choynski entered the ring at 9.56, followed by Sharkey five minutes later. They were instructed by Referee Green and agreed not to hit in the clinch or breakaways. Time was called at 10.45.

Round 3.—Sharkey led for body and missed. Joe laid a stiff left on Tom's nose. Sharkey responded with a right and left on ribs. Tom landed again on the stomach and got a stiff left on the cheek. Sharkey landed a hard left on Joe's stomach. Sharkey seems very clever. Choynski went up and led right and left, but Sharkey kept away. The sailor had the best of the round.

Round 4—Sharkey landed light left and missed right swing. Joe landed good right on body. Sharkey mixed it up and seemed to have the best of it.

Round 7—Sharkey lands left on stomach and received a stiff left jab on the mouth. Both missed left swings. The sailor rushed Joe to the ropes and had to be pulled away by the referee. Joe landed two straight left jabs on the jaw and on the stomach. Sharkey rushed his man and landed a short-arm right that sent Joe to the floor. Choynski seemed weak and his leads lacked steam, though most of his blows landed as Sharkey made no attempt to guard his face. Sharkey had the best of the round and looked like a winner when the gong sounded.

Round 8—Sharkey lands left for face. Joe lands lightly on body. Joe lands left swing on jaw, but too far back. Sharkey rushes Joe to ropes and hurls him into the audience. Referee declares fight draw. Sharkey very angry and remonstrates, but police put him out of ring.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Business Remains Good, Notwithstanding Our Complications with Spain.

New York, March 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade says the vote in the House, 311 to 0, and in the Senate without a word of debate, 76 to 0, giving the President discretionary power to apply any part of $50,000,000 as he may think fit before next January to national defense, is the most impressive display of hearty unity and unflinching patriotism that has been made by this or any other country for many years. That it will prevent hostilities is not certain, but the course of the markets proves that it is clearly thought probable in other countries as in this. The financial powers of Europe, which are able to starve into peacefulness almost any government may not be able to restrain a mob in Madrid or Havana, but will strain every nerve to keep the peace if they can. It is most gratifying that no industry or branch of business shows any restriction or hindrance, but some have been rapidly gaining for the past week or month. The railways are gaining, even while speculators are selling their stocks, and the demand for products of all the great industries is increasing. More gold is coming from Europe than is needed, $10,868,000 having been ordered during the past week, and money markets are nowhere alarmed or stringent, though reasonably more cautious. The country rests assured that its industries, almost all its business, the foreign demand for its products, and practically all its resources, are beyond the reach of any foreign power, and that its honor and foreign interests are in safe hands.

The greatest of all industries is sending grain forward as if there were no limit to the supply. Wheat declined 2 1-4 cents, but corn did not change during the week. Cotton declined an eighth, sales of fertilizers indicating less reduction of acreage this year than was expected. Exports of principal products in February were $61,634,091 in value, with increase over last year about 50 per cent. in breadstuffs, 25 per cent. in cotton and 25 per cent. in the aggregate.

Failures for the first week of March have been $1,770,592 in amount, against $2,647,445 last year, manufacturing $480,074 against $1,088,758 last year, and trading $1,117,690 against $1,529,487 last year. Failures for the week have been 248 in the United States, against 256 last year, and 36 in Canada, against 61 last year.

Prince Albert of Belgium dined with President and Mrs. McKinley last evening. To-night he will be the guest of Vice-President and Mrs. Hobart.

FOR ACTION AT ONCE

President is Determined That the Cuban Question Be Settled.

WASHINGTON TALKS WAR

Potent Reasons Why a Step Must Be Taken Without Delay—The Maine Court of Inquiry Report Will Be in Washington Next Week.

Washington, March 12.—There will be important developments in the Cuban question within the next week. The President has determined to act promptly and his course is about outlined, although it may be subject to change, after the full text of the report of the Court of Inquiry on the explosion of the Maine is laid before him. The report of the court will arrive in Washington next week, and immediately upon its receipt the President will act.

While it is a fact that the President and his Cabinet have not seen the text of the report, nor has the court intimated what the wording of its verdict will be, it is nevertheless true that the President and the Cabinet have been informed as to the character of the evidence, and that the verdict will be an explosion from outside agencies. The fixing of the blame and the responsibility will be shown by the evidence, and the indications in Washington today are that the President is fully warranted in making all the present preparations for the events of the next three weeks.

Must Be Settled.

The President has about concluded that the entire Cuban question must be settled at once, and therefore, when he calls upon Spain, if the report of the court is received, the answer is expected to cover the whole question. The Presidents expects that the message sent to Spain will be answered and that peace will ensue. But he is determined that, no matter what the consequences are, the question shall be settled one way or the other before the 1st of April. There are many reasons for this desire, chief among them being that the tension upon the people of both countries is getting so great that unless something is done a disturbance may occur which will precipitate war, and upset the plans now being pursued for peace.

Another potent reason is that the President and his Cabinet have been advised by the medical corps of the Government that should hostilities come a beginning should be made at once to save thousands of lives, which otherwise might be sacrificed. By this is meant that the unhealthy season in Cuba begins about the 1st of May, and as that island will, beyond doubt, be the base of operations, the sending of thousands of unacclimated men there would mean a wholesale slaughter by disease, and this can be avoided, because should war come soon it would not last many weeks and would be over before the unhealthy season arrives.

Spain's Torpedo Boats.

Another reason for immediate action and the settlement of the question is being urged by the Navy Department, and it is the most powerful one from that standpoint—should Spain be allowed to procrastinate any longer it would give her time to send her fleet of torpedo boats across the ocean and rendezvous them at Havana. It is not denied that the Navy Department fears Spain's strong torpedo fleet more than it does her fleet of war ships. For some time past the Secretary of the Navy has doubted the reports from Madrid that the torpedo fleet would not start for Havana, as announced some days ago, and to make sure of this he has had his agents investigate. His fears seem to have been realized, for the dispatches from Madrid announce that the torpedo squadron will sail from Cadiz to-day for the Canaries, and that the two torpedo destroyers bought in England will leave that country direct for Cuba.

The Department also realizes that the report sent out that it would take forty days for the torpedo squadron to reach Havana is nonsense. It would take only half that time, even if the boats made but 200 miles a day, which is very slow going. The Navy Department is anxious to prevent this fleet reaching Havana, and this explains the haste in preparing the flying squadron for action. Should the President make a demand upon Spain looking to the settlement of the Cuban question at once, and there should be no answer or a refusal to this request, our Government would be able to use its flying squadron to interrupt and prevent this formidable fleet from reaching Havana.

If peace is secured before the torpedo fleet reaches Havana, the trip across the ocean would be a most pleasurable one for the squadron, but should these boats be allowed to reach Havana before war was declared, our squadron in Southern waters would be at a terrible disadvantage.

We have a very respectable fleet at Lisbon, which could be utilized in preventing the Spanish torpedo boats leaving the Mediterranean if their sailing is postponed, and should they get out into the open Atlantic this fleet might be utilized to attack the Spanish squadron.

Our Torpedo Boats.

Meanwhile, work is being pushed in this country on the torpedo boats now building. A telegram has been sent to the Columbian Iron Works at Baltimore to hasten the work on the three boats building there and ordering that the Rodgers be finished within a week, the McKee within a month and the Plunger put into commission at once. The Rodgers and McKee are surface topedo boats, while the Plunger is a submarine torpedo vessel. It is expected that the latter will be ready for service by the 15th. She has been practically completed for a year, and needs only the finishing touches and her armor. This submarine vessel is designed to dive out of sight in twenty seconds, and while submerged, fire torpedoes into the hull of an enemy's ship. The Rodgers is a twenty-six knot boat, and has already had her trial trip. The McKee is a twenty-knot vessel, and under ordinary circumstances would take three or four months to complete, but work is being rushed night and day, and she is expected to be ready by the 1st of April.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Manager Cuming, of the Eldridge Cycle Co., is doing a fine business. The demand for Eldridge wheels is encouraging.

Last Tuesday was a record breaker for the Eldridge Bicycle Company. During the day fourteen new Eldridge wheels were put out.

The trio of Methodist clergymen, Rev. Dr. G. W. Smith, Rev. H. J. Johnston and Rev. W. C. O'Donnell have purchased Eldridge wheels this season.

Frank E. Woodruff, of Duer street, an expert machinist, has been engaged by F. L. C. Martin to take charge of the repair shop at Mr. Martin's cycle emporium on Park avenue. He takes charge next Monday morning.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Augustus Haviland, of Sandford avenue, is very ill at his home.

Mrs. Harry Rand, of East Front street, is visiting friends in Newark.

Mrs. Slape, of East Sixth street, left for Philadelphia this morning where she will visit relatives.

Mrs. Jacob Blimm and son, Harry Blimm, of Somerset street, are visiting relatives in New York.

Mrs. Seeley Edsall, of Sandford avenue, is still very ill. Her condition is not much improved.

Bessie Flanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Flanders, is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Wilson and Edward T. Wilson, of Crescent avenue, have returned from the Hotel Ponce De Leon at St. Augustine, Fla.

John Crouse, of Rock Glen, Pa., who has been the guest of John J. Crouse, of East Fourth street, left Thursday for Flemington.

William N. Flanders, who started from Plainfield sometime ago with a Gospel wagon for the south, has returned to Plainfield for a visit.

Mrs. W. L. Smalley, Jr., and son, Ralph Jedson Smalley, who are living in the south, came to Plainfield this week and surprised her relatives and friends who had no idea of her intended visit. They will visit in Plainfield until April 1st.

THROWN FROM WAGON.

Lawyer Hayes and Friends Figured in an Exciting Runaway.

William B. Hayes, a lawyer living in West Dunellen, was driving through this city with three friends this afternoon about 2 o'clock, when the horse took fright and ran away.

At the corner of Seventh street and Crescent avenue the wagon was over turned and all the occupants thrown out. Luckily none of the men were injured. The horse was brought to a standstill, after damaging the wagon and harness slightly.

Put Under Peace Bonds.

Antone Vitello was placed under $100 bonds to keep the peace in the City Court this morning. The Judge instructed him to mind his own business and not interfere with his business rivals in the future. The alleged trouble that caused his arrest was that he was annoying his competitors by making insulting remarks in front of their stores.

Interment of C. H. Winfield.

The remains of the late Charles H. Winfield, prosecutor of Hudson county, were brought to Plainfield this morning on the 9:40 train and interred in Hillside cemetery. A few near relatives accompanied the remains and the services were simple and brief. The floral tributes from friends and relatives were profuse.

Not Heard in Court.

The story of the trouble in the Eight Row did not come out in the City Court this morning. Councilman W. L. Hetfield appeared for Mrs. Ritter and asked for an adjournment until an important witness could be secured. The trial was set down for next Saturday morning.

Her Birthday Anniversary.

Mrs. H. W. Angleman, of East Fourth street, celebrated the anniversary of her birthday yesterday, and last evening she entertained about fifty of her friends. Naylor's orchestra furnished music for dancing. Games were also played to help pass an evening of pleasure.

Sidewalks for Street Extension

The Young Men's Christian Association and those in charge of the Darlach property, on Watchung avenue, have given out contracts for the laying of stone sidewalks on the above avenue, from Front street to Green brook.

A New Lodge.

A lodge of the Order of the Knights of the Red Cross will be organized in this city some day next week. Mrs. S. E. Pressler, of Cleveland, has the organization in charge.

OLD GLORY FELL AND PATRIOTISM WENT UP.

Thrilling Finale to an Entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

WILD APPLAUSE BY AUDIENCE.

Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club Played "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," Then the Stars and Stripes Fell in Graceful Folds and the Audience Burst Into Patriotic Cheering, Drowning the Music of the Instruments—Features.

The sudden unfolding of the Stars and Stripes over the stage while the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club played the familiar air of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," proved a very successful finale for the entertainment of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Saturday evening, and gave the opportunity for a splendid burst of patriotism on the part of the audience. And the opportunity was heeded, for the loud applause that greeted the American flag drowned the sound of the instruments for the moment.

The entertainment, or rather concert, was given for the benefit of the treasury of the association. The boys of the High School worked hard for its success, and their efforts were well rewarded. The programme was excellent. The talent was entirely satisfactory, while the townsfolk gave such support that there was not a vacant seat to be found in the hall. And the most satisfactory fact of all to the members of the association was that the treasury has been enriched to the amount of over $40.

The programme opened with a selection by the Plainfield Banjo, Mandolin and Guitar Club. It was the first public appearance of the club for the season. The selections were all popular ones and were played with a skill and vigor that stamped the organization as a decidedly successful one. The club has now passed beyond the experimental stage and is fitted to hold its own with any kindred organization. The way in which it found favor with the audience Saturday night was shown by the hearty applause it received on every occasion. Two members, Fred G. Smith and Fred VanEps, rendered a banjo duet.

Miss Addie Parker Jackson is always a popular entertainer with Plainfield audiences. Her reputation lost nothing by her appearance on this occasion. Her rendition of "How the Circus Came to Grandma" was decidedly a favorite.

The spirited and correct rendition of several difficult piano selections by Miss Alice Coard formed a delightful feature of the entertainment. Her playing showed not only great ability in fingering, but a depth of feeling that put life into the music.

The committee was very fortunate in securing Councilman William N. Runyon to sing. He was a greater favorite with the Plainfield folk than ever. At the request of the "back row" he sang as an encore "The Irish Jubilee" which so delighted the audience they compelled him to give another.

The programme closed with the Herald Square March by the Banjo Club which was closed with the patriotic selection and the appearance of the American flag which received such tumultuous applause.

While almost all of the High School boys aided in the success of the benefit, the committee in charge deserve special credit for their efforts. The committee was composed of William A. DeLong, Jr., chairman, William A. Fisher, Carroll L. Runyon and Rhey T. Snodgrass. The chairman was indefatigable in his efforts. The committee was assisted in ushering by Walter L. Long, Claude Edwards and Henry W. Brower.

WAS BLIND SINCE BIRTH, GIRL NOW HAS SIGHT.

VIOLA HAGERTY'S MARVELLOUS CURE.

The Boy Phenomenon Treated Her and She Can Now Witness Things Heretofore Denied Her.

What appears to be a most marvelous case of healing occurred last week at the Revere House, when Viola Hagerty, aged nine years, daughter of W. H. Hagerty, of 41 Chatham street, had her eyesight restored to her by the Boy Phenomenon.

The young girl was born blind and until last week she has never been able to distinguish anything but the difference between daylight and darkness. A friend of the girl became interested in the case and took her to the Revere House where she was treated.

Dr. Sherman and Dr. Pratt examined the girl's eyes and were inclined to think that nothing could be done for her. However they referred the case to the Boy Phenomenon and he succeeded in restoring sight to the eyes.

The girl afterward was able to distinguish various objects and was so amazed that she could scarcely believe her own eyes. That it was not temporary but permanent is shown in the fact that the sight grew better and the girl is able to see better each day.

No charge has been made for treatment in this case and the girl has been to the Phenomenon several times. Treatment has been given free by the doctors as well as by the former. The girl is greatly delighted and her parents are completely bewildered.

The girl has always been in poor health, but now she is getting better and her health is improving rapidly.

MYSTERY OF ROLL'S FLAG.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen From the Home of Springfield's Freeholder.

J. Martin Roll has lost his flag and he doesn't know where to find it; but he's not letting it alone to come home itself trailing the robber behind it. It was his pet flag, and as long as two stripes of it hold together and a single star of it is left on earth, J. Martin Roll will be looking for that flag.

Mr. Roll is Springfield's Freeholder. He was re-elected on the Republican ticket last Tuesday by the margin of eleven votes, which represented a hot fight against him by many of his fellow-citizens. So hot was the fight and so doubtful its result, that when J. Martin Roll found himself on the morrow of the memorable day at the head of the poll, he was overjoyed. He unpacked his flag and flaunted it from a front window. It stayed there throughout the long jubilant day—at least that is the suspicion—but when nature pulled down the blinds of night it was gone. There wasn't even a hint to be picked up as to its whereabouts. Then the Roll household was sore distressed.

Inquiry has been made of all the neighbors along the street, and investigation has run into every corner of the township, but up to last reports, J. Martin Roll's flag, sign of patriotism and reminder of his late triumph, stays lost.

BOROUGH SCHOOL MEETING.

Voters Will Authorize Expenses to Maintain the Public School.

The voters of North Plainfield will hold their annual meeting for the election of three members of the Board of Education at the schoolhouse, on Somerset street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The polls will remain open one hour, or as much longer as may be necessary to enable all the legal voters present at the meeting to cast their ballots. The question will also be submitted to the meeting of voting a tax for the maintainance of the schools for the coming year. The total amount considered necessary by the Board for this purpose is $10,500.

To Hear a Great Violinist.

Music lovers of Plainfield will have an oppurtunity next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 to hear Eugene Ysaye, the great Belgian violinist, at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. Ysaye is considered the greatest living interpreter of Bach and Beethoven music. P. Ludwig Conde will chaperone a party to the concert.

Dr. Rogers' Successor.

WAR IS FEARFUL, PEACE IS DESIRED.

National Crisis Discussed by Rev. C. E. Herring.

GREAT LOVE FOR WAR NOT INSPIRED.

Prayer Should be for Peace and That Nations Should Not Rise up Against Each Other—Sensational Journals Do Not Realize the Awful Meaning of it—Money Spent in War Ought to go for Missions to Save the Souls of Sinners.

The subject of "War or Peace," attracted a large audience to the First Presbyterian church last evening, and the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, delivered a strong sermon from the subject. It was based on the text: "He Shall Speak Peace to a Nation, and His Dominion is from Sea to Sea," as found in the ninth verse of the tenth chapter of Zachriah." The speaker spoke in part as follows:

"A great love for war is not inspired. When differences arise between this country and a foreign Nation the Christian people of the country do not desire war. Our prayer should be for peace and that nations should not rise up against each other in war. The sensational journals are crying war, but little do they realize the awful meaning of it. It is one of the fearful things on earth. Gen Grant regretted it, and at the close of the late war he was glad to retire.

"On the other hand, Napoleon loved war. He loved his thirty-pound cannon when it was in action killing men War destroys property and demoralizes capital. If the fabulous sums of money used for warfare could be used in mission work it would be far better. Where there is a love for Jesus there can be no love for war. We expect beasts to fight, which shows that it is a relic of barbarism, but with Christians something higher is expected. The Duke of Wellington said, 'There is nothing more horrible than war, except it be defeat.'

"War is demoralizing to the character of soldiers. It deprives them of the home influence, and it is ruinous to the moral life of the soldier. It should be our aim to keep war as far as possible from our shores. The futility of war is not worth what it costs. It grinds out taxes from the people. A war between this country and another country would be terrific and it should be averted.

"France glories in her battleship Magnificent, which cost £650,000. Imagine taking that amount of money for work in mission fields. It has been said that war is a disgrace to the human race.

"I believe that the Cubans should receive our help and support, and we should do all possible to impress on Spain just what her duty is. Arbitration is a good means to use in the settlement of disputes. Gen. Grant said that arbitration might not please both sides right away, but it would appease the consciences of men.

"We ought to commend the Executive part of our Government. We have a man at the head who knows what to do. I like the message that Captain Sigsbee sent to the Capitol right after the Maine was blown up: 'Suspend judgment until the facts are known.' If it is necessary the President will not hesitate to do the right thing, but he should be commended for self-control, as well as those who are associated with him.

"France committed a man to prison without a trial. She is no doubt wrong, while Zola is right. In this country nothing throttles the judgment of the Executive department, and we can rest assured that all will turn out right and for the best."

TALKED TO THE JUNIORS.

Presiding Elder Smith Admonished Members of a Secret Order.

Over two hundred members of Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., attended divine service yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building, when an interesting programme was presented and an able address was given by Rev. G. W. Smith, of East Front street.

Mrs. Buckley's Ladies' Orchestra was present and gave a fine selection and assisted in the rendition of the hymns sung by the audience. A vocal solo was given by F. R. Maderia, baritone soloist of a New York Presbyterian church, and a vocal duet was given by Mrs. Manley and Mr. Maderia.

Rev. Mr. Smith gave a talk from the text: "Present yourselves a Living Sacrifice, Holy, Acceptable unto the Lord." The speaker's remarks were strong and to the point, and were well received by all present. The song service was in charge of H. J. Martin.

Abraham Drake, one of the oldest residents of Samptown, is seriously ill at his home in that place.

DODGED THE KEEPER AND FLED RESTRAINT

Noted Patient Escaped From Brookside Retreat.

PHILIP KEARNEY, JR., AT LIBERTY.

Asked Keeper Upton to Open the Door to His Room so as to Obtain Fresh Air, and While the Latter was Attending to Another Patient the Young Man Slipped Out—Woods Searched Last Night, but No Trace of the Missing Man.

Through the negligence of Fred Upton, an attendant in the Brookside Retreat of Dr. J. H. Cooley, situated in an isolated spot a few hundred yards from Somerset street, on the outskirts of North Plainfield, an important patient in the person of Philip Kearney, Jr., was last night enabled to easily make his escape from the institution, and has thus far eluded all attempts to capture him.

Kearney is a son of Philip Kearney, the millionaire, and a grandson of "Fighting Phil" Kearney, of Rebellion fame. After spending several months in the Hudson county jail, excommunicado, on the charge of being an habitual drunkard, young Kearney was transferred to the Brookside Retreat about three months ago on the order of the Court of Chancery, in whose jurisdiction the incarceration of the young man was bitterly contested for several months.

Brookside Retreat resembles and is virtually an asylum wherein the patients are kept under constant surveillance or lock and key. Kearney, though not considered demented or liable to do injury to anyone, was treated as the rest of the patients are. Each day he was permitted to stroll about the grounds of the retreat under the care of a man keeper, and now and then he came to the business centre of the town and made small purchases, but always accompanied and closely watched by an attendant.

Dr. Cooley and the nurses were thoroughly convinced of Kearney's intention to elude them if opportunity afforded and he was watched closely. His father's orders to Dr. Cooley were to permit any relatives or friends to see him with the exception of his aunt, the Marquise de Kermel, who has ever since the young man was put in durance been contriving to secure his release.

Last night just before 7 o'clock Keeper Upton was called by young Kearney, who requested that his door be unlocked and opened so that the room might be aired, as he insisted that the heat was oppressive. The keeper granted the request. A moment later another patient called for the keeper, and the latter responded. He was out of the sight of Kearney for about five minutes. When he returned to Kearney's room it was to find the occupant missing. He made a hurried search about the building for the young man, but was unable to find him. Then he gave the alarm to the matron.

Dr. Cooley was immediately notified and he notified Chief Wilson and Chief Grant, of the borough and city police, to be on the lookout for the patient. A number of keepers were immediately dispatched by Dr. Cooley to scour the surrounding country and find Kearney if possible. The Retreat is not far from the wooded land of the Watchung mountains, and that section was searched up to midnight, but no trace could be secured of the missing man. No attempt was made to continue the hunt today, as Dr. Cooley is convinced that Kearney is out of the State by this time.

It is thought that as soon as Kearney gained his freedom he took advantage of the prearranged plans in the event of his eluding the keepers and communicated with friends who assisted him to get out of the State. He had a small sum of money with him.

He was dressed in a black coat and vest, a pair of striped trousers, blue shirt, white collar and necktie, and black derby.

Dr. Cooley said this morning that he though that Kearney would leave the country as soon as possible. The report that the doctor was under heavy bonds for the safe keeping of Kearney is untrue.

Upton, the nurse, who was to blame for the escape, was discharged this morning.

The Kersting Bakery Sold.

The sale of the establishment of Rudolph Kersting, the West Front street baker, was held this morning. The sale was held under the chattel mortgage foreclosed by Hermann Klinsman and amounting to $300. The goods were sold to Klinsman for $225. There was a levy on the possessions in the name of P. M. French, but settlement was not demanded at once, as Kersting was paying it up in small amounts. The sale was the result of the foreclosure of the mortgage which had a prior claim on the property.

ST. PATRICK'S LEGENDS SAID TO BE FICTION.

DR. SNODGRASS ON THE PATRON SAINT

He Lived Before the Division of the Churches and Introduced Christianity Into Ireland.

St. Patrick, the patron saint of the Emerald Isle, was the principal figure in a sermon preached by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass at the First M. E. church last evening. Dr. Snodgrass gave a short sketch of the life of St. Patrick according to the only authentic records, and told of the countless legends that have gathered about the name, but which, he said, are all fiction.

He pictured St. Patrick as the man who was chiefly instrumental in the introduction of Christianity in Ireland. He was not a Roman Catholic nor a Protestant, he explained, but lived before the time of the division of the churches. In referring to the Roman Catholic church of the present day, Dr. Snodgrass said that as long as that church confined itself to the ministration of the human soul, he gladly welcomed it as an ally He also believed that it accomplished much in the way of education. There was no place in this country, however, he declared, for the Catholic church as a political body.

After telling of the work of St. Patrick in establishing the Christian church in Ireland and the great reverence with which he was held by all the natives of that country, he explained that it was a custom among many of the inhabitants of Great Britain, and especially by the Irish, to celebrate the day of the death rather than the day of birth of any great character. Thus it was that March 17th, the day of the death of St. Patrick, was now observed throughout the world as St Patrick's Day.

HOT POLITICS AT ELIZABETH.

Halsey Refuses a Republican Nomination—Dunn Proposes to "Down" Marsh.

Former Alderman Charles H. K. Halsey, teller in the National State Bank, of Elizabeth, authorizes the positive statement that under no circumstances will he accept the Republican nomination for alderman-at large.

Mr. Halsey says his business would not permit him to hold such a position, even if elected.

Mr. Halsey had come to be generally regarded as the slated candidate for the honor.

The indications now are that unless Mayor Rankin should be secretly aspiring to a nomination, the Republican ticket will be Dr. W. A. M. Mack, for mayor, with Assemblyman George A. Squire the most likely choice of the party for alderman-at-large.

There promises to be trouble in the Democratic camp should former Senator Frederick C. Marsh be nominated again for mayor.

Ex Congressman John T. Dunn has his war paint and feathers on, and says he will serve notice on the party that if Marsh be nominated he will issue a campaign circular that will defeat him.

The ex-Congressman says that Marsh is the choice of a clique of small fry, fourth-rate, selfish politicians in Elizabeth.

MOST WONDERFUL ENGINE.

Rev. C. H. Goodrich's Instructive Discourse to the Children.

Rev. Charles Lyman Goodrich gave a short talk to the younger members of his congregation, yesterday morning, before the regular sermon. The subject was "The Most Wonderful Engine in the World." Mr. Goodrich described the working of the great engine at the water supply station, and how by its action water is forced into the tower and out all over the city. Then he compared this with the action of the engine in the human body, the heart, which forces the blood to every part of the body. If different blood were used in each action of the heart, he said, the amount used in a year would be enough to fill millions of barrels, which, if loaded on wagons, six to a wagon, would stretch from Plainfield nearly to the Gulf of Mexico. The spiritual heart, or soul, and the danger of taking into it the poison of evil, was illustrated by the imagined action of a glassful of poisonous liquid taken into the pure blood, carrying disease and death to every part of the organization.

Leased Hotel Hunterston.

The report that Dr. Hunterston was to manage the hotel bearing his name at Netherwood during the coming season, is erroneous. A five years' lease for the building has been signed by Webb & Morrison, experienced hotel men, who will open the place about the middle of April and conduct it probably as a year-around house. They will apply to the Common Council for a liquor license.

MAYOR FISK RAIDS THE CIDER JOINTS.

Then Acts as City Judge Close On to Midnight.

ONE OFFENDER WAS FINED $20.

Accompanied by Sergeant Kiely and Roundsman Flynn, the City's Chief Executive Made Arrests Under the Law Passed After Persistent Agitation by The Daily Press—Cider Joints are Too Flagrant in Their Violations and are Caught.

The quiet of the Sabbath evening had settled over Plainfield. The church-goers had returned to their homes. All was silent and dark in the business section, save several little stores. Fruit is the principal commodity sold. Sundays the places are kept open to supply "temperance drinks," as the signs outside read.

Outside on the quiet street, Mayor Fisk marshaled his forces. Although Mr. Fisk is a busy man during the week as a member of the well-known banking firm of Harvey Fisks' Sons, he still devotes considerable time to his duties as chief executive of the city government. The Mayor had heard and seen that which made him believe the Sunday trade of the fruit stores verged closely on the trade of the old "cider joints." So the Mayor decided to personally conduct a raid against the suspected places. The ordinance under which the raid was made was that which was passed by the Common Council over two years ago after repeated agitation on the part of The Daily Press in that direction.

Sergeant Kiely and Roundsman Flynn made up the raiding party. They were both dressed in citizen's clothes. Accompanied by the Mayor they went down Park avenue, last evening at 10 o'clock, to the store of Frank Margentino, 128 Park avenue. The store was crowded with men. There were several standing by the counter drinking when the officers entered. Supposing that other customers had arrived nobody took particular notice of the last arrivals. The Mayor watched the raid from the outside.

Suddenly one of the men at the counter recognized the Sergeant. With an oath he flung his glass into the corner of the room. Then everybody looked up. There was general consternation. Then followed the crash of glass. The officers sprang at the nearest men who were drinking and wrenched away their glasses before their contents could be emptied. The other customers had sent their glasses against the wall, shattering them and spreading their contents about.

Margentino was taken aback at the unexpected visit and had nothing to say. He was immediately placed under arrest and taken to the Mayor's office where he was arraigned before that official. Margentino then pleaded not guilty and his trial was set down for today.

Then the Mayor and his little band went to North avenue. There they visited the store of Jose Carbone at No. 128. There were six men in the store at the time. They, too, were drinking something when the police entered. An attempt was made there to hide the glasses and their contents, but again the police were too quick and the necessary liquor evidence was secured. Carbone was arrested by the officers and taken to the Mayor's office where he was arraigned. He pleaded guilty to the charge of selling hard cider on Sunday and was fined $20. The fine was paid.

Margentino was brought before City Judge DeMeza this morning. He was represented by Councilman W. L. Hetfield. His trial was laid over until next Saturday morning.

Correct Business Principles.

This morning, before the scholars of the Borough Public School, H. A. McGee, member of the Board of Education, delivered a most interesting address on the subject of "Correct Business Principles." Mr. McGee's address was thoroughly practical and the applications were to the point. He spoke of the many essential qualities necessary for one to be thoroughly correct in business. The scholars enjoyed the address very much, and they will write compositions on the subject.

Wheelman Collided.

C. S. Greer, of Grove street, was run into while riding his wheel near Madison, yesterday afternoon. An unknown wheeman from Irvington turned a corner at full speed and crashed into Greer's wheel amidships. Both riders were thrown in the gutter. The stranger was badly cut up and lost several teeth. His wheel was ruined. Greer escaped with a few bruises and his wheel was but slightly damaged.

THREE NEW WARSHIPS

The House Committee Increases the Sum Originally Intended.

TO COST $6,000,000 EACH

And to Be Peers of Any Vessels Afloat —One of Them Will Be Built on the Pacific Coast—New Dry Docks Favored.

Washington, March 14.—The Naval Committee of the House has concluded that one of the three battleships it decided to authorize shall be built on the Pacific coast. These great war vessels which are to be the peers of any afloat, are to cost $6,000,000 each instead of $5,000,000 as reported.

The Naval Committee of the House has not reached any conclusion relative to the number and location of the dry docks to be authorized in the naval appropriation bill, which is the main question left open. The general opinion in the committee seems to favor three or four new docks.

The Bunce Board recommended new docks at Portsmouth, N. H.; Boston, Algiers, La.; and Mare Island, Cal., and an enlargement of the dock at League Island, Pa., so that it will accommodate the largest battleships. The Pennsylvania delegation is straining every nerve to secure an entirely new dock at League Island.

The history of the week just closed will form a splendid record of what can be accomplished by the nation in a short space of time under the spur of necessity to provide for the national defense. Beginning with the appropriation of $50,000,000 to be expended by the President without limitation, there followed rapidly the placing of orders for enormous quantities of war supplies, the institution of negotiations for the purchase of ships abroad, the enlistment of men for the navy, the creation of two additional regiments of artillery, the commissioning of monitors, cruisers and rams, the manning of new posts along the sea coasts and finally the rearrangement of the great military departments to meet modern conditions in military practice.

The Board of Naval Bureau Chiefs find it impossible to pass judgment in Washington upon the fitness for naval service of vessels that may be offered for the auxiliary branch of the Navy, at the various seaports, so they have been aided in their work by the creation of a special board which will undertake to visit each of the ports where ships may be offered and make a careful personal inspection of the various craft. The board will consist of Captain Rodgers, Lieutenant-Commander Kelly, Past Assistant Engineer Dixon, Assistant Naval Constructor Tawresy and Lieutenant Sargent. Lieutenant Kelly, having been specially charged with the inspection of merchant vessels suitable for naval service, will be of great service as a member of the board.

Intervention Would Mean War.

Washington, March 14.—Walter D. Davidge, one of the best known international lawyers in the United States, said last night that intervention in behalf of Cuba would be considered an act of war.

"Intervention itself is war," he declared. "If the United States were to recognize the independence of Cuba, Spain would certainly take it as an act of hostility.

"The United States is ripe for war. Those of us who have gone through one war don't want another, but the rising generation, filled with patriotic pride, and ever eager to see the United States foremost in the list of nations, jealous of her honor and preservation, is aching for a conflict. Fifty thousand young men would go to Cuba if the United States were to recognize the independence of that country."

Planning a War of Privateering.

Madrid, March 14.—The view held in official circles is that Spain will not provoke war, because, if she did, she would find herself isolated; but if America gives the provocation Spain will not be alone in the struggle.

The general opinion is that, in the event of war, Spain will not need to attack American territory. It will suffice her to pursue a war of privateering. As America's commerce is seven fold greater than Spain's, American interests would suffer most. War would be madness, benefiting neither nation, and good sense, therefore, counsels peace.

Until May 1 to Conquer Cuba.

London, March 14.—The Madrid correspondent of the Morning Post says: "I am able to assert on the best authority that United States Minister Woodford originally intimated that the United States hoped and expected that Spain would re-establish peace in Cuba before March 1 of this year. Recently in response to Spanish representations the United States extended the time to May 1. Both Governments refuse to describe this ultimatum as an ultimatum to Spain."

Proctor Returns to Washington.

Washington, March 14.—Senator Proctor, of Vermont, and his companion Colonel Myron M. Parker, who have been spending some time in Cuba, returned to Washington last night at 10.35. Senator Proctor was met at the station by friends and was driven at once to his residence. Senator Proctor said he did not desire to discuss his trip at present and that further than to commend the good Miss Clara Barton was doing in Cuba, he had said nothing.

Will Uphold Its Own Board.

Madrid, March 14.—El Imparcial says: "The Government is momentarily expecting to receive the report of the Spanish commission, which, it is understood, will maintain that the Maine explosion was internal.

"Although the American commission may give another explanation, the Government will energetically uphold the Spanish report."

Brazilian Ships Not Purchased.

Washington, March 14.—Secretary Long last night made the statement that the matter of the purchase of the two Brazilian ships had not been settled.

DELIBERATELY EXPLODED.

Startling Statement Made in the Army and Navy Register.

New York, March 14.—The Army and Navy Register makes the following positive statement:

"The Register is in possession of information, the correctness of which it has no reason to question in the least, that certain evidence gathered by the Court of Inquiry at Havana has come in a semi-annual official form to the President from two prominent members of the board. The information has been in the hands of the President since last Sunday, and has served the occasion of unusual activity during the past week.

The information is to the effect that the Maine was destroyed by a government sub-marine mine, planted in Havana harbor and deliberately exploded More than this, it appears the Maine was purposely moored in the vicinity of the mine and that the explosion occurred at the moment when the ship had been opoprtunely carried by wind and tide directly over the mine.

"These facts have been hinted at and written about in dispatches from Havana, Madrid and Washington, and among the varied statements made the actual conditions have been touched upon, but nothing authoritative has been permitted to escape from the court. That body is understood to have completed its work, but nothing is likely to be officially promulgated in regard to its findings for a week or more. There is obvious reason for such an action, the objects of which can not be defeated by independent newspaper statements.

"There can be but one outcome of such a report, and preparations for the inevitable result are being industriously and indefatigably prosecuted. The work of the past week shows that the Government at Washington appreciates the situation and will be ready to meet what has now ceased to be a mere emergency."

FROM MAINE TO KLONDIKE.

New England Gold Seekers to Light One of the Creeks by Electricity.

Portland, Me., March 14.—The first large party of gold seekers to start from this State to the Yukon gold region left over the Grand Trunk Railroad last evening. The expedition was organized by William H. Jeffrey, one if the few free silver orators that Maine contributed to the Bryan cause in the last national campaign. A syndicate is backing the expedition and every member of the party is enlisted for eighteen months.

Arriving at Seattle, Wash., March 18, the party will take passage on the steamer Navarro for Dyea, Alaska. They will take along thirty-five tons of clothing, provisions, hardware and equipments. Every member of the party will be provided with a full outfit of clothing for all kinds of weather conditions. Included in the baggage of the expedition is a canoe shaped boat capable of carrying six men. It is canvas covered, and takes apart amidships, so as to admit of easier transportation across country. It can be operated by sail, oars or baddles, and is intended for service on the Yukon River.

The Maine syndicate has obtained a franchise for lighting by electricity one of the creeks in the Klondike region. It is expected that the plan will be completed in season, for turning on the light in September.

Another expedition is to be fitted out in this State in about six weeks, its prospecting to begin at Cook Inlet, on the Copper River.

PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS.

Ready to Go to the Front on Very Short Notice at the First Call.

Harisburg, Pa., March 14.—Private Secretary Beitler says no telegram has been received at the Executive Department regarding the mobilization of the National Guard to take the places of the regular troops now being hurried to the seaboard.

A National Guard officer said that Pennsylvania troops would not be sent out of the State, unless by being regularly enlisted in the service of the Government. He did not doubt, however, that the whole division of the Guard would be moved quickly at the first call of the President.

The Pennsylvania organized troops are in excellent shape for immediate service, and the large number of veteran soldiers, who have volunteered to raise companies and regiments in the event of war indicate that Pennsylvania will royally support the Government, as in 1861.

Maine Report May Be Delayed.

Havana, March 14.—The Court of Inquiry did a good deal of work yesterday, examining Ensign Powelson, and such divers of the wrecking company as have been investigating the wreck. It is said that these divers have been released from further work of this kind and instructed to pursue their labors under the wrecking contract.

The court will have the services of the naval divers as heretofore, and, if necessary, can call upon the civilian divers. It is thought that the court will close its labors here this week, and probably will re-examine some of the survivors of the Maine at Key West. This rumor, however, is not officially verified ,the members of the court insisting that they can fix no date for the conclusion of its session or their departure from Havana.

Present Strength of Spanish Navy.

Madrid, March 14.—The semi-official Correspondencia, referring to statements that the United States, although acquitting the Spanish authorities of guilt in connection with the loss of the Maine intends to declare Spain responsible by imposing upon her two punishments, indemnity and independence, says:

"And all this for an event with we had nothing to do. What would happen to us if by negligence we had really incurred this responsibility."

The Liberal gives the following as the present strength of the Spanish Navy: Protected ships, 17; unprotected, 20; gunboats, 80; torpedo boat destroyers 14; torpedo boats, 17; transports, 25.

Spain Has Not Raised $60,000,000.

London, March 14.—The officials of the United States Embassy here say it is absolutely untrue that they have been informed that Spain has raised $60,000,000 for the purchase of warships etc., and has deposited that amount in a London bank.

TROOPS READY TO MOVE

Orders Issued Perfecting the Reorganization of the Army.

HURRYING PREPARATIONS

Arrangements Practically Completed for Placing Dry Tortugas in the War Department's Hands—Extension of Southern Coast Defences.

Washington, March 14.—There is no cessation in active preparations for war. Important developments may be looked for at any moment. The President's custom of abstension from business on Sunday has been broken into since the crisis of affairs with Spain. Yesterday afternoon he received visits and reports from the heads of the State, War and Navy Departments. His anxiety to obtain the official report of the Maine Board of Inquiry cannot be concealed, although the President is aware of the conclusions of the board, and is fully prepared for the worst.

The situation ahs become much graver since the interview with Captain Peral, insisting that the Maine was sunk by an accident. The Spanish theory of an explosion within the ship will not be entertained. The Administration is taking no chances. Its policy has been shaped carefully.

Washington, March 14.—Orders to perfect the reorganization of the new military department has been issued. The name of the new department, including the Southern States, has been changed from the Department of the Gulf to the Department of the South, and the old Department of the Platte will hereafter be known as the Department of the Missouri, thus perpetuating one of the largest and most important of military departments.

These changes in nomenclature were made at the suggestion of the Secretary of War. The headquarters of the Department of the Platte will remain at Omaha, Neb., for the present, but the transfer of these headquarters to Kansas City or St. Louis is contemplated. Brigadier-General Graham, commanding the new Department of South, is expected to reach Atlanta today or to-morrow and will there establish not only his departmental headquarters, but the general headquarters of the army from which the movements of military commands will be directed in the event of hostilities.

Troops Ready to Move Quickly.

The troops at all army posts are now prepared to receive orders to move in any direction at three hours' notice, and the most ample transportation facilities for the purpose have been arranged. A general movement of troops from the interior posts, both cavalry and infantry, to support the new artillery batteries on the coast is expected to be ordered shortly.

Officials at army headquarters are engaged in the consideration of such a movement, and the details are now practically settled. It is generally understood that the issue of these orders of concentration will necessitate the employment of a larger number of troops than can be furnished from the present organized strength of the army, and it is believed that the promulgation of these orders will be immediately followed by a request that Congress authorize the filling up the infantry and cavalry regiments to the legal limit.

As it will be an impossibility to adequately support the artillery at their new stations on a war basis with the present available military force, should such a request be made by the War Department, there is little doubt that the requisite authority would be readily granted.

The issue of the contemplated orders may be delayed until some new phase of the situation shall render the movement of imperative necessity, but, in such an event, the orders would not necessarily be followed by the calling into the service of the militia of the States, which will not be done until there is an actual outbreak of hostilities.

Work is Rushed.

Brigadier-General Flagler, Chief of Ordnance, stated that every effort is being made to hasten the completion of carriages for the seacoast and rapid fire guns, the lack of which is particularly felt at this time, as the Engineer Department has emplacements fully prepared to mount the guns at a number of points and the guns also are ready, but the issue of carriages is delayed. Several deliveries of carriages were made last week and a larger number is expected this week.

Arrangements are practically completed for the immediate transfer of the Dry Tortugas from the Treasury to the War Department, and for the department to the War Department, and for the rehabilitation of Fort Jefferson, on Garden Key as well as for the establishment of a naval coaling and supply station on the islands.

To Strengthen Fortifications.

A comprehensive plan for the location of emplacements on which will be mounted a large number of high power modern disappearing guns will undoubtedly be adopted and the extensive and necessarily slow work to carry out the scheme will be commenced. At the same time the old fortifications at Fort Jefferson will be strengthened by placing in position probably twenty or more five or six-inch rapid fire guns or eight-inch converted rifles or both.

The Ordnance Department is able to supply the rapid fire guns or converted rifles almost immediately and the work of mounting them will not be expensive nor consume more than a few weeks at the most if a large number of men are set to work upon them. The guns for the temporary fortification will be mounted upon the barbette parapet of the old fort, and in the judgment of the department officials they will be sufficient, certainly, with the aid of a gunboat or two, to amply protect the Tortugas.

A contract will be awarded, probably to-day, for dredging the ship channel at the Tortugas to a depth of thirty feet. An excavation of three hundred thousand cubic yards will be made at fifty cents per yard, the entire work to cost $150,000.

Joseph Leiter sold 2,000,000 bushels of his contracted wheat, clearing $340,000. He has thus far got rid of more than half of his entire holdings.

A MINOR'S LIABILITY.

In Plainfield, where the installment business done by bicycle dealers with many minors is very large, the following will be of supreme interest, though of course it has no bearing on the contracts made in New Jersey, and on the contrary the State courts might make an entirely different interpretation in similar cases:

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court has decided that a minor who has entered into a contract for the purchase of a bicycle on the installment plan may return the bicycle at any time and take back the full amount he has paid to the dealer. A number of lawyers who have read the full text of this decision say that it is a strictly just one, although they were greatly surprised when they first heard of it, as the same point has come up several times during the past few years and has always been decided the other way.

Why should the announcement that Brice has succeeded in making gold from baser metals be received with such unbelieving sneers? Would it be any more wonderful than making the most exquisite perfumes and flavors out of garbage or a saint out of a sinner? Neither of these miracles is very uncommon.

It would be interesting to know how much longer China will be able to bear the strain of having all the nations of Europe tugging at her in different directions with the not even half concealed purpose of rending her apart.

One filibustering vessel has safely landed 18 expeditions, men, arms and supplies on the coast of Cuba. Could she have done this if Spain's alleged blockade had been worth anything?

It is not wealth and great population that make a nation. It is the force, steadfastness and pluck of its people.

Some people and some nations make much more of their "honor" than they do of their honesty.

COAL AND LUMBER BURNED.

A Fire Involving a Loss of $25,000 in Elizabeth.

One-half of the Mulford Company's coal and lumber yard at Elizabeth was burned last night. The yard is at Grand and Union streets and the Elizabeth river, and covers the space between the two streets. The fire mysteriously started in a barn belonging to Ira R. Squier, and spread to the lumber sheds adjoining. As the yard runs along the Central Railroad, the firemen had to lay their hose across the tracks and all travel was blocked from 7 to 9 o'clock.

ISAIAH PROPHESIED IT.

The Man of God's Strange Vision of the Future.

THE MAGNETIC PHENOMENA OF OUR TIME FORETOLD MORE THAN TWO THOUSAND YEARS AGO—GRAND AND GLORIOUS DIVINATION OF EVENTS THAT WERE TO BE AND ARE NOW BEING FULFILLED.

"Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped, the lame man shall leap as an hart and the tongue of the dumb sing."—Isaiah, Chapter 35, Vers. 4.

The beauty of diction, the poetical phrasing, the sweetness of expression, the wondrous melody, the penetrating perception, the sublime thought displayed in the book of Isaiah conspire to make it the grandest, the greatest and profoundest work of literature that ever emanated from the brain of man, and, had it no other importance than being a mere masterpiece of fiction, its entrancing volubility would stamp it as the product of an inspired mind. But there is not a sentence, not a line that the great prophet wrote that is not pregnant with a meaning so deep, so far-reaching and wide in its range that it cannot be mistaken, and is filled with consequences fraught with the most absorbing interest to mankind. The man of God was endowed with a spirit of divination so keen that the future was an open book to him. He foretold events that would transpire, and phenomena that would occur so startling in their effects that the nations would be thrilled and awed at their bewildering transformations. He threw the carthode rays of his God-given vision upon the future ages, and peering down the corridors of time, he beheld and foretold of things dire and forbidden that would happen. He saw the rise and fall of nations and obliteration of dynasties. He beheld the carnage of war in all its wild, furious devastating effects. He viewed the pestilential scourge in its varied phases overwhelm the nations and strew the land with the victims of its ravages, and he sang a dirge of sorrow and wept as he sang over the universal calamities that were to be. But his lyre was not always strung to doleful strains, for he saw, amid the jarring discord of war, the overthrow of nations and the pestilences' withering breath, a plentitude of blessings showered upon the world that filled his soul with joy, and he sang a new song, replete with the vision of good things, the burden of which was:

"Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped, the lame man shall leap as an hart and the tongue of the dumb sing."

No more beautiful and reassuring passage occurs within the covers of Holy Writ, because it tells of a time when Nature would so unfold herself in her mysterious evolutions to give to the human race an agency infallible in its power to annihilate disease, dispel physical infirmities and rehabilitate lost faculties, build up, restore and rejuvenate degenerated manhood and womanhood from which a new and vigorous race should spring. For ages the genius of man has been exhausted in efforts to invent, devise, or evolve a plan that would successfully combat the deadly inroads of the innumerable maladies that human flesh is heir to, but every new method or system but added perplexity to the problem. True, science seems to have done much to stay the onslaught of disease, but it remained for Nature to right her own wrongs, and what science failed to do, she, in that subtle, secret force, vital magnetism, has revealed the fountain of perpetual youth.

In the person of the Boy Phenomenon is concealed the well spring of life, of which Isaiah speaks, for in fact and in truth, he daily makes the eyes of the blind to open, unstops the ears of the deaf, puts elasticity in the step of the lame man.

ELEVEN BURNED TO DEATH.

Fire in a New York Hotel Results in a Shocking Loss of Life.

New York, March 14.—Eleven blackened bodies lying at the Morgue bear mute testimony to the combustibility of a Bowery lodging house. Most of them are mutilated beyond recognition. These men lost their lives in a fire, which started after 2 o'clock yesterday morning in the Bowery Mission and Young Men's Home, conducted by the Christian Herald. The Mission is a five-story brick building at No. 105 Bowery. Its four upper floors were filled with "rooms," box-like compartments, thirty to a floor. These boxes, three feet by six and running up to a height of six feet, contained each two mattresses ranged one above the other, like the berths in a sleeping car.

More than two hundred men were asleep in these beds when the cry of fire rang through the building. There was a wild, brutal stampede. Men who could not distinguish the path to safety fought aimlessly forward. Men were trampled down and lay still. Others, shrieking, attained the fire escapes at the front.

Thus the firemen found it. Within ten minutes after their arrival the house was cleared of everything living and the brave rescuers were carrying out those who had died. Many of the rescued ones were helpless from smoke. Others were blinded. Many were stupefied by Bowery whisky and fought their savers. All were without clothing except that in which they slept. The Bowery lodger does not indulge in the luxury of special night-gear.

Only five of the bodies have been identified. They are:

Sodam, William, farmer, thirty-eight years old, of Spottswood, N. J.

Ellias, Buddah, cook, twenty-nine years old, of Ft. Brenton, Mont. Doubtful.

O'Rourke, James, plumber, forty-three years old, of Philadelphia, Pa. Doubtful.

McDermott, William, painter, twenty-six years old, New York. Doubtful.

Foran, John, machinist, twenty-eight years old, Stapleton, Richmond Borough.

It is probable that all the dead will never be identified, for they belong to a class whose friends are few, and many of the bodies are now only charred and blackened masses.

LATTIMER WITNESS BEATEN.

Suffers Violence Because He Gave Testimony for the Defense.

Hazleton, Pa., March 14.—The ill-feeling which a certain element in this district harbors over the acquittal of Sheriff Martin and his deputies, who were charged with murdering strikers at Lattimer, was illustrated again at McAdoo Saturday night, when Paul Dindorfer was expelled from the foreign branch of the Miners' Union and afterward beaten by unknown men.

Dindorfer testified for the defense in the trial at Wilkesbarre regarding his experiences in the numerous marching raids. At the meeting of the miners Saturday night he was expelled from the union and a committee was appointed to bring him to the hall to apprise him of the action. The man accompanied the committee ignorant of the purpose for which he had been summoned. When announcement had been made of his expulsion he retired at once from the meeting.

He no sooner was outside the door than two men sprang upon him, felled him to the earth, and beat him. Some persons passing answered his cry for help, and his assailants fled. Dindorfer is still suffering from the effects of the heavy blows rained upon his head.

Two Pittsburg Murders.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 14.—Two murders were committed here yesterday. Zenas Anderson, colored, recently released from the penitentiary, where he served eighteen months for shooting his wife, called at the house where his wife was staying, threw her to the floor, and held her down while he shot her five times. He was arrested three hours later.

William Bricks entertained a party of male friends at his house Saturday night and gave them beer to drink. When the party broke up Albert Thompson wanted more beer, and Bricks refused to give it to him. Bricks walked to the gate with Thompson and staggered back to the house. As the men walked out Thompson stabbed Bricks in the stomach.

Girl Held for Murder.

Fayetteville, Ark., March 14.—Myrtle Storrer, 16 years old, is in jail here charged with the murder of her father, M. V. Storrer. Oscar Messer, her affianced lover, and her mother have also been arrested. Her father was much opposed to the match. While returning from town in a wagon Saturday the father was shot and instantly killed. The shooting occurred at an isolated point in the mountains, and while the girl says it was done by some one in ambush, the evidence is strongly against her.

To Search for Andree.

Washington, March 14.—The State Department has received from the Government of Sweden and Norway King Oscar's conditional acceptance of the offer made through the United States Government by Walter Wellman to carry free of charge upon his North Polar expedition steamer Laura, to sail from Tromso, Norway, June 20, a party of Swedes to search for their countryman, Prof. Andree, in Franz Josef Land.

Germany Will Not Aid Spain.

Berlin, March 14.—The Berlin Foreign Office has instructed the inspired press to deny emphatically that Germany will aid Spain in case of war with the United States, and has instructed these newspapers to point out that the United States are an excellent customer of Germany, and that Spain, since the Carolinas squabble, has repeatedly shown unfriendliness to Germany.

A Divorce in Five Minutes.

Chicago, March 14.—Mrs. Lizzie K. Spaulding, wife of former Bank President Charles W. Spaulding, now under sentence for embezzlement, was granted a divorce Saturday in less than five minutes after she had filed a cross bill to her husband's application for divorce. The divorce was granted on charge that Spaulding had been convicted of a felony.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

MANY PEOPLE RIDICULE THE IDEA OF AN ABSOLUTE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLES.

Ridicule, However, is Not Argument and Facts are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in many cases so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on never being humbugged especially on medicine.

This fear of being humbugged may be carried too far; so far, in fact, that many persons suffer for years with weak digestion, rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart s Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common sense plan of digesting the food eaten promptly, thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely up on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals, digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite, and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Address Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for book on stomach diseases or ask your druggist for it. 3 14 16 18

Furniture Advertising That Costs—Yet Pays

It costs us many dollars to buy newspaper space. It costs us many more to whittle down all prices where no profit, often loss is sustained. Yet while costly advertising in one way, it's paying in another.

By it we gained over 3 acres of floor space, an immense list of cash and credit patrons, a reputation for liberality in every deal, And now it's clearing out many present lines at a rapid gait, leaving elbow room for Spring patterns fast seeking entrance.

$10.75—these Oak Suits—good enough for any use—formerly $15.

Carpets, good heavy Ingrains, 29c yard. Extra heavy Ingrains, 39c. Fine Tapestry Brussels, 50c—all other weaves reduced too.

Too few of you know our bedding stock—fine hair mattresses, now $6.75. Husk mattresses $3.95. Excelsior mattresses, $1.75. Feather pillows, 65c.

Stoves and Ranges Going Quick

We're closing up the stove store—we've priced each piece so that profit's all squeezed out. Cylinder Stoves for $1.87, were $3.50—finely nickeled self feeding Parlor Stoves at $5.95—elegant self-feeder that was $20, now $11.95. Ranges equally low. The much praised "Portland Range" holds its own as ever—over 9,000 in steady use.

Think of the terrible odor that comes from a Chinese Laundry, and yet one half of the people don't know what causes it. Here it is in a Nut Shell. Could you for instance turn out first-class laundry in a room 12x20 where there is three or four living. Think of your laundry in a place of this kind, where they do cooking, smoke their opium and also sleep in same apartment. MILITARY ATHELETIC CARNIVAL.

Greatest Exhibition of the Kind Ever Held in This Country.

New York, March 14.—The Military Athletic Carnival, which opens to-night at the Madison Square Garden will be the biggest affair of this kind ever held in the United States. The Governor and staff and officers of the National Guard are expected to be present and review the troops during the week. At the opening to-night General Miles of the United States Army has accepted an invitation to be present and review the parade. The United States troops will be present and take part in the exhibition. Among the most interesting exciting events will be the series of melees between teams of officers, four mounted officers to each team. Each officer will be armed with a short wood sword, and wear a helmet having a plume. Slashing off the plumes will be the object of the opposing teams.

The events for the carnival are as follows: One hundred yard run, championship; 100-yard run, handicap; 440-yard run, championship; 440-yard run, handicap; 220-yard run, championship; 220-yard run, novice; 220-yard run, handicap; 880-yard run, championship; 880-yard run, novice; 880-yard run, handicap; 880-yard run, heavy marching order championship; 1-mile run, handicap; 880-yard walk, championship; 220-yard hurdle, championship; 220-yard hurdle, handicap; potato race, championship; three-legged race, championship; sack race, championship; two-lap obstacle race, championship; and 1-mile relay race, championship.

Eleven events have been decided upon by the bicycle committee, they are: Half-mile championship; 2-mile championship, 1-mile handicap, 2-mile handicap, 1-mile novice, pursuit race, tandem of single wheels, 1-mile military championship, open to National Guard, United States Navy and Army and militia; 1-mile first brigade championship; 1-mile Second Brigade championship; 1-mile State of New Jersey championship, open to the members of the Military League. One hour or one hour and a half each night to the athletic and bicycle events, and the remainder of the evening will be devoted exclusively to the military and naval drills and evolutions.

The programme will include several decidedly novel military features, including a special review, the like of which has never been seen before in this country.

GATHERING MORE SHIPS.

Sicard's Squadron to Be One of the Most Powerful Ever Known.

Washington, March 14.—Orders were sent by Secretary Long to Commodore Howell, commanding the European naval station, directing him to dispatch immediately to Key West the gunboat Helena and the model cruiser Bancroft. The Navy Department has not yet determined what to do with the San Francisco, but is inclined to send her after the Bancroft and the Helena.

If war should come, the principal naval operations will undoubtedly be in the West Indies and the Gulf of Mexico, and the Helena with other vessels are intended for use to blockade Cuban ports, shutting up the Spaniards from the food and other supplies from outside on which she is obliged to depend.

It is said at the Navy Department that the Oregon's ultimate destination would be determined by circumstances. Your correspondent has the most positive assurances from an authoritative source that she will form a part of Admiral Sicard's force if hostilities are averted until she reaches Valparaiso. She will stop at Acapulco, Panama, Callao, and Valparaiso, reporting her arrival at each of these places, and not departing until so ordered by the Navy Department.

If nothing occurs to mar the relations of Spain and the United States by the time she gets to Valparaiso orders will be telegraphed to Captain McCormick to proceed with all speed around South America, and from Cape Horn northward to Key West. If war should be declared prior to that time it is likely that the Oregon will steam across the Pacific to Hong Kong to participate, if not too late, in the offensive operations in the waters of the Philippine Islands.

This has not been definitley determined, and the Navy Department is hopeful that within two months the formidable armor-clad will drop anchor in Key West harbor.

Work in Death Dealing Missiles.

Reading, Pa., March 14.—News from Washington that the Carpenter Steel Works were assured of $1,250,000 out of the $2,000,000 projectile contract was followed yesterday by extraordinary activity. This large order is to be given to the Carpenter company on condition that the works here must be doubled, and that the enlarged plant must be turning out shells within twenty days. Last night operations were continued under electric light.

Has No British Contract.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 14.—The reported contract by the British Government with the Carnegie Company for 5,000 tons of armor plate proves to be incorrect. It is known that a short time ago the Carnegie Company contracted to furnish a large ship builder of England with 5,000 tons of plate for use in the construction of merchant vessels, and it is supposed this contract was the basis of the armor plate story.

Gen. Rosencrans' Funeral.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—Complete arangements for the funeral of General W. S. Rosecrans, are not yet completed, but it is probable that the funeral will take place at St. Vincent's Church on Thursday, and that the interment will be temporarily at Rosedale Cemetery. General Last of the National Guard has charge of the military arrangements.

THE EASTERN QUESTION

Peace or War Depends Upon the President's Action.

ENGLAND'S DARK OUTLOOK

Nothing but Strong Support Can Save Great Britain from Bloody Strife, Involving Nations of the World—Alliance is Not Expected.

London, March 14.—It has come to pass that European diplomacy no longer regards the Spanish-American crisis, the Far Eastern crisis of the West African crisis as separate and distinct issues. These questions are now looked upon as interwoven factors in the political situation which threatens the peace of the world. The decision of the point whether this is the true view rests solely with President McKinley. His power and responsibility in shaping human destinies are greater than have fallen to the lot of any man of this generation.

There is danger that the attention of the American people may be too much concentrated upon the Cuban-Spanish affairs with which they are more directly concerned. Europe regards these troubles as of little intrinsic interest as compared with the incalculable importance to the whole human race of the Titanic struggle which threatens to involve all the nations of Europe and Asia.

The worst outcome of the Spanish-American difficulties will be a brief war in which the United States has nothing to gain except a sense of a disagreeable duty performed. Vastly greater issues hang upon the American policy in regard to the fate of China than anything the United States may do concerning Cuba and Spain.

It is now almost assured that nothing short of a distinct, decisive indorsement of the British policy in the Far East can avert a collision between England and her Continental rivals. It is this, probably, which has given rise to the free discussion in the past few days of an Anglo-American alliance, a discussion, which, according to cable dispatches, is more prominent in the United States than here.

That the idea of an alliance between England and the United States is deemed possible, in the minds of many diplomats here, is an established fact, though no one of authority will go so far as to say that such an arrangement is probable. That these two great nations would join hands and hearts against a common foe is beyond question of a doubt, should that foe prove too strong for either nation to handle alone. But it is explained that such a condition could not well arise without the whole of Europe were involved.

The only possible combination of circumstances that would cause active steps to be taken looking to an offensive and defensive alliance between England and the United States would be: First, should France form an alliance with Spain; second, should Japan take sides with the United States and with the consent of the latter begin a vigorous warfare in the Philippine Islands, which would certainly involve Russia. These conditions brought about—with France, Spain, Russia and possibly Germany, against the Stars and Stripes and Japan—would probably cause England to step in and form a triple alliance with Japan and the United States in return for support in the East.

But such a complication is hardly likely to arise, and nothing short of this, it is believed, would lead to an Anglo-American alliance. British diplomats fully realize that the United States will keep out of "entangling alliances" as long as possible. The idea that the United States should ask or accept aid in the event of war with Spain alone is ridiculed.

Great Britain, moreover, would not be so patronizing and undiplomatic as to offer the United States assistance in dealing with a fourth-rate power like Spain.

It is probably true that English public opinion is better disposed than American toward an Anglo-Saxon combination but in this country opinion is lic opinion in this country opinion is by no means unanimous in favor of such a consummation. The English view of the subject is not altogether selfish, for it is believed that the United States, with their rapidly expanding foreign trade, would profit fully as much as England by co-operating to keep open the markets of the world.

On the other hand, there is a probablity of some danger of retaliatory action by the Continental powers in the Spanish-American controversy against the United States in case the latter supports Great Britain in the Far East. Any such action would, no doubt, lead Great Britain to openly take the American side.

Superstitious people here are confidently expecting a war in which will be involved every nation of the world, and which will begin the end of the universe. This condition, of course, is laughed at on all sides, but nevertheless the idea of war has grown more familiar during the past week than it has been in years. It is cropping up everywhere and gaining force in the vital peril to English commercial interests.

England Prepares for Possible War.

London, March 14.—The War Office, the Daily Mail announces this morning, has issued a hundred rounds of ball cartridge to every volunteer in the Kingdom, in addition to the ordinary provision.

Japan Assembles Fleet.

Berlin, March 14.—A dispatch to the Tageblatt from Pekin says it is reported persistently there that a Japanese mercantile fleet is asembling in the Sea of Japan.

According to the same correspondent, the Dowager Empress of China shortly will inspect the railway from Pekin to Tien-Tsin (the port of Pekin); and this step is considered imbportant for the development of the Chinese railway system.

A Paris dispatch quotes the Madrid correspondent as saying that it is believed in Spanish diplomatic circles that all the European Powers are favorable in principle to the maintenance of Spanish rule in Cuba.

Higher and Still Higher

Go the grain markets, and the opinion continues that the top is going to be found much higher.

Under such circumstances the Prudent Farmer and Dairyman should see that he gets the most value for his money.

With us he has a large variety of feed from which to choose. Among those that seem at this time most desirable are MIDDLINGS, OAT FEED and PEA MEAL, all of which are cheap in proportion to their feeding value.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Rev. Mr. Cubberly's son, of South Plainfield, purchased an Eldridge wheel last Saturday.

COPPERS BEAT 7 OR 11.

THEY INTERRUPTED CRAP SHOOTERS SUNDAY NIGHT.

The Players Were in the Garret Intent on Their Game When the Police Made Their Appearance Known.

It was an old fashioned crap game that was going on last night and all six dusky faces gathered around the table intent upon the throw of the dice. Then came an interruption that was not in the game at all and caused the eyes of the "coon" crap-shooters to bulge out with fear. There in the doorway were four policemen, headed by Chief Grant. That beat "seven or 'leven" and the players capitulated.

It has been known by the police for some time that the dusky sports were congregating somewhere to indulge in their favorite game of crap. Last night they learned the place and Chief Grant decided to raid it. The police were given to understand that the game was in full progress in an upper room in the house of Mrs. Olla Sergeant, 215 West Third street, one of the houses in the Hetfield row. The raiding party consisted of Chief Grant, Roundsmen Frederickson and Flynn and Patrolman McCarty. All were in uniform except the Chief.

There was no guard at the door and the party silently made their way in and up the stairs. Softly they crept up the stairs to the garret but the crap shooters were too intent on the game to mind anything.

"Ah, once again," was heard in the familiar tones of Alfred Champion, a famous character about town. Then sounded the jingle of coin.

"Come seven, just to buy mother a pair of shoes," muttered the same voices and then followed a series of grunts from the others.

The door opened and in filed the police. Patrolman McCarty eyed the pile of coin on the green baize table and he jumped for it.

"Oh Lord," came from the astonished Champion as his short form collapsed in the corner. Nobody ran. Nobody touched the dice. The surprise was too complete. The room was up in the attic with only a small window at one end. Charley Ward eyed that window but it was not big enough and he did not try to escape that way.

The place was equipped with a covered table with a raised edge and all the necessaries for the game. Champion declares that it was the first time they ever played there but the police are inclined to doubt that.

All the prisoners were let out on bail except Augustus Johnson who was still wanted for his participation in Maggie Belle's "pink tea." They all appeared this morning and were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. Champion and Charley Ward were fined $5 each and Ed Butler, Edward Cuff, Augustus Johnson and Lee Johnson $3 each. The kitty of 51 cents was divided among them. Champion was quite disconcolate because he was just having a run of "sevens" when the police appeared.

Dry Grass Afire.

Saturday evening about 7:30 o'clock Postmaster John Hetfield noticed a bright reflection in the vicinity of the Park Avenue Baptist church, and he pulled Box 26 calling out the fire department. The fire happened to be close to Randolph road and was a quantity of dry grass in a vacant field. The department arrived quickly, as usual, and soon extinguished the flames. There was no damage. It was noticed by many people that the fire-alarm box did not blow right. The number blown was 24, and a number of people went to Scott's Press Works, where the box is located.

THEATRICAL.

Such a jolly, musical, rollicking, mirth-provoking comedy as the story of the "Tea House," or "The Geisha," which is to be performed at Stillman Music Hall Wednesday night, has never been witnessed in this city. For the first time in comic opera, the story is straightforward and plausible. Lieut. Fairfax, R. N., whose ship is stationed in Japanese waters, finds it agreeable to be much on shore, and becomes enslaved by O'Mimosa San, chief Geisha of the "Tea House of Ten Thousand Joys" kept by Wun Hi, a Chinaman. Fairfax is, however, engaged to Miss Molly Seamore, who is making a yachting trip with Lady Wynne, and they also turn up in Japanese waters, which immediately becomes "Troubled waters." To secure revenge upon her faithless lover, Molly slyly assumes the disguise of a Geisha and dances at the same house as Mimosa. Along comes a Japanese Marquis deep in love with Mimosa and, in order to secure her, "willy nilly," he, being ruler of the province, revokes the license of the Tea House, and puts up at auction all the dancing girls, intending, himself, to buy Mimosa. Lady Wynne comes to the rescue with a higher bid, and carries off the girl. Molly, too, is brought to the auction block and, as nobody recognizes her, she is bid in for a song by the Marquis, who proposes to marry her offhand. She is rescued, however, by Mimosa and her wily little French maid, who, substituting herself for Molly, becomes, to her great delight, a real Japanese Marquise. Of course, the lovers' quarrels are made up, and all ends happily.

There are few families, either in private or professional circles, that have been so closely allied together as that of the Guy Family. As a matter of fact, people in the theatrical or show business, seem to live in a little world of their own, caring, as it were, for people in their own immediate or professional line, looking to the interests of those devoted to their line of business, and there is no fraternity that binds man to man closer in good-fellowship than that of the showman or actor. This has been clearly shown in the Guy Family. For twenty-five years or more has the second oldest of the six boys managed the Guy Brothers' Minstrels. Since then five other boys became of age, numbering now six in all, the most successful in their line of business. The company is composed of the very best talent in the minstrel line, and they have an entire new show this season. New people, new songs and dances; all new acts. The company is stronger and better than ever, and will undoubtedly receive hearty welcome at Stillman Music Hall Thursday night. There will be a grand street parade the day of performance.

Mr. Crane's success in "A Virginia Courtship," at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York, continues to be a matter of comment. During the five weeks the comedian has been in Gotham he has broken all records for large receipts and a conservative estimate of what the receipts will figure up for the ten weeks allotted to him places the amount at $100,000. After one sees the play its success is easily understood. It tells a very pretty story in a bright, clever manner. Its author uses more periods than commas in punctuating his breezy sentences and the action never flags. The love interest in the play is paramount and the quaint costumes and picturesque scenery lend a delightful atmosphere to a really charming piece of dramatic work. One great factor which is to be considered in speaking of the play's success is its purity. The play is as free from immoral taint as are the petals of a rose and the simile is not overdrawn. The Wednesday matinee is to be given during the remaining weeks of Mr. Crane's engagement, which ends April 9th.

PROMISING LIFE CUT SHORT.

Rev. Edward Chickering Died After Two Weeks Illness

In the meridian of a life full of promise and usefulness, Rev. Edward Chickering, aged thirty one years, died at his home in Reynolds, N. Y., last Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, after an illness of two weeks with typhoid fever. This sad news will be received by many Plainfielders with feelings of deep sorrow.

One year ago last November Mr. Chickering was united in marriage to Miss Virginia VanWinkle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garret Van Winkle, of Madison avenue, and the young couple started on life's journey with all the success and prospects one could desire. Soon afterward Mr. and Mrs. Chickering went to Raritan, Ill., where Mr. Chickering held the pastorate of the Reformed church. They remained there for sometime, after which they returned to Plainfield for a short time.

A little later Mr. Chickering received a call to the Reformed church at Reynolds, N. Y., near Mechanicsville.

Mr. Chickering was a native of New York State, and a father, sister and brother survive him, who live near Newburgh-on-the-Hudson. Mr. Chickering was graduated from Rutgers College with honors.

The remains will arrive in Plainfield this evening and the interment will probably be private. Garret VanWinkle, who went to Reynolds yesterday, will accompany Mrs. Chickering and the remains to this city.

MAYOR IN PARADISE ALLEY.

He Put to Rout the Crap Shooters and Other Sunday Visitors.

Mayor Fisk has inaugurated a new movement. He began it yesterday and made the day a memorable one for the police department and the local offenders. The Mayor was downtown during the afternoon to see some of the many things he had heard about.

Every Sunday afternoon it has been the custom of many to assemble in Paradise alley and hang about there shooting crap and otherwise amusing themselves as best they can. The Mayor instructed Roundsman Flynn to visit that neighborhood. Flynn went there, but the crowd was not. Then the Mayor strolled down to find that nearly fifty people had assembled in the alley since the departure of the officer.

Then the Mayor took matters in his own hands. He roused up Special Officer Dennis Carney, the Czar of the alley, and instructed him to disperse the crowd and arrest those who refused to move on. From a point of observation the Mayor directed the operations of Dennis and soon the crowd was dispersed. Then the Mayor returned townward to look after the rest of the city. The circumstances of the Mayor's raid in the evening will be found in another column.

"WHY, SIR, THAT ODOR IS SIMPLY AWFUL."

A Terse Interview Concerning The Sewer Beds.

BILLY CRAIG TALKS TO A REPORTER.

He Says the Sanitary Company's Crematory is New Mown Hay Beside the Sewer Beds—He Says the Whole Thing is an Outrage, and That it Has Injured His Property $5,000 Worth—Says Health Board Used Cotton in Noses.

A few days ago the Newark Evening News sent a reporter to the western end of the city and Dunellen, and from this visit an article of a humorous turn appeared in The News recently concerning the operation of the sewage beds and their effect upon the people of the immediate vicinity. Among the citizens interviewed was William Craig, whose property is very near the beds. The News reporter quotes Mr. Craig in an interview as follows:

"To have the Plainfield garbage crematory only a few hundred yards off is bad enough, God knows, but the crematory is new-mown hay to the beds. Why, sir, that odor is awful. When the wind comes from the north it's something most ridiculous. Ill ness? Why, we've never had anything else since it came here. Every time any one is ill, we blame it on the sewer; but if you ever smelt those beds on a heavy day, you'd know that there ain't any form of disease it couldn't spread. I never knew such a thing. Generally, when one complains of a thing as a nuisance, it is removed by law, but it's the law that keeps this plagued thing in our neighborhood. It has injured my property at least $5,000. It used to be I could rent one of my houses every year, but all on account of these smells I couldn't get any one to move into the house, so I put my son in it Yes, that's what I mean. I had to have somebody, you know, or I couldn't keep it insured.

"The Board of Health came out here to look at these beds, and then went back and reported that they were all right. But they didn't say anything about having their noses stuffed full of cotton. The whole thing is an outrage. Besides that, it's foolish. It's run on foolish lines. Those people don't know anything about public improvements. Instead of putting that stuff out on these open beds to poison citizens, they could use it as a fertilizer. Fertilize? Why, its wonderful. The corn that grew on these beds last summer was the best in the whole State. And as for potatoes, they grew while you looked at them. And what do you suppose these funny legislators did? Why, they sold the potatoes for seventy five cents a bushel and as soon as they were all gone, they went to the market and paid $1 50 a bushel for potatoes for the poorhouse. That's the kind of people that run this infernal sewer."

Though a Plainfield man himself. Mr. Craig came within a hundred feet of being a resident of Dunellen. In sentiment his neighbors across the line coincide heartily with him. They have no enthusiastic admiration for the statesmen of Plainfield, and Mr Frost is their Weyler. And thus the public animosity becomes accentuated every time a north wind blows; and meantime, Mr. Frost very rarely goes near Dunellen.

New Way of Cancelling Letters.

Postmaster Hetfield has introduced a new method of cancelling letters which will save a considerable amount of energy and time Heretofore the work has always been done by hand, but now a little motor has been put in and a machine attached that will do the work easily and quickly. The electrical work was done by A. B. Laing.

$3,000 Fire at Garwood.

A dwelling house at Garwood was destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock this morning The Westfield fire department sent men and engines to fight the flames, but the assistance was too late to prevent the destruction of the building. The building was owned by the Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, and was valued at $3,000.

THOUGHT HE WAS THE TARGET.

So the Stranger Had the Small Egg Throwers Arrested.

The imagination of a passing stranger came near proving very serious for two small boys of this city Saturday evening. Edward Hobbie and Thomas Mimford, both living on Watchung avenue, went down to the P. H. S. A. A. entertainment Saturday night. On their return they found a raw egg. The lads wanted to have some fun with it and at last decided to throw it at a bill-board. The egg was thrown.

Now there happened to be a stranger passing the bill-board when the egg was thrown and particles of its contents spattered in his direction. The identity of the stranger is not known. Perhaps he had ventured before the footlights and received a somewhat similar reception. At any rate it irritated him. He caught the two small boys and marched them to the station house where he turned them over to the officer in charge.

Chief Grant was sent for and arrived in about twenty minutes. After hearing both sides of the story, he released the lads at once. Now a Plainfield young man had seen the fun and had followed the stranger and his youthful prisoners to the station-house to see the result. The stranger was rather enraged at his interference and words passed between them. The stranger wanted the Plainfielder arrested, but finally departed.

SAYS HENS CAUSE DAMAGE.

Edgar Marshall Wants Rev. H. K. Carroll to Pay $100 Therefor.

Edgar Marshall, of Westervelt avenue, has brought suit against his neighbor, Henry K Carroll, L.L. D., for damages caused by an invasion of the plaintiff's premises by Dr. Carroll's chickens.

The Carroll family are the possessors of a large flock of fine breed fowls, which have been well brought up as becomes chickens of their station in life. In spite of all the moral precepts instilled into their minds, however, the chickens of Dr. Carroll have, according to the complaint, now and then broken loose and invaded the premises of the Marshall family, scratching ruthlessly about in flower beds, and acting in a generally dissolute and obstreperous manner.

Marshal claims that he has repeatedly warned the owner of the chickens to keep them at home, but that his communications had no perceptable effect upon the situation. The fouls continued to invade his territory and cackle defiance in his ears.

Today Marshall brought an action in tort against Dr. Carroll in Justice Mosher's court, claiming $100 damages, for the destruction wrought by the chickens. The case will be heard next Monday.

STRUCK BY A TROLLEY CAR.

Vehicle Turning Into Madison Avenue—Driver Thrown Out and Slightly Hurt.

A trolley collision occurred this morning at the corner of West Front street and Madison avenue, when Car No. 11 and a wagon owned by Joseph Sachar, of Muhlenberg place, came together. A few persons saw the accident, but no one seems to know who is to blame. Sachar, who is a clothing dealer, was turning into Madison avenue. Just as he made the turn the car appeared and the wagon was upset, throwing Sachar out in the road. The horse made no attempt to run away. Assistance was given Sachar in setting his wagon up and getting him out of his difficulty. For a few minutes Sachar did not know whether he was injured or not, but a little later he claimed that he had a severe pain in his arm and leg. He walked to Harry Dreier's store on the corner and waited for a few minutes until his horse was fastened to the wagon.

In the meantime R. M. Meeker, who was present, telephoned for Dr. Fritts at the request of the conductor of the car, but before the doctor arrived Sachar had gone.

JUSTICE THOMAS WAS TURNED DOWN.

He Will Not Be Borough Recorder Another Year.

GEN. ELI LONG SUCCEEDS THOMAS.

Councilman Rogers Chosen President of the Council—Office of Auditor Created and Clerk Arnold, Who was Reappointed, Allowed $100 for Doing the Work—Other Appointments Made—The Collector's Accounts Referred to.

The first meeting of the Borough Council for the Council year was held last evening and the business of the evening was promptly transacted by the Mayor and Councilmen. The first thing on the programme was the administering of the oath of office to Messrs. George T. Rogers and John Valiant, who were elected Councilmen at the election held last week. This was followed by the adoption of the rules of 1885, with an amendment, as the rules for 1898 The amendment provides that the Mayor shall each year appoint a committee to be known as the committee on taxes. This committee shall be empowered, under the direction of the Mayor and Council, to look after the collection and assessment of taxes. Mayor Wilson appointed Messrs. MacLaughlin, Valiant and Rogers as members of the committee to serve for this year.

By a vote of the Council George T. Rogers was made president of the Council for the ensuing year. The Mayor then appointed the following standing committees: Streets and public health, Messrs. Woolston, Carey, Valiant; lights and marshals, Messrs. Carey, Rogers, Burtis; fire, water and lamps, Messrs. Rogers, Burtis, MacLaughlin; auditing and finance, Messrs. Valiant, MacLaughlin, Carey; laws and ordinances, Messrs. Burtis, Woolston, Valiant; stationery and printing, Messrs. MacLaughlin, Rogers. Woolston. The other appointments were then made as follows, together with the salaries attached: C. A. Reed, borough attorney, $500 a year; J. K. Arnold, clerk, $600 a year; J. K. Arnold, auditor, $100 a year; Dr. J. H. Carman, physician, $150 a year; F. J Hubbard, engineer, $500 a year; W. A. Wilson, chief marshal, $800 a year; William Campbell, George Wise, John Schenck, night marshals, $50 a month each; Gen. Eli Long, recorder, $200 a year; George Conover, street commissioner, $50 a year; G. H. Fairchild, chief fire department, $100 a year; Wm. Demarest, assistant chief fire department; Alonzo Brokaw, engineer fire department, $50 a year; W. V. Krewson, janitor Warren Engine Co. house, $70 a year; J. J. Stahl, electrician, $150 a year; F. Perry, janitor West End Hose house, $25 a year; Frank Whitely, Richard McDonald, Israel Jones, James Beglin, James Snyder, Peter Doeringer, Richard Cooley, special marshals, 25 cents an hour or $2 a day; D. R. Weaver, overseer of the poor, $150 a year. Mr. Woolston voted in the negative on the appointment of the chief of the fire department.

The bonds of Constables William Pangborn and J. W. VanHorn were received, and after being approved as correct they were ordered filed.

Mr. MacLaughlin offered a resolution that the borough collector deposit, as soon as he collects, all checks, monies, etc., in the City National Bank to the credit of the Mayor and Council, and that all warrants paid be given by the Mayor and Council and signed by the collector. The resolution was adopted. The Mayor referred the matter of preparing the new Council rooms for the Council to the stationary and printing committee, of which Mr. McLaughlin is the chairman, after Mr. Rogers offered a resolution that the rooms over Frank Rowley's drug store be leased as rooms for the meetings of the Council. Mr. Rogers offered another resolution that the Council meet on the first Friday evening in each month, as usual.

Mr. Burtis stated that inasmuch as it is impossible for the special committee having in charge the accounts of Collector Spencer as prepared by the expert accountants to make rapid progress in examining the accounts, he suggested that a delinquent tax collector be appointed, and that he receive 10 per cent. of the money collected from now on, prior to 1897. The Mayor then appointed W. W. Rowley as delinquent tax collector.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution that Messrs. Patterson and Corwin, expert accountants, be employed to go over the accounts of the collector from the place where they left off until the close of the past year, and that they open a new set of books for the collector-elect and aid the special committee who has charge of examining the accounts of Collector Spencer. This concluded the business of the evening and the Council adjourned.

After the meeting a number of the appointed officers of the borough appeared before the Mayor, who administered the oath of office.

PUTTING THE STATE ON A WAR FOOTING.

Preparing to Increase New Jersey's Militia Force.

SECURE EQUIPMENTS FOR 4,000 MEN.

Generals Plume and Donnelly Hold a Conference Which is Said to be of Greater Importance Than Will be Admitted by the Officers—It is Possible That the Legislature May Appropriate a Large Sum of Money for Purposes of War.

The conference in the Newark Armory Saturday between Major General Plume and Quartermaster Generally Donnelly was of more importance than either of those officers would admit. It meant that New Jersey had decided to put its National Guard on a war footing. The State has a large sum of money to its credit in Washington for use by the National Guard. Modern equipments, to be charged to this account, are to be drawn from the Federal Government at once.

One of the first requisitions will be for a number of modern Springfield rifles, with all improvements, sufficient to take the place of the old-style rifles with which many commands are yet armed. Sibley octagon wall tents for field use, and uniforms for a large number of men, will be drawn. An order for several hundred thousand cartridges has already been placed. They are held by the Government, subject to orders for immediate delivery

It is said that General Donnelly will go to Washington to arrange for the placing of an order for equipments, sufficient to bring the uniformed militia of the State up to 4,000 men The new equipments will be delivered at the State arsenal and from there distributed by a largely-increased force of officials.

The National Guard of New Jersey is in splendid shape, and Major-Gen Plume believes that 4,000 men can, in less than forty eight hours, be placed in a camp of instruction, on coast guard duty, or on trains to carry them to Florida.

The military authorities of the State are so thoroughly impressed with the gravity of the situation that consideration of the plans already mapped out for the regular encampment of the Second Brigade at Sea Girt next summer has been suspended. The encampment will be abandoned unless a speedy settlement of the differences existing between Spain and the United States is made.

Adjutant General Stryker issued an order that all mounted officers shall provide themselves with top boots as a part of the regulation uniform. In the Quartermaster-General's department many samples of compressed food are being inspected and tested. Most of it is packed compactly in tins and is prepared for campaigning

It is even hinted that the present Legislature, before adjournment, or in special session, may be confronted with the duty of appropriating a large sum of money for purposes of war, and Governor Voorhees, it is said, has advised the Senate not to be hasty in concurring in the House resolution to adjourn March 24th.

SMEDBERG IS AT LIBERTY.

He Had Served Five Months on a Charge of Larceny

Joseph Duncan Smedberg was discharged yesterday from the Union county jail, at Elizabeth, on an order issued by Judge VanSyckel. Smedberg, who is a draughtsman, had served a term of five months in the county jail for the larceny of diamonds from Harry Marshall's home in Plainfield. Smedberg said he stole the diamonds to gratify the tastes of a young wife, who since his conviction only visited him once in jail, and then to secure his consent to a divorce, which he gave to her.

It is believed that she has since married a United States Army officer.

Smedberg, whose father is a wealthy resident of Chicago, first met the woman at Salt Lake City and persuaded her to elope with him.

Smedberg returned home last night with his father.

A CALICO HOP.

Pleasant Social Affair Given in Saengerbund Hall.

A calico social was given last evening in Saengerbund Hall by the Ladies' Society of the Gesang and Turn Verein for the benefit of the building fund. The affair was in every way successful and quite largely attended. The women present were either gowned in calico dresses or wore a calico apron To match the color of the calico there was a large number of calico ties in a bag. The men present selected a tie, and then they searched for the calico to match it. When this was found they had their partner for the evening. The scheme caused considerable fun and proved to be quite profitable to the society

The feature of the affair was dancing, which was continued until a late hour. Music was furnished by O'Reilly. About midnight the committee, consisting of Mrs. Beiter, Mrs. Klinsman, Mrs. Rummel, Mrs. Bergen and Mrs. Speigel, served a bountiful supper to all. The society will realize considerable in cash from the affair which will add materially to the building fund of the Gesang and Turn Verein, who hope before a great while to be able to commence to enlarge their hall.

CHAMPION STORY TELLER.

James Phillips Won the Title by His Anecdotes Before the Arcanum.

One of the best meetings ever held by Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, was that of last evening. In the business part of the evening there was an initiation, an application for membership received and one candidate elected. The meeting was then thrown open and the balance of the time was passed in a pleasant manner.

The programme consisted of selections by Sattel's orchestra, and vocal selections by Herbert Schutt, Arthur Freeman and Fred Pope, all of which were enjoyed. The latter part of the programme was devoted to a story telling contest for three prizes. This proved to be an interesting feature. Some of the stories caused much laughter, and it was amusing to witness the rivalry among the members for honors. The contest surprised many, for it was not generally known that there were so many artists in that line in the council.

The first prize, a set of Zell's encyclopedias, was awarded to James Phillips, and James Rogers secured the second prize, a pocket dictionary. The last prize, presented to Harry Adams, consisted of an empty box, on the cover of which was written the words "There was as much in your story as there is in this box." The prizes were awarded by Regent Bromfield. After another selection by Messrs. Pope and Schutt the meeting closed, and all voted the affair a great success.

TO ATTEND MEETING.

City Executive Committee Decided to Send a Delegation of Six.

There is little doing in local political circles at present as far as the city executive committee of the Republican party is concerned. A short meeting of the committee was held last evening Eight members and the chairman, former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, were present.

The object of the meeting was to consider the invitation extended to Plainfield to have their chairman and five delegates present at the meeting of the Republican League Clubs, which will be held at Trenton March 31st. The committee empowered the chairman to appoint the five necessary delegates. They will be announced later.

One of the chief events of the meeting will be a complimentary dinner to United States Attorney General Griggs.

Funeral of a Christian Man.

A private funeral service of the late Rev. Edward O. Chickering will be held this afternoon from the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles P. Leggett, 822 Madison avenue, at 2:30. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery. The pall-bearers will be H. C. VanEmburgh, Will F. Williams, Elias Bird, Will VanWinkle, John H. VanWinkle, Jr., of this city, and Charles Paulson, of Passaic.

Everyone Is Welcome.

"The Evening of Pictures," to be given in Trinity Reformed church this evening under the auspices of the Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters, is open to anyone who desires to attend. An erroneous impression prevails that only those who received the card announcements will be welcomed but such is not the case. A dime offering will be received at the door.

—VanEmburgh's new spring house gowns have just arrived on sale today, patterns choice, price same as before.

REGULAR TEAM WON, BUSINESS MEN LOST.

Exciting Double Basket Ball Match at the Y. M. C. A.

VISITING TEAM FROM BROOKLYN.

The Visitors Played a Hard Game Which the Business Men Could Not Overcome—The Second Team of the Bedford Branch of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. Defeated the Business Men 7 to 4—First Team Defeat Them 18 to 7.

The honors were divided at the double basket ball match at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening. The Bedford branch of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. sent its first and second teams to this city to contest with the local players. In the first game the second team of the Bedford branch succeeded in defeating the Business Men's team by a score of 7 to 4. The game was an unusually hot one. The first half was marked by very hard and rough play on the part of the visitors, and they scored five points to nothing for the home team. There was a dispute over allowing players to umpire, and C. E. A. Heywood, of this city, was substituted. After that both sides played a fairer game.

The first team of the Plainfield association turned the tables on the first team of the Bedford branch and easily defeated the visitors by a score of 18 to 7. Like the other game the first half was characterized by very rough play. The visitors were outclassed by the team play of the local players, but they put up a fierce defence. The Plainfield boys were not accurate in throwing goals, but managed to make the score 8 to 4 in their favor at the end of the first half. The play in the second half was much cleaner, although very hard. The visitors braced up in their team play, but could not throw the goals. Plainfield scored frequently by clever playing. A large audience witnessed the game and gave frequent applause:

Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company Loyal to National Honor.

The members of Zephyr Hook and Ladder Company, of this city, are not only ready to respond to an alarm of fire, but an alarm of war as well, as evidenced at their meeting last night. In the midst of the business proceedings of the meeting, Chas. McGinley arose in his seat and impressively made a motion that it was the sense of the members that the National honor should be maintained in the impending crisis between the United States and Spain, and that in the event of war being declared by Congress the services of the members be offered to Governor Voorhees as aids to the National Guard. The resolution was passed with only one dissenting vote, that of Secretary George Mehl, Jr.

BONANZAS IN [illegible]

FORTUNES MADE IN CATTLE NORTHW[illegible]

Kansas and Nebraska [illegible] Hundreds of Thousand[illegible] by Their Purchases — Enormous [illegible] ments.

Central and Western Kansas are experiencing a revival of the cattle industry that is almost equal to that of the famous craze of a third of a century ago, when the ranges of this part of the state were covered with the herds that came up from the plains of Texas. In this instance the herds are not coming by the slow method of driving over the cattle trails, but are hurried by the latest improved stock cars in special trains, and reach the feed yards fresh from the ranges of the Southwest. The rush for cattle began about a year ago, and is now at its height. The herds that are shipped into this state and Nebraska are sought for so eagerly that it is almost impossible to keep them long in the yards. The farmers take them at prices that were two years ago thought beyond the possibilities, and the banks in many instances loan more on them than the same stock would have sold for at that time. The great cause of this craze has been the high price for beef and the large amount of corn and feed that has been produced on the plains, and has been worth a small price. When corn sold for 10c to 12c the farmers saw how they could do better than that by handling cattle and selling the grain in beef, and they began to ask for feeders. The supply was forthcoming, and it has so far kept up with the demand. While Texas has furnished the larger amount of this feeding stock, there has a great portion come from New Mexico, and the reports that have come from the ranges from time to time that the young stock was getting thinned out has not had any effect on the shipments.

The men who have made the most money out of the business have been the shippers, and next to them those who have bought the young stock and rough fed them for a while, and then turned them off without feeding them much grain. The shippers have bought the cattle on the range, and retailed them to the farmers, who are so eager to get them that they will willingly pay a large price for the stock. They have made it so profitable for the shippers that they have in most instances cleared $1 to $5 a head, this making a very nice profit for a few days' handling of a train load of stock.

But Kansas is not getting all the cattle that are coming from the herds of the Southwest. Thousands of car loads are going through to the stations of Nebraska, where they are to be fed on the corn that has in some places been stored for two years, awaiting a favorable time for the marketing of the crop. The statistics of the state just given out say that the farmers in every county of Nebraska report that they are buying largely of the Texas stock, and that there will be no shortage of the cattle in that state. This is the first year that the feeding business with the range cattle of the far Southwest has been tried extensively, and the outcome is being watched closely. Should there be a fall in prices and a hard winter there will be heavy losses, but it is not likely that any such calamity will come as that of the great cattle craze of the early 70s, when the cattle trail days were ending.

In 1871 about 600,000 head of cattle were driven north over the trails to Kansas, and as there came just then a scare in regard to the danger of eating Texas beef and the prices fell off in the Eastern markets, a large portion of them were put on the range to wait the turn of the tide. The Western Kansas plains were covered with them, and without provision for the winter that it was hoped would be mild. In the middle of December came a storm of sleet and high wind, with which the poor cattle drifted until they brought up against the kindly shelter of a creek bank. They died by the thousands, and with them went the ponies and even the cattle herders. Wherever they stopped and lay down the cattle were frozen stiff, and the herd owners found that from one-third to one-half of their possessions were gone. From one railroad station 20,000, from another 30,000, and from another 50,000 hides, taken from the dead animals, were shipped after the storm. One firm put 3,900 head on the range, and in the spring could find but 110 of them. This sort of a loss ruined many of the heaviest dealers, and the cattle trade received a blow from which it has never recovered to experience a revival of the old boom.

One curious result of the importation of the Texas cattle has been a revival of the love for Herefords, which were so much in favor a few years ago, and then went out because of the growth of the dairy industry. Now it is desired to mark the new cattle with the white faces and to get the beef results, and there is a demand for Herefords that is making the starting of farms for the breeding of fine thoroughbred stock a popular form of investment. —Correspondent St. Globe-Démocrat.

How They Do in Japan.

At the birth of a Japanese baby a tree is planted, which must remain untouched until the marriage day of the child. When the nuptial hour arrives, the tree is cut down, and a skilled cabinet maker transforms the wood into furniture, which is considered by the young couple as the most beautiful of all ornaments of the house. —Meehans' Monthly.

HOW BAILEY BEAT BARNUM.

And That at the Veteran Showman's Own Game, Advertising.

One of the elephants with the Barnum-Bailey circus was the means of making the fortune that Mr. Bailey is credited with possessing. It was as a baby phenomenon that pachyderm did the good turn for the successor of "The Great and Only Barnum."

It was away back in 1880, when the news got around that the first elephant born in captivity was living and traveling with the Bailey show. Mr. Bailey was a struggling young circus owner then, battling against fearful odds. Barnum was at the height of his remarkable career—at the very topmost notch of circus fame.

Mr. Barnum, quick to see the advantage of having so important an attraction as a real American baby elephant, telegraphed to Mr. Bailey as follows:

"Will give you $100,000 for your baby elephant. Must have it."

Mr. Bailey wired in answer: "Will not sell at any price."

This seemed a daring thing for Mr Bailey to do, for $100,000 would almost have purchased the entire show. Even Mr. Bailey's best friends, whom he consulted in the matter, advised him to accept the offer. Instead of doing that he refused it and hustled East with his circus to meet Barnum on his own ground.

By the time that the Bailey circus reached the East the whole country was billed with posters on which was printed "What Barnum Thinks of the Baby Elephant." Underneath that heading was printed Barnum's telegram to Mr. Bailey. As the Bailey show followed in the wake of the Barnum circus each town in which the Barnum aggregation appeared was billed with the Bailey posters.

Probably the Bailey advertising did not affect the attendance at the Barnum circus But the advertisements staring the veteran showman in the face everywhere he went worried him, and finally, to dodge the huge posters, he changed the route of his circus, although that route had been determined upon nearly twelve months in advance. He jumped from New York to Kansas City and surrendered the whole Eastern field to the Bailey show. The next year the two shows were consolidated, and have been one show ever since. Mr. Barnum's one joke with Mr. Bailey as long as the shrewd old circus manager was alive was, "Well, have you any more baby elephants that you do not want to sell?"—New York Press.

EARLY REFRIGERATION.

Different Methods Given of the Early Manner of Freezing.

The most ancient method of making ice is practiced in India. Holes are made in the ground, dry straw is put at the bottom of these, and on it, at the close of the day, are placed pans of water which are left until the next morning, when the ice that is found within the pans is collected. This industry is carried on only in districts where the ground is dry and will readily absorb the vapor given off from the water in the pans. The freezing, of course, is due to the great amount of heat absorbed by the vapor in passing from its liquid to its gaseous form.

Another process was practiced in the day of ancient Rome, when the wealthy are said to have had their wines cooled by having the bottles placed in water into which saltpeter was thrown, the bottles being the while rotated.

Dr. Cullen, in 1755, discovered that the evaporation of water could be facilitated by the removal of the pressure of atmosphere, and that by doing this, water could be frozen. Nairn, in 1777, discovered that sulphuric acid would absorb the vapor of water if placed in a second vessel separate from that containing the water, but connected with it. This discovery he put to use in 1810 by constructing an apparatus for absorbing the vapor of the water that it was desired to cool or freeze. This apparatus greatly facilitated the freezing operations of a vacuum freezing machine.—Cassier's Magazine.

AN ECCENTRIC COUNT.

He Annually Hired a Room and Stayed in Bed for Three Months.

There recently passed away at Paris a very old and eccentric gentleman, named Count Bertrand, son of the general of that name, who, with his wife and children, accompanied the first Emperor Napoleon to the island of St. Helena, and remained there with him in exile until he died, bearing with all the eccentricities of temper and of manner of the fallen monarch, and serving him with a fidelity and devotion that evoked the admiration of all the English on the island. The only pleasure which Napoleon seemed to find was in playing with the little boy and girl of Gen. Bertrand, and he used to amuse himself by drilling the little fellow, who was his godchild.

It is the latter who recently died as a very old man. He was wont to ascribe his longevity to the fact that he made a practice of leaving home annually, hiring a room at a quiet hotel, and then taking his bed for three months. During the whole of this time no one was allowed to call upon him or visit him. Indeed, no one save his servant was permitted to enter his room. Food was brought to him only once a day, and the man was under the strictest orders not to speak a word to his master the whole time.—Chicago Record.

SUGAR AS A STRENGTHENER.

The Greater Amount of Saccharine the More Work Accomplished.

It is a fact well known to Alpine tourists that on difficult climbing excursions an increased desire is felt for the consumption of sweets and sweetened foods, and many who never touch such things at home devour large quantities of them on these tours. It is also frequently remarked how eagerly the guides appropriate any sugar that may be left over and consume it on the route. At the instigation of the Prussian War Office, investigations have recently been made by means of a special apparatus into the question whether the consumption of small quantities of sugar rendered the tired muscles capable of renewed exertion. In order to obtain a practical result, the person who was made the subject of the experiment was kept totally ignorant of the object of the experimenters. On one day a sweet liquid was administred containing thirty grammes of sugar, on the next day a similar liquid containing a sufficient amount of saccharin to render it indistinguishable from the other as regarded taste. When a very large amount of muscular work had been performed before the employment of the apparatus for further labor, it was found that on the days when sugar was administered a distinctly greater quantity of work could be got through than on the days when saccharin was given. The blood had become very poor in sugar in consequence of the severe muscular effort which had previously been gone through, and hence the administration of a comparatively small quantity of sugar had the effect of producing an increased capability for work.—New York Ledger.

An Invisible Brake.

It is stated that the invisible brake will be placed on the leading 1898 wheels. This is significant as showing that wheelmen are coming to their senses on this question. For a long time they have contended that brakes were unnecessary, because riders could stop the machine by back pedaling, but the truth was that they were ashamed to carry a brake, because it seemed to be a confession that the rider could not manage the wheel. But the riders go into the country where there are steep hills, and they either have to dismount or else be in danger of having their wheels run away with them. If the chain breaks, no amount of skill in back pedaling will save the rider. A brake, if invisible, may be carried without causing the blush of shame to rise to the wheelman's cheek.

Origin of the Word "Hoodlum."

Out in San Francisco, twenty-five years ago, there was a notorious character named Muldoon, who was the leader of a gang of young ruffians. They were a terror to the community, and about as tough a lot of citizens as you could find on the coast.

A reporter who had been assigned to a story in which they figured undertook to coin a word designating the gang. He reversed the name of the leader, and referred to them as "noodlums." The compositor mistook the "n" for an "h," and as "hoodlums" the word passed the proofreader. And now "hoodlum" is a recognized word, and will probably survive.—Philadelphia Record.

ON AN OSTRICH FARM.

CONSTANT LOVE FOR THEIR MATES A CHARACTERISTIC.

The Birds Live to be Seventy or Eighty Years Old—Plumage of the Female of No Great Value—Feathers in Their Raw Condition Bring $60 a Pound.

One might write much about the habits and manners of the ostrich. When about four years old the birds are paired off, if they have not already chosen their own partners for life; they are of an affectionate and loyal nature, however, and there are more love matches among them than marriages of conveniences. From that time until the end of their seventy or eighty allotted years, there is only loyalty and devotion; any ostrich husband will fight off a strange hen who comes his way, and only a lonely widowerhood ever induces him to love twice.

When the birds are eighteen months old, that is, soon after they reach their permanent style of dress, they may be plucked. A plucking occurs only once in ten weeks; as often as that, the whole troop is looked over, and those whose plumes are ripe are marked as victims. No bird undergoes this process oftener than every nine months, so their lives are for the most part peacefully undisturbed, being one of lovemaking and sugar beets. It is a sorry sight to see this destruction, even though pride and a haughty spirit do precede it. As ever, the wolf comes in sheep's clothing, and the plucker rattles a great sack of dry corn in a way that would make any ostrich mouth water. "Here's a fine meal," says the whole troop, and forthwith they come, lunging, plunging, lurching from far and near. The demurely garbed females are worth little for pulmage; when their brother took to his flashing style, he did not realize that in his glory lay his downfall. As the whole troop crowds close around the pile of corn, one of the doomed fellows is singled out, drived or coaxed a little to one side, and in a second the gate of a pen has closed him in.

It is a narrow pen, with sides joining in a wedge-shape, and into the wedge the angry bird is forced by two men who guard most carefully the while against a kick from a heavy foot. It is the work of a second to clap the stock over Mr. Ostrich's head, and this calms him like a dose of soothing syrup. The stocking is made from a long strip of heavy blue jeans, and the sudden blinding of it bewilders the bird so that the beating wings grow still in his wonder. The long stocking is shaken and pecked at, but it cannot be worked off by any blundering vexation, and from this moment the ostrich is in the hands of his masters. Now the plucking begins.

One of the great close-held wings is turned back, revealing a wealth of black plumes, white plumes and variegated plumes. The great floating white ones, such as adorn the picture hats, are cut close to the root; if they were left until ripe enough to pull, the ends would have outlived their perfection. The scissors are sharp and merciless, and clip, clip, they are snipping off dollars and dollars with every stroke. The smaller feathers in the wings, those which are protected closer as my guide depreciated, hurting the to the body may be pulled out without bird very much. Not very much. As soon as the clipping and the tugging cease. The bird probably imagines the inexplicable ordeal over, but a moment more, my whilom dandy, that a daub of red paint may designate your sign post legs as belonging to a plucked bird. That done, the stocking comes off, and out you go to liberty in the broad corral once more, to liberty, but not to present happiness. For the shame of a plucked bird is crushing. It is long before he can rise above it, and his more fortunate companions lose no chance to twit him on his disgrace, fighting him off as often as he tries to mingle with them. His only comfort lies in having companions in misery, for several proud fellows must undergo the humiliation on the same day. The feathers are carefully stowed away by a man with a bag; the loss of one would mean loss of money. In their raw condition, uncurled and undyed, they are sold at wholesale for $60 per pound, or about 60 cents for a feather, but some of the finest plumes are worth much more. The body feathers are never pulled, but gathered daily as they drop in the corrals.—Toronto Globe.

A Jewish Custom.

It may not be generally known that, as a constant reminder of the forty years' wandering in the wilderness, and of the fact that here "there is no abiding city," in the houses of all good Jews some portion is left incomplete.

In Lord Rotschild's mansion in Piccadilly a small part of the beautiful gilded ceiling is unfinished, while in the famous white-and-gold drawing room of the late Baron Hirsch one corner was left nearly bare. It is said that when curious guests inquired the reason he was wont to reply gravely that the money gave out before the decorations could be completed.

"And now," said the colonel of the sappers and miners, "who will volunteer to crawl through the trench and fire the magazine?"

There was no response.

"It is a dangerous mission," said the officer; the man who attempts it will find himself in very cramped quarters, and is liable at any moment to get stuck. Who will go?"

There was another brief silence, and then a thin man with a weazened face spoke up:

"I guess I can do it, if any man can, colonel. I used to live in a New York flat."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PUTTING IN THE NEW PRESS.

We beg the indulgence of our readers and advertisers for one day, while the new machine, on which The Daily Press will be printed in enlarged form, is being established in the press room. A number of skilled press builders from Walter Scott's factory are hurrying the work as fast as possible, but for one day it necessitates some disadvantages in publication. The machine on which The Daily Press has been printed from its first issue was taken down as soon as the edition of yesterday was printed, and the larger and more modern press which will supplant it, and allow of the paper's taking another decided step forward in the newspaper world, will be installed and in running order by tomorrow—unless something unforeseen occurs to prevent. Then The Daily Press will carry seven columns to the page and possess features that will prove very popular.

A DESERVING OFFICIAL.

At the meeting of the Borough Council last evening Mayor Wilson paid a deserving tribute to Borough Clerk Jas K. Arnold. The Mayor complimented the clerk for his efficiency and expressed the idea that he did more work for the salary received than he was really supposed to do. The Mayor also stated that hereafter the clerk would receive $600 for all services, and that the fee usually received by him for making out licenses, and which fee is allowed by law, would be turned into the borough treasury. The Council created a new office—that of borough auditor—and Mr. Arnold was appointed to that office with a salary of $100. Under the new arrangements Mr. Arnold will receive about $75 more per year than formerly.

Assemblyman Murray introduced a bill in the Legislature last night which provides for the changing of the day of the annual elections of incorporated Protestant Episcopal churches.

The appropriations were decided upon and they will be made known at the meeting to be held next Monday evening. ARE THEY PERMANENT?

Is the Question That is Asked Over and Over Again By Plainfield Citizens.

REGARDING MANY AMAZING CURES THAT ARE DAILY BEING PERFORMED BY THE BOY PHENOMENON.

Hundreds Who Have Witnessed the Startling Transformations Admit the Cures Are Made, but Wonder if They Will Stay Cured.

The Boy Phenomenon has been in Plainfield nearly 6 weeks, daily proving and demonstrating the great power he possesses by which he has cured hundreds of cases that had defied all other forms of treatment. But there are still a great many who doubt the permanency of those cures. They admit the cures were accomplished, as in many instances they were eye witnesses to their magical transformations, but they are afraid they are not lasting. The doctor has in his possession over 1,400 sworn testimonials from patients who have been cured of chronic diseases during the past 5 years, and all of whom with only 19 exceptions have remained well ever since. Besides the testimonials already published in the daily papers, he has as has scores of others from Plainfield citizens, all attesting the wonderful benefits derived from the hands of the Boy Phenomenon, thus proving beyond any possibility of doubt that his cures are as permanent as they are marvelous.

Magnetism will not cure every disease, but any ailment that is amenable to its power will stay cured longer than by any other method known to medical science.

The wonderful and beneficial advance in treating chronic diseases by the wonderful power of Vital Magnetism, has carried joy and gladness to the hearts and homes of thousands of suffering people who could nowhere else or by any other method find relief. There is probably no power given to man that is so little understood or so beneficial to the human family as the magnetic power to cure disease. Cases of years' standing, which have been pronounced incurable, are daily being restored to health by this mysterious agent. Many of the worst cases cured without the use of medicine, simply by applying the hands to the afflicted parts, and driving from the human frame by means of his great magnetic power the pain and suffering of years. Weak and shattered nerves, tired brain, poor blood, debilitated system, physical exhaustion, sleeplessness, despondency, mental depression, hysteria, paralysis, numbness, neuralgia, rheumatism, pain in the side and back, epileptic fits, St. Vitus's dance, palpitation of the heart, sciatica, headache, indigestion, loss of appetite, constipation, biliousness, kidney and liver disease and all disease of the nervous system. Mrs L. A Conley, of Park avenue, says that she has been a long and constant sufferer from spinal, kidney disease and sciatic rheumatism she was treated twice and can now say that she is once more a strong, well and hearty woman and considers her cure a most remarkable one. Seven years ago Miss Ellen Hodgson, of West Fourth street, lost her voice through catarrhal fever, and has not been able to articulate loud words. About 10 o'clock yesterday morning she visited the office and received treatment, when in a short time her voice was restored, and she can now talk as well as she could in former years.

But of all the stupendous achievements accomplished by the Boy Phenomenon in Plainfield, they are as nothing compared to that of a poor little 10 year old girl, who has been blind since birth, but 5 minutes after the young man placed his hands over her eyes they were restored to sight. Her name, with full particulars of the case will appear in this paper this week, as the Boy desires to give her one more treatment to strengthen the optic nerve and make the cure positively permanent.

The large number of patients who have taken treatment the past week has compelled him to again announce an extension of his stay, and those who wish his services may obtain an examination or consultation any day within the next two weeks at the Revere House.

STUDENT SELF-RULE.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT IN COLLEGE GOVERNMENT.

A Five Years' Test Near a Large City—Broken Rules and Penalties—College Authorities May Recall the Charter at Will.

Most colleges give free play to the democratic instinct only in the informal and unofficial life of the students, and have had to submit to the powers that be in the matter of government. In the few instances outside of Bryn Mawr, in which self-government has been tried it has not been thoroughly successful, probably because the attempt has not been completed at Bryn Mawr, however, the entire government of themselves has been placed in the hands of the students, and a most successful record is shown of a government of the people, for the people, and by the people.

Up to 1892 the conduct of the students was intrusted to themselves, and a system of government through public opinion successfully met the needs of the then comparatively small community. In that year, owing to the increasing size of the college and the corresponding complication of community life, the rule of unformulated public opinion was felt to be insufficient, and the Student's Association for Self-Government was formed, and a charter drawn up to give definite expression to the hitherto unwritten laws. The authorities and dean of the college formally conferred on and intrusted to the association the exclusive management of all matters concerning student life which do not fall under the jurisdiction of the authorities, which is strictly academic, or under that of the mistresses of the halls of residence.

The sphere of the mistress includes everything pertaining to household arrangements, the management of servants, the various times and seasons, such as the hours for meals, the hour for closing the halls, all purely domestic rules and regulations. If anything goes wrong in the household economy, complaint is made, not to the association, but to the mistress, and redress or remedy comes from her.

In accordance with the terms of the constitution the association must have a president and vice president, elected annually, who, ex-officio, are members of an executive board of five, the other three of which are likewise elected annually. This board is supplemented by an advisory board of ten, who act with the former when requested to do so, or when a difficult situation is to be met. A meeting of the whole association may be called at any time by the president, and must be called at the request of ten students. The quorum is two-thirds.

There are several proctors in each hall of residence elected by the residents of that hall, who are responsible for the daily conduct of the students, and meet at stated periods to report to the executive board. The proctor system has proved far and away the most expedient method of keeping general order and her often ungracious duty is lightened somewhat by the feeling of loyalty and personal responsibility which self-government arouses, to the extent that often the culprits own up of their own free will. In fact, the honor basis, which alone makes such a government in a college possible, is so firmly established that even cheating in examinations, an offence which in most colleges is considered trivial by the students, is almost unknown, and the general question of cribbing presents no difficulties whatever.

The success of self-government at Bryn Mawr has been assured now for five years and under circumstances the most difficult, put to the test, as it has been, in a college situated near a large city. The students have absolute freedom of coming and going, and no strict eye is kept on their actions, so that did they not submit absolutely to the authority of the association they would undoubtedly in the impulsiveness of youth get themselves into scrapes. But they are required always to register their address before leaving the hall for a night, even though they go only to one of the other halls of residence. If they go to town for the evening, they must have a chaperon, appointed by the executive board. In the daytime—that is, up to half after 6 o'clock—they may come and go as they like.

When the rules of the association are disobeyed a penalty is imposed. If a student breaks a rule wittingly more than once she is reprimanded, and if she receives three reprimands she is liable to expulsion. The reprimands are issued by the executive board, but the power of inflicting penalties to enforce its decisions rests with the association at large. The extent of the association's independence of the college authorities is shown by the fact that it practically possesses the power of expulsion, inasmuch as it has the privilege of recommending the expulsion of a student to the authorities, who have given their promise to support the decisions of the body. In the event of as extreme a measure as expulsion any student has an appeal to the association.

The five members of the executive board are possessed of great power and have jurisdiction over the conduct of some 300 fellow students, the association consisting of the whole body of students, graduate and undergraduate. It is therefore, of course, considered a great distinction to be a member of the board, and, indeed, the office demands no inconsiderable qualities both of mind and character. Tact, judgment, firmness, fairness, and above all, a level head are essential.—Chicago Inter-

FAURE FOR CLEANLINESS.

He Upset Provincial France with His Demands for Bathtubs.

President Felix Faure devotes special and unceasing attention to cleanliness. He is doing more to spread the use of the bathtub in France than any other Frenchman of these or former times. A Paris correspondent says that wherever the President goes for a week or ten days there must be a bathhouse with all modern improvements. He refuses to stop even over night in a house or hotel that has no bathroom. His hobby causes many persons inconvenience, for the bathroom is not a universal institution in France, as in this country. In fact, the provincial French towns are as barren of private bathtubs as most prairie villages in this country. Nevertheless the President holds fast to the bathtub as a condition precedent to his visit to any town or castle.

In the Presidential palace in Paris and in the castle at Fontainebleau, M. Faure had elaborate bathrooms fitted with the latest appliances and luxuries. In the castle at Rambouillet last year the President caused 100,000 francs to be spent for bathrooms which he might use during his three or four weeks' residence there.

The President's passion for cleanliness has been a source of much vexation and industry at all the provincial prefectures which he has visited since succeeding M. Carnot. Usually on his excursions through the land he lodges at these prefectures, and, as none of them was provided with bathrooms when he began his tours, there has been a great bustling about to make good the deficiencies. A large bathhouse was built last year at the prefecture in Rennes, preparatory to his brief sojourn there, and a similar house was erected at the prefecture in Valence this year in anticipation of his visit. The vigor with which the President is leading his movement for bath reform is said to have brought him many converts and to have given the neglected bathtub industry a great boom in the republic.—New York Sun.

DOCTOR'S BILL IN ALASKA.

Only $400 for Amputating an Arm—Soothing Syrup $8.00 a Bottle.

Charles H. Metcalf, who recently returned from the Klondike brought news concerning the welfare of Dr. P. J. B. Le Blanc, a Detroit physician who accompanied him to Alaska last January. Mr. Metcalf says that when he left Dawson City, last July, Dr. Le Blanc had a practice from which he received an income of $100 a day. As the doctor had been in the camp only six weeks, he was much encouraged at the prospect of doing a flourishing business in the winter, when pneumbonia, rheumatism and other diseases incident to extreme cold weather usually find many victims.
